Angry Atom Guard At Marin Base?

By LARRY D. HATFIELD

A hush-hush nuclear arsenal at Hamilton Air Force Base has been guarded in the last few months by at least two airmen who have been declared psychiatrically unstable by military doctors, it was revealed yesterday.

In one of the cases, an airman with a "passive aggressive personality" was kept on security duty even after an Army psychiatrist suggested he sould be medically discharged. The airman had asked to be put where he would not have to handle a gun, but his commanding officer thought he was "goldbricking."

These facts were brought out in a "Section 32 investigation" (the military version of a preliminary hearing in civilian courts) to determine if Sgt. Robert V. Ballou, 22, should be charged with assault on a superior officer with a deadly weapon.

The case raised doubts in the course of yesterday's proceedings about the base's nuclear safeguard system, the effectiveness of the Air Force's "human reliability program" and the judgment of the commander of the base's security police responsible for guarding the nuclear warheads.

Ballou, who had sworn he would do anything to get out of the Air Force, including using a gun, is accused of threatening S/Sgt. Arthur J. Moore with a loaded and cocked carbine, then a .38-caliber pistol during the predawn hours of Aug. 2.

The Corvallis, Ore., airman was kept on duty as a security policeman — occasionally serving as the senior man on the two-man guard at the nuclear munitions depot — despite an adverse psychiatric evaluation last spring which described him as a "hostile, resolute" young man with a "passive aggressive personality . . . a disturbance which is characterized by outbursts of anger, ill-covered explosive feelings, impulse activity, difficulties with authority figures and immaturity."

(The second airman — also a security policeman who guarded the nuclear weapons dump at various times — is currently under psychiatric care at the base hospital and his squadron commander described him yesterday as "mentally sick." He allegedly slugged his first sergeant last week after he had been removed from duty and recommended for treatment).

Maj. Donald H. Tidwell, 37, told the inquiry yesterday he had kept Ballou on duty because he was convinced he was goldbricking. He said that while the psychiatric report indicated the young airman was subject to fits of violent temper, it also said he knew right from wrong.

Tidwell, a 17-year Air Force veteran, also told investigating officer John D. McQuaid Jr. that the base security force's tight manpower problem was an "overriding" factor in his decision.

(Guidelines of the Air Force's human reliability program — which sets fitness standards for men serving in sensitive positions — do not include manpower considerations. Tidwell's 78th Security Police Squadron has 91 men, 64 fewer than its authorized strength).

Ballou's attorneys, Capt. Frederick Graham and Robert

Deep Secrecy Veils Marin's Bomb Arsenal

Hamilton Air Force Base's nuclear stockpile has existed for several years although military officials refuse to admit it's there, and few Marinites are aware of its existence.

The size, types and nuclear punch of the warheads are classified, information.

A spokesman for the base today gave the stock reply to a reporter's inquiries about the arsenal: "No comment."

The nuclear munitions storage area is located near the northwest end of the base, out of sight from any public road. It is fenced and patrolled round-the-clock.

When nuclear materials are brought into the base, sections of the base are sealed off and guarded by security policemen armed with machine-guns.

Although the exact designation of the nuclear hardware at the base is a tightly-guarded secret, the nature of Hamilton's primary mission — that of a first-line interceptor of enemy planes — would indicate the weapons are air-to-air missiles. The capability of the supersonic

THE GREAT NON-ESCAPE

Canada Blocking Poison Gas Cargo

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

One of two trains carrying canisters of World War I killer gas across the country ran into a legal block along a scheduled shortcut through Canada today.

The gas is being transported from Colorado. One train was headed for industrial purchasers in Louisiana and the other to Lockport, N.Y.

But at Windsor, Ont., the district collector of customs, Hartley Purvis, issued an order prohibiting the Lockport-bound train of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad from passing through southern Ontario.

Some U.S. rail routes go along the north shore of Lake Erie as a shortcut on their runs.

The train carrying the gas was due to enter Canada at Windsor tonight, travel through St. Thomas and Welland and return to U.S. territory at Niagara Falls early tomorrow.

Purvis said: "I notified the railway officials and our officers shortly after I received a call from Robert Elley, in charge of our rail, air, marine customs division."

Purvis said the shipment is banned under the Customs Tariff Act.

The train first was moved from Chicago to yards in Hammond, Ind., then to Indiana Harbor Belt Railroad yards in East Chicago, Ind.

The cars of gas canisters then were rolled to the C&O tracks near the Inland Steel Co. complex in East Chicago and apparently were on the way. Hours later, at 11:30 a.m., EDT: they had moved only a quarter-mile from the steel mill area.

Homeowners Get A Break On Tax Bill

County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell said today that Marinites whose homes have not been reassessed will pay less county taxes this fiscal year, despite a 12.5-cent increase in the tax rate.

In a message to the board of supervisors, Mitchell said the saving is made possible by the $750 homeowners' exemption granted under Proposition 1A.

He said a tax rate of $2.395 per $100 of assessed valuation, up from $2.27 in 1968-69, will be required to finance the current county budget of $33.2 million, up $3.5 million.

Mithhell said the owner of a $30,000 home whose property has not been reassessed will pay $9.34 less in county taxes

Irish Battle Despite Arrival Of Soldiers

50 Injured In Belfast Outbreaks

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — More than 50 persons were injured today as gunfire and rock throwing broke out again between rival religious factions in Belfast.

At least two men were wounded by gunfire and were taken to Belfast's Royal Victoria Hospital, with others injured by flaming gasoline bombs and flying paving stones.

The rioting broke out along barricades erected by the residents of the mainly Roman Catholic Falls Road community.

TROOPS STAND BY

The new outbreak was restricted to rival gangs and police were not called immediately to the area. British troops moved by air and land to the Ulster capital and prepared to go into action if needed.

Residents of the Falls Road area toppled lamp posts and telegraph poles, set fire to trucks and appeared ready for a new night of violence.

Six hundred British troops were due to arrive at Aldergrover airport near Belfast tonight. Hundreds more moved to the city by land.

'FRIEND' ROLE

London said the troops were entering Belfast "as friends of all the people in that city in order to ensure that, if humanly possible, there will be no further loss of life."

Northern Ireland's six provinces, known as Ulster, are still part of Britain, though they have some autonomy in domestic affairs.

The troops came after a night of vicious fighting in which five persons were killed and 192 were wounded.

STAY HOME PLEA

"For heaven's sake stay off the streets tonight," he said. "Stay in your homes and do not do anything that will exacerbate the situation."

He blamed the outlawed Irish Republican Army for last night's violence.

At the same time the Irish Republic announced it was calling up first-line reserves of its 13,000-man armed forces, and a spokesman in Dublin said the action was taken to have the troops "in readiness for a peace-keeping operation." He did not explain further.

The Roman Catholic south already has several hundred troops along Northern Ireland

MILLIONS MORE NEEDED

Marin Water Plan Costs Skyrocket

By JOANNE GRANT

Several more millions of dollars in additional costs for the skyrocketing Marin-Sonoma water project turned up yesterday with the release of the first of the project reports.

The extra millions — part of the construction cost of the Warm Springs Dam in Sonoma County — would not be included in any bond issue but would be paid in conjunction with the purchase of water over a 50-year period.

The costs were not mentioned when Marin Municipal Water District's general manager, William R. Seeger, outlined plans last month for a proposed $57.5 million worth of work, including $20 million for system improvements.

At that time, Seeger reported part of the money would probably have to be raised through a bond issue, possibly in November 1970, but guessed a 25 per cent rate increase would pay the district's share.

He had no comment today on how the extra costs — estimates ranging from $7.8 million to $9.3 million — would affect that.

The report released yesterday was prepared by the Sonoma County Flood Control and Water Conservation District and covered the Russian River projects including Warm Springs and the first phase of a transmission system which would bring the river water to Marin.

The Warm Springs Dam, on Dry Creek about eight miles north of Healdsburg, is the key to Marin Municipal Water District's plans for future supplies.

The dam, to be built by the Army Corps of Engineers, is currently estimated at $74 million, up from 1963 estimates of $42.5 million.

It has been authorized, but the only work done so far is a raod relocation. No other funds have been allocated but the project is scheduled for completion in 1978.

Of the $74 million, $22.8 million is for water supply aspects of the project and must be paid by local agencies. The rest is for flood control and will be paid by the federal government.

The $22.8 million would be divided among participating districts, the one in Sonoma and the two in Marin, based on need. Costs were not broken down in the report.

Last winter, local water district officials estimated the MMWD share would be about $7.8 million. Figures in the So-

City Budget Bypasses Courthouse Purchase

San Rafael City Council, in approving a capital improvements budget last night, made no provision for purchase of the courthouse square in downtown San Rafael. (See other San Rafael City Council story page 23.)

Mayor C. Paul Bettini said if the city were to purchase the square, down payment would have to come from the undistributed reserve. Finance Officer James H. McCown, who is acting city manager, estimated this at "over $300,000."

Marin County supervisors, in a meeting with the council in June, indicated willingness to sell the courthouse square to the city. There was some sparring over the value of the property, appraised for the county at $750,000 with buildings removed.

Supervisors indicated at that meeting they might be willing to sell the square to the city for a 50 per cent down payment, with the remainder spread over a couple of years.

Ever since construction started on the Civic Center and the move of county offices from downtown San Rafael became assured, there has been intermittent discussion of acquisition of the square by the city. City councilmen have said the city should own the property so it can control its development.

This spring, a two-year-old city proposal to exchange corporation yard property on Francisco Boulevard for the courthouse square was taken up by the supervisors, and chairman John F. McInnis wrote Mayor Bettini a letter expressing interest in the swap. However, the letter was never read or discussed at a council meeting. Instead, the city sold approximately half of the corporation yard property on a time payment plan.

EXPERIMENTAL COLLEGE

Hippie Gives New Look At Revolution

An informal introduction to Marxism — in theory and practice — and some views on education for the junior college board of trustees were woven together last night in the Experimental College course on revolution.

The course, which has outraged some Marinites, is part of the noncredit, free college run by and for students. Its sole connection with College of Marin is its use of the campus.

Meeting in a tiny classroom on the east side of the campus, the dozen students learned how recent defeat of a Wild West Festival in San Francisco came about, an explanation mingled with hippie philosophy and later described as an excellent example of Marxist analysis.

"My name is John and I'm from the Haight community," said the serious looking long-haired speaker.

John spoke of oppression of minorities, including the hip community, and commented that many think "young people drop in and drop out (of the

Western Airlines Dispute Settled

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A strike by its mechanics ended, Western Airlines plans to resume service with 27 flights tomorrow and work up to normal operation a week later with 230 flights a day in 15 western states and parts of Canada and Mexico.

Nearly 2,000 mechanics and other ground crew personnel, who struck July 29, accepted a three-year contract Thursday that raises top wages from $4.21 an hour to $5.60 and includes a fully paid medical program.

Tass Reports Moon Probe Back Home

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviets announced today the successful return of a moonlooping spacecraft from a mission western experts said may be a prelude to Russia's first attempt to send men to the moon.

The six-ton Zond 7, packed with equipment for supporting man's life in space, used retrorockets to soften its touchdown in the Soviet Republic of Kazakhstan yesterday, according to a Tass report.

Ross Budget Tentatively $235,269 With Tax Hike

Ross town councilmen last night adopted a preliminary 1969-70 budget of $235,269 subject to possible change at an adjourned meeting at 8 p.m. Thursday when they will set the tax rate.

The budget is an $804 drop from last year's $236,073. The tax rate, now $1.67 per $100 assessed valuation, is expected to be hiked 5 cents to $1.72. (Other Ross Town Council stories, page 8.)

W. James Dawson, finance committee chairman, informed the council that the town's assessed valuation has dropped but that the town is not expected to have to borrow money this year. It borrowed $30,000 last year, he said.

Dawson recommended no cost-of-living increase for town employees, saying this would cost the town $4,500 or 5 cents more on the tax rate. Step increases were approved, however, with Fire Chief Charles Pinza being raised from $862 to $905 a month; Assistant Fire Chief Thomas Casson from $745 to $782 and Lee Hindenberg, patrolman, from $676 to $710.

"If we can't grant cost-of-living increases now, we might be duty bound to do it in January," commented Mayor Frederick S. Allen.

Dawson said the new budget lists $235,269 as total expenditures and $245,608 as anticipated revenue.

Also approved in the budget is a new police car, estimated at $1,344, with bids to be called for it at the council's next regular meeting, Sept. 11.

A fifth policeman was hired last night. Robert K. Craft Jr. will begin work Monday at a salary of $584 to be increased to $613 following a six months probation period.

The council agreed to allow Pinza to drop out of the County of Marin's radio service. Pinza said he could get the service, now costing $500 a year, for $300 from a private company.

RICH MENU OF ACTIVITIES FOR THE WEEKEND

A rich entertainment diet of an air show, colonial folk crafts, variety show and classical concerts will be offered to the residents of Marin County and southern Sonoma Friday and this weekend. (For calendar of events see page 21.)

The fifth annual Inverness Music Festival will open tonight and go through the weekend with a full opera and musical recitals.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Rescue Boat Sinks

NEW DELHI (UPI) — Indian news agencies today reported 150 persons were missing and feared drowned after a rescue boat sank yesterday near Monghrys City in Bihar State, some 250 miles northeast of Calcutta.

According to the reports, the passengers were being ferried to higher ground from their flooded village when the rescue boat sunk. An intensive search of the area failed to find any survivors, the agencies said.

Blaiberg Faltering

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP)—The transplanted heart of Philip Blaiberg, who was readmitted to Groote Schuur Hospital yesterday when his condition deteriorated, is working at only a third of its proper pressure, and doctors also have found that the kidneys of the world's longest heart transplant survivor are not functioning properly.

Blaiberg, 60, has had his new heart for 591 days.

Hurricane Camille

The National Hurricane Center at Miami said Cuba, west of Pinar del Rio, "should prepare for hurricane force winds and high tides of five to 10 feet on both the north and south coasts."

Campus Police Call

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Should violence erupt again this fall at San Francisco State College, Mayor Joseph Alioto says the decision to call in police will rest entirely with himself and Police Chief Thomas Cahill, not with school officials.

College President S. I. Hayakawa of Mill Valley, undoubtedly would be consulted, the mayor said, but "in the final analysis, when or whether police come on the campus will be up to Chief Cahill and the mayor's office."

"There is no way of segregating violence on the campus from violence in the community," Alioto told a press luncheon yesterday.

Radiation Denied

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission says it was in error when it reported that small doses of radiation had leaked into the atmosphere from an underground nuclear explosion.

The explosion yesterday was the 14th announced this year at the Nevada test site and had a force of less than 20,000 tons of TNT.

A spokesman said first readings indicated radioactivity of minor consequence had seeped out of the insulation of a detonation cable. Subsequently, he said, it developed the readings resulted from a cable running along the ground and not in the air above the test site.

Bus Toll May Climb

STANHOPE, England (UPI) — Authorities feared today the death toll may climb even higher in a bus accident that has claimed 13 lives.

The 13 were killed and 28 injured yesterday when a bus carrying 41 passengers plunged over an embankment near this village in northeast England. Many of the injured remained in critical condition today.

Seattle Battles

SEATTLE (UPI) — A second round of violence within 24 hours broke out in Seattle's University District yesterday as an estimated 2,000 demonstrators carried out hit-run tactics. Police said the demonstrators used the University of Washington campus as a staging ground for sporadic raids on stores in the business district.

At least 21 persons were arrested.

A similar demonstration, with about 750 persons taking part, had broken out late Wednesday night in what Police Chief Frank Ramon called "violence for violence's sake."

Fish Talks Failing

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — Delegates to a four-nation conference on fishing rights off South America's western coast have reported the talks were on the verge of collapse.

The four delegates, Chile, Ecuador, Peru and the United States, yesterday resolved to continue the conference one more day even though there has been no agreement on any of the issues.

The United States sought the talks for two years in hopes of resolving the problem of continued seizure of American fishing boats off the coasts of Ecuador and Peru.

Plane Search Off

Aboard the plane were eight Navy and Air Force officers from missions in Chile and their wives taking advantage of a regular maintenance flight for a vacation in Buenos Aires. It disappeared Aug. 4 in a snowstorm in the Andes.

Twenty-two children orphaned by the crash will be sent to relatives or friends in the United States.

Alaskan Forest Fire

SOLDOTNA, Alaska (AP) — Hundreds of firefighters battled with everything from shovels to water-dropping helicopters yesterday to hold the Swanson River forest fire behind newly-drawn fire lines, and some 600 evacuees began returning to their homes.

The wind which caused firefighters grief Wednesday shifted from northerly to southwesterly yesterday, forcing the fire back into scorched areas and relieving the pressure on the towns of Soldotna and nearby Kenai — both on the Kenai Peninsula. Wind velocity was down to 10 knots from 35 knots.

Mansfield On Tour

He is scheduled to meet with Philippine President Ferdinand E. Marcos P. Romulo during his two-day visit.

From Manila, Mansfield is expected to go to Indonesia and then to Burma, Cambodia and Laos. He will stay two to three days in each conntry.

Peace Talk Chief Leaves For Home

PARIS (UPI)—Chief American negotiator Henry Cabot Lodge left for consultations in Washington today after the 30th session of the Vietnam peace conference showed the search for peace is still stalemated.

Lodge, who was last home in June when he accompanied President Richard M. Nixon to his Midway summit meeting with South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu, made on statement before he left.

U.S. official said Lodge was returning to Washington for consultations. It was not known whether the trip was at the request of the administration or on Lodge's own initiative.

U.S. officials also refused to speculate on whether Lodge would also fly on to San Clemente for a meeting with the President at the summer White House.

One official source said he understood Lodge planned to leave the aircraft at Boston.

Lodge is expected to be away for 10 days. This indicated his place at the 31st session of the peace talks next Thursday would be taken by his deputy, Philip Habib.

Seven More Join Team In Houston

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Seven astronauts from a supersecret Air Force space program canceled June 10 have joined a long line of rookie astronauts waiting for their first ride into space.

The new additions yesterday raise the number of National Aeronautics and Space Administration astronauts to 54. Of the others, 32 have been waiting up to three years for a first ride into space.

Four of the new spacemen are Air Force majors, two are Navy lieutenant commanders and one is a Marine major. All are graduates of the Air Force Aerospace Research Pilot's School.

The Air Force majors are Karol J. Bobko, 32, of Seaford, N.Y.; Charles G. Fullerton, 31, Portland, Ore.; Henry W. Hartsfield, 35, Birmingham, Ala. and Donald H. Peterson, 35, Winona, Miss.

The Navy lieutenant commanders are Richard H. Truly, 32, Meridian, Miss., and Robert L. Crippen, 32, Porter, Tex. The Marine is Maj. Robert F. Overmyer, 33, Westlake, Ohio.

All were members of the astronaut corps in the Air Force's now-canceled Manned Orbiting Laboratory (MOL) program, a military effort built around plans to establish space station orbiting earth.

Apollo 11 Team Gets A Breather

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI)—Home from a flying tour of parades and honors that carried them coast-to-coast in a single day and left them "weak in the knees," Apollo 11's moon landing heroes rested today in the seclusion of their own homes.

Neil A. Armstrong, Michael Collins and Edwin E. (Buzz) Aldrin were back in the setting they love most—with their wives and children, away from the public spotlight.

The reception they received across America left them moved.

Ahead of them tomorrow is another tickertape parade, this one in their — present — home city of Houston, and a gala celebration in the Houston Astrodome with an all-star cast led by Frank Sinatra.

The party at the Astrodome, hosted by the City of Houston, was planned to honor the entire government - industry Apollo team.

However, it already was embroiled in a bitter competition for tickets that were too few to go around to all members of the team and their families.

Nothing was planned today for Armstrong, Aldrin and Collins.

Jetliner Hijacker Claims He Wanted To See Mother

MIAMI (AP) — Claiming he longed to see his mother, a red-eyed gunman with a knife-wielding companion hijacked a Northeast Airlines jet yesterday, maintaining 1969's record rate of more than one forced flight to Cuba per week.

Crew and passengers on the Boston-to-Miami flight said the two men barged into the cockpit just south of Wilmington, N.C.

"Cuba! Cuba!," the pilot said the hijackers shouted, waving a pistol and knife.

The plane carried 44 passengers and a crew of eight.

Forced to keep radio silence, the pilot tripped a secret signal near Jacksonville, Fla., alerting federal aviation authorities that the flight had been diverted.

Capt. Gray B. Newman said the hijackers were nervous and excited as they moved around the cockpit, but "they seemed to have this planned out."

In Cuba the man with the gun walked toward the rear of the plane as soldiers gathered outside, and spoke to stewardess Karen Acuff.

"He said he was a spy," the pretty blonde said. "He was going home to see his mother."

Miss Acuff said, "His eyes were very, very red like he had been drinking. They looked like a road map."

Mrs. Sumner Rosoff of Roban, Mass., said the man looked as though "he was on drugs or something ... The other one was nice looking."

The flight was the 39th commercial jet hijacked to Cuba this year, giving about 2,075 persons unscheduled trips.

In 1968, 20 commercial planes and four small charter craft were pirated.

JUST TOO HAPPY

Dog Lives After Gate Bridge Leap

A 6-year-old Labrador retriever from Montana yesterday became the first dog to survive a leap off the Golden Gate Bridge after he accidentally bounded over the east sidewalk's guardrail while frolicking with his master.

The dog, Rip, owned by Tom Bonogofsky of Billings, Mont., was treated for spinal injuries and paralysis of the rear legs at a San Francisco pet hospital following the accident.

Rip took his flying leap off the bridge while he and Bonogofsky were running along the sidewalk in the late afternoon near the north end of the bridge.

During the walk, Rip had been leaping up to lick his master's face, racing ahead and running back to Bonogofsky. Suddenly he jumped up on the five-foot guard rail and plunged over the edge.

The 80-pound dog fell 70 feet to the balcony of the bridge's north anchorage, which saved him from sure death on rocks some 150 feet further down.

While Rip lay, not moving, on the ledge, Bonogofsky ran back to the toll plaza to seek help. Then he, Lieutenant Edward Ashoff and two other bridge employees climbed down a ladder inside the anchorage to the injured dog.

The dog was brought back up to the roadway on a stretcher and taken to the pet hospital where doctors said they believed the paralysis would be only temporary.

Only one other dog is known to have leaped off the bridge, according to California Highway Patrol officer. A San Francisco police dog was killed when it jumped over the guardrail near the south anchorage and landed on the ground near Fort Point.

Developers Remove Knoll Atop Quail Hill

It was gone when developers of the multi-million dollar project appeared before the San Rafael Planning Commission Tuesday night for a change in the master plan for the project.

However, it was removed with the city's permission, according to Charles J. Linthicum, senior planner.

Linthicum explained the developers came in last month and reported a horizontal slide condition in the knoll. The condition, missed in earlier soils tests, was revealed when graders went in to cut roads.

LANDSLIDE DEBRIS

Linthicum said the soils engineer who is on the site at all times discovered the slide condition. "We have observed a widespread zone of sheared rock and landslide debris having an adverse effect on the overall stability," the engineer wrote the city.

Developers, Commerce Clearing House Inc., hired a University of California geologist as a consultant and he confirmed the findings, Linthicum said.

The firm's grading plan is general, he said, and in an emergency developers may request permission to change.

Additional cuts into the hill for roads and townhouses would have further changed support of the knoll and could have created a landslide, Linthicum said.

The developers appeared Tuesday night to get permission for final grading and for a change in the plan to permit 19 townhouses on the area made level and stable by removing the knoll. "It's the best place to put them," said Linthicum.

He said that from the ground looking up, the top of the hill won't look much different than under the original plan which called for leaving the knoll untouched.

LANDSCAPING

It looks dense on the map of the area but it won't from the bottom of the hill, he said, pointing out the developers are spending thousands and thousands of dollars on landscaping.

He said the development is unusual because the owners are putting in all necessities but are not planning to develop the residential areas of the project. Instead, they are using all controls possible from the city and will add further restrictions of their own, he said.

If the 82-acre area had been developed in pieces as is customary, inconveniences caused by construction would have gone on for years and years he said.

The plan also includes the firm's western regional headquarters, a conference center, office buildings and a small commercial area.

The firm's request to move townhouses to the top of the level area still must be approved by the city council.

Court-Martial Verdict Upheld

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Court of Military Appeals upheld today the conviction of Air Force Capt. Dale E. Noyd for refusing to train pilots for duty in Vietnam.

The court rejected Noyd's argument that he was entitled to separation from the service because of conscientious objections to the Vietnam conflict alone and not to all wars.

Noyd, a psychologist with a doctorate from the University of Michigan, was convicted by a general court-martial of willful disobedience of an order to fly as an instructor in an F100 aircraft, the type fighter plane used by the Air Force in Vietnam.

He was sentenced to dismissal from the service, forfeiture of all pay and allowances and confinement at hard labor for one year.

Evans Held 'Primary' Crash Cause

SUBIC BAY NAVAL BASE, The Philippines (UPI)—The U.S. Navy said today the U.S. destroyer Frank E. Evans bears "primary responsibility" for colliding with the Australian carrier Melbourne last June 3 and for the loss of 74 men in the South China Sea.

The U.S. Navy statement followed a surprise announcement in the Australian capital of Canberra that the commanding officer of the Melbourne, Capt. John P. Stevenson, will be court-martialed as result of the collision. Stevenson had laid full blame on the Evans.

The U.S. Navy statement said the Melbourne also has "a share of responsibility for the collision." The statement came in a report on the joint U.S.-Australian board that investigated for six weeks the extent, nature and causes of the accident during a naval exercise.

The board in its report also noted the Evans' skipper, Cmdr. Albert McLemore was not notified by his two senior officers in command at the time that the destroyer was to go behind the Melbourne and watch planes in distress, a change in station that led to the collision.

McLemore, 40, of Vallejo, and his two subordinate officers —Lt. (J.G.) Ronald C. Ramsey, 24, Long Beach, and Lt. James A. Hopson, 28, Kansas City, Kan., are also awaiting at Subic the recommendations of an investigating officer who conducted a second inquiry into the collision.

Today's announcement also said names of individuals found by the six-man U.S.-Australian board to have failed to take proper action are being withheld to avoid prejudicing their rights in any possible future official proceedings.

Trial Ordered In Co-Ed's Death

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — A young college student has been ordered to trial on a first-degree murder charge in the strangulation death of a pretty Eastern Michigan University freshman.

The victim, 18-year-old Karen Sue Beineman, was the latest of seven young women killed in a series of sex slayings in the Ann Arbor-Ypsilanti area in the past two years.

The defendnt, John Nrman Collins, 22, is accused of murdering Miss Beineman last month and dumping her nude and battered body alongside a secluded road on the outskirts of Ann Arbor.

No charges have been filed in connection with the other six slayings.

Burglars Take $1,000 In Guns, Ammunition

Guns and ammuntion valued at $1,000 have been stolen from the residence of Michael McDevitt, 22 Pigeon Hollow Road, Country Club, sheriff's deputies reported today.

Deputies said the burglary took place some time between Aug. 6 and Tuesday. Taken were three shotguns, five rifles, a carbine, a pistol, three boxes of rifled ammunition and a box of shotgun shells.

Hot Snowball Fight At Georgia University

ATHENS, Ga. (AP) — The residents of Russell Hall, a men's dormitory at the University of Georgia, pooled their ideas and cash to come up with something different to do.

Yesterday, when the temperature was 80, they bought 3,000 pounds of ice.

The result: the school's first August snowball fight. It lasted 30 minutes.

Police Support Group Lashes Rights Panel

The chairman of the Larkspur Support Your Local Police Committee today criticized recent actions of the Marin County Human Rights Commission and specifically the commission's police-community relations committee.

R. C. Kesner of 113 Sycamore Avenue charged that the commission through its committee "is attempting to establish control over the local police forces of the county using any means possible."

"It is trying to set itself up as a civilian police review board with power to hold hearings on complaints and grievances and to discipline those police officers it finds guilty of misconduct," Kesner said.

Overlooked is the fact that there is already machinery available, administrative and judicial, to deal with any instances of abusive or illegal police activity, Kesner claimed.

Kesner said his committee has requested that the Mayor of Fairfax allow a committee spokesman to attend the scheduled Fairfax City Council's closed meeting Aug. 25 at which the human rights commission "will parade its evidence of police brutality against Chief Orr."

Kesner said, "We will gladly point out for the councilmens' consideration some of the recent activities of this long-faced hee haw of the police-community relations committee, their purpose, and the effects they will have on law enforcement if allowed to go unabated."

this fiscal year based on an assessed valuation, after the $750 exemption, of $6,150. Assessed valuation is 23 per cent of fair market value.

Taxes paid last year by the owner of the $30,000 home were $156.63, but will drop this year to $147.28, Mitchell said.

Without the $750 exemption, the homeowner would have paid $165.25 in county taxes this fiscal year, Mitchell said.

Mitchell told the board that total assessed valuation in Marin, after homeowner and business inventory exemptions, was $585.3 million. This is only a 4 per cent increase from 1968-69, the lowest rise in 25 years, Mitchell said.

Tax rates for library and fire protection services were placed at 20 cents, up 3.5 cents, and 31 cents, up 11 cents, respectively.

The board is scheduled to adopt the new tax rates at its Tuesday meeting.

Cutback Ordered In Pesticide Use

WASHINGTON (AP) — Substantial cutbacks in use of DDT, dieldrin and heptachlor pesticides in federal-state insect control programs were announced today by the Agriculture Department.

The department had suspended pest control programs on July 9 for 30 days to permit study of contamination by the pesticides. The suspension was continued until Sept. 14 for federal pest control at military and civilian airports.

Undersecretary J. Phil Campbell said that in the cooperative federal-state programs DDT, dieldrin and heptachlor would be at least partially replaced by other less persistent chemicals, including chlordane.

Private use of pesticides was not affected by either the July suspension or the new cutback.

Kitchen Overworked During State Dinner

The staff was preparing the 1,400 plate banquet in kitchen No. 1 of the hotel when a fire sprinkler system went off. A chef said the sprinklers malfunctioned when the kitchen heated up during preparations for the huge meal.

Viet Step-Up Jeopardizes GI Pull-Out

SAN CLEMENTE (UPI) -- Intensified enemy offensives in Vietnam may adversely affect plans for additional U.S. troop withdrawals, the White House said yesterday.

UPI reported last week President Richard M. Nixon would soon announce the withdrawal of 125,000 U.S. troops—100,000 more than he originally disclosed in June—bringing the number of men in Vietnam down to about 400,000.

(Through a typographical error, a story in yesterday's Independent-Journal said President Nixon has ordered the Pentagon to work toward reducing U.S. forces in Vietnam to 40,000 by Christmas. The figure should have read 400,000).

Nifon spent three hours in conference with the National Security Council at his villa by the sea here, and afterwards Press Secretary Ronald Ziegler told newsmen Nixon and his top advisers were keeping a close eye on the increased action.

Nixon was to put together a foursome with Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, Defense Secretary Melvin P. Laird and Secretary of State William P. Rogers, with Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, the cabinet's best golfer, a possible substitute if one of the others were not available.

The President was due to announce Monday his choice of a successor to Associate Supreme Court Justice Abe Fortas. The best guess on Nixon's selection was Chief Judge Clement F. Haynsworth of the Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals.

Irish To Boycott British Goods

BOSTON (AP) — A group of Boston Irish says it will organize a nationwide boycott of British products unless British troops withdraw from Northern Ireland.

The group, organized as the Committee for Justice in Northern Ireland, picketed outside the British consulate yesterday and announced another demonstration today at the downtown office of British Overseas Airways Corp.

Dr. Donald McCaughan, who identified himself as president of the group, said, "The British aren't a peace-keeping force, they are only there to protect British interests."

McCaughan said his group has 1,000 members.

noma report, however, indicate the district's share could reach $9.35 million.

In addition, the Sonoma report also recommends each district pay for its share of the costs of operation and maintenance and miscellaneous costs on the basis of use. No figures were given.

The report also covered water quality and recommended a natural filtration system, provided the geology of the river basin is suitable.

If it is not, the report said, a large treatment plant would be necessary at a cost of several million more dollars. Again, no figures were given.

Last month Seeger expressed doubts about using the natural filtration system because it hasn't been working so well in some areas.

The section of the report covering the first phase of the transmission system did not differ from Seeger's outline last month.

However, it noted that if construction costs continue to rise the way they have been it could add as much as $5.1 million to the $33 million first phase. Marin Municipal's share of the $33 million was estimated at $14 million by Seeger.

The report stressed that the method of financing is the No. 1 priority for the whole project and outlined three methods.

One would be for each district to go for a bond issue separately; the second, a joint bond issue by the three districts; and the third, a master agency encompassing all three districts "possibly enlarging the Sonoma district to encompass the entire Russian River water plan service area."

Other recommendations of the report included retaining a firm of financial consultants; formulating design standards so the first phase can begin as soon as possible; providing immediate financing for advance design, studies, and each district finish reports for local facilities as soon as possible.

Memphis Couple's Murder Likened To Tate Slayings

Officers declined to speculate, however, on whether the slayings were connected with those in Hollywood, on which no new leads have develoed.

Police said the victims were Roy Kenneth Dumas, 58, and his wife, Vernalyn Kelly Dumas, 46. Memphis police and Fire Director Frank Holloman said Mrs. Dumas appeared to have been raped.

Holloman said the bodies were discovered in spearate bedrooms in the couple's three-

'Malicious Intent' Cited In Bus Accident

BEAVER FALLS, Pa. (AP) — A coroner's jury says an accident on the Pennsylvania Turnpike that killed 6 persons and orphaned 10 children was caused by the "malicious intent" of a 21-year-old driver who was "pulling a stunt."

The jury returned the verdict against Robert Burris of Struthers, Ohio. Police said Burris was driving his auto east in the westbound lanes of the highway when the crash occurred Aug. 4 near the Beaver Falls interchange.

Apollo Triumph Is Jolt To Soviets

MOSCOW (Toronto News Service) — The triumph of Apollo 11 is very likely to lead to profound social and political changes in the USSR.

The questions today being asked on every level of Soviet society are: What happened to our space program? Why have we failed? What went wrong?

A question which is not spoken in public, but which everyone is thinking: Who is responsible?

In a sense, there is a similarity to the situation in the United States in 1958-60 when Americans were upset that the Russians were so far ahead in the space race. There was a crisis of confidence which John F. Kennedy exploited in his drive to national power.

JFK attacked the Eisenhower-Nixon Administration for failing to keep up with the Russians. He went to the American masses with the claim that only he and the Democrats could "get America moving again."

There are no Kennedy-types visible in the USSR, and it is improbable that Soviet ruling circles would tolerate one. There are also no real appeals to the masses which can bear fruit in a national election. But there are people who want a change. More important, there are individuals who want to rise on the political ladder. The abysmal Soviet performance in space since 1967, which has been underlined by the Apollo triumph, can only give force to the winds of change.

First, since the first Sputnik in 1957, the Soviet State has claimed that Soviet space triumphs demonstrated the superiority of the Soviet system over the free world. These claims even appeared this year when the Soviet Space Program had run out of steam.

In making this claim, the Soviet ruling class climbed out on a limb, where it now embarrassingly hangs before the gaze of the Soviet masses. International prestige means little in a closed society where foreign radio broadcasts can be jammed and books banned. But internal prestige is vitally important if dark horse contenders for power are to be kept in their place.

Second, space triumphs have been used here to cover up deficiencies in Soviet society. Soviet citizens could take pride that although there is a shortage of practically all amenities here, the country was first in space. Russians took consolation in this as a harbinger of a brighter future. Space replaced religion as the opium of the Soviet masses.

Today the opium has lost its consoling effect.

Third, the failure to keep up in the space race indicates the conservative policies of the present leadership which has not been able to carry through effective reforms of the Soviet social and economic system.

The key factor in the Soviet defeat was the failure of the Soviet economy to produce, as Khrushchev had predicted — to catch up with the Americans by 1970.

This failure naturally strengthens the hand of would-be reformers, although the arch-conservatives still hold overwhelming power here.

The Apollo triumph has made painfully clear that a thorough overhaul of the economy and the educational system is in order.

Key elements in any changes here are bound to be in the military establishment and Russian nationalism.

The military still gets the cream and the bulk of what this society produces. However, even the generals must be a bit upset that the social and economic system has not been able to keep up with the Americans in the vital area of space.

Russian nationalism, the most powerful force in the Soviet State, has been given a severe blow by the American triumph. This nationalism feasted heavily on previous Soviet space victories, and now the space pickings are pitifully lean. The nationalist beast is likely to get a bit unruly about those responsible for the debacle. The many minorities in the USSR (who actually total a slim majority together) are not likely to regard their Russian "big brothers" with the awe that was formerly accorded the Russians when they were making space history.

The debacle has been unnecessarily compounded by the ignominious and ungentlemanly act which was the launching of Luna 15. Many observers here feel that Luna 15 was the result of political recklessness — a desperate attempt to win back some of the lost space glory for purely domestic reasons.

Besides posing a possible threat to the safety of the Apollo crew, the actual performance of Luna 15 is a great national humiliation. It did not perform as many expected it — to scoop up a portion of the moon soil and return it to earth.

Very little publicity was released concerning Luna 15 which is the case of most shrouded space probes. But it is known that the rocket was scheduled to orbit the moon until Saturday, but that it was still in orbit the Monday before it crashed.

Significantly, the Soviet press did not refer to Luna 15 as having "successfully" completed its mission. The press reports merely said that the mission was completed — making it highly unusual.

Snowfall After Crow Rain Dance

SHERIDAN, Wyo. (AP) — Sheridan Jaycees were threatening to call off the snowmobile race scheduled in the Big Horn mountains west of Sheridan. High winds had blown most of the snow off the course.

But the Crow Indian tribe tried a rain dance for five hours.

Six inches of snow fell quickly — in fact there was so much snow that the snowmobile race was threatened by too much snow.

Pay Calls Limited

TOKYO (UPI)—Calls from pay telephones will be limited to three minutes in Japan starting Oct. 1. The Diet (parliament) approved a bill placing the limit on the nation's 350,000 public telephones. At the end of three minutes, a chime will sound and the circuit will disconnect automatically. Of course, the caller can dial again for 10 yen (2.7 cents).

OBITUARIES

ISAAC WEITZMAN

Funeral was held today for Isaac Weitzman, 82, formerly of Penngrove, who died Wednesday in Berkeley. Burial was at Israel Cemetery, Petaluma.

A native of Poland, he moved to San Francisco in 1941 and to Penngrove in 1944. For many years Weitzman operated a poultry ranch on Dutch Lane, retiring in 1965. He had been a member of the Jewish Cultural Club of Petaluma.

Transfer For Santa Rita Man

OAKLAND (UPI)—Sheriff Lt. Howard Davis, whose suspension was overruled by the Alameda County Civil Service Commission, has been transferred from the Santa Rita Prison Farm.

Upon the urging of Davis, a 17-year-veteran of the department, Sheriff Frank I. Madigan yesterday reassigned him to relief officer in charge of Eden Township substation. Davis will relieve regular commanders on their days off.

Prices Of Dodge Pickups Hiked

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. announced today a tentative price increase for its 1970 model Dodge trucks, which it said averaged $67 or about 2 per cent more than for comparable 1969s.

Ford Motor Co. announced Monday an average tentative increase of $64 for its 1969 line of trucks, which it also said was a 2 per cent boost on the average.

Chrysler's new prices were disclosed in suggested retail price list sent Dodge dealers over the country. Increases range from $44 to $138.

New Viet Push Costly To Enemy

SAIGON (AP) — Allied forces have killed more than 1,000 enemy soldiers in the Cambodian border region north of Saigon since the upsurge of combat four days ago, a U.S. Army spokesman said today.

Despite the heavy losses, the enemy is sticking in the area, currently the most critical in South Vietnam, although attacks generally have changed from large assaults to harassing probes against allied positions.

Sixty-five enemy soldiers were killed today in the frontier region, which ranges from 55 miles northwest to 80 miles northeast of Saigon, the spokesman said. This raised the total of enemy reported killed there in the past four days to 1,034.

About 30 Americans have been killed in the same period and more than 150 wounded, the spokesman added. South Vietnamese army losses were reported light.

U.S. military spokesmen said they expected the enemy to continue the present level of 20 to 40 shellings nightly with small ground probes, then hit another high point before Sept. 2.

That date is considered significant because it will be the 24th anniversary of North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh's proclamation of Vietnamese independence.

The Communist command hit one high point of activity Monday night and Tuesday with rocket, mortar and ground attacks on more than 150 Allied bases and South Vietnamese cities.

American analysts say such a high level of action cannot be sustained without the enemy suffering losses heavier than he seems willing to take now.

For example, there were 41 rocket and mortar attacks in the past 24 hours and eight ground fights.

Nationwide, more than 1,700 enemy soldiers are believed to have died since the Communist command opened its fall campaign Monday night and Tuesday.

The over-all casualty figures for the allies will not be released until next week but it is estimated that at least 150 Americans and an equal number of government troops have been killed.

For the past three days ground action has been mostly small scattered fights, with the exception of some relatively large battles along the Cambodian frontier.

About 5,000 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong soldiers are operating in the jungles and among the rubber trees and bamboo of the border provinces of Binh Long and Phuoc Long, facing 8,000 allied troops.

In the stiffest fight today, 12 North Vietnamese were killed in an attack on an American patrol base called Landing Zone Jamie, about 65 miles north of Saigon. U.S. casualties were two killed and nine wounded.

The attack began just before daylight with a rocket and mortar barrage followed up by a small ground assault. The enemy were cut down by riflemen supported by helicopter gunships before they could reach the camp's wire perimeter, spokesmen said.

Otherwise, scattered action was reported throughout the border region and the rest of the country.

100,000 Hurt By Bus Strike

EDMONTON, Alta. (AP) — About 100,000 persons who rely on the city transit system were forced to drive, hitch-hike or find other means of getting to work today after 625 city transit workers went on strike at 5 a.m.

City and union officials, after failing in talks, engaged in verbal sparring. Both sides claim they are prepared for a four-month strike.

City hall offered 19.68 per cent wage increases over 28 months, but the offer became void when the strike began. The union had agreed to the increase but wanted a 24-month contract.

Virginia Woolf Husband Dies

Woolf, who held strong leftwing views, edited "International Review" in 1919, was literary editor of "The Nation" from 1923 to 1930 and joint editor of "Political Quarterly" from 1931 to 1959. Most of his books dealt with history, politics and international relations.

Hearing On Exhuming Of Body Granted

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP) — A judge today granted a hearing on a request by Dist. Atty. Edmund Dinis to exhume the body of Mary Jo Kopechne, who was killed in an auto accident involving Sen. Edward M. Kennedy.

Judge Bernard C. Brominski of Luzerne County Common Pleas Court set the hearing for 10 a.m., Aug. 25, at which time Dinis will present evidence to support his request for an autopsy.

Dinis, of New Bedford, Mass., district attorney for that state's southern district, said he would go ahead with a scheduled Sept. 3 inquest into Miss Kopechne's death, regardless of the court's decision here.

The 28-year-old secretary drowned July 18 when a car driven by Kennedy plunged off a bridge on Chappaquiddick Island off the Massachusetts coast.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kopechne of Berkeley Heights, N. J., her parents, object to exhuming her body from a cemetery in nearby Larksville.

Novato Apartment Plan Is Approved

The Novato Plan Review Committee yesterday approved the plans for a 58 unit apartment complex for Russell G. Quinnell to be located between South Novato Boulevard and Rancho School south of Nave Shopping Center.

In the only other item to come before it, the committee approved the plans for a 21-square-foot interior illuminated sign for the Ignacio Theater for Donald F. Donohue.

Army Refuses To Release Accused Green Beret

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Army refused today to release one of eight Green Berets charged with murdering a Vietnamese. The refusal was based on "the seriousness of the alleged offense," an official spokesman reported.

The civilian attorney for the Green Beret, Maj. Thomas C. Middleton Jr., 30, of Jefferson, S.C., claimed Army officials in Vietnam and the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency were making his client "a human sacrifice" in a case based on "political issues rather than criminal ones."

The attorney, George W. Gregory of Cheraw, S.S., said he would ask the Military Court of Appeals in Washington to fee his client now that the Army here has denied his petition.

Middleton and the seven others, including Col. Robert B. Rheault of Vineyard Haven, Mass., former commander of the Special Forces—or Green Berets—in Vietnam, are being held in the Army stockade at Long Binh, 12 miles north of Saigon. The Army is conducting an investigation to determine whether they must face a court-martial.

Gregory said the victim on the official charge sheet was named Chu Yen Thai Khac, but that this was "only a cover name—not a real name." Khac was reportedly killed and dumped into the South China Sea. Search for the body has been abandoned.

Khac was employed by the Green Berets as chief of a team watching infiltration trails in Cambodia, sources close to the case reported.

They said the CIA ordered Khac killed after films taken secretly in Cambodia showed he was a double agent. Gregory referred to Khac as "a double or triple agent." The sources said the CIA later canceled the order but they were not sure whether this was before or after the killing June 20.

Gregory asserted that officials in Washington were "telling bald-faced lies" in claiming that the slaying was carried out after the CIA had revoked its original order to "terminate with extreme prejudice" the agent, meaning to kill him.

"I know and I have evidence to prove that the CIA has ordered the killing and effectuated the killing of over 100 people in South Vietnam in the past year," Gregory said.

Pressed for details of this report, the attorney declined to elaborate but hinted it might come out at the trial, saying: "I really hope it won't be necessary to release it."

Guerrillas Hit Oil Pipeline In Haifa Area

HAIFA, Israel (UPI) — Guerrillas believed to be Arabs living in Israel blew up a crude oil pipeline in the Haifa Bay industrial area today, touching off a 4-minute blaze which blacked out electrical supplies and disrupted railway service.

Police said they had arrested eight men suspected of the explosion, the second in the Haifa area in two months.

In Jeruualem, Israeli police said they had arrested 95 Arab guerrilla suspects, members of the Al Fatah and the Palestine Liberation Organization, and captured a number of ammunition dumps.

One of the arms caches was found in Haguy Lane, an east Jerusalem alleyway leading to the Wailing Wall where a triple explosion six weeks ago wounded a number of Jewish worshippers.

On the political front, former Premier David Ben-Gurion indicated he had toughened his stand an Israeli-occupied territories. In an interview in the afternoon newspaper Ma'Ariv he said itf there was no real peace Israel would not give the territories back.

Arrest Of Pair Solves At Least Two Burglaries

At least two burglaries and possibly nine others have been solved as a result of the arrest of a 19-year-old Petaluma youth and a 12-year-old San Rafael boy, San Rafael police said today.

Booked into Marin County jail on two counts of burglary and one count of car theft was John Edward Brown, 19, whose mother lives at 621 Webster Street, Petaluma. Police said the youth, who was held in lieu of $3,000 bail for a court appearance today, has lived at several addresses in Marin County.

Cited to probation authroities was Custis Jones, 12, of 105A Shafer Street, San Rafael.

Police said the two were arrested yesterday in connection with the Wednesday burglary and theft of a car from Dexter Pontiac. The car was recovered later in Petaluma.

They were also implicated in the weekend burglary of Mac's Saw Service at 1013 Second Street and possibly nine other burglaries, police said.

'THREE FOOT OF SILT' — Water stands in a hole at the mouth of this storm drain, the hole having been dug to catch the silt from winter rains. James Earl Ray Claims Duping By Federal Agents

ST. LOUIS (AP) — James Earl Ray says federal agents who recruited him ostensibly to help overthrow Fidel Castro's Cuban regime killed Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and "used me to be the fall guy."

Ray made the assertion in a statement dictated to his brother Jerry at the Tennessee State Prison in Nashville, where he is serving 99 years as the assassin of the civil rights leader. The statement was read by Jerry Ray in a televised program on station KMOX-TV.

In the statement, the convicted killer said the federal agents employed him during the spring of 1968.

"They told me I was helping them to supply arms and guns to Cuba refugees to overthrow Castro and the Communists in Cuba," Ray declared. "I knew nothing about King being in Memphis until after King had been killed."

SILT CONGESTION

Corte Madera Canal Residents Rally Around Fading Waterway

By BRUCE COLEMAN

A Corte Madera canal resident claims that town crews have "fixed" the breezy waterway on which he lives so that — whereas he once could steam his 24-foot cabin cruiser to his back dock — now it's impossible to bring in a rowboat.

Last winter the crews brought in a backhoe to clean out the canal, said Ralph M. Finley of 6 Cay Passage.

"They dug a hole at the end of the storm pipe causing a sluice box action. The water came down off the hills, hit the hole and the creek has filled up with silt," he said yesterday.

Bail bondsman Finley, a former civil engineer, said that even the ducks and egrets, which used to teach their young how to jump into the water, have disappeared for lack of water.

By contrast, said Finley, a similar man-made canal which runs along Paradise Drive in the Mariner Cove development has been properly cleaned and is navigable.

Finley said that his boat, which draws two feet of water, now must be tied up at Paradise Cay Yacht Harbor in Tiburon about two miles away.

Another resident, Dorothy Elzey of 279 Golden Hind Passage, told the Independent-Journal that she sold her boat in March because she could no longer ford the canal.

"It's just terrible," said Mrs. Elzey. "When we bought this property in 1961 we were told the city would maintain the waterway the way it was. At that time it was fine for navigational purposes."

We were told the canal would not be allowed to fill up but it has filled over three feet, Mrs. Elzey continued.

She said that she had an 18-foot sport coupe with an 18-inch draft. "Last year, I could only go out on a six-foot tide," she said. "When we bought, I could take it on a 3.5-foot tide."

Mrs. Elzey told how neighbors went to the Town Hall about two years ago to see if something could be done to clear the canal but nothing was done, she said.

Frank Toscanini of 315 Golden Hind Passage said he is fighting for the town to dredge the canal so he can put in a small pier and do some fishing.

Town Mgr. Ronald L. Usher told the Independent-Journal that the town is required only to maintain the channels for drainage purposes — and not for navigation.

The hole dug next to the storm pipe near Finley's back yard gate is standard procedure in maintaining drainage facilities, the manager explained. He called it a silting basin.

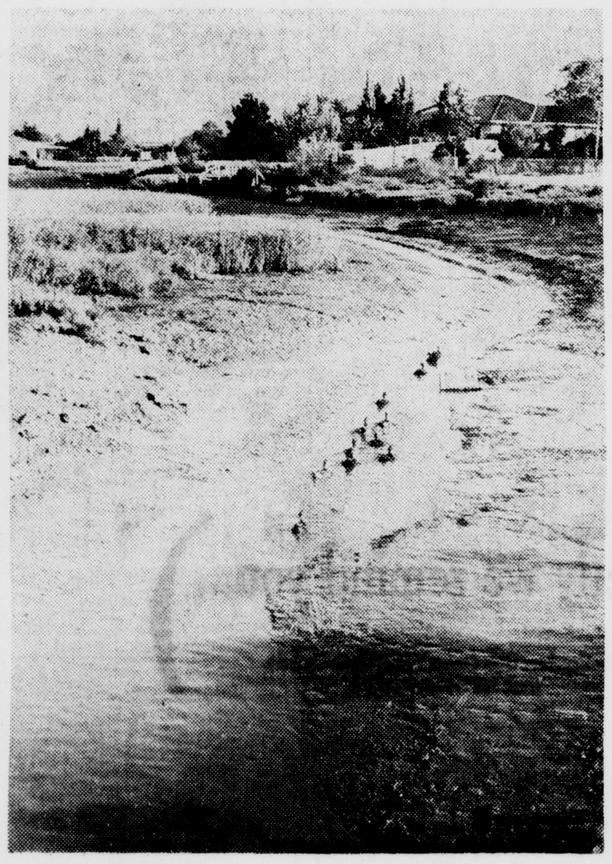
When the water comes off the hill in the winter the silt is deposited in the hole and then does not clog up the channel, Usher said.

"Neither I nor Art Morrison (town public works director) can see that the digging of the hole caused any problem with regard to drainage or navigation," he added.

Usher said the people living along the canal, about 6 families, benefited from the fact that the Marin County Mosquito Abatement District bailed silt out of the channel in 1966. However, he said, there is no evidence of a present mosquito problem that might warrant repeat bailing.

The proposed formation of an assessment district in April 1968 to make nearby San Clemente Creek navigable was dropped when the high cost of dredging was determined.

The minimum project would cost $410,509 and the maximum project $453,200 which would have cost a homeowner with a typically assessed lot $275 a year for a 15-year bonding period.



FREE PASSAGE — Mariner Cove resident Ralph M. Finley claims that this canal near Paradise Drive was cleaned properly and thus leaves free passage for boats at plus tides. A band of ducks heads for sea at a low, low tide.

'PRETTY PLEASE?'

An Unusual Tax 'Return' Brings Young Girl A Pony

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — A 10-year-old girl wrote to the Internal Revenue Service and asked them to stop deducting money from her father's paycheck for a week so he could buy her a pony.

They didn't do that, but they did the next best thing. They took up a collection and bought her the pony. It will be delivered today to Marcia Kessler of suburban Meadowbrook.

A few weeks ago Marcia dashed off a note to the "Director of Interneial Revnuy (sic)" in Washington and stated her case.

The letter read:

"Please do not make my Father pay income tax just for one week so he can buy me a pony. Please? Just for one week because I really want a pony!

"Please? Just one week that's all.

"I am 10 year old and I would give any thing for a pony.

"Please????"

The letter was printed neatly on three by five index cards and sent off to begin a trip through governmental red tape which ended at the local IRS headquarters.

The letter came up at a staff meeting of local Director Seymour Friedman, the assistant director and four division chiefs. The men discussed the letter and then dipped into their own pockets for $100 to purchase a white, 8-year-old pony.

"She's thrilled," said Mrs. George R. Kessler, the girl's mother. "I don't think she's slept for two nights. She'll probably be up at dawn sitting on the front doorstep waiting for it.

"She's just nuts about horses. She has horse posters around her room and a little horse and stable that she had gotten for Christmas, and models of horses and pictures of horses on her walls," she said.

Mrs. Kessler explained that her daughter read an ad for ponies in the paper and asked her father to buy her one.

"He said no, he couldn't, he had to pay too many taxes." Kessler is a manager for a Philadelphia moving and storage firm.

"So she decided to write a letter to Internal Revenue and ask them if he could not pay taxes for just one week to buy her a pony," Mrs. Kessler said.

No one's more surprised than Marcia that she is getting her pony.

"I never dreamed it would happen," she said.

Fifty thousand persons died in accidents on federal roads, including the interstate system in 1968.

You may not recognize the name — Paul Frees — although you certainly would if you were in show business. And whether in the field or not, you most surely would recognize his voice. For Frees is an immensely successful voice mimic who you hear every day in television commercials and cartoons. For tomorrow's I-J Marin Magazine, writer-photographer Gil Pearson tells the story of this Marinite who has risen to the top in his most lucrative chosen field.
The idea for swimming competition among boys and girls within their own age groups originated with Marin's Beth Kaufman. It is now an accepted and successful practice in Amateur Athletic Union programs across the country, and a major contributing factor to this country's domination of the sport. Nowhere is AAU age-group swimming flourishing more than here in Marin where it all began. And the I-J's weekend supplement tomorrow will tell you all about this popular program.

Marina, Storage Area At Black Point Win Support

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — The Sonoma County Board of Zoning Adjustments yesterday approved a use permit application for a marina and contractor's storage yard on the Petaluma River at Black Point.

The request by Shellmaker Inc. had previously included a mobile home park and apartments which brought protests from groups in Marin and Southern Sonoma counties.

The unclassified district at 250 Sears Point Road will permit a marina and storage yard and need not be rezoned as would have been necessary in the original request.

Representatives of the Black Point Improvement Club spoke against the request yesterday, saying it would ruin the beauty of the river bank.

The Sonoma County Board of Zoning Adjustments also:

MOBILE HOME — Approved the use permit application of Dean B. Dunn to place a mobile home at 2439 Petaluma Boulevard North, Petaluma.

AUTO YARD — Denied the request of Vincent Bella to locate an automobile storage yard at 12900 Petaluma-Valley Ford Road, saying the yard would detract from the beauty of the scenic highway.

TRAILER — Denied the request of James E. Michaelsen to locate a mobile home at 820 Cleveland Avenue, Petaluma. The board said the use would not be appropriate in the growing residential area.

MARIN CITY POST SEEKERS BLASTED

Audience Suggests Job To Be Filled By A Resident Of The Community

By ALAN JONES

In a sometimes clamorous meeting, the Marin City Council last night presented two finalists for a $13,500 community coordinator post — and was promptly told by some of the audience that the candidates wouldn't do.

Controversy ultimately lead to postponement of appointment and the calling of a special community meeting at 8 p.m. Tuesday to explain the council planning program and its budget under the federal 701 planning grant.

Protesters in the audience said the coordinator should come from the community itself, and applauded a suggestion by council member Daniel Hayden Sr. that the post be split between one professional coordinator and someone from the community who, would learn coordinating skills.

The local person would have knowledge of the community which an outsider could never get, Hayden said. Several others voicing agreement.

The two candidates were Jack Williams of Oakland and Albert Boswell of San Francisco. Council chairman Samuel L. Banks Jr. said there is a third finalist, who was not present and whom he did not name.

The three were screened by a committee from 40 applicants, Banks said. Only one Marin City resident applied although the job opening was widely advertised, he said.

Lacking a quorum for nearly an hour after the scheduled 8 p.m. meeting time, Banks took two other councilmen as an ad hoc committee into another room at the Manzanita Center to interview Boswell, but the group returned to the open meeting in a few minutes after protests from the audience about the closed meeting.

Williams said his expereince includes welfare and probation work, public school teaching, working for real estate firms and working for a criminal lawyer. He is now personnel director for a San Leandro heating firm.

"Do you know Marin City?" asked Black Panther Brian V. Beard.

"I've just passed through Marin City . . . I don't know anything about Marin City," Williams said.

"It would be better to get someone from the community who knows the people," Thelma McKinney said.

Banks explained the coordinator would be less in contact with the people than with outside investors and government bodies on the track of funds to develop Marin City.

The council has a $76,500 grant from federal and county governments for a community planning program. First step in the program will be a community survey, which will guide the coordinator as to community needs and wants. The survey will be done by local residents, Banks said.

Beard and Mrs. McKinney objected most strongly to hiring an outsider, but Beard changed his mind when Banks said the coordinator will be "at the disposition of the community."

"As long as the coordinator is responsible to the council, and the council is responsible to the community . . . you can't ask any more than that," Beard said.

Mrs. McKinney objected that in the community's experience with California Development Corporation (which is now backing out of Marin City redevelopment), the developer "exploited us and walked out." She suggested the people themselves handle development through a nonprofit group.

Banks said the proposals for such development will be presented at an Aug. 28 meeting.

Boswell outlined his background of six years in welfare work and three years in sociological research, all with "poverty populaions." The question for Marin City, he said, is whether a small community can govern its own redevelopment.

He admitted he would not move to Marin City if he got the job, and said "it's a dilemma to find qualified persons" who both knew the community and had the technical skills required.

"No, no, no," interrupted Mrs. McKinney. "If we're in a dilemma there's no use your even coming over here . . . you'll have to come here and live with us."

A moment later Otis Gaines, who had just arrived, asked why all 40 applicants had not been invited to the meeting instead of only two men. Banks explained the screening process again.

"That's why we have representative government," Mrs. McKinney said. That led to an extended three-way argument between her, Beard and Gaines over local control, with Banks able to guide the discussion only sporadically.

As the argument raged on, Councilwoman Collie B. Gaines asked "Why don't we take the $50,000 and send it back?"

"Right on," Gaines agreed, "You might as well send it back and break up this board . . . these people don't know our needs, and we don't know them. The only thing brings them here is the money."

Hayden, proposing splitting the job to develop local skills, said "Until we build in this community a self-sufficiency, we will always have to go outside."

"The next step then, Banks said, will be to return to the Marin County supervisors and propose the change. Without their approval, he said, "We don't have a dime."

Williams said he would move to Marin City if he got the coordinator job, but added "you also need someone with a lot of outside contacts."

Banks, after trying several times to let Boswell finish outlining his qualifications for the job, finally adjourned the meeting shortly before 11 p.m., and announced a special community meeting at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the Manzanita Center to explain the council planning program and its budget under the 701 planning grant.

Approval Of Flood Work Still Pending

The Ross Town Council indicated general approval last night of the first portion of the Corte Madera Flood Control Project to be constructed in Ross, but delayed action for one week to await advice of the town's flood control advisory board.

"It's a matter of protocol," said Councilman W. James Dawson.

Philip B. Lygren, town engineer, explained that the flood control segment runs from the southern town limits upstream to about 700 feet south of the Lagunitas Road bridge.

He recommended that the concrete channel be 33 feet wide with a five-foot walkway along each side wall and a fence atop each wall.

The fence, as suggested by the Army Corps of Engineers is to be a six-foot green vinyl-clad chain link type but Lygren said the council might prefer to use a patio pool fence which has redwood strips inserted in the links.

Approval of this section of the project, part of which is in Kentfield, is being sought by the Marin County Board of Supervisors so that work may be started next spring. The town council said in 1967 that construction could not commence in the Town of Ross until the council approved the design in writing.

Plans for the remainder of the project through Ross have been postponed to give time to study plans other than the engineers' proposed concrete ditch.

The council voted that $500 be budgeted as the town's share of a county study of the second portion of Phase III of the flood control project.

Dawson, chairman of the town's flood control advisory board said that a meeting date of the board, prior to the council meeting next Thursday, will be announced. The council also set a meeting at 6 p.m. Sept. 10 for the advisory board.

Three Indicted In Vote Buying

CHICAGO (AP) — Three persons have been charged in a federal indictment with buying votes in last year's presidential election campaign and primary.

The indictments returned yesterday were the first under the Voting Rights Act of 1965, a federal prosecutor said.

Indicted were Chicago policewoman Wilma K. Burns and Democratic precinct workers Thomas Connon, 50, of suburban Elmwood Park, and John J. Janow, 48, of Chicago.

Thomas A. Foran, U.S. district attorney, said Connon and Janow were accused of soliciting "hustlers" to bring Skid Row residents to a vote registration booth. The U.S. attorney said the hustlers were paid $2 for each person they brought to register, but the person who registered was often paid 50 cents or a dollar, and sometimes given a bottle of wine.

Soviet Plane Passes Sound Barrier Tests

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet supersonic airliner has been flying beyond the sound barrier "for extended periods of time" recently with no difficulty, a newspaper reported today.

The plane, the TU144, is ahead of the British-French Concorde in its testing schedule and is expected to be in service in less than two years. The Concorde has not yet broken the sound barrier.

Ross Undecided On Hitchhiking Policy

Hitchhikers passing through the Town of Ross may be required only to be careful where they thumb on busy Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, the town council indicated last night. (Another Ross Town Council story, page 1.)

The council asked to approve an emergency ordinance prohibiting hitchhiking on or about roadways except in areas within a bus stop, received objections from Councilmen Ralph C. Walker and Natalie C. Lewis.

Walker said that if the traffic problem is on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, "why prohibit a kid hitchhiking from Upper Road to stick out his hand in front of a passing neighbor?" Mrs. Lewis said she would only vote for the ordinance if it limited itself to the main boulevard, Sir Francis Drake.

The main reason for the ordinance is a safety factor to keep people off the roadway and keep cars from stopping, said Police Chief John Harris.

The subject was continued to the council's next meeting at which time the council will also discuss a proposed sign at the town's edges reading: "Hitchhiking Prohibited Except Within Bus Stops."

The Ross Town Council Also:

ANIMAL CONTROL — Adopted an ordinance in which it is agreed the town will pay $404 to the County of Marin to participate in the countywide animal control program.

DEED — Accepted a deed granting the town easement on Marin Art and Garden Center land so that the street corner may be rounded at Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and Laurel Grove Avenue.

AIR POLLUTION — Agreed to ask that a discussion of what Marin County towns and cities may do when the January 1970 burning ban becomes effective be placed on the agenda of the Sept. 24 meeting of Marin Council of Mayors and Councilmen.

TENT FAMILY — Heard that there is a family living in a tent in Ross because their house isn't big enough, Councilman Roy Farrington Jones asking that the building inspector take a look at the tent.

WILLING WATER—Proclaimed this week Willing Water Week.

HOUSING CONFERENCE — Agreed not to cosponsor, at cost of $25, the League of Women Voters of Southern and Central Marin housing conference Oct. 25 at Dominican College.

NEXT MEETING — Adjourned to 8 p.m. Thursday.

Cultural Arts Commission Considers Incorporation

The possibility of changing the Rohnert Park Cultural Arts Commission into a nonprofit corporation was reviewed last night by the commission.

Reba Roberts, acting in place of vacationing chairman Dr. William O. Cord, said the group was considering making the change so that cultural and beautification projects can be carried out without expense to the taxpayer.

The commission now receives an annual allotment of $2,000 from the city council. Mrs. Roberts suggested that if the group incorporated it could find donors to sponsor projects such as the proposed fountain in front of the new community and recreation center.

City Mgr. Peter M. Callinan and City Atty. Robert B. Maxwell are assisting the commission in investigating the change.

The Rohnert Park Cultural Arts Commission also:

EMBLEM SIGN — Heard a report that the welcome sign to include club organization emblems may be ready for dedication during the Founders Day celebration, Sept. 12, 13 and 14. The sign will be located at the city entrance at the Rohnert Park expressway.

UNDERGROUNDING — Heard a suggestion from developer Paul Gois that the commission look into the undergrounding of utility lines as a means of beautification. The commission said it would offer its assistance to the city council in setting undergrounding priorities, but only if the council should request recommendations.

RECORDS — Discussed a program to accumulate records and photographs of the ten-year-old city for reference by future historians.

PG&E Gas Rate Hike Hearing Postponed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Hearings on a Pacific Gas & Electric Co. request for a $26.4 million increase in gas rates were suspended yesterday, but were scheduled to be resumed Sept. 2.

The last witness was Marty Nicholas, who identified himself as a member of the Students for a Democratic Society and protested the rate raise "would work a hardship on poor people."

Lack Of Quorum

The Marin County Human Rights Commission canceled its scheduled meeting last night at the Marin Civic Center for lack of a quorum, and a new meeting date hasn't been set yet, reported Joyce Bailey, field representative for the commission.

Sewer Pipe Corrections To Be Asked

About 100 Terra Linda homeowners will be asked to correct defects in sewer connections to their homes, directors of the Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District announced last night

The defects were uncovered in tests conducted in June in an area generally bounded by Las Gallinas Avenue, Manuel Freitas Parkway and Las Colindas Road. The area contains about 600 homes.

District workers placed smoke bombs in sewer mains to determine where storm water was entering the system. Smoke drifted through the lawns of about 100 homes and these residents will be asked to make repairs before winter rains, according to Mrs. Lelia Sayers, district secretary.

In other business last night, directors called for bids at their next meeting at 7:30 p.m. Sept. 11 to make permanent repairs to a section of the sewer main serving Lucas Valley that was washed out in last winter's rains.

3:45 p.m., Lagunitas — Quarter-acre of grass burned near Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and Centurea Street; cause unknown.

4:51 p.m., Marin City — Deliberately set fire in a small pile of grass and debris at Drake Avenue and Eureka Avenue.

6:46 p.m., San Anselmo — Faulty switch caused a $10 fire in an air conditioner at Jo Del's Hairstyling, 642 San Anselmo Avenue.

Los Angeles Selects New Chief Of Police

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Deputy Chief Edward M. Davis, 52, was named as Los Angeles' new police chief today by the board of commissioners.

Davis, who has headed the department's planning and control section, placed second on a civil service examination, behind deputy chief James G. Fisk, 54, who heads the department's community relations division.

Davis joined the force in 1940. He will command more than 6,000 officers and nearly 2,000 civilians. He replaces Thomas Reddin, who resigned earlier this year to become a local television newscaster.

Out-Of-The-Way Italian Bar And Restaurant Found In San Rafael

There used to be — and I guess there still is — a great liking in San Francisco for the little out-of-the-way Italian restaurant with the bar on one side and booths on the other, or the bar in front and the booths in the back.

Either way it was sure to be popular and usually to be found on Columbus Avenue or one of the cross streets in North Beach. More often than not the wine was included in the price of the meal. And the entire check for two was scarcely more than the price of a couple of loge seats for a downtown movie.

My days of seeking out such places in the byways are behind me, but one reminiscent of their existence has come to my notice in downtown San Rafael. I must admit to not giving it as close a going-over as it deserves after completion of its recent remodeling.

This is Anjo's at 535 Fourth Street, San Rafael. The bar is at one side and the booths are on the other, but a wall separates them as befits a restaurant catering to the family trade.

The decor is wine-ish and cellarish, with ends of casks protruding from brick-faced walls and pseudo vines and grapes growing overhead. Wood paneling is wormy cedar and while all this new work cannot match the aged look of those North Beach haunts, a certain categorical similarity does exist.

The bar itself already has its own history and doesn't need any special props. It is almost a century old and has changed hands from one tavern owner to another through the years. In what was probably its most colorful location it can easily be identified in an old photograph taken shortly after the turn of the century as the focal point of Billy Shannon's famous old bar and training quarters on Fourth Street in the West End district at the opposite side of the city. I understand that between bouts one-time lightweight boxing champion Joe Gans stood in front of it many times with his foot on the rail.

Its possibilities as a conversation piece are numerous and I daresay Joe Scotto at Anjo's, who installed it here 10 years ago, can fill in most of the details on its subsequent journey across town.

The other side of the center wall — the meal side — and the kitchen is the domain of Angelo and Vera Camporeale. And a recent addition is an attractive party room at the rear, which can handle groups up to about 35. This might be a good place for some of the service clubs to hold their lunches.

Restaurant prices are higher everywhere than they used to be so don't expect to be fed for the price of a couple of theater ducats at Anjo's — although some a la carte items are in that range. Bargains must now be judged by close present-day comparisons.

Anjo's full dinners are from $2.95 to $4.50. I had one of Angelo's specials, the great test item, veal scallopini, and it was superb. Along with soup, salad and trimmings it goes for $3.50. He changes these specials nightly. Included in the meal is an excellent house wine from the Valley of the Moon.

MORE ABOUT GIFT CERTIFICATES — It seems that Ondine in Sausalito had such good response from its gift certificates started years ago that these have evolved into a permanent thing, though not much publicized.

There are four types here: A $10 certificate to be used in paying a food or beverage bill; a $12.50 per person certificate featuring a medium priced dinner, with substitutions, and including California wines and gratuities — but not cocktails.

Also there is an $18.50 per person certificate covering several gourmet selections. European wines and gratuities, but not cocktails. And there is the "unlimited certificate" in which the guests order whatever they wish — and the donor is billed for everything including tips.

THE MARSHALL HOUSE in Santa Rosa is now serving dinners on Sundays. A complete dinner at $4 is featured. Otherwise the restaurant is open only for lunches Mondays through Saturdays from 11 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

GREGORY SEUBERT, owner of Gregory's restaurant on Paradise Drive, Corte Madera, is involved in another restaurant project in Fort Bragg.

This place is not yet built, but construction may start soon. The planned restaurant is at the south end of the Noyo River and overlooking the harbor. Depending on the fall and early winter weather, it may be ready to open by Christmas.

It will be called the Noyo River Inn and have a seating capacity of 300 — quite a project.

Gregory and his wife Mary Alyce own a home on the Mendocino coast at Albion, 20 miles south of Fort Bragg so this is a very practical venture for him. He is teamed with a group of other investors in the new restaurant and will be the manager.

IN THE PLANNING — Permission has been granted for a new Taco Bell quick-service restaurant at 497 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley.

An application has been filed for another Kentucky Fried Chicken take-home establishment at Esmeralda and Bolinas Streets in Mill Valley. Work is already under way on a similar store at 555 Second Street, San Rafael.

THINK YOU'D LIKE to own a restaurant? Unless you're experienced in the food field (and even if you are) give this a second thought before you get too involved.

For every dollar spent at the average eating place, about 70 cents is paid out in food costs and salaries. This is known as the "prime cost" factor and depending on the type of restaurant it is variable — usually from 67 to 71 cents. If it is much higher than that you are paying out too much and headed for trouble right from the start.

The remaining 30 cents has to apply on operating expenses (amortizing equipment), employees' benefits, utilities, repairs and maintenance, advertising, music and entertainment if it is that type of place and a myriad of small items that can only be grouped under the indeterminate heading of "general expense."

After all this and the work you put in, if you collect say $5 for a dinner, the best you can hope to make out of it is about 60 cents — and the government is sure to take some of that.

Firemen Battle State Park Blaze

WALNUT CREEK (AP) — More than 300 men and 30 pieces of equipment controlled two fires in the Mount Diablo State Park, about 10 miles southeast of here, the California Division of Forestry reported yesterday.

About 290 acres of brush, grass and trees were destroyed, forestry officials said.

Contra Costa County sheriff's deputies are investigating reports that an arsonist set one fire, which spread over 140 acres before being contained.

It took nearly 12 hours to contain the fires.

Black Militant Released On Bail

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A leading figure in last winter's strike at San Francisco State may remain free on bond pending appeal of a six-month jail sentence, a judge ruled.

George Murray, Negro militant who was a part-time instructor at the college, had pleaded guilty July 15 to disturbing the peace and unlawful assembly last December.

He had been in jail until Monday, when he was freed on $5,000 bond. The bail was continued yesterday by Superior Court Judge Edmund Moor.

Conservationists Meet An Unexpected Friend

Conservationists pop up in unexpected places. And sometimes the "enemies of conservation" turn out to be its friends, and vice versa.

A case in point was provided this week, in a dispute over the development of the Snake River in the Idaho Panhandle as a hydroelectric power source.

SECRETARY OF INTERIOR Walter J. Hickel sent to the Federal Power Commission a statement urging that a moratorium on construction of dams in the middle Snake "would be in the best interests of the nation." He went even farther, noting the possibility of including that part of the Snake River in the Wild Rivers System, an extension of the national parks concept, which would permanently ban its development.

The secretary thus lined himself up with the conservationists in one of their longest and most bitter fights. And who among them would have thought Wally Hickel was their man?

THE SNAKE RIVER controversy runs clear back to the administration of President Harry Truman. Near the end of Truman's second term, the Idaho Power Co. applied for permission to build a huge dam and hydroelectric plant in Hell's Canyon of the Snake.

The Bureau of Reclamation, under Interior Secretary Oscar L. Chapman, had other plans. It wanted to put a series of smaller dams where the Snake runs along the Idaho-Oregon border, designed for irrigation benefits as well as power production. Secretary Chapman filed with the Federal Power Commission a petition against the Hell's Canyon proposal.

When Dwight D. Eisenhower succeeded to the presidency, his interior secretary, Douglas McKay, withdrew the opposition to the Idaho Power project, noting that construction of a government dam system on the Snake appeared to be precluded by budget difficulties. But by then, whether or how to dam Hell's Canyon had become an extremely hot political issue.

SENATE OPPOSITION killed the Idaho Power Co. plan. But the Hell's Canyon issue neither died nor faded away. It appeared again in recent years with application by Pacific Northwest Power Co. and Washington Public Power Supply System to build High Mountain Sheep Dam just below Hell's Canyon.

Again, the Bureau of Reclamation had a different plan. This time, under Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall, it proposed a hydroelectric dam just upstream from the High Mountain Sheep site, to be built by the government and its electricity sold to private utilities.

Udall, friend of conservationists, opposed the High Mountain Sheep Dam, not to prevent dam building in the deep and narrow gorge of the Snake, nor even (like Chapman) to substitute a multipurpose project. He just wanted to keep the government in control of the river.

BUT NOW COMES Secretary Hickel with new opposition to the Hell's Canyon project which is based on a strictly conservationist approach. He would put a moratorium on construction in the river while it is decided whether to reserve it forever from such development.

Your white hat, Mr. Hickel!

Changing Our Environment

Sometimes little things can make a big difference. Take a fence, for an example. Last summer, after all else failed to deter them, we built a six-foot fence around our place to keep out the flower-loving Marin deer.

As expected, the flowers flourished. But other things happened too. The large neighborhood dog population was also excluded. This was quite agreeable, except it created a sanctuary for cats and skunks. We viewed this with mixed feelings — because while it pleased us to have our rats and mice controlled, it displeased us to see the cats stalking the birds and to be awakened in the night by the powerful odor of skunk.

A raccoon has sought refuge in the Canary Island date palm in our garden and we are attempting to cultivate his friendship. We had had raccoon visitors before, but none has ever chosen our garden as its abode till now.

Yes, by erecting a fence we have altered our environment in unforeseen ways.

Restoration Of School Tax Limits Seen As Significant

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Only one more step remains as this is written to assure the people of California that their right to vote on school tax rate increases remains intact.

This is the signature of Gov. Ronald Reagan on AB 5, by Assemblyman Robert H. Burke, R-Huntington Beach, which repeals a section of the education code providing for removal of tax rate limitations in 1971, allowing free rein to school boards to set tax rates from then on.

If Governor Reagan signs the bill — and there appears to be no indication that he will not — residents will continue to vote on school limit increases as they do at present.

PASSAGE of the bill by the legislature culminated a two-year battle with the powerful education lobby, which slipped an amendment into the school finance bill of 1967 during the closing hours of the session, designed to deprive the public of its right to vote on school taxes after July 1, 1971.

The amendment was spotted by Sen. John G. Schmitz, R-Tustin, shortly afterward, and the senator waged a campaign both in 1968 and 1969 to wipe it out.

Schmitz was unsuccessful in 1968, when he met the full power of the lobby. He was almost unsuccessful in 1969 when his SB 35 was defeated in the Assembly Education Committee. This measure was a companion bill to AB 5.

After some maneuvering, AB 5 got through the Assembly and Senate, and when it reached the Assembly floor in final form, it was right back where it started, and the house passed it by a vote of 58-7.

BURKE SAID after passage:

"The significance of this legislation extends beyond the mere repeal of an unwanted law. This act of the legislature signals a return to the philosophy that 'the people know best' rather than that 'government should decide.'"

While the battle was under way in the legislature, a move to place an initiative on the 1970 ballot to accomplish the same objective was started by a citizen, Ranold J. Kennedy of Penryn, Placer County. Kennedy obtained a title for the initiative, and also the support of some senators and assemblymen. However, the initiative will not be necessary when AB 5 is signed.

The issue, Burke said, generated more mail to legislators from all over the state than any other issue during the session, as voters expressed displeasure over the law that robbed them of their rights.

Feeling In India On Moon Landing

This inspiring letter was sent to me by a teacher of Hindi at a junior college in Ajaigarh, M.P. India. He has been receiving my used copies of a weekly news magazine for about two years and eagerly follows the American and international news events. He is so enthusiastic about the Apollo flight that I would like to share his letter with your readers.

Ajaigarh
21 July 1969

Dear Mrs. Orth,

On this historic day I am sending my hearty congratulations to American nation. No doubt 21st July will be remembered as a day of greatest achievement in the history of mankind. It is not only a day of pleasure for American people, but today whole of the humanity is rejoicing. Today man has made a new history. He has set his foot on the moon. This is the greatest leap of man. He has sent the message of peace and love for whole of the universe. It is according to the worthy tradition of American nation, which stands for world peace. Today the soul of late President John F. Kennedy would be feeling everlasting peace, as his dream has taken real shape.

I can only imagine the joy of the American people . . . who enjoy today great credit being an American. Here we Indians — whether he is old or a child — all are talking day and night about this achievement. Every news-bulletin collects so many hearers. We people are awake the whole night to listen to running comments. The names of Neil Armstrong, Edwin Aldrin, and Michael Collins are on the tongue of everyone. We are praying for their safe landing on earth. Moreover we are waiting anxiously for the coming visit of your President Mr. Richard Nixon on our land on 31 July.

Surendra Kumar

Mr. Kumar and I correspond occasionally in addition to his receiving the news magazine. We have struck a very interesting friendship.

Perhaps some of your readers would be interested in sharing a magazine with someone in another country. If so, they should send a stamped, self-addressed envelope and the name of the magazine they wish to contribute to: Mrs. Sam Gallas, director, Harry Plissner's "Friendship Through Magazines," 16100 N.E. Word In Defense Of Fairfax Chief

I think it is time that the citizenry of Marin County speak up in defense of Police Chief Jim Orr of Fairfax. The enrages would posture him as a tough cop and a maverick when in fact he is anything but that. I have worked with Jim Orr as a deputy on several occasions and have found him an intelligent human being. He is much the academized type of young policemen we are so desperately in need of.

Wisconsin Ruling Upholds People's Right To Know

(Reprinted from Milwaukee Journal)

The unending cause of prying open public records for public information has come to a great new landmark in Wisconsin. The state supreme court has ruled that century-old state law allows no exception or restriction whatsoever on public access to records "required to be kept" by clerks of court, registers of deeds and probate, sheriffs, county clerks and treasurers.

This clarification, involving most particularly the records of judicial proceedings, is important because old common law sanctions of official discretion "in the public interest" had been cited in favor of secrecy. No such discretion exists, says the new ruling, under a statute giving absolute right of access to all official files in custody of these officers.

CIRCUIT JUDGE Leander Foley of Milwaukee, presiding in Racine, had ordered the clerk to "impound" his decision — keep it secret from the general public — in an international child custody case that had stirred public emotions. He felt that the impoundment was needed to protect the small son of a Wisconsin father and German mother, and also to await any decisions of German courts.

The Milwaukee Journal sued for release of the Foley decision. This was not to reflect personally on him; his handling of a difficult, complicated case and his motives, as Justice Heffernan wrote, were "exemplary." The lawsuit performed the role of the press as agent for the public in obtaining public information for it. All judges may welcome the resulting guidance.

WRITING for an unanimous supreme court, Heffernan cited with approval a declaration by New York's highest court that "no other rule (except disclosure) is conceivable in a society nurtured on freedom of discussion of matters of public interest." Promptly making decisions available to the public, said the Wisconsin justices, is "an inherent obligation of a court," for this reason:

"The courts have been the great repositories of personal liberty, and their obligation is not only to see that the conduct and performance of executive and legislative officials is open to public scrutiny, but to maintain for themselves the high standards that they prescribe for others. It would ill behoove a court of this state to conclude that it has the inherent right to impose its mandate on the parties to an action, but to conceal those mandates from the examination of the public."

Sanction for holding court decisions secret, Heffernan concluded, would be the greatest invitation to "abuse, star chamber judgments and judicial caprice."

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

THE DRUMMONDS

New Role For Richard Nixon: Republican FDR Of '70's

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — Whatever happened to conservative Richard Nixon?

Here he is in the lead for the most far-ranging, groundbreaking, daring social-welfare reform since the early years of the New Deal.

The President has seized the initiative on the most crucially needed domestic reform and has stolen the best clothes of the Democratic liberals.

Strange to contemplate, but the time may come when people will think of Richard M. Nixon as the Republican Franklin D. Roosevelt of the 1970s!

THE COMPARISON has validity. F.D.R. was not primarily a liberal theorist; he was primarily a pragmatic problem-solver. When he was elected in 1932 at the depth of the depression — a depression Mr. Nixon has never forgotten — President Roosevelt acted to save private enterprise, not take it over as some leading industrialists were urging him to do. His major social reforms, including Social Security and welfare assistance, though first opposed by the Republicans, were embraced by every GOP presidential candidate from 1940.

Now President Nixon is proposing to tear up the very roots of the New Deal social welfare system because it has shown itself "frozen in failure," destructive and disastrous, but he isn't proposing to leave a gaping hole in its place. He is proposing to replace it by something bigger and, he is convinced, far better.

THERE ARE significant conservative ingredients in the new Nixon antipoverty welfare program, like these:

It ties welfare assistance to job training and employment. Nearly everyone, women and men alike, must take such training and accept suitable jobs if they are continuing to get aid.

The program provides the most vital ingredient missing in the present welfare system. It offers the most inviting incentive to work by making certain that the working poor will get more than those wholly on relief. It enables the working poor to earn as high as $4,000 a year before wage supplements are cut off.

Finally, the Nixon program starts a decentralization of Big Government by providing some federal revenue sharing with the states and cities so that both resources and authority can begin to flow out of Washington to local government.

These are major conservative principles and major conservative goals, and it should be fully recognized that Mr. Nixon is acting on them.

BUT NONE OF THIS alters the fact that conservative Richard Nixon is acting to carry out an immensely liberal concept and liberal program.

How liberal? If you define modern liberalism as a willingness to use the federal government to achieve major social ends, the President's new program is very liberal — for these reasons:

It does not diminish one bit — indeed, it accepts unreservedly — federal responsibility for the most ambitious antipoverty and welfare system in American history.

It adds 12 million individuals as beneficiaries of the new system.

It increases the federal cost of welfare and wage supplements by some $4 billion a year, bringing the total federal welfare expenditures to $9 billion.

THE PRESIDENT made his decision against the wishes of fully two-thirds of his substantially conservative cabinet.

President Nixon isn't saying you can wave poverty out of existence overnight, but he is acting boldly on his conviction that widespread poverty in the midst of widespread prosperity is intolerable.

Changing Fiscal Year Could Help Budgeting

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — Top officials, in Congress and the Nixon administration, are discussing a rather simple change in accounting which could pave the way for substantive government reforms.

Under consideration is a shift in the federal government's fiscal year. Presently, the fiscal, or business, year runs from July 1 through June 30. It is proposed to change it and perhaps even make the fiscal year coincide with the calendar.

As an accounting revision such a change would be scarcely worth the telling here. The discussions are important, however, because the arbitrary fiscal year, as it now exists, has been casing real problems in Congress and in the executive departments.

THE TROUBLE is that Congress, in recent years, has not been able to budget — to approve appropriations — for a fiscal year before that year is well under way. (As of this July 1, when the present fiscal year began, not a single regular appropriation bill had been finally approved by Congress.)

Under such circumstances, the House and Senate must pass a series of "continuing resolutions allowing the various federal agencies to spend at substantially their present rates until their new appropriations are approved.

Administrators are uncertain about their spending authority. Old programs drag along. Newly authorized programs are not started until funds are finally appropriated.

States, local governments, federal employees and other taxpayers are affected when old programs are not expanded or new ones are delayed and federal aid is not forthcoming.

SOME GOVERNMENT budget experts think those problems would be solved if the fiscal year began Oct. 1 or, better, Jan. 1. They think such a shift would help solve other federal funding problems too.

For example, local school districts cannot know, under the present appropriations process, how much federal help they will collect when they sit down to approve their annual school budgets. Other federally assisted programs have similar problems.

Some of the experts believe that those programs could be brought into phase if an orderly shift could be made in the fiscal year. Some states might have to take similar action, however, since more than half of them are on a July 1-June 30 basis.

REP. GEORGE MAHON, D-Tex., chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, noting the problems posed by the continuing resolutions, has urged a "very careful study" of a change in the fiscal year. Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., Mahon's Senate counterpart, favors a change to the calendar year.

In the past the Budget Bureau, the accounting arm for the White House, has taken a dim view of changing the fiscal year. That is apparently no longer true, and Budget Director Robert P. Mayo is now said to favor such a shift.

I see plenty of good in the world, working itself out as fast as the idealists will allow it. — George Bernard Shaw.

Dangerous Nut Spoils Rural Charm Of San Geronimo Valley

There is some kind of nut running around loose in Forest Knolls. It makes living in our rural settlement something like being a rear-echelon soldier in Saigon — it's not supposed to be a combat area but you can't be sure.

This nut, or maybe a collection of nuts, has set fire to a warehouse, tried to burn a restaurant, and peppered bullets into the restaurant and a real estate building, all in a few months.

The existing mistrust between long-time residents and more recent arrivals, many fitting the lay definition of hippie, has been considerably heightened by this nonsense, each side suspecting the other is responsible.

The nut theory seems more likely to us. Knowing both straights and heads in considerable numbers, we believe few of either group are unbalanced enough to commit arson or promiscuous gunning. And if it were a group thing, someone would have spilled the beans by now.

Life is good in the San Geronimo Valley. It gets blazing hot by day, but is pleasantly cool at nights. It is blessedly free of tourists, campers and commercial hucksterism, and most of its people believe in letting others be.

But until someone finds out who the nut is and turns him (or them) in to the nut squad, we are all going to be sitting on the edge of our seats waiting for the fire siren or for a bullet to come zipping through the walls.

LARKSPUR'S troubles with PG&E brought back memories. Larkspur City Hall is mad because PG&E dug up part of a brand-new street to put in an underground utility vault.

Back in the Kansas town where I grew up, the city finally decided to repave the main street after about 10 years of busted axles, potholes and bitter complaints. Took all summer to finish the job (it rained a lot).

The day after they finished the project, another crew came out and started digging up all the intersections again. Seems the first crew had paved over every manhole on the street.

Last time I was back, there were still little residual bumps and ripples around the exhumed manholes.

CHRIS ROBERTS, the sculptor of Richardson Bay, is progressing nicely with his giant statue of a woman, built around an old piledriver and barge. Roberts said county legal actions against the project have been settled, the work has been declared a sculpture rather than a structure, and he has arrangements to buy the four big drydocks in the bay and create an art center on the Sausalito waterfront.

Anything to get the drydocks out of the middle of the bay will have the whole-hearted support of nearly everyone in southern Marin.

Inspiration On TV Screen, Spider And Fly At Brasilia

Fusselman

As it happened there, we saw it here and was it inspiring! We have become so accustomed to getting news events over television by way of videotape or moving picture footage, that the New York City and Chicago enthusiastic tributes to the three moon-men and their families, coming to us live, were treats to remember.

The innovation of presenting, live, President Nixon's state dinner in honor of Neil Armstrong, "Buzz" Aldrin, "Mike" Collins and their wives was so well planned and carried out that I imagine you did just about what we did, when it was over —sat in happy wondermentthat we could feel like we had been there, too, as part of the celebration.

That dinner was so well organized, from the ruffles and flourishes announcing the President's appearance to the surprise drawing of the heavy curtain back of the head table and the fine voices singing "The Star Spangled Banner," followed by the departure of the President and his guests, that we could feel nothing but warm pride over an evening of such carefully arranged detail. Really "well done." Thus we spent the day.

"SUPERVISORS GET Lessons In Computers. Chalk in hand, pacing like an anxious professor, Marin County's data processing director Joseph B. Leach gave his bosses a lesson in the operation of a computer today." So went a story in the Tuesday issue of the I-J.

"It is my own feeling that if you can get the feel of what we're talking about, in the future, if you hear me mention these things you won't be lost," he said. "We hope it will stimulate your imagination a little, too," he added.

"Later," the story went on, "the board toured the county's data processing facilities." Supervisor Peter Arrigoni is reported to have asked Leach, "Can I get three units towards my master's degree for this course?"

Last week I said this board is being quietly ushered into a spot that they are bound to regret. I repeat it.

IT IS EVIDENT to observers out at Brasilia that the administrator and his first assistant are working on the theory that, because there are three new supervisors this year, they can step by step move into greater positions of authority and stronger opportunity for policy making.

Gentlemen of the board, you were elected to be the supervisors. It is expected of you that you will personally become familiar with the operation of the departments first hand. Don't make the mistake of abdicating. There is a difference between city government and county government.

LAST WEEK Marin folks who listen to the six o'clock news on channel 4 were startled and somewhat dismayed to suddenly see close up the administrator filling the screen as an authority on a Marin County matter that the station was running a series on. He was rigid as if scared and with the voice coming from the depths of an automaton. It was a poor representation for the county.

Question: Was the appearance authorized by board action? Where was the chairman of the board?

Education Board Meets On Panels

Reorganization of board committees will be discussed by the three committees of the Marin County Board of Education at their meetings Monday in the County Schools Office, Corte Madera.

The educational services committee which meets at 7:30 p.m. as does the administrative services committee, will hear a request from the board's human rights commission to adopt a resolution on drug abuse education.

Building plans for the proposed Child Development Center for Handicapped Minors at Dominican College will be discussed by the special services committee which meets at 8:30 p.m.

Five Marin Men Get Draft Call

Five men were inducted into the armed forces in August by the Marin County Selective Service Board, executive secretary Joy M. Kinzer reported today.

They are Perry F. Fry, living in San Francisco but registered with the Marin board, William D. Perry of San Anselmo, Scott K. Appel of Kentfield, Patrick F. Perry of Novato and Craig R. Turner of Kentfield. All will serve with the Army.

The county draft quota for August was 30, but the quota is seldom filled, Mrs. Kinzer said. The quota for September is 34.

Christmas Seal Art Design Contest Opens

The Marin Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association has announced it is accepting entries to the national Christmas Seal design contest, with a $1,000 cash prize for the winner.

October 1 is the deadline and entering artists should obtain printed instructions before entering because of rigid mechanical requirements for the designs. These may be obtained from the association at 206 Bon Air Center, Greenbrae.

South Takes A Great Chance In Three-Spade Opening Bid

Most American experts would disagree with South's opening bid of three spades. A typical shutout bid is based on a very long suit with no outside strength. In this case South had bits and pieces in all suits, so that a pass would have been more orthodox. South landed on his feet because he was a good swindler.

MEANT PENALTIES

East and West were using "cheaper minor" for takeout over an opening bid of three. West would have bid four clubs over three spades if he had wanted his partner to bid, and his actual double was meant for penalties.

West took the top diamonds, continued with the ace of clubs and then led the eight of clubs. South played the jack of clubs from dummy, East naturally covered with the queen, and South just as naturally won with the king.

The effect of this apparently pointless maneuver was to give West the impression that South still held a losing club. South next cashed the king of hearts and led the six of spades.

TRAPS WEST

This series of plays made it seem that South had started with the singleton king of hearts and three clubs to the king. Apparently South was trying to get to the dummy with the king of spades to discard his last club on the ace of hearts.

If West did not have the jack of spades he would surely step up with the ace of spades in the hope of getting a club trick while the getting was still good. But West actually played a low spade on South's six, showing that he hoped to defeat the contract even if South did get rid of a club loser.

SHORT OF WAVING

In short, West did everything but take the jack of spades out of his hand and wave it in the air.

This was just what South needed to know. He let the six of spades ride for a finesse, winning the trick. Then South led another spade to force out the ace, and his contract was safe.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one diamond. The hand is too strong for an opening bid of 1-no-trump. Bid your suit and make a jump rebid in no-trump at your next turn.

Today is Friday, Aug. 15, the 227th day of 1969 with 138 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter. The morning stars are Venus and Saturn. The evening stars are Mercury, Mars and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1914 the American vessel Ancon, passed from the Atlantic to the Pacific Ocean and the Panama Canal was officially opened.

A thought for the day: Anatole France said, "He flattered himself on being a man without prejudices; and this pretension itself is a very great prejudice."

Closer Watch On Danish Wines

COPENHAGEN (UPI) — The Winedealers Association has decided to make spot checks in stores and wine shops to nip a little racket in the bud. The Association learned of numerous cases where shopkeepers had poured wine of poor quality into bottles with expensive looking Chateau "this" and Grand Cru "that" labels. Wine drinking is considered a luxury in most Danish homes, prices varying from 12 to 30 kroner $1.60-$4 a bottle for an ordinary table wine.

Prices are doubled in restaurants because of high taxes.

TV Man Says Hallinan Called Police Names

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A television newsman has testified he heard attorney Terence Hallinan accuse a San Francisco police officer of racism and call him unprintable names.

Hallinan is charged with assaulting a tactical squad officer during a demonstration at San Francisco State College in May 1968. He is being tried by a Superior Court jury of 10 women and two men.

GIRL FALLEN

Steven Huss, reporter for a San Francisco television station (KGO), testified yesterday he heard Hallinan shout epithets at Patroman Norbert Gutierrez, who was standing over a fallen girl with a billy club in his hand.

The officer said he was assaulted by Hallinan who came to the aid of the girl. The patrolman claimed the girl fell to the pavement after tripping over a flower box on the curb.

CLUBBING

Attorney Vincent Hallinan, of Belvedere, who is defending his son, charged that Gutierrez clubbed the girl to the ground. The attorney introduced a photograph which he said shows the girl was at least six feet from the curb at the time with Gutierrez standing directly in front of her.

The younger Hallinan said he believed the patrolman was committing unlawful assault on the girl and "I intervened to prevent a violent assault."

The elder Hallinan said he had been unsuccessful in subpoenaing a patrolman who witnessed the incident and an assistant district attorney.

ON VACATION

The two men, both of whom testified at Hallinan's first trial which ended in a hung jury, were reported on vacation abroad.

Visiting Superior Court Judge Edmund Moore of Alpine County is presiding at the trial. Movies made of the incident were expected the be shown to the jury today.

The John Pennekamp Coral Reef State Park on Key Largo Fla. is the only U.S. underwater preserve.

ATOM WAR LIKELY?

Moscow, Peking Step Up Frenzy

LONDON (UPI)—The Soviet Union and communist China are ready to use nuclear weapons in the event of actual war, diplomatic sources said today.

Moscow has hinted pointedly at its nuclear superiority over China in recent references to the sharpening Sino-Soviet conflict. The Chinese have said publicly they are prepared for nuclear war.

Diplomatic sources said the conflict has taken a serious turn for the worse, but believed war is still unlikely, at least for the time being.

But they no longer rule out a major "border war," in one or two key frontier areas, that could mushroom eventually into nuclear warfare.

Reports reaching London from the Far East said developments have become unpredictable, with both sides having worked themselves into a political and ideological "frenzy."

Both the Soviet Union and Communist China today launched campaigns to arouse public indignation among their citizens over the latest border fighting btween the two Communist nations.

The Soviets broadcast a vivid description of the deaths of Soviet troops during Wednesday's fighting in Kazakhstan. The Chinese broadcast fiery anti-Soviet rallies held near the scene of the clash.

Each side has accused the other of starting the battle along an arid stretch of border between the Soviet Republic of Kazakhstan and China's Sinkiang province. It brought an exchange of angry protest notes between Moscow and Peking.

A senior political officer went on Moscow Radio late yesterday to describe how two Soviet soldiers died as they charged headlong into a pocket of Chinese "provocateurs." The Soviets threw hand grenades and "spread panic and death" among the Chinese, he said.

The officer, not identified, praised the bravery and "high political consciousness" of the troops involved in the fight. He described several actions by individual soldiers and said those that showed particular bravery were rewarded with membership in the Young Communist League (Komsomol) or in the Communist Party.

Neither side has said how many soldiers were involved in the battle or how many casualties had been sustained. The political officer's statements indicated at least two Soviets had been killed and informed Moscow sources said seven others had been wounded.

The sources said more than 25 Chinese were killed and about an equal number wounded.

In a commentary, Peking Radio said Soviet leaders were preparing for a "blitzkrieg war" against China. It did not make mention of any further fighting along the border of the Sinkiang region, a sensitive area for the Chinese because it includes the nation's main nuclear and missile testing sites.

Scientist Urges Easy Life For American Males

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A Los Angeles scientist says the nation should begin a project to close the life expectancy gap between men and women.

Dr. Henry Sobel told a news conferencey esterday that the life expectancy of American males went down four months this year — the first such decline since statistics on the subject have been tabulated. He said the average man in this country now lives 68 years, the average woman 73.

Sobel, currently chief of aging research at the Sepulveda Veterans Hospital, says scientists should concentrate on finding ways to relieve males of some of the physical and psychological burdens of living in crowded civilizations.

Garage Burglary

A burglar who entered the garage of Joseph J. Sussani, of 2541 Las Gallinas Avenue, Marinwood, on Wednesday took two motorcyclists' helmets, hand tools and a radio receiver valued at a total of $130, sheriff's deputies reported today.

Mosquito Station Site Hunt

Marin County Mosquito Abatement District is currently negotiating for a site north of Petaluma for its first substation outside Marin.

The substation would house two trucks, a ditch opening dragline tractor and other equipment now housed in a rented garage in Petaluma.

Paul R. Stanley, district board president, and Allan Telford, district manager, said that the district is looking at several pieces of property but they would not reveal how much is earmarked for the purchase.

Telford said that property in the commercially zoned area north of Petaluma averages $6,000 to $20,000 per acre, depending upon the amount purchased. He said that it is difficult to buy just one acre here.

One hundred square miles of southern Sonoma County and all of Marin County except a small section on the Pacific are included in the district.

Student Loans Urged By Nixon

SAN CLEMENTE (AP) — President Richard M. Nixon has appealed to banks and other lending institutions to go ahead with loans to college students despite a delay in Congress in acting on a measure to continue federal guarantees with a higher interest rate.

The President said yesterday he had been assured that Congress would pass the bill, permitting an interest increase from 7 to 10 per cent, retroactive to Aug. 15.

It is estimated that 920,000 students will borrow about $800 in the federally guaranteed loans.

Whale Meat Poisons Villagers In Alaska

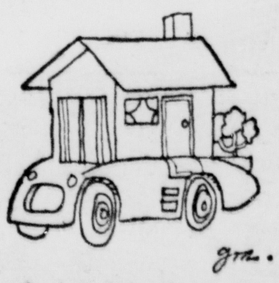
TANUNAK, Alaska (AP) — Natives in the Bering Sea village became sick this week after feasting on the meat of a whale that washed ashore Monday.

Thirty-one persons were hospitalized, while others who were stricken were treated in the village.

LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

Home Is Much Like The Car



McPherson bought a mass produced car, with its thousands of parts. Soon after he left the show room he turned a corner and a wheel broke in two. McPherson lost control, and got hurt.

He sued the car maker, who offered evidence that his company had taken the utmost care to assemble the car and check each part.

Still, the court held the maker "strictly liable." If a maker sells something which people buy without mechanical inspection, the buyer can legally rely on its fitness for its intended use.

If it hurts somebody when the buyer uses it as the seller intended, the seller becomes liable. The buyer need not prove in court any negligence on the part of the seller. Legally, the seller had "warranted" his product.

This rule applies to the sale of such things as foods, drugs, mechanical devices, and the like where an "implied" warranty protects the user.

Recently Kringle looked at a modern home, liked the floor plan and location, and bought it. A year afterwards, the heating system leaked and ruined his home and furnishings.

In the suit that followed, the court said, "In terms of today's society, there is no meaningful distinction between the mass production and sale of autos, and the mass production and sales of homes.

"When a buyer buys a tract home from an advertised model, he relies on the developer's skill and on his representation that the house is built in a workmanlike manner, that it is fit for habitation. The buyer has no architect or professional adviser of his own. If the house is unfit, the builder is "strictly liable."

On the other hand, the buyer of an individually designed or individually constructed home would have to prove negligence if he is to hold his builder liable for harmful defects.

Strict liability does not apply to such "services" as those of the doctor, engineer, or accountant who may make mistakes in their products. Claims against such people must still be proven in court. There may be liability, but not "strict" liability. Note: California lawyers offer this column so you may know about our laws.

Murray Allowed Freedom On Bail

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Ex-Black Panther George Mason Murray can remain free on $5,000 bail pending the outcome of his request for a new trial.

Superior Court Judge Edmund M. Moor issued a writ of habeas corpus yesterday to release Murray from jail after his attorneys complained his detention was "excessive and unconstitutional."

Murray, who says he has undergone a religious experience in jail and is no longer a member of the Black Panthers, had been sentenced to six months in prison last month for disturbing the peace and unlawful assembly. He was arrested last December during a campus demonstration.

ONE TREEFALL FATAL

Park Area Closed As Giant Sequoias Tumble Down

SEQUOIA NATIONAL PARK (UPI) — Giant sequoia are falling in unprecedented numbers this summer in Sequoia National Park, and have caused one death and forced the closure of a campground.

Park officials today said 10 of the trees have fallen since winter, four in the past week. They said no one remembers that many falling in a single season.

Richard Hartesveldt and Tom Harvey, San Jose State College professors who have been studying the giant redwoods for a decade, said excessive soil moisture may be the cause of the topplings.

They said moisture from a record winter snowfall could have weakened the trees' roots. Soil moisture was 200 to 300 per cent above normal.

Mrs. Stella St. Johns, 60, North Hollywood, was killed last Saturday while picnicking in Hazlewood campground with friends. One of the big trees toppled, striking a second sequoia. Debris from the top of the second tree struck Mrs. St. Johns.

The Hazelwood area was temporarily closed to park visitors when two more Sequoias crashed down early this week.

'Pot Puppies' Check

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Charles Dunn, director of the state bureau of investigation, said Thursday that "pot puppies," dogs trained to sniff out marijuana and other drugs, will be added to the arsenal of the bureau.

Live below your means.

If you'd like to get around the high cost of living, we have a suggestion:

Cut down on the high cost of getting around.

And buy a Volkswagen.

It takes pints, not quarts, of oil.

And it gets about 27 miles to the gallon. The average car (thirsty devil that it is) only gets 14.

So the more you drive a Volkswagen, the more you save.

And chances are, you'll drive it for years and years. (Since we never change the style, a VW never goes out of style.)

Of course, a VW's not much to look at. So a lot of people buy a big flashy car just to save face.

Try putting that in the bank.

MUSIC LOVERS

Just prior to her performance at yesterday's preview of the opera Cosi Fan Tutte, Shigemi Matsumoto, left,discussed her music with Benson E. Snyder, manager of Western Opera Theater, who is presenting the opera Aug. 24 at Forest Meadows, and Mrs. Emmet L. Rixford, president of the Marin Music Chest, who sponsored the preview at the Marin Art and Garden Center. Looking on, from left, are Mmes. A. Barlow Ferguson, chairman of the preview, and John Toole, also a member of the sponsoring group. Miss Matsumoto will sing the role of Despina, described as a scheming maid, in the Mozart opera to be sung in English by the repertory company, a subsidiary of the San Francisco Opera. Debutante Twins To Be Feted Wednesday In Petaluma

By MOLLY MARIN

A tea honoring her daughters, Deborah and Donna, with the other Marin debutantes and their mothers as guests will be given by Mrs. Dolph Hill Jr. at her home in Petaluma on Wednesday afternoon.

The guest list also includes a number of friends from Marin and Sonoma, relatives from Southern California and Sonoma and close family members. The debutante ball committee members and officers of the Marin Charitable Foundation have also been invited.

Mrs. Hill has asked two of the girls' aunts to pour tea, Mmes. William Hill and Lewis Hill, both Petaluma residents. Others who will pour are Mmes. Richard Hay and Sam Brown of Petaluma, Raymond Hill Jr. of Novato, William P. Murray Jr. of San Rafael and John Manwaring and James McNab, both of Ross.

The debutante twins are fifth generation Petalumans and their grandmother, Mrs. Dolph Hill Sr. of Petaluma will also attend the tea. Both of the girls are graduates of Marin schools. Donna received her diploma from San Domenico School and Deborah from the Katharine Branson School.

LEAVING FOR A September vacation in Europe are Mr. and Mrs. Stanley R. Kennedy of Belvedere. They will arrive in Amsterdam and cruise the Rhine, then rent a car and drive across Switzerland and Austria. They plan to end their month stay with a visit to Paris.

FRIENDS ARE saying goodbye to Mr. and Mrs. Michael Durrie of Mill Valley and their four children, Robin, Nicholas, Jennifer and Jessica, who will be leaving this month to live in Rome.

Mr. Durrie will go first to New York for a training period in connection with his new position as assistant branch manager of the General Motors Acceptance Corporation in Rome.

A farewell luncheon was given for Belinda last week at the Durries' home by Mmes. David Ainsworth of San Anselmo and Paul Hughes, Robin Hill, Robert Stone, all of Mill Valley.

Sunday a family party for the Durries will be given at the Belvedere home of Michael's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Durrie, and on Aug. 20 the Mill Valley Cooperative School will have a luncheon for Belinda at Sabella's restaurant. She was membership chairman for the school last year.

THE TWO daughters of Maj. (ret.) and Mrs. Kermit D. Anderson of Novato, Bonnie and Linda, are in their final weeks of Girl Scout camp counseling and will begin studies at Sonoma State College in mid-September. Bonnie is an assistant leader at a Scout camp in the Lake Tahoe area and her sister is an apprentice counselor at a camp in Calaveras. Bonnie is a junior at Sonoma State and Linda will enter as a freshman.

Bored With Teen Talk? Take Heart —They'll Be Growing Up In '70s

Then take heart: the 1970s may be a little more adult than the past decade.

According to the Institute of Life Insurance, the 1970s may very well come to be known as the era of the newlyweds, new babies and grandparents.

Viewed another way, teen-agers won't be quite as dominant a group as they are today. Their numbers will not decrease, but they'll be a smaller proportion of the total population. Here's what we mean: At present there are about 22.5 million teen-agers in a population of slightly more than 200 million. In 1980, there'll be about 24 million, but in a total population predicted to be 230 million.

WHAT'S HAPPENING is that today's teen-agers are growing up. And, presumably they'll settle down, join the world of working people, marry and start their own new families. There are now about 2 million marriages a year in the U.S.

At the same time, the low birth rates of the past few years will mean a leveling-off in the teen-age population as the nation enters the 1970s.

The nation's birthrate is expected to remain low.

Still, the experts are predicting a new baby boom.

This isn't as paradoxical as it seems. The number of babies expected to be born will be high. But the number of births — in relation to the total population — will be low.

In reality, it's a question of family size. In the 1950's — when the birthrate was considered high — families were relatively large. There were three or four or more children in many households.

In other words, the last population boom came because of large families. The next boom will be because there will be more families.

In fact, the forecasters say that by 1980 there will be about 35 million households with at least one child. Currently, that's true of only 28 million households.

AND WHAT ABOUT today's adults? Many will be part of a new generation of grandparents — a big generation. The number of people in the age group 55 years old or older is expected to increase by 20 per cent over the coming decade.

This new turn in the life cycle of most families will, in all probability, be reflected in popular culture and fashion, as well as in the more basic areas of the economy.

In other words, the newlyweds will be concerning themselves with the challenges of family life — everything from solving housing problems to building their standards of living and making plans for secure futures. And many of today's adults will be concentrating on plans and financial programs for retirement.

And, of course, with a whole new generational cycle beginning, different issues will evolve to be aired by leaders of community volunteer organizations and government officials.

THAT UNCERTAIN AGE

Weathering Crisis Of 40s Is Roughest

(Last of a five-part series on that "uncertain age" for women.)

By ALISON GODDARD

(MW) Our romantic folklore often ends with a wedding and the line: "And they lived happily ever after." Well, "ever after" today, happily or otherwise, is a much longer period than it used to be.

Only a half century ago, when the last child married, one parent was usually deceased. Today, with earlier marriages, fewer children, better health and increased longevity, a woman of 40 can look forward to almost another 40 years of life. For the married couple these bonus years mean that they will have almost as many years together without children in the home as they had with them.

Families have changed, too, in this century. Before, families lived close together, united by common customs and a mutual regard for the family's position in the community. Urbanization, technology and, later, the post-World War II trek to suburbia scattered families, except where the old pattern still survives in parts of large cities.

ACCORDING TO Dr. Esther Westervelt, director of the New York State Guidance Center for Women, this change has increased loneliness and greatly influenced women's entry and re-entry into the labor market.

"With the mobility of our society, many wives have moved a number of times and have not put down roots, really don't know many people very well and are lonely. . . . So many of our suburbs have grown without any planning for real neighborhood patterns. It is not easy for many women to make friends and establish themselves in a neighborhood," she says.

THESE CHANGES have also triggered other problems as this generation of mature women move from what one authority called "the security of the known past to an uncertain future." These changes have led to paradoxes: more marriages and more divorces; more resources and greater debts; more freedom and greater insecurity.

Studies have shown that when the last child is grown and leaves home, the chances for maladjustment rise. This is particularly true for the mother who has devoted herself to the children and is now left with a feeling of abandonment because of the "empty nest."

Dr. Paul Popenoe, director of the American Institute of Family Relations, states that this can often lead to the mother-in-law problem.

"The woman has for years given up everything, she claims, to give her daughter a chance. She has focused on getting her daughter married, and when that happens and the daughter moves away, she sometimes feels that the nest is not only empty but there isn't any nest after all. . . . So she takes it very hard, and we

Toni Diane Harris Becomes Bride At Ceremony In Fairmont Hotel

The French Room of the Fairmont Hotel was the setting for the evening wedding of Toni Diane Harris and Norman Stanley Roby at 8 o'clock Tuesday.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irving F. Harris of Belvedere. Mr. and Mrs. Albert Roby of New York City and Moosup, Conn., are the bridegroom's parents.

Toni is a graduate of Redwood High School and the University of California at Davis. She is a graduate fellowship student in English at the University of California at Davis.

The bridegroom did his preparatory work at Wilbraham Academy in Wilbraham, Mass., and is a graduate of Bowdoin College in Brunswick, Maine. He is studying for the Ph.D. degree in English at the University of California at Davis where he is a teaching assistant in the English department. He is the brother of Mrs. John O'Brien, Ronald and Thomas Roby, all of Connecticut.

After a wedding trip to England and France, the couple will live in Davis.

June Covington Recites Vows With Mark Halsey Stephens

Mrs. Gary Giannini of Sausalito was her sister's matron of honor, and the bridegroom's sister, Leslie Stephens of San Rafael, was the bridesmaid.

Best man was Bill Stephens, and the bride's brother, Dirk Correnti, ushered.

June, as the bride is known, is a graduate of San Rafael High School. She is also the sister of Joe T. Covington, who is with the Army in Vietnam; Linda Correnti of Rohnert Park; and Kim and Bret Correnti of San Rafael.

Mark is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David G. Stephens of San Rafael. He is also a graduate of San Rafael High School, and he attended College of Marin. The bride and bridegroom are both sophomores at the College of Southern Utah in Cedar City, Utah, where they will live following a wedding trip to Honolulu.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Go Ahead And Have Your Quota, Then Work For Birth Control

DEAR HELEN:

My husband and I have been married six years, and are still trying to justify having a baby. We want one of our own, but feel it would be wiser to adopt. If everyone would stop having babies for just five years — that is, every responsible couple — and after that limit themselves to no more than two per family — with no repeats on second or third marriages — we might be saved.

As it is now, if we continue reproducing as we have in the past in less than 300 years there will be 11,000 people for every square mile of the earth's surface. This is a scientific estimate based on population growth up to the present. We're liable to stomp ourself to death!

Yet certain groups continue to fight birth control, especially among the unmarried — who need it most. If unwanted babies weren't produced, we happily married people might not feel guilty planning families.—STILL BARREN

DEAR S. B.:

I have a counter plan for you: Have your quota of two babies, and then fight actively for more and better birth control clinics, world wide. In many such clinics, contraceptive information is given to anyone who asks for it, from age 16 up, whether she is married or not — and in certain instances even this age limitation is lifted. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

If I were built like certain busty movie stars, I guess I wouldn't mind, but my size 42 is not even D-cup — it's mug. I actually need a harness to keep myself under control, and my bra straps dig into my shoulders until they are all raw and permanently grooved. I can't wear sweaters, or low cut dresses, and I'm afraid to appear in a bathing suit. My shoulders are getting stooped. I have a permanent backache from carrying my front weight around.

I once loved horseback riding, but no more. If I were galloping and my strap broke, I'd end up with a black eye. And that's not exaggerating, Helen!

In cases like mine, where large pendulous breasts are really a deformity, would it be wrong to think of getting them reduced by a surgeon? And is it much of an operation. Would I feel guilty about it? — 42-24-34.

DEAR 42:

Surgical reduction and uplift of your breasts would, in my opinion and that of most doctors, be as right as correcting any other deformity which makes you uncomfortable and might threaten your health. The operation is expensive, but in your case, well worth it. Guilt feelings? No more so than if you had a club foot straightened.

Consult your family physician who will refer you to a cosmetic surgeon. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Can remorse kill a man? And should I speak up and shatter an image, or let him die slowly?

My friends was weekending with another woman when his wife was killed in an accident. He somehow believes that he caused it, for they had a fight before he left. He mourns her as a faithful loving wife whom he wronged. His idea of himself is very low, though this was his first lapse.

Reality is a little different. His wife had several affairs, was on her way to meet a man when she died. Should I keep my mouth shut? — T. W.

DEAR T:

I'd say — "No!" Why shield the dead when the truth may save the living? — H.

Patricia Jones Is Wed In Lutheran Ceremony

Trinity Lutheran Church in San Rafael was the setting Sunday for the ceremony uniting in marriage Patricia Eileen Jones of Kentfield and Michael Dehnert of Rohnert Park.

Patricia is the daughter of Mrs. Lucille Deckman of Kentfield and Edward Jones of Ballywalter, Ireland. Mrs. Raymond Hataway of Rohnert Park and O. E. Dehnert of San Rafael are the bridegroom's parents.

Barbara Ann Jones was her sister's maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Wendy Wurtz of Kentfield, Chris Hart of Belvedere and Cindy O'Connor of Thousand Oaks.

O. E. Dehnert was his son's best man, and the reception was held at his home. Monty and Mark Dehnert, the bridegroom's brothers, ushered.

A graduate of Redwood High School, Patricia attended College of Marin. She is also the sister of Brian and Jennifer Jones of Kentfield.

Denny, as the bridegroom is known, is a graduate of Petaluma High School. He is employed by Denny's House of Plumbing in Corte Madera. Rose Marie Dehnert of Rohnert Park and Naomi Dehnert of San Rafael are his sisters.

The couple will live in San Anselmo following a wedding trip to Clear Lake and Disneyland.

THE AGE OF CRISIS

have the mother-in-law problem." He adds that such mothers-in-law are usually motivated by the best of intentions or loneliness, because they have become too dependent on their offspring.

ANOTHER PROBLEM in mature years is divorce, which is on the rise among this group. Dr. Alfred A. Messer, a psychiatrist of Emory University, Atlanta, calls this trend "the 20-year fracture" because it occurs after the last child has left home. He attributes this to our child-oriented society, where the focus is predominantly on the children.

Other problems also arise after the last child has left home. Sometimes wives and husbands are shocked to discover that they don't really know their mates. Dr. Charles Kramer, director of the Family Institute of Chicago, said such people sometimes discover that "they are strangers at this point and, instead of turning to each other and building a better — or in some cases even a new life together, they frequently seek unhealthy ways of doing things: alcoholism, extramarital affairs or other neurotic behavior of various kinds."

If mature couples adjust to the crises of these years, the outlook is bright, according to another authority.

"I think it is rather encouraging to note that as women and men move into the 50s," she said, "studies show that if they managed to weather the crises of the 40s things tend to get better. You have higher rates of marriage happiness: in fact, you can have a second honeymoon."

Food Cost Rise Is Worldwide

WASHINGTON (AP) — Families are expected to spend about 16.5 cents of their take-home dollar on food this year, compared with the 1968 record low of 16.8 cents, says the Agriculture Department.

This has occurred because incomes have risen generally more rapidly than food costs, despite their record-high levels, say the experts. Last year retail food prices jumped about 3.5 per cent and are expected to gain around four per cent in 1969.

Department officials say the United States is not unique in the food-price spiral, that many countries last year experienced even sharper gains in costs and required much larger shares of the family dollar.

Food price increases last year ranged from 7 to 13 per cent in Denmark, Finland, Yugoslavia, Ghana, Cambodia, Taiwan, Ceylon and Japan, a new department report said.

Only West Germany and the Philippines out of 50 countries studied had food price decreases in 1968, the report said.

The largest gain in food prices last year—34 per cent—was reported for South Vietnam. Other large gains were reported for Chile 26 per cent; Brazil 21 per cent; Argentina 16 per cent; and Peru 16 per cent.

Food expenditures related to family take-home for the foreign consumer were not available for 1968. but the report said that in 1966 when U. S. families spent 19.7 cents of their spending dollar for food expenditures included:

West Germany 34 cents; United Kingdom 25.1; Yugoslavia 44.1; Poland 47.6; Bulgaria 56.2; Taiwan 47.4; Japan 37.8; Korea 52; Thailand 46.2; South Vietnam (1965) 51; Panama 39.4; Italy 37.9; Denmark 22.2; and France 29.

Except for Greece, Italy and Malta, the report said, most European consumers spent from 25 to 30 cents of their take-home dollar for food last year.

PERMANENT PRESS

Proper Laundering Vital To Garments

Although permanent press clothes (sometimes called durable press) have cut down on our ironing, these processed garments call for special care at home to be at their best.

"Many consumers we have surveyed report uncertainties about proper laundering of durable press clothes," says Dr. George S. Wham, technical director of Good Housekeeping Institute. "We have developed instructions that can eliminate this problem."

Experts have laundered and dried hundreds of durable press garments of many kinds in different machines at varying settings to arrive at these directions. Samples of each permanent press garment under investigation must perform satisfactorily according to American Association of Textile Chemists and Colorists performance requirements.

The investigation covers the level of performance concerning fabric smoothness, crease retention, colorfastness, strength, shrinkage, and discoloration.

Before a permanent press garment can be shown on the fashion pages of the magazine, a sample exactly like the one illustrated will have been laundered and dryer dried five times under "in home" conditions to make sure it maintains its good appearance.

The institute advises that you read garment labels and appliance instruction books for specific details on handling, in addition to these general rules for permanent press care.

1. Wash frequently. Durable press garments stay fresh looking during wear, so there's a tendency to postpone laundering. Don't! Once fabrics become heavily soiled and stained, they won't clean easily. Pre-treat stains and collars and cuffs with soap or detergent. Sponge greasy stains with spot remover, or use one of the new pre-treater products.

3. Do small loads. Crowding the washer causes wrinkling.

4. Choose correct water temperature. Cold or warm water produces the least wrinkling. Heavily soiled clothes, however, will need hot water to come thoroughly clean. This may mean more wrinkling and touch-up ironing — especially if garment is not dryer-dried. Use your regular laundry detergent. Don't use chlorine bleach if a label warns against it.

5. Use a short agitation. It shouldn't be necessary to wash more than five minutes. If slower spin is provided on washer, use it to reduce wrinkling. If you don't have a dryer, a slower final spin will minimize wrinkles.

6. Rinse in cold water. A fabric softener can be used in the final rinse to help reduce wrinkling and static cling.

7. Don't over-dry. Use the medium (140°-to-160°F.) or "Wash and Wear" setting. If it's a one-heat dryer and runs quite hot, remove garments while they are slightly damp. Otherwise, remove garments immediately when the dryer stops in order to prevent re-wrinkling.

8. Don't overcrowd dryer. Overcrowding will cause wrinkles. But don't dry one garment alone. If you have a very small load, add a few clean towels to help tumbling action.

9. Hang clothes after laundering. If air-drying, do not throw over a line or drying rack. Place garments on a hanger (a non-rusting one) and hang pants by cuffs on a spring-clip hanger. Do this promptly after dryer-drying too.

10. Touch-up when necessary. Use a steam iron or a regular iron on "low" for synthetics and blends, "medium" for cotton; a press cloth, when needed, to prevent shine.

Life Insurance

A record of $6.2 billion was received during 1968 by beneficiaries of life insurance policies, the Institute of Life Insurance reports.

TO PUBLISH ENGAGEMENT AND WEDDING STORIES IN THE I-J

Forms for engagement and wedding story information to be printed in the Independent-Journal are available from the I-J offices in San Rafael, Novato, Mill Valley and Southern Sonoma.

Wedding forms should be returned promptly to the I-J office in your area and information will be printed immediately after the wedding. Photographers should be urged to submit a print of the wedding picture promptly. Color photographs cannot be used.

The Independent-Journal does not print wedding stories or photographs received more than seven days after the wedding.

An engagement form may be accompanied by a professional black and white photograph, which may be picked up at the I-J office after publication. Snapshots, polaroid or color pictures are not suitable.

Pre-Painting

Planning to hire a painting contractor? Save him some time and yourself some money by making basic preparations before he arrives. First, take down curtains, blinds, and other wall decorations. Dust the walls and windows. If there are accumulations of grease or grime, wash the walls with a mild detergent solution. Then rinse with clear water. Move all furnishings to the center of the room where they can be covered with protective dropcloths.

Thousands gripped by Shakespeare fever!

Symptoms of the fever, known as Shakespearilis Delitis, appear to be an inability to control the facial "smiling" muscles, a heightened sense of awareness — and a desire to come back again and again to Forest Meadows Theatre.

Authorities report the disease is infecting men, women and children, along with a noticeable rise in pressure at the box office. While the exhilarating performances of the players are partly to blame, theatre buffs place most of the responsibility upon William Shakespeare himself.

They charge the Bard with using his devilish knowledge of the human race to capture, enrapture and completely subdue audiences to the point where they are helpless to do anything but enjoy themselves. "This is mesmerism, or maybe magic," said one newspaper critic. "He's supposed to be the greatest dramatist, yet he tickles you to death with comedy. And when you're laughing, gives you the knife. There's no known defense!"

PUT A GARDEN on the buffet table to prolong the sommer feeling indoors or out with greenery and fruit arrangements that are carried out in the china or napkins. Here the tureen is the focal point for main course coq au vin or even a delicious stew. Breadsticks go in the teapot. Imaginative use of what you have brightens any table setting.

Be Adventurous When Having Guests

Entertaining can be boring if you don't watch out. Hostess and guests alike will miss all the excitement if things are always predictable—same menus, same table setting, same decorations.

Today there is no excuse for not trying more adventurous menus with the recipes to be found in the multitude of great cookbooks and newspaper and magazine recipes available. No need any more to have the same party tablecloth and napkins, brought out with boring regularity and laundered with toil and tears. Table linens have never been gayer, more unusual or easier to care for.

A table setting is a sight you create to please the eye, and imagination is its chief ingredient, not splendid equipment. Keep in mind that there are few rules for setting today's tables. Not everything must match, for instance. You can even use dress or upholstery fabrics instead of conventional linens. And don't be afraid to interchange everyday and formal sets. Earthenware is fine with simple sterling and crystal, and anything but the very elaborate patterns in fine china can be used with stainless steel.

When it comes to centerpieces imagination is your only limitation. If you have the idea that it should always be flowers, remember that they are not very original unless you are an expert arranger or combine them with unusual containers.

One successful hostess, for instance, put garden daisies in a large blue and white Spode teapot for an immediate conversation piece at a summer luncheon. Vegetables and fresh fruits can be much more appealing than a bunch of hothouse flowers, too.

With a more intimate group at a smaller table, where there is no room for a centerpiece that is merely decorative, you can center the table with part of the menu. A colorful salad in a solid wooden bowl, a slab of marble with a variety of different cheeses or a decorative cake flanked by very tall candles in unobtrusive candlesticks are all different ways to bring colorful interest to your table.

Tables become routine when we don't make the effort, and it is often surprising how much fun this type of effort can be.

Bennett-Harris Vows Are Exchanged

The First Baptist Church in Belle Glade, Fla., was the setting for the wedding of Evelyn Marie Harris of Belle Glade to Leon Dale Bennett of San Rafael on Saturday.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Junius Harris of Belle Glade, Evelyn was attended by her sister, Karen Harris, as maid of honor. The bridesmaids were another sister, Mrs. Carlos Valella of Belle Glade, and Marilyn Rabin of Cape Canaveral, Margie Townsend of Belle Glade and Jeannie Kleinhammer of Lawrence, Kan.

Terry Bennet, the bridegroom's brother, served as his best man. Ushers were Ed and Joe Hall of Orlando, Fla., Claude Smith of Atlanta, and Alan Jones of Clewiston, Fla.

The couple will drive to San Francisco on their wedding trip and they plan to live in San Rafael. The bridegroom will then go on to South Korea, where he is stationed with the U. S. Army.

Evelyn is a graduate of Belle Glade High School and her husband was graduated from Briarcliff High School in Atlanta, Ga. Both were graduated last year from Carson-Newman College in Jefferson City, Tenn.

Leon is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl M. Bennett of San Rafael.

World War I Meeting, Now Golden Wedding

An anniversary mass celebrated at their home in San Anselmo last Saturday marked 50 years of marriage for Mr. and Mrs. George Kroncke who were married Aug. 10, 1919. The Rev. John J. Hayes of St. Anselm's Church said the mass.

A reception following was given by their children, Mrs. Elvus Regelia of San Rafael, Mrs. Edwin Bullian of San Rafael and George A. Kroncke of San Rafael.

The Kronckes, who have 12 grandchildren, came to San Anselmo in 1924 from Long Island, N.Y., to run the San Anselmo Furniture Store, which Mr. Kroncke inherited from his uncle, also named George Kroncke.

They soon sold the business and Mr. Kroncke worked in marketing for the Standard Oil Co. in San Francisco for 40 years before retiring in 1960. Mrs. Kroncke originally from Naugatuck, Conn., where the couple met during World War I, worked at Kaufman's store in San Anselmo for 25 years before retiring.

Caro Louise Tanner Wed In San Rafael Ceremony

The bride, who is the daughter of Lt. Col. and Mrs. George D. Tanner of the Canal Zone and formerly of Hamilton Air Force Base, was attended by her sister, Mrs. Robert W. Schultz of Michigan. Another sister, Janine Tanner of the Canal Zone, and Virginia Hammond of Los Angeles were the bridesmaids.

A reception was given afterward at the Hamilton Air Force Base Officers Club. The couple will live in Berkeley.

The bride was graduated from high school at Mouasseur Air Force Base in Morocco and from the University of California. She is a teacher with the Oakland Public School district.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald MacPherson of Santa Monica. He was graduated from Palisades High School and the University of California.

A Recipe For Dieting

WEST LAFAYETTE, Ind. (UPI)—Nutritionists at Purdue University, alarmed at the nation's penchant for fad diets, offers a sensible and sure-fire method of losing weight. But you may not like their four point route to taking off pounds sensibly.

Here is the recipe:

—Take a giant size portion of motivation.

—Add knowledge about good nutrition and diet.

—Mix well with self-discipline.

—Add several dashes of physical activity.

Taking these needs into consideration, then ask yourself, "What makes me grow sideways?"

General rule: Eat a fine breakfast, a light lunch and a good dinner. But please, you pudgy ones, don't eat so much.

New Tomales High School Ready, Awaits Students

NEW SCHOOL — Shoreline Unified School District's new $995,400 Tomales High School, constructed one mile east of the present high school, will be dedicated at ceremonies at 1:30 p.m., Aug. 24. Howard Day, president of the state Board of Education will be the keynote speaker. There will also be remarks by school trustees and administrators. The superintendents of both Marin and Sonoma counties have been invited. Following the dedication ceremonies, there will be tours of the building, a new landmark in West Marin.
(I-J photos by Theron A. Newell)

Calendar For Music, Air, Adobe Fetes

The calendar of activities for three major events this weekend in Marin County and Petaluma — The Inverness Music Festival, Gnoss Field air show, and Petaluma's Old Adobe Days — is:

INVERNESS MUSIC FESTIVAL TONIGHT

8 p.m. — Recital of Elizabethan music, including music known in the time of Sir Francis Drake, in St. Columbia's Church.

TOMORROW

11 a.m. — A lecture on the Brecht-Weill opera "The Rise and Fall of Mahoganny" will be given by festival director Fae McNally in St. Columbia's Church.

3 p.m. — Completely staged opera "Cavalleria Rusticana" will be performed in the amphitheater adjacent to the church.

8 p.m. — Margaret Fabrizio will perform a harpsichord recital in the church.

Gov. Reagan Orders Judd Extradition

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan has ordered the extradition to Arizona of Winnie Ruth Judd, notorious trunk murderess of the 1930s, on a charge of being a fugitive from a mental hospital.

Mrs. Judd, now 64, escaped in 1962. She was arrested last month in Danville where she was working as a housekeeper.

BAY AREA REFUSE CRISIS IS CRITICAL

Report Urges Counties To Find Ways To Ship Garbage Out — Or Suffocate

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

SAN FRANCISCO — All Bay Area counties, including Marin, must take immediate steps to ship their garbage and refuse to northeastern California or Nevada — or to the entire region will become one vast dump.

This was the finding reported yesterday after an 18-month study of the problem by Commonwealth Club members.

The Bay Area will run out of places to dump its trash by 1977, warned the report by the club's section on pollution and waste disposal problems. By the year 2000, the region will have a deficit of areas to dump totaling 48 square miles — 20 feet deep, the report said.

RAILROAD RUNS

It envisioned a series of transfer stations along railroad tracks on both sides of the bay. Collection trucks would bring refuse to the stations for loading onto railroad cars, which would make daily runs to the remote disposal sites.

The proposal, never before tried anywhere, has been under consideration by the City of San Francisco, but negotiations with the Western Pacific Railroad have broken down temporarily.

Such a system could be in operation in 18 months, the report estimated.

Disadvantages to the proposal, the report conceded, include objections by residents of areas through which the trains would pass. Also, "the system is vulnerable to wrecks, derailments, slides, floods, snows, freezing conditions, strikes, etc.," the report added.

COMPRESSION

Exotic methods of compressing and reducing the volume of wastes "are only intermediate steps," which do not answer the need to dispose of the wastes, it said.

The only alternative to remote land disposal is burial at sea, but the mechanics and economics of getting large volumes of refuse down deep enough so it will not float back to shore "have not been established," the report said.

"Experts generally agree that a major technological breakthrough in solid waste disposal is not likely," it concluded.

Peter A. Rogers, senior sanitary engineer in the state Department of Health, warned that San Francisco's garbage crisis "will be faced by every city in the Bay Area in a few years — it's a matter of timing." San Francisco will fill up all its dump sites in less than two years.

GARBAGE INCREASE

Rogers, commenting on the report at the section's meeting in the Sheraton-Palace Hotel, noted that the Bay Area produced 2.8 million tons of refuse in 1963, and nine million in 1967.

But "working in the opposite direction from the needed regional cooperation" are laws like one in Marin County barring importation into the county of any refuse. Marin, however, exports more than one-third of its refuse to Contra Costa County, he said.

Sonoma County is the only one in the Bay Area that neither exports or imports refuse, Rogers said.

AIR POLLUTION

Burning refuse, even in costly incinerators, runs into stiff air pollution regulations, he said.

Leonard Stefanelli, president of the Sunset Scavenger Corp., which handles San Francisco's refuse, complained that the problem is "a political football" in the Bay Area, and endorsed the proposal to haul refuse to remote sites by train. This would take care of the problem for 600 years, he declared.

Stefanelli noted that San Francisco's refuse had been used to fill in 460 acres of the bay as a "reclamation project," but acknowledged that the bay no longer could be used as a dump.

The U. S. government employs more than 3,000 librarians and 1,700 assistants.

MOTION PICTURE GUIDE

The Marin Motion Picture and Television Councils provides these ratings of movies currently being shown in Marin County. The council's findings are from the California and National Parent-Teacher Association magazines and the film report of the Film Estimate Board. More complete reviews may be obtained by calling the San Rafael Library.

FAMILY

'Around the World in 80 Days" — Jules Verne's Victorian classic proves to be as fresh and full of delights as ever. Opulent travelogue of the world of 1872 by various means of transportation.

"Chitty Chitty, Bang Bang" — Delightful musical fantasy about an impoverished crackpot inventor who enriches the life of his two motherless children with zany inventions. Imaginative dances and songs interwoven. Children should take their parents and grandparents to see.

"High, Wild and Free" — Filmed in northern British Columbia. Photographer Gordon Eastman gives us a tribute of some of the last unspoiled country left in the northern hemisphere. Excellent.

"Love Bug" — Disney presents a whimsical story about a car that not only has a heart and mind of its own, but ability to drive itself. Highly imaginative fantasy.

'Winnie the Pooh" — Film imparts a gentle lesson in sharing with and scarificing for one's friends.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"April Fools" — Satire of New York jet setters. Married man meets boss's wife at a party and they run off to live in Paris. Good cast wasted on a stupid story.

"Dro Zhivago" — Russian revolution brilliantly recreated. Well worth seeing for magnificent spectacle.

"If It's Tuesday, This Must Be Belgium" — Comic spoof of American tourists on a group tour of Europe. Number of unnecessary bedroom scenes thrown in.

"Lion in Winter" — Rich, explosive drama that makes brilliant reality out of distant history. King Henry II must choose one of his three sons as his successor. Intrigues and maneuverings makes for high drama. Flawless production.

"Popi" — Tender, enlightening, remarkably well-acted comedy about a Puerto Rican widower's scheme to lift his boys out of poverty. Authentic ghetto scenes provide frightening realism so young children should be accompanied by parents.

BORDERLINE

(Most sources say Adults Only)

"A Fine Park" — Thievery is made exciting and glamorous. Police captain eager to get a beautiful girl out of trouble helps her to return stolen jewels. He then is convinced that a life of crime is more fun and decides to make it his new career.

ADULTS ONLY

"Goodbye Columbus" — Picture of a Jewish family is real and humorous. The warmth of the people comes through all the surface vulgarity. Explicit sex and nudity.

"If" — Harrowing British study of violently rebellious youth. Unattractive world of a boys school. A highly disturbing film, a fantasy, perhaps, but lasting in its impact.

Lingerie Valued At $120 Stolen

Police said Carol Bain of 146 Tamalpais Road, reported the items were taken between 7:30 p.m. yesterday and 12:15 a.m. today. There were no signs of forced entry, police said.

Radio equipment and a stereo receiver worth $319 were taken. Police said entry was gained by removing an unlocked screen.

Legislature Passes Mixed Bag Of Criminal Statutes

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The 1969 Legislature voted to make life tougher for the Mafia, drunken drivers, smut merchants and topless dancers.

The lawmakers also rejected Gov. Ronald Reagan's "Merit Plan" for appointment of judges, made it easier to get a divorce and passed a bill striking down gun control laws of San Francisco and Beverly Hills.

In short, legislative efforts dealing with crime and justice produced a mixed bag.

REPUBLICAN BENT

The Legislature, controlled by the Republicans for the first time in more than a decade, handed the GOP governor two major elements of his legislative program—new controls on the sale of pornography and new limits on how much a driver can drink and remain legally sober.

The anti-pornography bill by Sen. Robert J. Lagomarsino, R-Ojai, and the drunken driving limits measure by Assemblyman W. Craig Biddle, R-Riverside, had been blocked during previous sessions when Democrats outnumbered Republicans.

OBSCENITY STANDARDS

The anti-filth legislation is aimed at keeping smut out of the hands of children. One bill creates a separate standard for judging what is obscene for youths under 18. The other writes into law a pandering concept so that advertising methods can be used to decide if a publication is legally obscene.

The tipsy driver bill writes into the law books at what limit a motorist is presumed to be too intoxicated to operate a motor vehicle legally in California.

If .10 per cent of a driver's blood is alcohol, he will be presumed in court to have been drunk. If the level is between .05 and .10 no presumption will be made. At .05 and below, he'll be presumed sober enough to drive.

The average 150-pound man would reach the presumptive limit at seven and a half drinks of 80 proof liquor during an hour and a half. A 120-pounder would normally reach the limit at slightly more than six drinks.

The Legislature, over some protests of some libertarians, agreed and approved a bill granting immunity from prosecution to "little fish" hoodlums who inform on their gangster bosses.

Under the bill, a judge at the Attorney General's urging, could direct an informer to testify. In return, he would be granted immunity from prosecution in both state and federal courts.

DIVORCE LAWS

It scrapped the traditional grounds for divorce and created two reasons—"irreconcilable differences" and "incurable insanity."

Major provisions also reduce the residency requirement for a divorce from one year to six months and eliminate the requirement that fault be established in the division of community property.

AUTHORS

In one of its final acts, the Legislature sent to Reagan a measure by Sen. H. L. Richardson, R-Arcadia, declaring that the state had preempted the field of gun control in California. The bill would have nullified local gun regulation ordinances of San Francisco and Beverly Hills adopted in the wake of the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto appealed to Reagan to veto the proposal.

He said if the bill became law the lawmakers would "play into the hands of Black Panthers and other urban groups that want to shoot their way to revolution."

Another preemption measure, informally known as the "topless-bottomless act," authorizes local governments to enact their own ordinances regulating nude or nearly nude entertainment. For years, courts and the Legislature had been unable to decide whether state law took precedence over local statutes.

The measure by Assemblyman John Quimby, D-Rialto, and Sen. Lawrence Walsh, D-Huntington Park, is designed to give cities and counties authorization to pass ordinances banning such entertainment.

Youth Denies Drug Accusation

Edward Thomas Vrable, 19, of Lucas Valley pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a charge of offering to transport and sell marijuana June 16 to a narcotics agent.

A preliminary hearing was set for Sept. 11.

Also named as a co-defendant in the case is Eric Lee Prescott, who has never appeared in court to answer the charge. A bench warrant is out for his arrest. Prescott is also charged with selling LSD on two occasions to an agent.

Vrable was arrested July 23 in a narcotics raid in San Rafael.

Holiday For Crime In Police Day Off

HELSINKI, Finland (UPI)—Police have adopted as their slogan for their annual national day: "A Day Without Police?"

"We aren't going on strike," said the police commandant. "But we want to make people think what life would be like if nobody chased the criminals."

SAVED BY RESIGNATION

Former Japanese Admiral Discloses Tojo Death Plot

TOKYO (AP) — A group of Japanese Navy officers planned to assassinate Premier Hideki Tojo in 1944 after he refused to replace his navy minister to help end World War II, a man who claims he was the leader of the plot has disclosed.

Sokichi Takagi, a former rear admiral, said in a telephone interview that Tojo unknowingly saved himself when he resigned 48 hours before the officers planned to ambush his car in Tokyo.

Tojo, an army general, was considered Japan's No. 1 war criminal. He tried to commit suicide when Japan surrendered in 1945 but was saved, only to be executed three years later for war crimes.

Takagi, now 75, said that the assassination was to take place on July 20.

"All prepared secretly," he added. "We were dead sure of killing Tojo with the first round of fire."

Takagi was elaborating on an article he wrote for the current issue of the magazine Bungei Shunju commemorating the 24th anniversary of Japan's surrender.

Takagi claims he instigated the plot after Tojo repeatedly ignored demands from a group of navy officers that he name Adm. Mitsumasa Yonai to replace Adm. Shigetaro Shimada as navy minister. Yonai was considered more inclined toward coexisting with the West and more able to end the war "the way most of the nation desired," Takagi said.

He said three of his best men had been chosen to help him kill Tojo.

"If it had been carried out as scheduled, it might have coincided with the unsuccessful attempt in Germany (on July 20) to kill Adolf Hitler with a time bomb in his underground bunker in East Prussia."

However, he said the Japanese had no knowledge in advance of the German plot, and "neither did the Germans have any means to know of ours."

The three men who were to help him kill Tojo "are alive in Japan today," Takagi said, but he refused to disclose their names.

New Directive On Revolution: 'Learn How To Survive First'

Establishment). Unhuh, wow, they're forced out."

"It used to be comfortable to drop out . . . a peace-and-love type thing," said John. Now, "to do your own thing you have to learn how to survive first."

He continued, "There's no culture except among oppressed peoples. America has attempted to rip off culture and graft it onto themselves," the bearded youth maintained.

That's what happened to the Wild West Festival, he indicated. "They (the San Francisco Music Council) are trying to pervert, synthesize, plasticize the hip culture and sell it back to them."

The Haight Commune, a gathering of representatives from smaller communes, went to the music council and protested, he said.

Promoters, he said, stood to make at least $120,000 from the project, but had not included all ethnic groups, had made no provision for feeding and sleeping the expected crowds, and no provision for medical and legal facilities. Worse, he said, none of the money was for the people.

The Haight Commune, also worried there would be a riot, started trying to make plans for the crowds and asked that the council be expanded to include them. It wasn't.

Pressure, a strike meeting, finally canceled the festival with promoters claiming their lives had been threatened, a fact John vehemently denied from his perch atop a desk. "We don't care about their lives. They're not important people," he said.

"To stop a negative thing is a positive act," he told the class. "To create you must destroy the bull — and bad vibes." Destroying the festival got rid of some of the garbage. "We can start building," he said.

"The music council just got hit upside the head with a big chunk of peace and love," he maintained and told the group: "Long hair is not enough. Is your soul shaggy too?"

As he spoke, a car door slammed and Dennis Marnell, leader of the class, and a member of the Students for a Democratic Society, announced, "Oh God, it's the president of the board of trustees." (Actually, it was the immediate past president, Theodore C. Wellman.)

Wellman, looking out of place in his neat gray pinstripe suit, did not seem to inhibit the class. Shortly after his arrival, Marnell offered copies of Dock of the Bay, the sheet which publishes names of narcotics agents in the Bay Area.

The second half of the class was to be devoted to a lecture on Marixism by Marty Nicholas, a former teacher from Canada, now writing for a radical education publication.

"What we just heard (John's talk) was about as close to a Marxist analysis as you could probably get," he said. "Someone who is a Marxist will talk right away about survival."

He began discussing Marx, multisyllable technical words streaming forth. Within minutes half the group, mostly teenagers, left and Marnell who had earlier suggested Nicholas use less intricate language said they were gone because they didn't understand.

The Marxist theory discussion sort of fell apart then as the class started discussing education.

"We have to tailor the education to these people," said John of the young people who left. "The system is here and we have to fit it to them."

"How are you going to get together with the hippies when they're on drugs?" asked Lillian Holter, Kentfield mother of four who had earlier criticized one of the young people for being stoned.

Marnell reported he goes into the schools and tries to turn them off dope and turn them on to politics.

A tousle-haired youth in a bright yellow tee shirt said education is trying to "take people and fit them into certain niches. We should have a two-way thing," he said. He also argued that most education doesn't relate to him because there is no way to apply it to his life.

A short speech by Jerry Coleman who identified himself as a Young Patriot, a group out to help poor whites as the Black Panthers are doing for the blacks, ended the formal class and there followed a short discussion with Wellman.

"You are Standard Oil executive. How can you relate to me?" Marnell asked, giving some of his background which began on New York's lower east side and is now a struggle to eat and go to school.

Marnell told Wellman the next class, next Thursday, would be at the board meeting and urged a little less talk from some of the right wingers and more listening. "They might learn something," he said.

The class was the target of several individuals and organizations at last week's board meeting.

Marnell, who says he is an anarchist, said last night the class would continue indefinitely and perhaps expand to include a theory course on Monday nights and speakers on Thursday nights "unless they put me in jail."

San Rafael Budget Cut May Mean Bond Issue

By FRANK FARRARA

San Rafael voters can expect a bond measure, possibly this fall, to finance a recreation center, fire department headquarters and land for both adjacent to Albert Park. (See other San Rafael City Council story page 1)

San Rafael City Council last night budgeted $1,264,601 in capital improvements for 1969-70, but blue-pnciled funds for the proposed recreation center and fire house.

Mayor C. Paul Bettini said the two projects should be offered to the voters "hopefully in November," and other councilmen agreed.

They didn't discuss the details or amount of the potential bond measure, but the cost of the recreation center has been estimated at $350,000 and a new fire station at $316,000.

The city also would need to buy land along B street, west of the park, for the proposed buildings, and Bettini mentioned acquiring the stretch from Albert Park Lane to Safeway Market.

One of the major items in the capital improvements budget was $216,000 to begin upgrading the sanitary sewer system.

City Engineer Ely Caillouette Jr. explained that $139,000 would be for new lines in the area of Bayview and D streets, and $77,000 for lines at Third and Irwin streets, Park Street, Mary Street and Mission Avenue.

Cut from the proposed sewer improvement program was $100,000 for inspection, testing and sealing of lines.

Another major project, estimated to most more than originally expected, will be the creation of a new corpoartion yard at Lincoln Avenue, south of Second Street.

Councilmen allocated $235,000 for a new yard, with Bettini commenting that the cost estimate had gone up $80,000 "since the last time I saw the plan."

At the last council session, when Bettini was absent, the plans were revised because the state Division of Highways intends to construct highway ramps over the south portion of the city-owned lot.

Caillouette explained that the ramps wouldn't interfere with the north section of the lot where the yard will be located, and Councilman Frederick C. Robbins Jr. said it would be a permanent yard.

The city needs a new corportation yard because it sold the major portion of its lot along Francisco Boulevard to two automobile dealers. At one time, it had been proposed that the city swap its old corporation yard property to the county for the courthouse square.

McCown reported that the city would receive $334,176 during fiscal 1970 as revenue from sale of its corporation yard property.

The capital improvements budget includes $363,318 for the San Pedro Road widening project, including $113,318 in carryover funds, part of a long-range, city-county program.

Left out were any funds to implement a series of traffic flow changes, including making Fourth Street and Fifth Avenue one-way streets, recommended by D. Jackson Faustman, Sacramento traffic consultant.

Under parks and recreation, the council allocated $40,000 for development of Freitas Park near Don Timoteo School, and $24,900 for lighting at Albert Park.

Under public works there was $107,989 for resurfacing streets, $48,000 for traffic signals at Las Gallinas Avenue and Northgate Drive and at Northgate Drive and Manuel T. Freitas Parkway, and $14,000 for repair of damage from last winter's storms.

The additions boosted the city's combined operating and capital improvements budget, to $5,058,439, up $889,835 from last year's total budget, but the tax rate is expected to hold at 86 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

The tentative operating budget of $3,793,838 is up $528,487 from the past year ,and the capital improvements budget up $361,348.

McCown estimated revenue at $4,460,218, and said there would be carryover funds from the 1969-70 budget, $725,000 in undistributed reserve and $365,458 in the capital improvement budget.

The council will meet at 8 p.m. Monday at city hall to set the tax rate.

Patrick Sues Illinois Official Over Charges

I-J Special Report

CHICAGO — San Rafael cosmetics magnate William Penn Patrick today ordered a $30 million lawsuit against Illinois Atty. Gen. William J. Scott, who yesterday charged Patrick's firm with violating state antilottery laws, deceptive practices and price fixing.

Patrick also hired a Chicago law firm to have the Illinois and Chicago bar associations "review the tactics" of Scott, and to immediately institute disbarment proceedings against two assistant attorney generals.

CHICAGO CRIME

"Chicago is one of the leading crime areas in the country," Patrick declared in a press statement, "and it is appalling to me that Mr. Scott (Assistant Atty. Gen. Robert Atkins) has nothing better to do than harass innocent businessmen in their pursuit to make an honest livlion lawsuit against Illinois Ating, while murderers, gangsters, rapists, muggers, etc.

ILLEGAL LOTTERY

The state's suit claimed that the firm's system of initial investment fees for distributors, bonuses for recruting new distributors and commissions constituted an illegal lottery.

The state's suit also charged false advertising, and said salesmen were told falsely that average sales volumes were $300 a month. The suit also charged that claims by the firm that a distributor could earn $25,000 a year and a housewife $9,000 a year part time were false.

Worried Youth Talked Out Of Leap From Span

A 19-year-old San Francisco youth, despondent over a personal problem, hung from the main support cable of the Golden Gate Bridge for a half-hour yesterday before he was talked into returning to safety by three bridge steel workers.

Officers said bridge workers saw McNie at 3:30 p.m. hanging over the east side of the bridge from the support cable half way between midspan and the north tower.

The steel workers, Richard Seward, Eugene Peil and Marin Siem, talked to McNie for about 15 minutes before convincing him to return to the bridge sidewalk where he was taken into custody.

Station Wagon Gone

A locked 1961 Chevrolet station wagon, belonging to Karen D. Harmon, 151 Jordan Avenue, San Anselmo, was stolen from the Safeway parking lot at Red Hill Shopping Center, 900 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, between 5 and 10 p.m. yesterday, Miss Harmon told police.

Belvedere Gets Approval For Offshore Annexation

The Local Agency Formation Commission last night gave the City of Belvedere permission to annex offshore waters to the center of Richardson Bay.

Although it has not said so publicly, the city reportedly wanted control over the body of water in order to prevent houseboats from springing up as they did at Waldo Point.

In other matters, the commission approved annexation of property at Virginia Avenue and Simmons Lane and a section of the Pinherio property on Further Street to the Novato Sanitary District. The latter property is the site of a future senior citizens housing development.

Hearing On Conduct

After a preliminary hearing yesterday in Marin Municipal Court Charles E. Lawder, 43, of Houston, was held to answer Monday in Marin Superior Court to charges of lewd conduct and committing an unnatural sex act with a 7-year-old Novato boy Aug. 5.

Novato Service Alliance Meeting

More than 50 people representing 22 organizations last night weighed formation of a Novato service alliance, according to publicity chairman Robert Anderson.

After representatives at the meeting in Novato Community House discuss it with their organziations, another meeting will be called in September, he said.

The Novato Jaycees had called the meeting on formation of a service alliance to coordinate service projects.

HIDDEN VALLEY RETREAT — CORTE MADERA
A woodsy setting, high above Corte Madera, at the end of a road, with privacy and seclusion. This is a very flexible home, with 2,000 sq. ft. of carefree living space. Could be 2 or 3 bedrooms, 2 baths, loads of storage and built-ins. Home has a music room plus a den or office paneled with redwood planking. Over ¼ acre level lot with sunny pool site and terraces. Oversized 2-car garage. $45,500. Eves. 924-4323.

RACQUET CLUB ESTATES — SAN RAFAEL
A beautiful split-level, 3-bedroom, 2½-bath home close to Racquet Club with club membership available. This 4-year-old home is in excellent condition and its multi-decking provides a magnificent view. Family room is large and has attached laundry area with ½ bath. Foyer is floored in quarry tile, and kitchen has lots of work space. Carpets are like new as are the drapes. Living room has a 10-ft. used brick raised hearth fireplace. Landscaping is excellent and designed for minimum maintenance. Close to elementary school in a fine area. $49,900. Eves. 453-8881.

DOMINICAN — SPARKLING POOL — SAN RAFAEL
Among mature trees on a fenced all-level lot with swimming pool, a ranch-style 4-bedroom, 2-bath home. The family room has a wet bar and fireplace, and opens to the inviting aggregate patio near the pool — and the pool is gorgeous. Best weather area for swimming and sun. $63,500. Eves. 453-5718.

CHAPMAN PARK — CORTE MADERA
A beautiful custom-built home on a lovely lot in one of Marin's finest weather areas. Spacious two-story ranch-style home combining space and comfort with high-quality construction and appointments. The large beamed ceiling living room has a used brick fireplace with raised hearth, storage and wood elevator bin, and large picture windows overlooking a fabulous view of Mt. Tamalpais. Archway from living room leads into dining area with large sliding glass door to outside deck. All-electric kitchen has many extras. Large pantry. 5 bedrooms in all. 4½ baths. Quality throughout. $79,500. Eves. 453-5718.

1, 2, 3 and MORE BEDROOMS! — KENT WOODLANDS
This is the last thing in flexibility! Take your pick! You can have either 1 bedroom, plus den and maid's room; or 2 bedrooms plus den; or three bedrooms; or by adding a window to the large storeroom, you can have 4 bedrooms. A very gracious home, set on ½ acre of land, with a serene view of the San Francisco Bay and wooded hills. There is a very spacious terrace for entertaining, connecting the house and the sparkling POOL. The garden is beautifully landscaped and sprinklered. Home has 3 baths and formal dining space. This is a fine home with an understated elegance that will appeal to the discriminating buyer. $92,500. Eves. 456-6037.

MINIATURE ESTATE — KENTFIELD
Approach this superb home by circular driveway, winding through the lavish gardens, designed for minimum maintenance and accented by night lighting. View the massive living room with one entire glass wall facing a panoramic view encompassing the Bay to Mt. Tamalpais; another wall has a mitered glass outlook into a tranquil garden. Formal dining room plus breakfast room; stainless AEK, butler's pantry and wet bar; 3 bedrooms, 3 baths complete the interior picture. Huge wrap-around deck, 2-car garage and workshop outside. A splendid home for the discriminating buyer seeking quality and charm. $100,000. Eves. 924-4323.

VIEW TO END ALL VIEWS — MILL VALLEY
Indescribably beautiful panorama of San Francisco and the bay is your view from this dramatically designed 5-bedroom, 5-bath home in one of Marin's most desirable areas. High quality and expensive wormkanship are evident in every room of this fantastic home. Formal dining room, family room and enormous living room with beamed ceiling all reflect taste and quality. Beautiful grounds feature large, well manicured lawn and pool site. $195,000. Eves. 435-1590.

★ ABOUT MARIN ★

MILL VALLEY

Mill Valley has a feeling of the European Alps. . . . Its village is safe for children day or night. . . . And we who live in Mill Valley boast about evening walks in the redwoods or on Mount Tamalpais along streams that are still running with cool refreshing water. And yet we're only minutes from downtown San Francisco. We have a large real estate office in Mill Valley where we keep up-to-the-minute lists of Mill Valley's homes and lots that are for sale. Our office is on the right just beyond the high school (and next to Crocker-Citizens Bank). Come by — we have lists of used homes, and in fact we're building new homes here too! See Mill Valley real estate with

KENT WOODLANDS

Offers spectacular views, prime climate and commute and is one of Marin's four finest addresses. Kent Woodlands was planned for privacy and protection . . . with only one entrance for 450 homes affording maximum security. All building and subdivision restrictions are carefully enforced. It is a beautiful place to live. We have a real estate office opposite the Kent Woodlands gates. There we post every home and lot that is for sale (with their prices) on a wall map. We invite you to come in and see what is now for sale in Kent Woodlands.

SAN RAFAEL

With all of Marin to choose from, the Mission Fathers selected San Rafael for the site of their Mission . . . they had an eye for property. Here is Marin's greatest complex of communities in our warmest climate . . . and in San Rafael we have every choice of price and amenity . . . from budget homes in Santa Venetia to English Tudor mansions in the Dominican. Our office in San Rafael is just off the freeway, and our exclusive San Rafael home listings range all the way from $25,950 to $197,500! FRANK HOWARD ALLEN is known in Marin for their courtesy, so stop by and see us, please. Take San Rafael's first exit and on 4th turn rifht one block to Grand. We've been on this corner for ten years.

"TIBURON"

. . . means shark in Spanish but to the home buyer it means Marin's most spectacular views and commuter convenience. Tiburon has Marin's only ferry service affording a small group of executives a real kick out of morning and evening bay rides. Tiburon offers fine schools and a surprising variety of prices in new and used homes and still a wide choice of building sites. Our office in Tiburon is on the non-business side of town, right on the water, looking at the Golden Gate Bridge. (You go thru town and past the old ferry slip to find us.) We keep a wall map up-to-date there with every property for sale in Tiburon (we also keep a coffee pot going) and while you're looking at our real estate map, your children can walk over to Elephant Rock where Tiburon asks "no adults, please." So plan to stop by this weekend at FRANK HOWARD ALLEN's Tiburon office . . .

NOTICE OF HEARING

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Marin County Planning Commission will hold a public hearing to consider its Resolution of Intention for an amendment to Section 22.08.060.16 of Title 22 (Zoning) of the Marin County Code, which amendment would reclassify property in the Strawberry Area from A-2:B-2 (Limited Agricultural District, single-famly homes on 10,000-square-foot lots), to RMP (Residential Multiple Planned District) density to be set by the Planning Commission and to H-1 (Limited Roadside Business District) and from H-1 to A-2:B-2, according to the following map.

NOTICE IS HEREBY FURTHER GIVEN that said hearing will be held during the meeting of the Marin County Planning Commission on Monday, August 25, 1969, in the Planning Commission Hearing Room, Civic Center, San Rafael, which meeting commences at

DISPATCHER IS MIDDLEMAN

A Busy Swing Shift With County Sheriff's Crew

By FRANK FARRARA

Even an air traffic controller at a busy airport would have second thoughts before taking a job as a dispatcher at the Marin County sheriff's office.

Seated in an aging basement room at the soon-to-be-abandoned county courthouse, he is surrounded by two typewriters, three telephones and a radio.

The events of a shift flow through this one-man communications center with the precision of a smooth double-play, complaining resident-to-dispatcher-to patroling deputy.

Deputy Billy M. Wallace was in the dispatcher's seat this week during the swing shift, 4 p.m. to midnight, an acknowledged quiet shift with only one person booked Wednesday night.

Yet, when the shift was over he had typed about 130 entries in the dispatch log, answered 77 telephone calls and filled out 15 assignment sheets listing incidents that require full reports from deputies.

When the swing shift crew started, the 46 prisoners, 44 males and two females, were digging into a fried chicken dinner topped off with watermelon.

One man short because of vacations, Sgt. George J. Reuss, watch commander, was working with two patrol deputies, Joseph G. Kelly and Richard A. Keaton, covering three beats, extending from the Alto area to beyond Novato.

The calls began coming in, 4:17 p.m., an attempted burglary at 370 Ferndale Avenue, Homestead Valley, 4:28, report of arson at the Point Reyes National Seashore, 4:38, report of dog bite in Forest Knolls.

Juvenile Officer Charles Prandi arrived at 4:50 p.m. with a silent, slim 18-year-old youth, who was picked up while hitchhiking along Highway 101 and a check revealed that he was a runaway from Tacoma, Wash.

The youth, dressed in blue denims with bell bottom trousers, was booked to be held overnight.

"He had amnesia, was in a car accident, and his mother is going to come down and pick him up," explained Jailer James Hickey.

Sgt. Robert Scheiner of the jail division and Hickey didn't know it then, but that was to be the last booking of the shift.

Some nights, particularly when there's a full moon, the line of those to be booked extends almost to the end of the entrance hallway, deputies asserted.

"When there's a full moon, we get all the nutty calls," said Wallace.

The calls continue . . . a burglary in Marin City reported, 4:58, a burglary alarm accidentally set off at 5:03.

Deputy Keaton is on his way at 5:30 to take a report from a Marinwood resident about two pet rabbits taken from their caged area and killed, their heads cut off.

The day staff, inspectors, administrators and clerical help, are gone, but there is a slight hum of activity . . . a bail bondsman arrives to confer with a prisoner in a side room, a middle-aged woman seeks advice from Reuss about how she can help her alcoholic husband.

The calls resume . . . an attempted burglary at 419 Montford Avenue in Homestead Valley, 6:12 p.m.; a lewd telephone call in Terra Linda, 6:51 p.m.

Twilight time and the calls resume, malicious mischief at Manzanita School in Marin City at 7:43, theft of a diesel tank at Smith Ranch Road, 8:13; indecent exposure in the Miller Creek area of Marinwood, 8:23.

After checking out the Smith Ranch incident, he takes a swing past a recent trouble spot, Oleander Park in Terra Linda, and makes a traffic stop at 9:37.

It's a 15-year-old girl driver, who made a U-turn without car headlights on. He fills out an information card on her, and gives her a reprimand, but no citation.

A cruise by the Marinwood Community Center and "Hippie Hill," and then a pickup of two stripped bicycles spotted in a center divider of Miller Creek Road by a passing resident on a walk. It's 9:59.

As soon as he's back in his car he gets the message from Wallace that the burglar alarm is ringing at the Indian Valley Golf Club restaurant and pro shop.

It's a fast ride up Highway 101 to the Novato area, a check of the golf club, 10:20 p.m., no cars in sight, no apparent entry attempts, and the probability the alarm went off accidentally.

"Those things are sensitive," Keaton said. "If you shut the door hard they go off."

He returns to Terra Linda and a call comes in, 11:07, burglary reported in progress at 1080 Las Ovejos Avenue, Terra Linda. A 16-year-old said two acquaintances broke into his home and stole 53 record albums.

Keaton arrives, 11:11, and calls for backup support, not knowing how many youths involved. He takes the complaint, which has more the air of a neighborhood dispute than a professional burglary.

It's nearing midnight, so Keaton heads in, with reports that will take him an-hour-and-half to write before he can go home, overtime.

He and the rest of the shift went to work on a sunny summer afternoon, and when they quit it was a dark cool morning.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Wart Victims Also Plagued By Rash Of Old Wives' Tales

VAN DELLEN

T. C. writes: I am 14 years old and "blessed" with 14 warts. Someone told me that vitamin A might be helpful. Even though I would like these removed, this person said that if I didn't take vitamin A, they would return.

Warts come from a virus infection. As for vitamin A, it has nothing to do with warts. This is a good example of a well-meaning friend giving advice on a subject about which he knows nothing. Furthermore, too much vitamin A may lead to a condition far more serious than warts. Injections of the vitamin beneath the wart represent an old treatment that is seldom used because it is very painful.

THE FAMILIAR raised warts are more common in children and teen-agers than in adults. Occasionally, a hundred or more exist. These are usually seen on the hands but may develop any place on the body, including the tongue, scalp, and under a fingernail.

Some warts respond to simple treatment and even disappear spontaneously; others are stubborn and tend to recur. Electrodesiccation is a popular remedy. The wart is anesthetized and destroyed via an electric needle. Freezing, utilizing a pencil of solid carbon dioxide, also has resulted in a cure. A better method is to apply liquid nitrogen after the wart has been shaved down.

THE LATEST in freezing also utilizes liquid nitrogen except that it is contained in a rod and is handled like a pen. The temperature at the tip of the device (-320.8 degrees Fahrenheit) is capable of fast-freezing the wart and inactivating the viruses. An anesthetic is not required. Sulfuric, nitric, and diacetic acids also have been used. A toothpick dipped into the acid is rotated and worked deeply into the root.

Suggestion therapy is the most interesting remedy. The person is told that the wart will disappear if he rubs the lesion with a kernel of corn, potato peeling, or perhaps vitamin A. If he believes it, the wart drops off within a few weeks.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

CORONARY

G. G. writes: Can a person who had coronary thrombosis two years ago and is now in good health safely undergo a hernia operation?

REPLY

Yes.

COLORED EGGS?

A reader writes: I always thought that brown eggs were more nutritious than white eggs. However, a friend of mine who used to live on a farm tells me that it is the other way around. Who is correct?

REPLY

Neither one of you is correct. The breed of the hen determines egg color and the egg's nutritive value has nothing to do with the color of its shell.

OOZING ECZEMA

REPLY

Eczema frequently is due to an irritant or to allergy. Best results are obtained when the cause is detected and eliminated. There are remedies galore that afford temporary relief and help keep the surface dry.

WALKING

W. T. writes: Why do you recommend walking as a good exercise, since only the legs benefit?

REPLY

Did you every try to walk without moving your arms, shoulders, and trunk? It would prove awkward and tiresome.

SLOW PULSE

G. W. writes: Does a person with a low metabolism usually have a slow pulse?

REPLY

Yes. Other signs of low metabolism include fatigue, mental sluggishness, dryness of the skin and hair, intolerance to cold, and a tendency to gain weight.

SKIN CANCER

H. H. writes: According to the doctor, I have a malignant lesion on my skin due to overexposure to the ultraviolet rays of the sun. He said it can be cured by radium or surgery. Is this the way to handle it?

REPLY

Yes.

KERATOSIS OF SKIN

B. G. writes: My doctor wants to remove a brownish spot from my forehead. He called it a keratosis. Is this cancer?

REPLY

No, but keratoses are skin lesions that often turn into cancer. It is for this reason that treatment must be thorough.

Portable Classrooms Date Lagging

The Tamalpais High School District board at a special meeting yesterday learned that Speedcraft Corp. of Santa Rosa is behind schedule in providing portable classrooms for the district's three high schools and some may not be ready for occuation when school opens Sept. 10.

Trustee David D. Ring asked acting Supt. Robert D. Torrey if the portable for Redwood High would be ready and Torrey replied that the most experienced people involved in getting the buildings are "very pessimistic" about it.

Ring then asked jokingly if the board could get an injunction against the company using the name "Speedspace."

The board also awarded an $18,125 contract to the Outdoor Products Co., San Jose, the only bidder, for fixed and portable bleachers at Redwood High and a $5,840 contract to low bidder, Bresnan-Dalecio Inc. of San Rafael for asphalt topping for outdoor playgrounds at Tamalpais High.

Pickup Truck Purchase Backed

The Marinwood Fire Commission last night recommended purchase of a new pickup truck, hose and other equipment.

The truck would be bought through the state to cut costs, Fire Chief Gaylord E. Bonfield said.

The commission also asked permisson to hire two more youths for summer work with the fire department. This would bring the youth work force to four.

Man Arrested On Drug Count

A 20-year-old San Rafael youth was booked on suspicion of possession of dangerous drugs and narcotics paraphernalia yesterday after he was picked up on another drug warrant, San Rafael police said today.

Arrested was Monte Leon Miller, of 75 Woodland Avenue. Police said he was picked up on a $500 warrant for possession of paraphernalia and when he was booked, it was found he was in possession of eight capsules, a hypodermic and a syringe.

He was held in lieu of $2,500 bail for a court appearance today.

Injuries Minor In Crash Near Bridge

Marianne Thompson, 34, of San Francisco received minor injuries when her car skidded into another car at 7:40 a.m. yesterday on Highway 101 a few feet north of the Golden Gate bridge, according to the California Highway Patrol, and did not require hospitalization.

Officers said the driver of the second car, James Girard Ewer, 46, of 10 Gardner Street, Mill Valley, was not hurt.

Murphy Claims Grape Strikers Misleading

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. George Murphy charged in a statement on the Senate floor yesterday that a representative of the United Farm Workers Organization Committee deliberately tried to mislead the Senate Migratory Labor Subcommittee with false information.

The California Republican said Jerry Cohen, general counsel for the UFWOC testified before the subcommittee that two bunches of Thompson seedless grapes contain 180 times the established level of chemical aldrin for human beings.

Cohen, the senator said, submitted a laboratory report showing aldrin content of 18 parts per million, compared to the legal tolerance of .1 part per million. Cohne quoted C. W. England Laboratories of Washington, Murphy said.

The laboratory later told a reporter the grapes tested had been presented by a UFWOC representative, and were not obtained or purchased from any market, the senator said. He also quoted a Food and Drug Administration report showing no aldrin residue on any grapes.

Murphy quoted Cohen as saying the grapes were produced by "Bianco" and identified the producer as Anthony A. Bianco Jr. and Bianco Fruit Corp. of Delano, Arvin and Thermal. Bianco, the Senator said, has used no aldrin in any form on his properties in the last six years.

He said the conclusion then was clear: The Senate subcommittee had been victim of duplicity.

"If this be the cause, this tactic on the part of UFWOC is a vicious type of deceit and makes clear the witness has raised the pesticide question as part of UFWOC's — rule or ruin — message," Murphy said.

He said he would maintain a close watch on the union.

"I intend from now on to check all witnesses for credibility, character, and purpose, so that the subcommittee may make proper and productive pronouncements as a result of these hearings," he said.

Creek Dredging Delay Is Learned

Dredging of the Novato Creek from Highway 37 to the entrance to Bel Marin Keys Lagoon will not be done until next year the Bel Marin Keys Community Services District Board learned last night, according to secretary Betty Zoeller.

The $50,000 cost has been budgeted by the Marin County Flood Control District, but work has been postponed because of other problems, she reported.

The board authorized the installation of a pole and street light at the community center parking lot and repair of the stone entrances to the development.

Drunken Driving

COMMANDER INSISTS

Mentally Disturbed Guards Kept On Duty

V. Carrow of Novato, hammered yesterday at Tidwell's judgment in clearing Ballou for duty in the first place, then keeping him on duty after the psychiatrist's report.

The psychiatrist, Maj. Emilio A. Massa of Letterman General Hospital, yesterday repeated testimony he had given on Aug. 5 — before Carrow entered the case — in which he expressed surprise Tidwell had not followed his recommendation that Ballou at least be taken off security duties.

Testimony in the day-long hearing brought out that Ballou also had had violent rages while serving in Thailand and had consulted a psychiatrist there.

Tidwell repeatedly defended his action, saying "other factors" outweighed the psychiatric evaluation. These factors included Ballou's past record (Tidwell was unaware of the Thailand incidents), his ability to tell right from wrong and the fact that he had caused no trouble after the psychiatric report until the incident with Sgt. Moore.

The defense attorneys also put heavy emphasis on the nuclear security at the base.

Tidwell told them that to prevent deliberate sabotage at the nuclear arsenal, two guards are always on duty and they must maintain visual contact.

"Do you think that visual contact is all the civilian population in this part of the country needs to keep some kook from detonizing a nuclear explosion?" Carrow asked.

Earlier, he had testified during his five-hour grilling, "Let me reiterate, if he is qualified to serve duty as a security policeman, he is qualified to serve anywhere in the organization."

He later admitted that he had some doubts about keeping Ballou on duty but felt other factors outweighed the risk.

In explaining his decision, Tidwell said he was trying both to protect the individual as well as the interests of the Air Force. That comment sparked this exchange (partly paraphrased):

Graham: "Which is paramount?"

Tidwell: "The Air Force."

Graham: "This time?"

Tidewell: "Yes."

Graham: "How would you explain that to Sgt. Moore's wife (if Ballou had shot him)?"

Tidwell: "It would be very difficult."

Graham: "How would you explain to the people of Marin County after a nuclear accident?"

Graham: "Major, isn't the real overriding (factor in keeping Ballou on duty) your need for bodies . . . any kind of bodies?"

Tidwell said the manpower situation was one factor and moments later, when Graham asked him to concede he had been wrong, said, "Perhaps."

At another point, Tidwell said he "would much rather have a man like Sgt. Ballou than nobody" guarding the nuclear equipment. He said if there were no guards, "kooks from Haight-Ashbury" would descend on the munitions area. He said non-nuclear weapons have been stolen from other military bases.

He and Graham then returned to the psychiatric report and Ballou's fitness for duty, particularly when he would be guarding nuclear weapons and dealing with the public while carrying a loaded weapon.

Graham said the mental evaluation was a "red light," but Tidwell termed it a "cautionary light."

Tidwell later admitted he was not completely familiar with some parts of the Air Force manual setting fitness levels for the human reliability program and that he might have made a different decision.

The hearing was due to resume and probably conclude this afternoon after which McQuaid will decide whether formal charges will be made. Ballou's status, if he does not face a court-martial, was uncertain.

Morale Of 'Watchdogs' Big Concern

The critically undermanned security force responsible for policing Hamilton Air Force Base — including its nuclear storage area — apparently faces a serious morale problem as well, testimony by the base security chief indicated yesterday.

In explaining his decision not to grant the airman's request for a transfer to duty where he would not have to handle a gun, Tidwell said: "I'm concerned about a rolling stone effect in my own squadron and security police throughout the Air Force."

He said if he granted the request, 75 per cent of his 91 men also would seek transfers.

He was asked if 75 per cent of his men were "unstable" (which defense attorneys claimed their client is) by Air Force Attorney Frederick Graham.

"No," Tidwell replied, "I'm saying 75 per cent of the men in my squadron don't want to be security police."

Later, he said his estimate was based on conclusions reached from talking to supervisors and his men and was not based on hard fact.

Kentfield Schools Give Contract

The Kentfield School District board last night awarded a contract to Patchett's Bus and Transportation Co., San Rafael, to furnish transportation for junior high students from Greenbrae to Adaline E. Kent School at $36.50 per day or a total of $6,391 for the 1969-70 school year.

The daily cost compares with $30.75 for last year, Supt. Anthony G. Bacich reported.

The board hired Emma Wright as bookkeeper, effective retroactively to Aug. 1, at $575 per month.

Hops used in making beer, must be propagated by root cuttings because those planted from seed are not always true to type.

Bagley To 'Computer' Committee

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Assembly Speaker Robert T. Monagan, R-Stockton, has appointed two between-session study committees including one panel to decide if some computer memory banks are invading anyone's privacy.

Monagan said yesterday Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, would be chairman of the statewide Information Policy Committee.

"The five man committee was established to study centralized computer installations used by public agencies to assure that these information banks are not infringing on individual privacy," he said.

An 11-member technical panel will advise the committee, which will report back its findings to the 1970 legislature. Other members include Assemblymen Harvey Johnson, D-El Monte, Jerry Lewis, R-Highland, John Quimby, D-Rialto, Robert G. Wood, R-Greenfield.

Monagan also appointed a select committee on mentally ill and handicapped children to "appraise our present system of care for mentally ill youngsters . . ."

Bagley yesterday announced the locations, dates and subjects for hearings by the Assembly Revenue and Taxation Committee, of which he is chairman. They are San Diego Oct. 13-14, assessment and tax appeals; Sacramento Nov. 13-14 and 17-18, tax reform and the utility tax; Los Angeles Dec. 4-5, tax reform; Los Angeles Dec. 16-17, school tax limits, Assessments and Land Conservation Act.

Heart Transplant Pair Identified

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The donor and recipient in a human heart transplant operation were identified yesterday.

The operation Wednesday was the first of its kind at the University of California Medical Center.

William E. Paul, 53, a San Francisco bookbinder, received the heart of Roger Wolfe, 35, a Walnut Creek salesman.

Dr. Benson Roe, who headed the surgical team, said their well-matched tissues narrowed the danger of rejection.

The donor's widow said her husband, who died of a massive brain hemorrhage, had stated he wanted his vital organs donated when he died.

Paul, who had suffered five heart attacks in seven years, was reported in very good condition.

Fight Looms Over Envoy Appointment

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — President Nixon faces a fight if he appoints Robert M. Sayre as ambassador to Panama.

Rep. Daniel Flood, D-Pa., House Appropriations Subcommittee chairman, has served notice of this in a letter to the President. A 25-year congressional veteran, Flood has long been closely interested in Panamanian affairs.

Basis of his emphatic opposition to Sayre is that he was an active participant in the drafting of the 1967 proposed Panama Canal treaties.

These treaties evoked such a storm of disapproval in Congress that they were never signed. Some 150 House members sponsored denunciatory resolutions They made three charges: That the agreements ceded sovereignty over the canal to Panama, made that country a "partner" in canal management and would share its defense with Panama, and authorized the U. S. to construct a new canal in Panama.

Sayre, 45, a career foreign service officer, is now ambassador to Uruguay. Authoritative reports have been current for some time that he was to be shifted to the U. S. Embassy in Panama.

One of the State Department's leading experts on Latin America, Sayre has served in several countries there — including Mexico, Peru and Cuba. For several years, he was deputy assistant secretary of state with the Bureau of Inter-American Affairs. In formulating the discarded Panamanian treaties, he worked with Walt W. Rostow, special assistant on foreign affairs to Presidents Kennedy and Johnson.

Ross School Trustees To Consider Claims

The participation of Ross School District in litigation involving the county and book publishing companies will be discussed by the board of trustees Monday at 7:30 p.m. at the school library on Lagunitas Road. The litigation involves claims for allegedly overpriced children's books.

The board will also discuss forwarding information about the district's accident program to parents.

South All-Star Gridders In Role Of Favorites

By GARY TISCHLER

This could, and should, be the year that the South cashes in some long overdue chips in the fourth annual Ross Valley Kiwanis All-Star Football game next Thursday on San Rafael High School's field.

On paper, the South, which has not won in three stabs at the North, looks formidable, but looks aren't everything in this game, as the North has proved in the past.

The South has a wealth of fine backs, two great quarterbacks, tremendous beef on the line, and a flock of sure-handed receivers. With the exception of some fine receivers, the North is not too well-stocked in any of those commodities.

The North received a rather heavy blow when it lost all-Marin County Athletic League quarterback Russ Dillon of Novato. Dillon, who has a baseball scholarship to Santa Clara, opted not to play in the game, continuing instead with the San Rafael Braves, a semi-professional baseball team which won't wind up play until the end of this month.

That leaves North coaches Al Scott and Jess Payan with just one quarterback, and he's not a regular quarterback. That would be Novato's Greg Davenport, a running back and backup quarterback for Dillon during the regular season.

"He's done a heck of a job for us so far," Scott said. "He's been throwing well, and he's taken over as a leader."

But on the bench is exactly no one, so Davenport will be stepping around very gingerly. The South has a pair of quarterbacks, both of them excellent.

On the line, the South looks massive.

"Our smallest man on the defensive line weighs 220 pounds," Redwood's Al Endriss, who coaches the South team along with Willie Hector, formerly of Tamalpais, said.

That is bigger than any North lineman. And that's not even talking about the likes of Marin Catholic's Barre Lando (240), Tamalpais' Verdean Herbold (250), Redwood's Gary Kasprzak (235) and Redwood's Rich Simpson (225).

"It could be a very high-scoring game," Endriss said.

Scott agrees.

"They (the South) can score from anywhere on the field," he said. "We make a mistake and boom. But we've got some pretty good boys too, maybe not as spectacular, but they can run."

Boys like Steve McClain of Terra Linda, fullbacks Tom Zechlin of Novato and Clark Derrick of San Rafael and Bulldog halfback Dave Bariski. All of them can go, and hard.

Scott is by no means singing the underdog blues, although he knows that the South has an edge. After all, his squad is primarily composed of members of last year's co-champions, Terra Linda and Novato.

"Everybody's very enthusiastic," he said. "They've really been hitting. Jess had done a great job with the defense. We're awfully quick on the line."

Officials for the game have been announced. They are Dick Hart, referee; Mike Convis, umpire; Dick Curry, head linesman; Bob Fitzhenry, field judge; Rusty Ghilloti, timer, and Arnold Nutting, physician.

Tickets for the game cost $2.50 for adults and $2 for students. They can be obtained at Cal Marin Title, Western Sport Shop, Stan's for Sport, Taveggia and Brusati, Marin Real Estate Board and the Marin YMCA in San Rafael; the Novato Advance, Stan's for Sports, Chapman's Shoes, Jim's Sport Shop, Crocker Citizens Bank and the Carousel Drive-in in Novato; Drake Market in San Anselmo; Bill's Barber Shop, Keane's Quality Meats and Lawson-Dyer Drug Store in Mill Valley, and Stan's for Sports in Strawberry.

Australian Birdman Takes Off On Kite

It's a bird! No, it's a plane! No, it must be some kind of a nut!

There we were yesterday morning, setting in a houseboat on the fog-shrouded bay, when the Birdman of Australia dropped in for a visit. Literally. Like, splash, man.

The occasion was a promotional stunt on behalf of next weekend's National Water Ski Championships at Berkeley, the sponsors bringing in the Birdman, Australian Bill Bennett, to do his thing for an assemblage of press and television photographers.

Bennett's thing, you see, is flying a kite. With him in it.

Towed on water skis by a speedboat, the audacious Aussie zooms his delta-wing kite into the wild blue, releases the tow line and then free flies hither and yon, like a big boid. He has attained heights in excess of 2,000 feet, can control his aircraft like a skilled parachutist and land it on the proverbial dime.

A Trip Over Alcatraz

Yesterday's publicity stunt, arranged by water ski enthusist Shirley Perkins of Novato, was for Birdman of Australia to emulate what the Birdman of Alcatraz would like to have done — that is, fly over the walls of the former federal pen in mid-bay. But, due to unfavorable elements, he did not exactly dazzle the press, through no fault of his own, however.

First, Bennett was tardy for his rendezvous with the press boat in mid bay. Said Mrs. Perkins: "He decided to fly rather than drive over from Berkeley because it would be easier during the commute hours." We thought he may have been detained in a holding pattern, but the affable Aussie later explained he got lost in the fog.

His take-off for the press was marred by a spill, then a shaky start and finally a flight that reached only about 200 feet and lasted a minute. He beat the Wright Brothers but still fell short of expectations due to the gusty winds and a malfunctioning tow-boat. "Spry from the by shorted out the electrical system," he apologized. "It was a terrible demonstration."

Hopes For Better Results

At Berkeley Aug. 21-24 he hopes for much better results in exhibition flights at the water ski nationals. He has flown his kite over the Statue of Liberty and the Potomac and, in the near future, plans to soar over the Grand Canyon and Niagra Falls. He had hoped to go over the Golden Gate Bridge yesterday morning but scratched the idea because commuters just aren't quite ready yet for birdmen so early in the morning.

"I've only 'ad a couple of minor falls," he said yesterday upon return to mission control, "but from low elevations. My only injury in seven years of doing this was when I landed in a palm tree in Melbourne and broke my wrist climbing down."

He said his delta-wing kite, which has 175 square feet of sail area, has a rate of climb greater than a 707 jet. (Coffee, tea or barf bag?)

"It's actually quite easy to fly," he said. "We hope to manufacture these kites in this country. They'll sell for about $450 and the beauty of them is you can take off behind cars, boats or snowmobiles and almost anyone can fly them. We've sold 50 in Australia and the average age of the buyers is over 40." (Bunch of old soar heads in Australia, what?)

Bennett, 35, a sales manager for a marine center, is touring the U.S. with a friend, Ron Callaghan, who drives the boat and occasionally flies the kite. "We're on a 'olidye," 'e said. "You people tike vicitions; we tike 'olidyes."

Provided Some Cheesecake

Bennett's Bay Area visit is sponsored by the Pepsi-Cola Co. which thoughtfully and quite tastefully provided some photogenic cheesecake in the eye-popping form of Inger Young, a Pan-Am stewardess from Mill Valley. I'm not saying she stole the show, but when Inger appeared in an itsy-bitsy, teensie-weensie, red, white and blue Pepsikini, the captain saluted and three photographers got knocked down in the rush, going down to the she in slips. One small step for man; one giant leap for Inger.

Being an intrepid reporter, and with the interest of readers in mind, I asked Inger her . . . uh . . . vital statistics. She replied: "I'm originally from Norway, am 26 years old and have been married one year and four months to my husband, Tim."

That's not what I meant. I had something like 38-24-36-hike in mind, but no matter.

Anyway, it was a lovely day that accomplished a great deal. I recommend you patronize the National Water Ski Championships, Pepsi and Pan-Am.

And, oh, yes. Go fly a kite.

Arnie Quits; Flies Home

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Arnold Palmer withdrew today from the PGA championship and said he would not return to the tournament tour until he gets rid of a chronic hip ailment.

He indicated he might remain out of golf competition for the rest of this season and try a comeback next year.

END OF CAREER?

However, many observers believe that this may mark the end of a career that made him the all-time leading money winner with earnings of more than a million dollars, and the most popular figure in the game.

The 39-year-old Palmer, credited with building golf into its present multimillion dollar business, shot an 11-over-par 82 in the first round of the PGA Thursday—the worst round he's ever shot as a pro.

He came off the course, pale and in pain, saying a hip injury first suffered in 1966 had recurred at the start of his round.

It is a form of bursitis for which doctors say the only cure is an operation. Palmer insists he will never go under the knife for this ailment.

PACKS BAGS

Arnie reported at the NCR Country Club at 9:48 a.m., 30 minutes before his scheduled tee-off time for the second round, cleaned out his locker and prepared to fly to his Latrobe, Pa., home in his $800,000 jet.

"I figured I must get started on this thing sometime and it might as well be now," he said. "I will go home, see a doctor, rest and then make my decisions as they become necessary."

He said he definitely would not play in the tournament at Sutton, Mass., next week in which he is entered but is indefinite about other tournaments later this season.

"I just don't know," he said. "As for my future in golf, I will cross the bridges as I come to them. I hope to play again. As for retiring, I don't even like to think about it."

Palmer said the pain is in his right hip and affects his entire swing.

Almost lost in the shadow of Palmer's dilemma was the battle for the first round lead that ended with nine players deadlocked at two-under par 69s.

They were a nondescript group that included ex-champion Al Geiberger, Ray Floyd, Larry Ziegler, Tom Shaw, Johnny Pott, Bob Lynn, Charles Coody, Bunky Henry and Larry Bowry.

Ten years ago in Minneapolis, nine players tied for the first day lead in the PGA with identical scores of 69.

COLLAPSE

Almost lost in the excitement was the collapse of Tom Weiskopf, the Ohio slugger who came into the 17th hole three under par. Weiskopf, who hasn't won this year, missed a three-foot putt for a bird, then staggered to a double bogey six on the final hole for a finishing 70.

The blond belter put his second shot in a trap and couldn't get out. Obviously upset by his poor finish, Weiskopf refused to come to the press room for his post round interview.

"I don't want to say anything I'd regret," he said. "I'm just going to put my shoes on and get out of here. I'll be back tomorrow."

Lunn lost a solid chance for the lead on the demanding 6,915-yard NCR Country Club layout when he missed a three-foot putt for a bogey on 18. Geiberger, the PGA titlist in 1966,

DI MAGGIO TOURNEY

Novato Nine Loses, 10-3

The Northern Marin champions from Novato are in danger of being knocked out of the Regional Joe DiMaggio baseball tournament after losing their opening game in a genuine fiasco at Albert Field last night, bowing to Myers Safety Switch of San Francisco 10-3, before about 650 fans.

In the only other game last night, El Molino, of Forestville, whipped Best Products, of San Francisco, 4-2, on a three-run first inning.

Annex meets the winner of this afternoon's El Molino-Eureka game at 6 o'clock tonight and it's win or pack up the bags in the double-elimination tournament. Toby's Truckers, the Southern Marin champion, will get a crack at Myer's Safety Switch of S.F. at 3:45 p.m. while Best Products plays the loser of the 3:45 game at 8:15 tonight. Eureka and El-Molino met at 1 o'clock this afternoon.

Myers ran the bases like road runners while Annex Motors' fielding resembled the work of Little League dropouts. Myers runners stole nine bases and Annex fielders committed eight errors and that combination spelled disaster, along with 10 timely Myers hits.

Myers scored steadily and often, getting two runs in the first inning, one in the second, three each in the fifth and sixth innings and one lone tally in the seventh.

By the time Annex scored, it was already 9-0 and too late.

Bud Fielder stole four bases and scored two runs for the winners, and Tad Tassone stole three bases and scored three runs. Lloyd Robinson had three hits, including a two-run homer in the fifth inning, and drove in three runs.

Big Len Yamoto lashed a bases-loaded, two-out double off the 385-foot sign in dead centerfield in the first inning to spark El Molino over Best Products.

Yamoto drove in three runs and had two hits while pitcher Charley Leoni went the distance with a six-hitter.

A's To Open Home Stand With Tigers

OAKLAND AP) — The Oakland Athletics may be in fine shape in the standings but their appearance at the plate has them nervous as they open a home stand tonight against the Detroit Tigers.

Oakland trails front-running Minnesota by only two games in the American League West. The Athletics will send John "Blue Moon" Odom, 14-5, or Lew Krausse, 6-5, against Detroit's Mickey Lolich, 15-5. Both clubs were idle yesterday.

A no-hit performance by Baltimore Orioles right-hander Jim Palmer beat the A's 8-0 Wednesday night.

And center fielder Rick Monday will be out for a month with a broken hand. He was hit Sunday with a fast ball by New York's Fritz Peterson.

On top of that, the A's have only squeezed 28 hits out of the last six games.

BASEBALL ROUNDUP

Niekro's Knuckler Is 'Too' Active

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Phil Niekro's knuckleball was dancing all over the place—and that's always a good sign for Atlanta.

But rarely was it dancing into catcher Bob Didier's glove—and that's always a bad sign for Atlanta.

Niekro had a little too much on his bread and butter pitch last night and it led to four wild pitches, two passed balls by Didier and a 6-0 victory for Philadelphia over the Braves

Niekro had the knuckler to blame but what was Jim Maloney's excuse? Maloney, who isn't noted for the flutterball, uncorked three wild pitches and Montreal went on to beat Cincinnati 6-3.

YANKEES WIN

In the only other major league game played yesterday, the New York Yankees nipped the Chicago White Sox 3-2 with the winning run scoring, predictably, on a passed ball.

Most of Niekro's troubles came in a nightmarish fifth inning against the Phillies. Philadelphia had pushed across a run without a hit in the second with Niekro's wild pickoff throw at first base setting it up and his wild pitch allowing it to score.

In the fifth, singles by Woodie Fryman, Cookie Rojas and Deron Johnson, two wild pitches by Niekro and two passed balls by Didier brought in three more runs.

FIRST HOMER

Fryman pitched a five-hitter and rapped his first major league homer to even his record at 9-9. Rich Allen also homered for the Phils.

Two of Maloney's wild pitches helped Montreal to a run in the first, but the Expos were trailing 3-1 when they rallied for three in the sixth. Ron Brand's two-out, two-run double was the big blow after Ty Cline had knocked in a run with a pinch single.

Three Expo errors had helped the Reds to a pair of runs in the fifth. It was Montreal's third victory in four games against Cincinnati and trimmed the Reds' National League West lead to 2½ games over idle Houston which took over second place.

DECIDING RUN

Jake Gibbs drove in the Yankees' first two runs with a single and a sacrifice fly but Chicago and New York were tied in the ninth when Horace Clarke tagged a two-out triple. Then a passed ball by Ed Herrmann allowed Clarke to score the deciding run.

The Yankees used three pitchers to stem a White Sox rally in the last of the ninth with Steve Hamilton and Lindy McDaniel coming out of the bullpen to get the last two outs.

PRO FOOTBALL ROUNDUP

O.J. To Make His Debut

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Will O. J. Simpson be a $300,000 flop in his pro football debut with the Buffalo Bills against the Detroit Lions at Tiger Stadium tonight?

The debut of the most prized rookie since Joe Namath in the play-for-pay gridiron sport headlines a two-game schedule that kicks off another busy weekend of 12 exhibitions.

The Baltimore Colts play the Houston Oilers in the Astrodome in tonight's other game. Seven games are scheduled for tomorrow night and three more Sunday afternoon.

O. J., vaunted All-American running back and the Heisman Trophy winner for Southern California, signed with the Bills only last weekend and hence may not play the entire game against the Lions.

The performance of the famed 6-foot-1, 207-pounder from San Francisco will be watched closely. There have been cases of college stars who did not make it with the pros, notably John Huarte, All-American quarterback from Notre Dame who also won the Heisman Trophy.

The Bills go against the Lions fresh from an upset 21-17 victory over the Washington Redskins last week, paced by the passing of Tom Flores and the running of Max Anderson. the Lions hope to rebound after a 38-13 drubbing from the Kansas City Chiefs.

Johnny Unitas, apparently recovered from his ailing throwing arm, will lead the Colts against the Oilers in the Astrodome. The veteran quarterback completed 12 of 19 passes for 147 yards and one TD in pacing the unbeaten Colts to a 34-30 victory over the Oakland Raiders last week.

The Oilers, who beat Buffalo 24-7 on Aug. 2, were idle last week and are ready with quarterback Pete Beathard reported "100 per cent improved" by Coach Wally Lemm.

The Chicago Bears and Green Bay Packers renew their rivalry tomorrow night at Milwaukee in a game that will be nationally televised by CBS.

Cleveland is at Los Angeles, New Orleans is at Denver, Philadelphia is at Miami, Oakland is at San Diego to help round out the Saturday night schedule that also lists Pittsburgh vs. St. Louis at Norfolk, Va. and Cincinnati vs. Kansas City at Jackson, Miss.

It is the first meeting between the New York City rivals and the AFL Jets are reported determined to down the NFL Giants for the so-called NYC championship.

Cubs In S.F. For 4-Game Series

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Normally, the San Francisco Giants' pitchers would hate to see Ernie Banks, Billy Williams and Ron Santo come to town—but not this time.

After Roberto Clemente of Pittsburgh blasted three homers as the Pirates won 10-5 Wednesday, the Giant hurlers don't feel too badly about throwing to the Chicago threesome.

The Cubs, National League East leaders by 8½ games, open a four-game series tonight against the Giants, sending Ken Holtzman, 13-6, against San Francisco's Juan Marichal, 13-8.

The Giants, tied for fourth with Los Angeles, are three games behind Cincinnati in the National League West. They took yesterday off.

Clemente destroyed the Giants' almost singlehandedly. He scored four times and drove in four runs, taking over the league batting lead with a .357 average.

Gaylord Perry, 15-8, of the Giants will oppose the Cubs' Ferguson Jenkins, 16-10, tomorrow.

An Even Split In Davis Cup Play

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Mark Cox and Peter Curtis, Britain's unpredictable tennis duo, faced another vital doubles match today, knowing that victory would send their team nearer to the Challenge Round against the United States in the Davis Cup.

Cox and Curtis played Romania's Ion Tiriac and Ilie Nastase, rated one of the best doubles pairs in Europe.

Britain and Romania were tied 1-1 after yesterday's two opening singles of the inter-zone final.

Tiriac downed Cox 6-4, 6-4, 6-3, but Graham Stilwell hit back for Britain, defeating Nastase 6-4, 4-6, 6-1, 6-2.

HERB MICHELSON

Guy Named Johnson Handy In A Pinch

OAKLAND—Whenever the man at the press box microphone sees the A's number 32 coming to the plate, he announces: "The pinch hitter is Dave Johnson. (Pause.) Make that Bob Johnson."

The continuing mistake in identification would not surprise Robert Wallace Johnson, also known, for some forgotten reason, as Oscar or, because there's a slight resemblance to a guy named Colavito, Rocky.

BOB JOHNSON is not only one of the lesser known 11-year major league baseball players; he is one of the most unrecognized of the nine Johnsons who were on major league rosters at the beginning of the 1969 season. (There were Alex, Dave, Deron, Frank of the Giants, Jerry, Ken, Sweet Lous and Elijah.)

AT THIS point it is important to note the big leagues also have a John (Tommy) and Johnstone (Jay), definite sub-groups of the Johnsonian Baseball Empire. After all, there are only three Smiths (Reggie, Charlie, Willie); five Joneses (Cleon, Dalton, Johnny, Mack, Steve); four Browns (Jophrey (Jophrey?), Larry, Ollie, Gates); five Mays (Carlos, Dave, Jerry, Lee, Rudy) plus one Maye (Lee) and, lest we forget, one Mays. Everybody knows that in addition to No Neck there are five more Williamses (Billy, Bernie, Jimmy A. Jimmy F., Stan); three Wilsons (Don, Earl, Billy), and two Whites (Roy, Bill).

THEN THERE'S Bob Johnson . Not Dave. Bob.

When the A's "bought" him from the Cardinals in early July, no one in the press box was quite certain of his past (The "purchase" involved St. Louis getting outfielder Joe Nossek from the A's Iowa farm.)

BUT OVERNIGHT it was learned that Bob had begun his major league career with the As' in Kansas City in 1960; had a .273 lifetime batting average, and was a pinch hitter extraordinaire. In fact, he holds an American League record for consecutive pinch hits (six), set when he played for Hank Bauer in Baltimore in 1964. That season, in fact, Bob Johnson was 15 for 45 as an Oriole pinch swinger.

SINCE THEN he's toiled for tht Mets, Reds, Braves and Cards. In pre-Baltimore days, the 33-year-old Johnson (now the senior citizen of the A's) had the distinction of being one of the original members of the expansion Washington Senators. It's amazing that would be forgotten.

Bob is billed as a utility infielder. But one man who's followed his career suggests that Johnson is more of a utility than a fielder. "He carries four gloves with him — one for each position," the man said. Also, he is not powerful or speedy.

JOHNSON SIMPLY comes to hit — and quickly, usually the first pitch. He firmly believes a pitcher will try and get a fast ball past a pinch hitter right away. So Bob Johnson swings right away. He hit safely four of the first six times he pinch hit for the A's — winning one game and setting up another winning run.

Three Marinites In Golf Finals

Three Marin County golfers are still alive and playing in the finals of their respective flights today at the annual Northern California Golf Association's Junior Championships at Lake Merced Country Club in Daly City.

Jim Wilhelm of Kentfield downed Wayne Smith of Mill Valley, five and four, yesterday and played Bob Miller in the finals of the second flight today.

Elliot Powers of San Rafael met John Sapper in the finals of the sixth flight today and George Carewe of Ross, who won his semifinal match on the 19th hole yesterday, took on Brian Anderson in the fifth flight finals.

AAU Swimmers Crack Records

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The divers take a break today but the swimmers hope to continue their attack on world records at the third day of the 1969 National AAU Swimming and Diving Championships.

Three world marks fell on yesterday's opening day.

Vicki Bitgood of the Tamalpais Swim Club, Cookie Arrighi of the Marin Swim Club and Robin Bachrach of the Dolphins of Marin, the three Marin County entries in the meet, failed to place in their respective events.

Hans Fassnacht, 18, a student at California State College and a native of Germany, set a world mark of 4:04.0 in the men's 400-meter freestyle.

Mike Burton, 22-year-old senior at UCLA, finished second in 4:04.4 and also broke the old world mark and the American citizens mark in the process. The old mark was 4:06.5 by Ralph Hutton of Los Altos last year. Hutton finished fourth in this year's event. All three will compete again tonight in the men's 200 freestyle.

The other world records Thursday were set in the women's and men's 200-meter backstroke events.

Susie Atwood, 16, an Olympic swimmer from Long Beach, knocked 2.3 seconds off the existing mark with a clocking of 2:21.5. The old record was held by Karen Muir of the South Africa ASU.

Gary Hall, 18, a freshman-to-be at Indiana University, swam his event in 2:06.6 to topple the world mark of 2:07.5 set last year by Roland Matthes in a meet in Leipzig, East Germany.

In other finals yesterday, Doug Russell of Arlington, Tex., set an AAU record in winning the men's 100-meter butterfly in :56.0 and Jose Fiolo of the Phillips 66 team broke existing American and AAU records in the men's 100-meter breaststroke with 1:06.9.

Debbie Meyer, 16, Sacramento, defended her women's 400-meter freestyle title and set a new AAU mark of 4:26.4.

PALMER

finished strong with three straight birds.

AT 70

Canadian George Knudson and big Jack Nicklaus both bogeyed the final hole and finished at 70, along with leading money-winner Frank Beard, Jacky Cupit, Bruce Crampton, U.S. Open champ Orville Moody, Phil Rodgers, Bruce Devlin, Canadian Open winner Tommy Aaron and Weiskopf.

South African Gary Player, one of the favorites, was in a group of five at even par 71. Defending champion Julius Boros shot a 72 while Masters king George Archer scored a 75, as did Kermit Zarley, despite a fat 10 on the par five, 536-yard hole.

Winner of one U.S. Open, two British Opens and four Masters titles in an illustrious career that has earned him more than $1 million in official winnings, Palmer's torment started early when he bogeyed his first four holes.

Then came consecutive bogeys on Nos. 12, 13, 14 and 15 and a fantastic triple bogey seven on the 451-yard 16th hole.

Rookies To Start For 49ers

SANTA BARBARA (AP) — Rookies and two-year men will be in the spotlight, San Francisco coach Dick Nolan said today, when his 49ers host the Dallas Cowboys in Sunday's National Football League exhibition game.

Second-year men Bill Belk and Tom Hart will be the defensive ends, taxi squad graduate Leo Johnson will start at split end, and Canadian transfer Earl Edwards will be one of the guards.

One of two rookies, Gene Washington or Bill Wondolowski will start at flanker.

The other defensive starters are tackles Charlie Krueger and Roland Lakes, linebackers Dave Wilcox, Ed Beard and Harold Hays, and defensive backs Kermit Alexander, Jim Johnson, Mel Phillips and Al Randolph.

The rest of the offensive lineup will feature tight end Bob Windsor, tackles Cas Banaszek and Len Rhode, guard Woody Peoples, quarterback John Brodie and running backs Ken Willard and Bill Tucker.

May Expects To 'Return'

CAMP PENDLETON (AP) — Chicago White Sox outfielder Carlos May said yesterday "I think I can play baseball" despite an accident that tore his thumb in half. A Navy doctor agreed.

May, a leading candidate for rookie of the year, will undergo more surgery, probably tomorrow, but is expected to return to baseball next spring.

FOUR WEEKS

The 21-year-old athlete will be hospitalized four weeks, the doctor, Cmdr. Morris Skinner, told a news conference. But May added:

"Yes, I think I can still play. I know the biggest problem will be throwing, trying to protect the ball. But I live this game and I'm going to play it. I may have to cut down on my stroke a little bit, that's all."

Skinner said May was in satisfactory condition and progessing well after the injury "involving skin, bone and muscle of the distal portion of his thumb."

The possibility is being considered, Skinner said, that bone grafts and nerve transplanting would help restore more use to May's throwing hand.

His left thumb was ripped by the blast, and May's face was burned.

AT BEDSIDE

By his bedside were his wife, Margaret, and his mother, Mildred. Both live in Birmingham, Ala.

May said the accident came as his 81-milimeter mortar failed to fire during a six-gun volley. He started to swab the weapon, and the round went off.

His immediate thought was to protect his face, he said, but it was hit by powder burns.

Ed Short, general manager of the White Sox, visited May in the base hospital Thursday and said the team's orthopedic surgeon, Dr. Gerald Loftus, was flying in to help with the treatment.

FISH AND GAME

By AL GIDDINGS

Angling Action Slow; Try To Locate Bass

Things are not going great guns in the fishing department. Joe Mello and his wife, Molly, tried it Tuesday at the mouth of Tomales, the Bird Rock area, and the Elephant Rock area just outside from the mouth. Nothing doing in the salmon line except two shakers. It was fairly rough, but they lasted until noon. On a couple of passes close to Bird Rock, they picked up a couple of lings. Eight or nine other boats fished the same area, but fared no better.

I PASSED by Buck's Landing and China Camp in the upper San Pablo Bay and it was difficult to locate a boat out. This time of year can be tough up this way as the lack of fresh water in the salt water seems to make the environmental conditions better for sharks, rays and skates. It gets really tiresome hooking one shark after another when using bait, and it can be expensive, too. For every 20 pickups or so, one might get a good fish. If you've got the time and the bait, it could pay off. Some sturgeon have been taken, but more so up toward Carquinez.

THERE IS a large school of bass working between the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge and the Golden Gate Bridge, (sometimes even these go outside), and down to Pacifica or over around Bolinas. If you can find this school, and the tide is right, and they are in a biting mood, you can come up with an exceptional limit. On low or minus tides, they seem to be down the Golden Gate Bridge way. On highs from Racoon Strait and as far up as The Brothers Islands is a good bet. Outgoing tides have been best at the Richmond Bridge and the fish seem to hit best in the early mornings or late evenings. Max Chadwick and two friends from Woodacre took eight Wednesday evening. Trolling pet spoons and bugeyes or drifting live bait are the best methods used.

SALMON FISHING out of Sausalito on the party boats has been fair. Down south at Mussel Rock generally limits are taken though the fish are just keepers with an average of one keeper to three shakers being the case.

THE FARALLON Islands and areas outside have had problems with winds and rough waters. It has bten a windy season so far.

UP AT the Point Reyes Justice Court a few days ago, State Fish and Game Warden Russ Ild had two fellows in court for spotlighting. The fellows were new to the area, and were using a car with a girl driving while they walked ahead in the car lights, looking for deer, while carrying a gun and a flashlite. They were just off the highway below Nicasio Dam, and could be plainly seen from the highway. It was before midnight and, of course, they stood out like a sore thumb.

Russ, driving along the highway, watched the action with unbelieving eyes. They even took a couple of shots at a doe. Warden Ild put in a call for assistance and before long the trio was surrounded by law officers. The men were cited, and a dead deer was later found, though they thought they had missed the deer at the time.

In court, the two men showed up, along with a full crew of about 10 friends, including girls. The attire of these people was something to see. All colors, very sparse in some regions, with hats, hairdos flowing ribbons, etc. Unbelievable! I think they were putting us on! They didn't even slightly resemble the old pro spotlighter.

Domingo Grossi, the west Marin rancher was there, watching the proceedings, keeping up with the times, I suppose, and shaking his head at times. The men entered "guilty" pleas, and were fined $100 each or 10 days in jail each. They took the 10 days. As they were all leaving, a "straight" made the mistake of pulling out a pack of smokes he was immediately besieged by the group for cigarettes, with one saying, "We just don't have any bread." And if you don't know what "bread" is, then you're not very "hip!"

I RECEIVED a picture of Neil Grant of San Rafael with a fine looking four-point buck taken at the Packet Ranch up in Geyserville, but couldn't see the tag on the horns. Come on, Neil, let's make it legal! Maybe he's putting me on too!

Moderate Tempo At World Games

BELGRADE (AP) — The fifth day of the World Games of the Deaf took a more moderate tempo yesterday—and for once, no world records for deaf sports were set.

A reason is that mostly group games were held, where no world records are tabulated anyway.

Over 1,500 competitors from 34 countries assembled here last week, along with a reported over 10,000 deaf tourists, to attend the deaf olympics, in 13 sports events—an all time record.

Belvedere Netter In Boys 18 Finals

McDonald knocked off Brian Hahn in yesterday's semifinals, 6-2, 6-1, while Webb upset fourth-seeded Steve Lucchesi, 4-6 2-6, 6-3.

Flag Grid Sign-Ups To Begin

Terra Linda Park and Recreation District announces sign-ups for the T.L. Flag Footbal Conference will open tomorrow at 4 p.m. at the eight Dixie School District elementary schools.

Registration will be open until Sept. 6, either at the schools or at the Terra Linda Community Center. The senior division will consist of junior high students, and the junior division for boys in fourth through sixth grades. Fee is $5.50 per player.

Don Lucas, Terra Linda High School varsity football coach, announced his staff will conduct a flag football coaches clinic Saturday, Aug. 23, starting at 9:30 a.m., at Terra Linda High Bob Fitzhenry of Drake High, secretary of the North Bay Officials Association, will be one of the clinic speakers.

Larry Husband, park and recreation director, said 500 youngsters in the Marinwood - Lucas Valley area are expected to sign up.

Raiders Lose Two Veterans By Injuries

SANTA ROSA (UPI)—Veterans Billy Cannon and Roger Hagberg will miss tomorrow night's exhibition encounter against the San Diego Chargers because of injuries.

Cannon, a tight end, and Hagberg, running back, suffered hyper-extended knees in the 34-30 loss to Baltimore last week. Both went through light drills during the week and are expected to be ready for the Aug. 25th game against the New York Jets.

Lloyd Edwards, a 255-pound rookie from San Diego State, is coach John Madden's choice for the tight end spot with newcomer Gene Thomas in reserve.

Rugged running Marv Hubbard, who ran well in the all-rookie Oakland-Dallas game three weeks ago, will fill in at Hagberg's running back position.

Hunter Safety Course

Registration for a hunter safety course will be held at the San Rafael Police Pistol Range Monday at 2 p.m. for youngsters 12 to 18. The fee is $5. The course is a requirement for obtaining a California hunting license.

MARIN-SONOMA GOLF NOTES

'Last Annual' Tourney On Tap

By RALPH CHATOIAN

Southern Marin Boys Club stands to gain a little in the financial department, thanks to Lou Hurley of KGO and San Geronimo National golf course.

The traffic man for KGO is putting on the "Last Annual Hurley's Hackers" tournament at the San Geronimo course on Friday, Aug. 22. And if that name puzzles you, wait 'til next year when it will be called the "Next to Last Annual" tourney.

With a $25 entrance fee to include golf and dinner, the benefit tournament should come up with quite a sum for the Southern Marin Boys Club.

Tee off time is 9:30 a.m. If you want to enter, send your $25 check to KGO Golf, Post Office Box 1000, San Geronimo. It's for a good cause.

PETE RODDY of Petaluma has lowered the course record at Petaluma Golf and Country Club to 63. Roddy, a coffee salesman by trade and golfer by hobby, is also the club champ at the course, in addition to being tourney director.

It was a double record day for Roddy, scoring 29 on the front nine (old record 30) and finishing with his 63 (old record 64) on the par 70 course.

Although Roddy has been playing golf 23 years, he's only 31, getting an early start at 8. A two handicapper, his previous best on the Petaluma course was 65.

ALSO AT PETALUMA, the annual Sorensen Cup tourney is scheduled to start Sept. 6-7 .Dr. Wayne Musser and Gene Ley will be out to defend their title in the best ball twosome event which stretches over five weekends, ending Oct. 4.

BOWLING TIPS

By DON CARTER

By letting your right shoulder dip too much as you bring the ball through, you may cause serious problems. The best solution, I've found, is to have a firm determination to reach out as you release the ball. You will then be inclined to keep your right shoulder nearly level with your left.

ROHNERT PARK Golf Club is hosting its first Tournament of Champions Invitational Sunday, with 53 invites out in the mail. Among those expected to compete is Marin County's Tournament of Champions winner, Orv Suttles of Marin Country Club.

The field covers the Marin and Sonoma areas and up to Sacramento. The first 18 holes will be held Sunday, starting at 11 a.m., with the final 18 the following Sunday, Aug. 24. It will be scratch play, medal.

JAMES E. CREIGHTON of Hamilton Air Force Base just missed out in qualifications for the Air Force-Wide Golf Tournament this week at Langley AFB, Va. With the top three winners of the qualifying tourney at Robbins AFB, Ga. making the field, Creighton was fourth.

A member of the Indian Valley Golf Club, Creighton scored a total of 326 for the 72 holes. Eldredge G. Shelton Jr. of Hamilton was also in the tourney but failed to make the top 10.

Growth Rates Are Subject To Change

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. What do you think of American Home Products and Bristol-Myers to enhance my capital until 1976? Share prices are now lower than my cost a year and a half ago. — G. B.

A. I think well of them both as consumer-oriented companies.

It could be, however, that Bristol-Myers is losing the zip which carried it to an historic peak of 83½ in 1968. Analysts are tending toward the opinion that BMY's former annual earnings growth rate of 18 per cent will not be restored and that 10 per cent is a reasonable expectation. Hold what you have, but averaging down is not advised. Put new funds into one of the column's newer growth selections.

While American Home Products could drop lower as it did in 1962 and 1966, your shares should be retained and more could be purchased on the current weakness. Here the annual earnings growth rate of 9 per cent seems likely to continue.

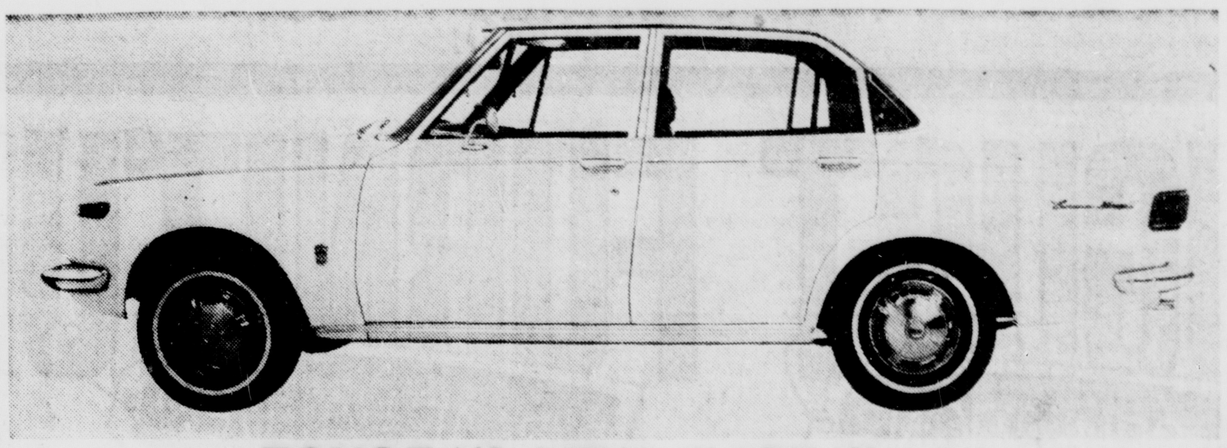
Q. My monthly brokerage statement lists Omnitec as well as Nytronics. My broker said it was a dividend from the latter company. What is your opinion of Nytronics? — F. H.

A. Your broker was correct; one share was distributed for each five held in the parent company. Nytronics, the subject of an unfavorable review in a national financial weekly, dropped sharply in ensuing market sessions to 70 per cent below its earlier high for 1969. Acquisitions have been frequent in the past several years resulting in substantial dilution of earnings. A nine-month report showed sales of $40 million and earnings of 77 cents a share on a fully diluted basis. Both figures included 95 per cent of Radio Engineering Products which was then 70 per cent owned. A tender offer for the remaining shares was expected to result in at least 95 per cent ownership. The currently depressed share price of Nytronics appears to have discounted the long-term potential of the company.

Off-Shore Oil Drilling Protected By Judge

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — An attempt to halt off-shore oil drilling in the Santa Barbara Channel, the scene of a disastrous oil leak last January, has been rejected by a federal judge.

The American Civil Liberties Union sought the injunction on the grounds that beach property owners suffered a decline in the value of their property because of damage caused by the leaking Union Oil Co. well.



TOYOTA'S NEW MARK II

This four-door sport sedan is one of three models of Toyota's new Mark II line to be introduced this month. Other models are a two-door hardtop coupe and a four-door station wagon. Featured is a 108-horsepower four-cylinder engine that delivers a maximum speed of 105 miles per hour and a cruising speed of 85 miles per hour. Standard is a four-speed synchromesh transmission, with an optional three-speed transmission available. Cars will be on display in Marin at Dexter Toyota, Larkspur, and Novato Chrysler-Plymouth-Toyota in Novato.

Slackened Inflation Boosts Activity On Stock Market

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks finishtd strong today. Trading was moderately active.

A major market prop was a statement by William McChesney Martin Jr., chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, that there is "less inflation momentum in the economy than there was three months ago." He made the comment at a meeting of security analysts in Atlanta, Ga., late yesterday.

Turnover exceeding 10 million shares was slightly ahead of yesterday's volume.

Among the most active issues were Texas Gulf Sulphur, Great Western Financial, Texaco, Roan Selection Trust, American Cyanamid and Natomas. Natomas gained more than 1 near the close.

A Texas Gulf Sulphur subsidiary reportedly will start work next year on developing a mineral deposit in Australia. TG has ytt to put a dollar value on the deposit.

Steels generally edged forward. The industry is expecting a "good" fourth quarter. U.S. Steel closed up 5-8 at 39 3-8, and Republic also was up 5-8, closing at 38 5-8.

Air Cargo Facility

NEW YORK (UPI) — Eastern airlines has announced plans to build a $2 million air cargo facility at Kennedy International Airport that will triple its air freight, air mail and air express capacity there.

THE WEEK IN BUSINESS

Profits Dragged By Decelerated Growth

Corporate profits in the second quarter of 1969 increased only 3 per cent over 1968, indicating that they were feeling the pinch of decelerating growth.

Non-manufacturing firms polled in a survey by First National City Bank of New York showed that many experienced an increase of only 1 per cent compared to the second quarter of 1968.

According to the survey, both the automobile and steel industries reported sizable declines in the second quarter. Without these two groups, the increase over a year earlier would have registered twice as large.

RESERVE OIL AND GAS CO. and Mission Development Ltd. of Calgary, Canada, have signed an agreement under which Reserve will acquire Mission's spread of 29 million gross acres or northern and eastern Canadian mineral prospecting permits and oil and gas leases. Reserve will purchase all of Mission's holdings for 335,000 shares of Reserve common stock plus warrants covering an additional 100,000 shares of Reserve common stock. Reserve reported net income of $966,000 on gross revenues of $8.3 million (11 cents per common share) for the six months ended June 30. Net income for the 1968 period was $934,000 — also 11 cents per share.

BLUE CHIP STAMPS shareholders will vote on a proposed five-for-one stock split next month. The proposal is to change authorized capital from 1,400,000 shares ot common stock, par value 33 and one-third cents per share, to 7,000,000 shares of common stock, par value one dollar per share.

CITY STORES CO., New York, has signed agreements to acquire the remaining 16 per cent minority interest of its W. and J. Sloane subsidiary in exchange for its common stock. A new Sloane store is now under construction at Northgate Fashion Mall in Marin County.

PETROLENE, INC., the nation's largest independent liquid petroleum gas distributor, has reported record sales and earnings for the 12 months ended June 30. Sales increased to $162 million from last year's $152 million. Net income was $7.9 or $3.06 per share, compared to $6.6 million or $2.47 per share a year ago.

METRONICS ASSOCIATES, INC. of Palo Alto, a firm specializing in the research and analysis of air pollution and the marketing of air pollution devices, has been acquired by Serendipity, Inc. of Sherman Oaks.

LING-TEMCO-VOUGHT, INC. of Dallas has reported second quarter net income of $6.2 compared to $10.6 for 1968's second quarter. Net income for the first quarter of this year was $2.6 million.

MCCULLOCH OIL CORP. has reported grows earnings and revenues for the first half of fiscal 1969. Net income for the six months ended June 30 climbed to $3.9 million from $2.8 million a year ago. Earnings per share were 68 cents compared to last year's 51 cents.

MONARCH ELECTRONICS INTERNATIONAL, INC., a diversified electronic manufacturer and distributor, has named Louis D. Gabelic as its new president and chief executive officer.

ITEK CORP. has reported net sales and revenues of $77.9 million for the first half of 1969, compared with $59.9 million a year ago. Net income was $1.9 million, compared to a loss of $686,000 last year.

Angry Atom Guard At Marin Base?

By LARRY D. HATFIELD

A hush-hush nuclear arsenal at Hamilton Air Force Base has been guarded in the last few months by at least two airmen who have been declared psychiatrically unstable by military doctors, it was revealed yesterday.

In one of the cases, an airman with a "passive aggressive personality" was kept on security duty even after an Army psychiatrist suggested he sould be medically discharged. The airman had asked to be put where he would not have to handle a gun, but his commanding officer thought he was "goldbricking."

These facts were brought out in a "Section 32 investigation" (the military version of a preliminary hearing in civilian courts) to determine if Sgt. Robert V. Ballou, 22, should be charged with assault on a superior officer with a deadly weapon.

The case raised doubts in the course of yesterday's proceedings about the base's nuclear safeguard system, the effectiveness of the Air Force's "human reliability program" and the judgment of the commander of the base's security police responsible for guarding the nuclear warheads.

Ballou, who had sworn he would do anything to get out of the Air Force, including using a gun, is accused of threatening S/Sgt. Arthur J. Moore with a loaded and cocked carbine, then a .38-caliber pistol during the predawn hours of Aug. 2.

The Corvallis, Ore., airman was kept on duty as a security policeman — occasionally serving as the senior man on the two-man guard at the nuclear munitions depot — despite an adverse psychiatric evaluation last spring which described him as a "hostile, resolute" young man with a "passive aggressive personality . . . a disturbance which is characterized by outbursts of anger, ill-covered explosive feelings, impulse activity, difficulties with authority figures and immaturity."

(The second airman — also a security policeman who guarded the nuclear weapons dump at various times — is currently under psychiatric care at the base hospital and his squadron commander described him yesterday as "mentally sick." He allegedly slugged his first sergeant last week after he had been removed from duty and recommended for treatment).

Maj. Donald H. Tidwell, 37, told the inquiry yesterday he had kept Ballou on duty because he was convinced he was goldbricking. He said that while the psychiatric report indicated the young airman was subject to fits of violent temper, it also said he knew right from wrong.

Tidwell, a 17-year Air Force veteran, also told investigating officer John D. McQuaid Jr. that the base security force's tight manpower problem was an "overriding" factor in his decision.

(Guidelines of the Air Force's human reliability program — which sets fitness standards for men serving in sensitive positions — do not include manpower considerations. Tidwell's 78th Security Police Squadron has 91 men, 64 fewer than its authorized strength).

Ballou's attorneys, Capt. Frederick Graham and Robert

Deep Secrecy Veils Marin's Bomb Arsenal

Hamilton Air Force Base's nuclear stockpile has existed for several years although military officials refuse to admit it's there, and few Marinites are aware of its existence.

The size, types and nuclear punch of the warheads are classified, information.

A spokesman for the base today gave the stock reply to a reporter's inquiries about the arsenal: "No comment."

The nuclear munitions storage area is located near the northwest end of the base, out of sight from any public road. It is fenced and patrolled round-the-clock.

When nuclear materials are brought into the base, sections of the base are sealed off and guarded by security policemen armed with machine-guns.

Although the exact designation of the nuclear hardware at the base is a tightly-guarded secret, the nature of Hamilton's primary mission — that of a first-line interceptor of enemy planes — would indicate the weapons are air-to-air missiles. The capability of the supersonic

THE GREAT NON-ESCAPE

Canada Blocking Poison Gas Cargo

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

One of two trains carrying canisters of World War I killer gas across the country ran into a legal block along a scheduled shortcut through Canada today.

The gas is being transported from Colorado. One train was headed for industrial purchasers in Louisiana and the other to Lockport, N.Y.

But at Windsor, Ont., the district collector of customs, Hartley Purvis, issued an order prohibiting the Lockport-bound train of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad from passing through southern Ontario.

The train carrying the gas was due to enter Canada at Windsor tonight, travel through St. Thomas and Welland and return to U.S. territory at Niagara Falls early tomorrow.

Purvis said: "I notified the railway officials and our officers shortly after I received a call from Robert Elley, in charge of our rail, air, marine customs division."

Purvis said the shipment is banned under the Customs Tariff Act.

The train first was moved from Chicago to yards in Hammond, Ind., then to Indiana Harbor Belt Railroad yards in East Chicago, Ind.

The cars of gas canisters then were rolled to the C&O tracks near the Inland Steel Co. complex in East Chicago and apparently were on the way. Hours later, at 11:30 a.m., EDT: they had moved only a quarter-mile from the steel mill area.

Homeowners Get A Break On Tax Bill

County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell said today that Marinites whose homes have not been reassessed will pay less county taxes this fiscal year, despite a 12.5-cent increase in the tax rate.

In a message to the board of supervisors, Mitchell said the saving is made possible by the $750 homeowners' exemption granted under Proposition 1A.

He said a tax rate of $2.395 per $100 of assessed valuation, up from $2.27 in 1968-69, will be required to finance the current county budget of $33.2 million, up $3.5 million.

Mithhell said the owner of a $30,000 home whose property has not been reassessed will pay $9.34 less in county taxes

Irish Battle Despite Arrival Of Soldiers

50 Injured In Belfast Outbreaks

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — More than 50 persons were injured today as gunfire and rock throwing broke out again between rival religious factions in Belfast.

At least two men were wounded by gunfire and were taken to Belfast's Royal Victoria Hospital, with others injured by flaming gasoline bombs and flying paving stones.

The rioting broke out along barricades erected by the residents of the mainly Roman Catholic Falls Road community.

TROOPS STAND BY

The new outbreak was restricted to rival gangs and police were not called immediately to the area. British troops moved by air and land to the Ulster capital and prepared to go into action if needed.

Residents of the Falls Road area toppled lamp posts and telegraph poles, set fire to trucks and appeared ready for a new night of violence.

Six hundred British troops were due to arrive at Aldergrover airport near Belfast tonight. Hundreds more moved to the city by land.

'FRIEND' ROLE

London said the troops were entering Belfast "as friends of all the people in that city in order to ensure that, if humanly possible, there will be no further loss of life."

Northern Ireland's six provinces, known as Ulster, are still part of Britain, though they have some autonomy in domestic affairs.

The troops came after a night of vicious fighting in which five persons were killed and 192 were wounded.

Prime Minister James Chichester - Clark appealed to Roman Catholics and Protestants alike in a tlevision broadcast.

STAY HOME PLEA

"For heaven's sake stay off the streets tonight," he said. "Stay in your homes and do not do anything that will exacerbate the situation."

He blamed the outlawed Irish Republican Army for last night's violence.

At the same time the Irish Republic announced it was calling up first-line reserves of its 13,000-man armed forces, and a spokesman in Dublin said the action was taken to have the troops "in readiness for a peace-keeping operation." He did not explain further.

The Roman Catholic south already has several hundred troops along Northern Ireland

MILLIONS MORE NEEDED

Marin Water Plan Costs Skyrocket

By JOANNE GRANT

Several more millions of dollars in additional costs for the skyrocketing Marin-Sonoma water project turned up yesterday with the release of the first of the project reports.

The extra millions — part of the construction cost of the Warm Springs Dam in Sonoma County — would not be included in any bond issue but would be paid in conjunction with the purchase of water over a 50-year period.

The costs were not mentioned when Marin Municipal Water District's general manager, William R. Seeger, outlined plans last month for a proposed $57.5 million worth of work, including $20 million for system improvements.

At that time, Seeger reported part of the money would probably have to be raised through a bond issue, possibly in November 1970, but guessed a 25 per cent rate increase would pay the district's share.

He had no comment today on how the extra costs — estimates ranging from $7.8 million to $9.3 million — would affect that.

The report released yesterday was prepared by the Sonoma County Flood Control and Water Conservation District and covered the Russian River projects including Warm Springs and the first phase of a transmission system which would bring the river water to Marin.

The Warm Springs Dam, on Dry Creek about eight miles north of Healdsburg, is the key to Marin Municipal Water District's plans for future supplies.

The dam, to be built by the Army Corps of Engineers, is currently estimated at $74 million, up from 1963 estimates of $42.5 million.

It has been authorized, but the only work done so far is a raod relocation. No other funds have been allocated but the project is scheduled for completion in 1978.

Of the $74 million, $22.8 million is for water supply aspects of the project and must be paid by local agencies. The rest is for flood control and will be paid by the federal government.

The $22.8 million would be divided among participating districts, the one in Sonoma and the two in Marin, based on need. Costs were not broken down in the report.

Last winter, local water district officials estimated the MMWD share would be about $7.8 million. Figures in the So-

City Budget Bypasses Courthouse Purchase

San Rafael City Council, in approving a capital improvements budget last night, made no provision for purchase of the courthouse square in downtown San Rafael. (See other San Rafael City Council story page 23.)

Mayor C. Paul Bettini said if the city were to purchase the square, down payment would have to come from the undistributed reserve. Finance Officer James H. McCown, who is acting city manager, estimated this at "over $300,000."

Marin County supervisors, in a meeting with the council in June, indicated willingness to sell the courthouse square to the city. There was some sparring over the value of the property, appraised for the county at $750,000 with buildings removed.

Supervisors indicated at that meeting they might be willing to sell the square to the city for a 50 per cent down payment, with the remainder spread over a couple of years.

Ever since construction started on the Civic Center and the move of county offices from downtown San Rafael became assured, there has been intermittent discussion of acquisition of the square by the city. City councilmen have said the city should own the property so it can control its development.

This spring, a two-year-old city proposal to exchange corporation yard property on Francisco Boulevard for the courthouse square was taken up by the supervisors, and chairman John F. McInnis wrote Mayor Bettini a letter expressing interest in the swap. However, the letter was never read or discussed at a council meeting. Instead, the city sold approximately half of the corporation yard property on a time payment plan.

Western Airlines Dispute Settled

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A strike by its mechanics ended, Western Airlines plans to resume service with 27 flights tomorrow and work up to normal operation a week later with 230 flights a day in 15 western states and parts of Canada and Mexico.

Nearly 2,000 mechanics and other ground crew personnel, who struck July 29, accepted a three-year contract Thursday that raises top wages from $4.21 an hour to $5.60 and includes a fully paid medical program.

Tass Reports Moon Probe Back Home

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviets announced today the successful return of a moonlooping spacecraft from a mission western experts said may be a prelude to Russia's first attempt to send men to the moon.

The six-ton Zond 7, packed with equipment for supporting man's life in space, used retrorockets to soften its touchdown in the Soviet Republic of Kazakhstan yesterday, according to a Tass report.

Ross Budget Tentatively $235,269 With Tax Hike

Ross town councilmen last night adopted a preliminary 1969-70 budget of $235,269 subject to possible change at an adjourned meeting at 8 p.m. Thursday when they will set the tax rate.

The budget is an $804 drop from last year's $236,073. The tax rate, now $1.67 per $100 assessed valuation, is expected to be hiked 5 cents to $1.72. (Other Ross Town Council stories, page 8.)

W. James Dawson, finance committee chairman, informed the council that the town's assessed valuation has dropped but that the town is not expected to have to borrow money this year. It borrowed $30,000 last year, he said.

Dawson recommended no cost-of-living increase for town employees, saying this would cost the town $4,500 or 5 cents more on the tax rate. Step increases were approved, however, with Fire Chief Charles Pinza being raised from $862 to $905 a month; Assistant Fire Chief Thomas Casson from $745 to $782 and Lee Hindenberg, patrolman, from $676 to $710.

"If we can't grant cost-of-living increases now, we might be duty bound to do it in January," commented Mayor Frederick S. Allen.

Dawson said the new budget lists $235,269 as total expenditures and $245,608 as anticipated revenue.

Also approved in the budget is a new police car, estimated at $1,344, with bids to be called for it at the council's next regular meeting, Sept. 11.

A fifth policeman was hired last night. Robert K. Craft Jr. will begin work Monday at a salary of $584 to be increased to $613 following a six months probation period.

The council agreed to allow Pinza to drop out of the County of Marin's radio service. Pinza said he could get the service, now costing $500 a year, for $300 from a private company.

EXPERIMENTAL COLLEGE

Hippie Gives New Look At Revolution

An informal introduction to Marxism — in theory and practice — and some views on education for the junior college board of trustees were woven together last night in the Experimental College course on revolution.

The course, which has outraged some Marinites, is part of the noncredit, free college run by and for students. Its sole connection with College of Marin is its use of the campus.

Meeting in a tiny classroom on the east side of the campus, the dozen students learned how recent defeat of a Wild West Festival in San Francisco came about, an explanation mingled with hippie philosophy and later described as an excellent example of Marxist analysis.

"My name is John and I'm from the Haight community," said the serious looking long-haired speaker.

John spoke of oppression of minorities, including the hip community, and commented that many think "young people drop in and drop out (of the

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Rescue Boat Sinks

NEW DELHI (UPI) — Indian news agencies today reported 150 persons were missing and feared drowned after a rescue boat sank yesterday near Monghrys City in Bihar State, some 250 miles northeast of Calcutta.

According to the reports, the passengers were being ferried to higher ground from their flooded village when the rescue boat sunk. An intensive search of the area failed to find any survivors, the agencies said.

Blaiberg Faltering

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP)—The transplanted heart of Philip Blaiberg, who was readmitted to Groote Schuur Hospital yesterday when his condition deteriorated, is working at only a third of its proper pressure, and doctors also have found that the kidneys of the world's longest heart transplant survivor are not functioning properly.

Blaiberg, 60, has had his new heart for 591 days.

Hurricane Camille

The National Hurricane Center at Miami said Cuba, west of Pinar del Rio, "should prepare for hurricane force winds and high tides of five to 10 feet on both the north and south coasts."

Campus Police Call

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Should violence erupt again this fall at San Francisco State College, Mayor Joseph Alioto says the decision to call in police will rest entirely with himself and Police Chief Thomas Cahill, not with school officials.

College President S. I. Hayakawa of Mill Valley, undoubtedly would be consulted, the mayor said, but "in the final analysis, when or whether police come on the campus will be up to Chief Cahill and the mayor's office."

"There is no way of segregating violence on the campus from violence in the community," Alioto told a press luncheon yesterday.

Radiation Denied

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission says it was in error when it reported that small doses of radiation had leaked into the atmosphere from an underground nuclear explosion.

The explosion yesterday was the 14th announced this year at the Nevada test site and had a force of less than 20,000 tons of TNT.

A spokesman said first readings indicated radioactivity of minor consequence had seeped out of the insulation of a detonation cable. Subsequently, he said, it developed the readings resulted from a cable running along the ground and not in the air above the test site.

Bus Toll May Climb

STANHOPE, England (UPI) — Authorities feared today the death toll may climb even higher in a bus accident that has claimed 13 lives.

The 13 were killed and 28 injured yesterday when a bus carrying 41 passengers plunged over an embankment near this village in northeast England. Many of the injured remained in critical condition today.

Seattle Battles

SEATTLE (UPI) — A second round of violence within 24 hours broke out in Seattle's University District yesterday as an estimated 2,000 demonstrators carried out hit-run tactics. Police said the demonstrators used the University of Washington campus as a staging ground for sporadic raids on stores in the business district.

At least 21 persons were arrested.

A similar demonstration, with about 750 persons taking part, had broken out late Wednesday night in what Police Chief Frank Ramon called "violence for violence's sake."

Fish Talks Failing

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — Delegates to a four-nation conference on fishing rights off South America's western coast have reported the talks were on the verge of collapse.

The four delegates, Chile, Ecuador, Peru and the United States, yesterday resolved to continue the conference one more day even though there has been no agreement on any of the issues.

The United States sought the talks for two years in hopes of resolving the problem of continued seizure of American fishing boats off the coasts of Ecuador and Peru.

Plane Search Off

Aboard the plane were eight Navy and Air Force officers from missions in Chile and their wives taking advantage of a regular maintenance flight for a vacation in Buenos Aires. It disappeared Aug. 4 in a snowstorm in the Andes.

Twenty-two children orphaned by the crash will be sent to relatives or friends in the United States.

Alaskan Forest Fire

SOLDOTNA, Alaska (AP) — Hundreds of firefighters battled with everything from shovels to water-dropping helicopters yesterday to hold the Swanson River forest fire behind newly-drawn fire lines, and some 600 evacuees began returning to their homes.

The wind which caused firefighters grief Wednesday shifted from northerly to southwesterly yesterday, forcing the fire back into scorched areas and relieving the pressure on the towns of Soldotna and nearby Kenai — both on the Kenai Peninsula. Wind velocity was down to 10 knots from 35 knots.

Mansfield On Tour

He is scheduled to meet with Philippine President Ferdinand E. Marcos P. Romulo during his two-day visit.

From Manila, Mansfield is expected to go to Indonesia and then to Burma, Cambodia and Laos. He will stay two to three days in each conntry.

Peace Talk Chief Leaves For Home

PARIS (UPI)—Chief American negotiator Henry Cabot Lodge left for consultations in Washington today after the 30th session of the Vietnam peace conference showed the search for peace is still stalemated.

Lodge, who was last home in June when he accompanied President Richard M. Nixon to his Midway summit meeting with South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu, made on statement before he left.

U.S. official said Lodge was returning to Washington for consultations. It was not known whether the trip was at the request of the administration or on Lodge's own initiative.

U.S. officials also refused to speculate on whether Lodge would also fly on to San Clemente for a meeting with the President at the summer White House.

One official source said he understood Lodge planned to leave the aircraft at Boston.

Lodge is expected to be away for 10 days. This indicated his place at the 31st session of the peace talks next Thursday would be taken by his deputy, Philip Habib.

Seven More Join Team In Houston

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Seven astronauts from a supersecret Air Force space program canceled June 10 have joined a long line of rookie astronauts waiting for their first ride into space.

The new additions yesterday raise the number of National Aeronautics and Space Administration astronauts to 54. Of the others, 32 have been waiting up to three years for a first ride into space.

Four of the new spacemen are Air Force majors, two are Navy lieutenant commanders and one is a Marine major. All are graduates of the Air Force Aerospace Research Pilot's School.

The Air Force majors are Karol J. Bobko, 32, of Seaford, N.Y.; Charles G. Fullerton, 31, Portland, Ore.; Henry W. Hartsfield, 35, Birmingham, Ala. and Donald H. Peterson, 35, Winona, Miss.

The Navy lieutenant commanders are Richard H. Truly, 32, Meridian, Miss., and Robert L. Crippen, 32, Porter, Tex. The Marine is Maj. Robert F. Overmyer, 33, Westlake, Ohio.

All were members of the astronaut corps in the Air Force's now-canceled Manned Orbiting Laboratory (MOL) program, a military effort built around plans to establish space station orbiting earth.

Apollo 11 Team Gets A Breather

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI)—Home from a flying tour of parades and honors that carried them coast-to-coast in a single day and left them "weak in the knees," Apollo 11's moon landing heroes rested today in the seclusion of their own homes.

Neil A. Armstrong, Michael Collins and Edwin E. (Buzz) Aldrin were back in the setting they love most—with their wives and children, away from the public spotlight.

The reception they received across America left them moved.

Ahead of them tomorrow is another tickertape parade, this one in their — present — home city of Houston, and a gala celebration in the Houston Astrodome with an all-star cast led by Frank Sinatra.

The party at the Astrodome, hosted by the City of Houston, was planned to honor the entire government - industry Apollo team.

However, it already was embroiled in a bitter competition for tickets that were too few to go around to all members of the team and their families.

Nothing was planned today for Armstrong, Aldrin and Collins.

FIREBOMB FOR RIOT POLICE

Jetliner Hijacker Claims He Wanted To See Mother

MIAMI (AP) — Claiming he longed to see his mother, a red-eyed gunman with a knife-wielding companion hijacked a Northeast Airlines jet yesterday, maintaining 1969's record rate of more than one forced flight to Cuba per week.

Crew and passengers on the Boston-to-Miami flight said the two men barged into the cockpit just south of Wilmington, N.C.

"Cuba! Cuba!," the pilot said the hijackers shouted, waving a pistol and knife.

The plane carried 44 passengers and a crew of eight.

Forced to keep radio silence, the pilot tripped a secret signal near Jacksonville, Fla., alerting federal aviation authorities that the flight had been diverted.

Capt. Gray B. Newman said the hijackers were nervous and excited as they moved around the cockpit, but "they seemed to have this planned out."

In Cuba the man with the gun walked toward the rear of the plane as soldiers gathered outside, and spoke to stewardess Karen Acuff.

"He said he was a spy," the pretty blonde said. "He was going home to see his mother."

Miss Acuff said, "His eyes were very, very red like he had been drinking. They looked like a road map."

Mrs. Sumner Rosoff of Roban, Mass., said the man looked as though "he was on drugs or something ... The other one was nice looking."

The flight was the 39th commercial jet hijacked to Cuba this year, giving about 2,075 persons unscheduled trips.

In 1968, 20 commercial planes and four small charter craft were pirated.

Dog Lives After Gate Bridge Leap

The dog, Rip, owned by Tom Bonogofsky of Billings, Mont., was treated for spinal injuries and paralysis of the rear legs at a San Francisco pet hospital following the accident.

Rip took his flying leap off the bridge while he and Bonogofsky were running along the sidewalk in the late afternoon near the north end of the bridge.

During the walk, Rip had been leaping up to lick his master's face, racing ahead and running back to Bonogofsky. Suddenly he jumped up on the five-foot guard rail and plunged over the edge.

The 80-pound dog fell 70 feet to the balcony of the bridge's north anchorage, which saved him from sure death on rocks some 150 feet further down.

While Rip lay, not moving, on the ledge, Bonogofsky ran back to the toll plaza to seek help. Then he, Lieutenant Edward Ashoff and two other bridge employees climbed down a ladder inside the anchorage to the injured dog.

The dog was brought back up to the roadway on a stretcher and taken to the pet hospital where doctors said they believed the paralysis would be only temporary.

Only one other dog is known to have leaped off the bridge, according to California Highway Patrol officer. A San Francisco police dog was killed when it jumped over the guardrail near the south anchorage and landed on the ground near Fort Point.

Developers Remove Knoll Atop Quail Hill

It was gone when developers of the multi-million dollar project appeared before the San Rafael Planning Commission Tuesday night for a change in the master plan for the project.

However, it was removed with the city's permission, according to Charles J. Linthicum, senior planner.

Linthicum explained the developers came in last month and reported a horizontal slide condition in the knoll. The condition, missed in earlier soils tests, was revealed when graders went in to cut roads.

LANDSLIDE DEBRIS

Linthicum said the soils engineer who is on the site at all times discovered the slide condition. "We have observed a widespread zone of sheared rock and landslide debris having an adverse effect on the overall stability," the engineer wrote the city.

Developers, Commerce Clearing House Inc., hired a University of California geologist as a consultant and he confirmed the findings, Linthicum said.

The firm's grading plan is general, he said, and in an emergency developers may request permission to change.

Additional cuts into the hill for roads and townhouses would have further changed support of the knoll and could have created a landslide, Linthicum said.

The developers appeared Tuesday night to get permission for final grading and for a change in the plan to permit 19 townhouses on the area made level and stable by removing the knoll. "It's the best place to put them," said Linthicum.

He said that from the ground looking up, the top of the hill won't look much different than under the original plan which called for leaving the knoll untouched.

LANDSCAPING

It looks dense on the map of the area but it won't from the bottom of the hill, he said, pointing out the developers are spending thousands and thousands of dollars on landscaping.

He said the development is unusual because the owners are putting in all necessities but are not planning to develop the residential areas of the project. Instead, they are using all controls possible from the city and will add further restrictions of their own, he said.

If the 82-acre area had been developed in pieces as is customary, inconveniences caused by construction would have gone on for years and years he said.

The plan also includes the firm's western regional headquarters, a conference center, office buildings and a small commercial area.

The firm's request to move townhouses to the top of the level area still must be approved by the city council.

Court-Martial Verdict Upheld

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Court of Military Appeals upheld today the conviction of Air Force Capt. Dale E. Noyd for refusing to train pilots for duty in Vietnam.

The court rejected Noyd's argument that he was entitled to separation from the service because of conscientious objections to the Vietnam conflict alone and not to all wars.

Noyd, a psychologist with a doctorate from the University of Michigan, was convicted by a general court-martial of willful disobedience of an order to fly as an instructor in an F100 aircraft, the type fighter plane used by the Air Force in Vietnam.

He was sentenced to dismissal from the service, forfeiture of all pay and allowances and confinement at hard labor for one year.

Evans Held 'Primary' Crash Cause

SUBIC BAY NAVAL BASE, The Philippines (UPI)—The U.S. Navy said today the U.S. destroyer Frank E. Evans bears "primary responsibility" for colliding with the Australian carrier Melbourne last June 3 and for the loss of 74 men in the South China Sea.

The U.S. Navy statement followed a surprise announcement in the Australian capital of Canberra that the commanding officer of the Melbourne, Capt. John P. Stevenson, will be court-martialed as result of the collision. Stevenson had laid full blame on the Evans.

The U.S. Navy statement said the Melbourne also has "a share of responsibility for the collision." The statement came in a report on the joint U.S.-Australian board that investigated for six weeks the extent, nature and causes of the accident during a naval exercise.

The board in its report also noted the Evans' skipper, Cmdr. Albert McLemore was not notified by his two senior officers in command at the time that the destroyer was to go behind the Melbourne and watch planes in distress, a change in station that led to the collision.

McLemore, 40, of Vallejo, and his two subordinate officers —Lt. (J.G.) Ronald C. Ramsey, 24, Long Beach, and Lt. James A. Hopson, 28, Kansas City, Kan., are also awaiting at Subic the recommendations of an investigating officer who conducted a second inquiry into the collision.

Today's announcement also said names of individuals found by the six-man U.S.-Australian board to have failed to take proper action are being withheld to avoid prejudicing their rights in any possible future official proceedings.

Trial Ordered In Co-Ed's Death

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — A young college student has been ordered to trial on a first-degree murder charge in the strangulation death of a pretty Eastern Michigan University freshman.

The victim, 18-year-old Karen Sue Beineman, was the latest of seven young women killed in a series of sex slayings in the Ann Arbor-Ypsilanti area in the past two years.

The defendnt, John Nrman Collins, 22, is accused of murdering Miss Beineman last month and dumping her nude and battered body alongside a secluded road on the outskirts of Ann Arbor.

No charges have been filed in connection with the other six slayings.

Burglars Take $1,000 In Guns, Ammunition

Guns and ammuntion valued at $1,000 have been stolen from the residence of Michael McDevitt, 22 Pigeon Hollow Road, Country Club, sheriff's deputies reported today.

Deputies said the burglary took place some time between Aug. 6 and Tuesday. Taken were three shotguns, five rifles, a carbine, a pistol, three boxes of rifled ammunition and a box of shotgun shells.

Hot Snowball Fight At Georgia University

ATHENS, Ga. (AP) — The residents of Russell Hall, a men's dormitory at the University of Georgia, pooled their ideas and cash to come up with something different to do.

Yesterday, when the temperature was 80, they bought 3,000 pounds of ice.

The result: the school's first August snowball fight. It lasted 30 minutes.

Police Support Group Lashes Rights Panel

The chairman of the Larkspur Support Your Local Police Committee today criticized recent actions of the Marin County Human Rights Commission and specifically the commission's police-community relations committee.

R. C. Kesner of 113 Sycamore Avenue charged that the commission through its committee "is attempting to establish control over the local police forces of the county using any means possible."

"It is trying to set itself up as a civilian police review board with power to hold hearings on complaints and grievances and to discipline those police officers it finds guilty of misconduct," Kesner said.

Overlooked is the fact that there is already machinery available, administrative and judicial, to deal with any instances of abusive or illegal police activity, Kesner claimed.

Kesner said his committee has requested that the Mayor of Fairfax allow a committee spokesman to attend the scheduled Fairfax City Council's closed meeting Aug. 25 at which the human rights commission "will parade its evidence of police brutality against Chief Orr."

Kesner said, "We will gladly point out for the councilmens' consideration some of the recent activities of this long-faced hee haw of the police-community relations committee, their purpose, and the effects they will have on law enforcement if allowed to go unabated."

TAX

this fiscal year based on an assessed valuation, after the $750 exemption, of $6,150. Assessed valuation is 22 per cent of fair market value.

Taxes paid last year by the owner of the $30,000 home were $156.63, but will drop this year to $147.28, Mitchell said.

Without the $750 exemption, the homeowner would have paid $165.25 in county taxes this fiscal year, Mitchell said.

Mitchell told the board that total assessed valuation in Marin, after homeowner and business inventory exemptions, was $585.3 million. This is only a 4 per cent increase from 1968-69, the lowest rise in 25 years, Mitchell said.

Tax rates for library and fire protection services were placed at 20 cents, up 3.5 cents, and 31 cents, up 11 cents, respectively.

The board is scheduled to adopt the new tax rates at its Tuesday meeting.

Cutback Ordered In Pesticide Use

WASHINGTON (AP) — Substantial cutbacks in use of DDT, dieldrin and heptachlor pesticides in federal-state insect control programs were announced today by the Agriculture Department.

The department had suspended pest control programs on July 9 for 30 days to permit study of contamination by the pesticides. The suspension was continued until Sept. 14 for federal pest control at military and civilian airports.

Undersecretary J. Phil Campbell said that in the cooperative federal-state programs DDT, dieldrin and heptachlor would be at least partially replaced by other less persistent chemicals, including chlordane.

Private use of pesticides was not affected by either the July suspension or the new cutback.

Kitchen Overworked During State Dinner

The staff was preparing the 1,400 plate banquet in kitchen No. 1 of the hotel when a fire sprinkler system went off. A chef said the sprinklers malfunctioned when the kitchen heated up during preparations for the huge meal.

Viet Step-Up Jeopardizes GI Pull-Out

SAN CLEMENTE (UPI) — Intensified enemy offensives in Vietnam may adversely affect plans for additional U.S. troop withdrawals, the White House said yesterday.

UPI reported last week President Richard M. Nixon would soon announce the withdrawal of 125,000 U.S. troops—100,000 more than he originally disclosed in June—bringing the number of men in Vietnam down to about 400,000.

(Through a typographical error, a story in yesterday's Independent-Journal said President Nixon has ordered the Pentagon to work toward reducing U.S. forces in Vietnam to 40,000 by Christmas. The figure should have read 400,000).

Nifon spent three hours in conference with the National Security Council at his villa by the sea here, and afterwards Press Secretary Ronald Ziegler told newsmen Nixon and his top advisers were keeping a close eye on the increased action.

Nixon was to put together a foursome with Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, Defense Secretary Melvin P. Laird and Secretary of State William P. Rogers, with Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, the cabinet's best golfer, a possible substitute if one of the others were not available.

The President was due to announce Monday his choice of a successor to Associate Supreme Court Justice Abe Fortas. The best guess on Nixon's selection was Chief Judge Clement F. Haynsworth of the Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals.

Irish To Boycott British Goods

BOSTON (AP) — A group of Boston Irish says it will organize a nationwide boycott of British products unless British troops withdraw from Northern Ireland.

The group, organized as the Committee for Justice in Northern Ireland, picketed outside the British consulate yesterday and announced another demonstration today at the downtown office of British Overseas Airways Corp.

Dr. Donald McCaughan, who identified himself as president of the group, said, "The British aren't a peace-keeping force, they are only there to protect British interests."

McCaughan said his group has 1,000 members.

noma report, however, indicate the district's share could reach $9.35 million.

In addition, the Sonoma report also recommends each district pay for its share of the costs of operation and maintenance and miscellaneous costs on the basis of use. No figures were given.

The report also covered water quality and recommended a natural filtration system, provided the geology of the river basin is suitable.

If it is not, the report said, a large treatment plant would be necessary at a cost of several million more dollars. Again, no figures were given.

Last month Seeger expressed doubts about using the natural filtration system because it hasn't been working so well in some areas.

The section of the report covering the first phase of the transmission system did not differ from Seeger's outline last month.

However, it noted that if construction costs continue to rise the way they have been it could add as much as $5.1 million to the $33 million first phase. Marin Municipal's share of the $33 million was estimated at $14 million by Seeger.

The report stressed that the method of financing is the No. 1 priority for the whole project and outlined three methods.

One would be for each district to go for a bond issue separately; the second, a joint bond issue by the three districts; and the third, a master agency encompassing all three districts "possibly enlarging the Sonoma district to encompass the entire Russian River water plan service area."

Other recommendations of the report included retaining a firm of financial consultants; formulating design standards so the first phase can begin as soon as possible; providing immediate financing for advance design, studies, and each district finish reports for local facilities as soon as possible.

Memphis Couple's Murder Likened To Tate Slayings

Officers declined to speculate, however, on whether the slayings were connected with those in Hollywood, on which no new leads have develoed.

Police said the victims were Roy Kenneth Dumas, 58, and his wife, Vernalyn Kelly Dumas, 46. Memphis police and Fire Director Frank Holloman said Mrs. Dumas appeared to have been raped.

Holloman said the bodies were discovered in spearate bedrooms in the couple's three-

'Malicious Intent' Cited In Bus Accident

BEAVER FALLS, Pa. (AP) — A coroner's jury says an accident on the Pennsylvania Turnpike that killed 6 persons and orphaned 10 children was caused by the "malicious intent" of a 21-year-old driver who was "pulling a stunt."

The jury returned the verdict against Robert Burris of Struthers, Ohio. Police said Burris was driving his auto east in the westbound lanes of the highway when the crash occurred Aug. 4 near the Beaver Falls interchange.

Apollo Triumph Is Jolt To Soviets

MOSCOW (Toronto News Service) — The triumph of Apollo 11 is very likely to lead to profound social and political changes in the USSR.

The questions today being asked on every level of Soviet society are: What happened to our space program? Why have we failed? What went wrong?

A question which is not spoken in public, but which everyone is thinking: Who is responsible?

In a sense, there is a similarity to the situation in the United States in 1958-60 when Americans were upset that the Russians were so far ahead in the space race. There was a crisis of confidence which John F. Kennedy exploited in his drive to national power.

JFK attacked the Eisenhower-Nixon Administration for failing to keep up with the Russians. He went to the American masses with the claim that only he and the Democrats could "get America moving again."

There are no Kennedy-types visible in the USSR, and it is improbable that Soviet ruling circles would tolerate one. There are also no real appeals to the masses which can bear fruit in a national election. But there are people who want a change. More important, there are individuals who want to rise on the political ladder. The abysmal Soviet performance in space since 1967, which has been underlined by the Apollo triumph, can only give force to the winds of change.

First, since the first Sputnik in 1957, the Soviet State has claimed that Soviet space triumphs demonstrated the superiority of the Soviet system over the free world. These claims even appeared this year when the Soviet Space Program had run out of steam.

In making this claim, the Soviet ruling class climbed out on a limb, where it now embarrassingly hangs before the gaze of the Soviet masses. International prestige means little in a closed society where foreign radio broadcasts can be jammed and books banned. But internal prestige is vitally important if dark horse contenders for power are to be kept in their place.

Second, space triumphs have been used here to cover up deficiencies in Soviet society. Soviet citizens could take pride that although there is a shortage of practically all amenities here, the country was first in space. Russians took consolation in this as a harbinger of a brighter future. Space replaced religion as the opium of the Soviet masses.

Today the opium has lost its consoling effect.

Third, the failure to keep up in the space race indicates the conservative policies of the present leadership which has not been able to carry through effective reforms of the Soviet social and economic system.

The key factor in the Soviet defeat was the failure of the Soviet economy to produce, as Khrushchev had predicted — to catch up with the Americans by 1970.

This failure naturally strengthens the hand of would-be reformers, although the arch-conservatives still hold overwhelming power here.

The Apollo triumph has made painfully clear that a thorough overhaul of the economy and the educational system is in order.

Key elements in any changes here are bound to be in the military establishment and Russian nationalism.

The military still gets the cream and the bulk of what this society produces. However, even the generals must be a bit upset that the social and economic system has not been able to keep up with the Americans in the vital area of space.

Russian nationalism, the most powerful force in the Soviet State, has been given a severe blow by the American triumph. This nationalism feasted heavily on previous Soviet space victories, and now the space pickings are pitifully lean. The nationalist beast is likely to get a bit unruly about those responsible for the debacle. The many minorities in the USSR (who actually total a slim majority together) are not likely to regard their Russian "big brothers" with the awe that was formerly accorded the Russians when they were making space history.

The debacle has been unnecessarily compounded by the ignominious and ungentlemanly act which was the launching of Luna 15. Many observers here feel that Luna 15 was the result of political recklessness — a desperate attempt to win back some of the lost space glory for purely domestic reasons.

Besides posing a possible threat to the safety of the Apollo crew, the actual performance of Luna 15 is a great national humiliation. It did not perform as many expected it — to scoop up a portion of the moon soil and return it to earth.

Very little publicity was released concerning Luna 15 which is the case of most shrouded space probes. But it is known that the rocket was scheduled to orbit the moon until Saturday, but that it was still in orbit the Monday before it crashed.

Significantly, the Soviet press did not refer to Luna 15 as having "successfully" completed its mission. The press reports merely said that the mission was completed — making it highly unusual.

Snowfall After Crow Rain Dance

SHERIDAN, Wyo. (AP) — Sheridan Jaycees were threatening to call off the snowmobile race scheduled in the Big Horn mountains west of Sheridan. High winds had blown most of the snow off the course.

But the Crow Indian tribe tried a rain dance for five hours.

Six inches of snow fell quickly — in fact there was so much snow that the snowmobile race was threatened by too much snow.

Pay Calls Limited

TOKYO (UPI)—Calls from pay telephones will be limited to three minutes in Japan starting Oct. 1. The Diet (parliament) approved a bill placing the limit on the nation's 350,000 public telephones. At the end of three minutes, a chime will sound and the circuit will disconnect automatically. Of course, the caller can dial again for 10 yen (2.7 cents).

OBITUARIES

ISAAC WEITZMAN

Funeral was held today for Isaac Weitzman, 82, formerly of Penngrove, who died Wednesday in Berkeley. Burial was at Israel Cemetery, Petaluma.

A native of Poland, he moved to San Francisco in 1941 and to Penngrove in 1944. For many years Weitzman operated a poultry ranch on Dutch Lane, retiring in 1965. He had been a member of the Jewish Cultural Club of Petaluma.

EDITH BISS

western border to support and supply field hospitals set up to receive wounded fleeing from Northern Ireland.

In Dublin itself, a crowd of several hundred people screamed as the Union Jack was ripped from the first-floor flagpole of the British Embassy. About 70 Dublin police guarding the embassy watched impassively as the crowd pounced on the flag and ripped it apart in a tug-of-war.

Initial fighting between the police and Protestants on one side and Roman Catholics on the other ebbed as morning came.

The Royal Air Force flew 600 British infantrymen from England to fill the gaps left by British troops called to action in Londonderry yesterday for the first time since World War I. Londonderry was calm but uneasy today.

Another 600 men of the Royal Green Jackets were being recalled from leave and put on standby "because of the seriousness of the situation" in Ulster, the British Defense Ministry announced.

Transfer For Santa Rita Man

OAKLAND (UPI)—Sheriff Lt. Howard Davis, whose suspension was overruled by the Alameda County Civil Service Commission, has been transferred from the Santa Rita Prison Farm.

Upon the urging of Davis, a 17-year-veteran of the department, Sheriff Frank I. Madigan yesterday reassigned him to relief officer in charge of Eden Township substation. Davis will relieve regular commanders on their days off.

Prices Of Dodge Pickups Hiked

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. announced today a tentative price increase for its 1970 model Dodge trucks, which it said averaged $67 or about 2 per cent more than for comparable 1969s.

Ford Motor Co. announced Monday an average tentative increase of $64 for its 1969 line of trucks, which it also said was a 2 per cent boost on the average.

Chrysler's new prices were disclosed in suggested retail price list sent Dodge dealers over the country. Increases range from $44 to $138.

New Viet Push Costly To Enemy

SAIGON (AP) — Allied forces have killed more than 1,000 enemy soldiers in the Cambodian border region north of Saigon since the upsurge of combat four days ago, a U.S. Army spokesman said today.

Despite the heavy losses, the enemy is sticking in the area, currently the most critical in South Vietnam, although attacks generally have changed from large assaults to harassing probes against allied positions.

Sixty-five enemy soldiers were killed today in the frontier region, which ranges from 55 miles northwest to 80 miles northeast of Saigon, the spokesman said. This raised the total of enemy reported killed there in the past four days to 1,034.

About 30 Americans have been killed in the same period and more than 150 wounded, the spokesman added. South Vietnamese army losses were reported light.

U.S. military spokesmen said they expected the enemy to continue the present level of 20 to 40 shellings nightly with small ground probes, then hit another high point before Sept. 2.

That date is considered significant because it will be the 24th anniversary of North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh's proclamation of Vietnamese independence.

The Communist command hit one high point of activity Monday night and Tuesday with rocket, mortar and ground attacks on more than 150 Allied bases and South Vietnamese cities.

American analysts say such a high level of action cannot be sustained without the enemy suffering losses heavier than he seems willing to take now.

For example, there were 41 rocket and mortar attacks in the past 24 hours and eight ground fights.

Nationwide, more than 1,700 enemy soldiers are believed to have died since the Communist command opened its fall campaign Monday night and Tuesday.

The over-all casualty figures for the allies will not be released until next week but it is estimated that at least 150 Americans and an equal number of government troops have been killed.

For the past three days ground action has been mostly small scattered fights, with the exception of some relatively large battles along the Cambodian frontier.

About 5,000 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong soldiers are operating in the jungles and among the rubber trees and bamboo of the border provinces of Binh Long and Phuoc Long, facing 8,000 allied troops.

In the stiffest fight today, 12 North Vietnamese were killed in an attack on an American patrol base called Landing Zone Jamie, about 65 miles north of Saigon. U.S. casualties were two killed and nine wounded.

The attack began just before daylight with a rocket and mortar barrage followed up by a small ground assault. The enemy were cut down by riflemen supported by helicopter gunships before they could reach the camp's wire perimeter, spokesmen said.

Otherwise, scattered action was reported throughout the border region and the rest of the country.

100,000 Hurt By Bus Strike

EDMONTON, Alta. (AP) — About 100,000 persons who rely on the city transit system were forced to drive, hitch-hike or find other means of getting to work today after 625 city transit workers went on strike at 5 a.m.

City and union officials, after failing in talks, engaged in verbal sparring. Both sides claim they are prepared for a four-month strike.

City hall offered 19.68 per cent wage increases over 28 months, but the offer became void when the strike began. The union had agreed to the increase but wanted a 24-month contract.

Virginia Woolf Husband Dies

Woolf, who held strong leftwing views, edited "International Review" in 1919, was literary editor of "The Nation" from 1923 to 1930 and joint editor of "Political Quarterly" from 1931 to 1959. Most of his books dealt with history, politics and international relations.

Hearing On Exhuming Of Body Granted

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP) — A judge today granted a hearing on a request by Dist. Atty. Edmund Dinis to exhume the body of Mary Jo Kopechne, who was killed in an auto accident involving Sen. Edward M. Kennedy.

Judge Bernard C. Brominski of Luzerne County Common Pleas Court set the hearing for 10 a.m., Aug. 25, at which time Dinis will present evidence to support his request for an autopsy.

Dinis, of New Bedford, Mass., district attorney for that state's southern district, said he would go ahead with a scheduled Sept. 3 inquest into Miss Kopechne's death, regardless of the court's decision here.

The 28-year-old secretary drowned July 18 when a car driven by Kennedy plunged off a bridge on Chappaquiddick Island off the Massachusetts coast.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kopechne of Berkeley Heights, N. J., her parents, object to exhuming her body from a cemetery in nearby Larksville.

Novato Apartment Plan Is Approved

The Novato Plan Review Committee yesterday approved the plans for a 58 unit apartment complex for Russell G. Quinnell to be located between South Novato Boulevard and Rancho School south of Nave Shopping Center.

In the only other item to come before it, the committee approved the plans for a 21-square-foot interior illuminated sign for the Ignacio Theater for Donald F. Donohue.

Army Refuses To Release Accused Green Beret

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Army refused today to release one of eight Green Berets charged with murdering a Vietnamese. The refusal was based on "the seriousness of the alleged offense," an official spokesman reported.

The civilian attorney for the Green Beret, Maj. Thomas C. Middleton Jr., 30, of Jefferson, S.C., claimed Army officials in Vietnam and the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency were making his client "a human sacrifice" in a case based on "political issues rather than criminal ones."

The attorney, George W. Gregory of Cheraw, S.S., said he would ask the Military Court of Appeals in Washington to fee his client now that the Army here has denied his petition.

Middleton and the seven others, including Col. Robert B. Rheault of Vineyard Haven, Mass., former commander of the Special Forces—or Green Berets—in Vietnam, are being held in the Army stockade at Long Binh, 12 miles north of Saigon. The Army is conducting an investigation to determine whether they must face a court-martial.

Gregory said the victim on the official charge sheet was named Chu Yen Thai Khac, but that this was "only a cover name—not a real name." Khac was reportedly killed and dumped into the South China Sea. Search for the body has been abandoned.

Khac was employed by the Green Berets as chief of a team watching infiltration trails in Cambodia, sources close to the case reported.

They said the CIA ordered Khac killed after films taken secretly in Cambodia showed he was a double agent. Gregory referred to Khac as "a double or triple agent." The sources said the CIA later canceled the order but they were not sure whether this was before or after the killing June 20.

Gregory asserted that officials in Washington were "telling bald-faced lies" in claiming that the slaying was carried out after the CIA had revoked its original order to "terminate with extreme prejudice" the agent, meaning to kill him.

"I know and I have evidence to prove that the CIA has ordered the killing and effectuated the killing of over 100 people in South Vietnam in the past year," Gregory said.

Pressed for details of this report, the attorney declined to elaborate but hinted it might come out at the trial, saying: "I really hope it won't be necessary to release it."

Guerrillas Hit Oil Pipeline In Haifa Area

HAIFA, Israel (UPI) — Guerrillas believed to be Arabs living in Israel blew up a crude oil pipeline in the Haifa Bay industrial area today, touching off a 4-minute blaze which blacked out electrical supplies and disrupted railway service.

Police said they had arrested eight men suspected of the explosion, the second in the Haifa area in two months.

In Jeruualem, Israeli police said they had arrested 95 Arab guerrilla suspects, members of the Al Fatah and the Palestine Liberation Organization, and captured a number of ammunition dumps.

One of the arms caches was found in Haguy Lane, an east Jerusalem alleyway leading to the Wailing Wall where a triple explosion six weeks ago wounded a number of Jewish worshippers.

On the political front, former Premier David Ben-Gurion indicated he had toughened his stand an Israeli-occupied territories. In an interview in the afternoon newspaper Ma'Ariv he said itf there was no real peace Israel would not give the territories back.

Arrest Of Pair Solves At Least Two Burglaries

At least two burglaries and possibly nine others have been solved as a result of the arrest of a 19-year-old Petaluma youth and a 12-year-old San Rafael boy, San Rafael police said today.

Booked into Marin County jail on two counts of burglary and one count of car theft was John Edward Brown, 19, whose mother lives at 621 Webster Street, Petaluma. Police said the youth, who was held in lieu of $3,000 bail for a court appearance today, has lived at several addresses in Marin County.

Cited to probation authroities was Custis Jones, 12, of 105A Shafer Street, San Rafael.

Police said the two were arrested yesterday in connection with the Wednesday burglary and theft of a car from Dexter Pontiac. The car was recovered later in Petaluma.

They were also implicated in the weekend burglary of Mac's Saw Service at 1013 Second Street and possibly nine other burglaries, police said.

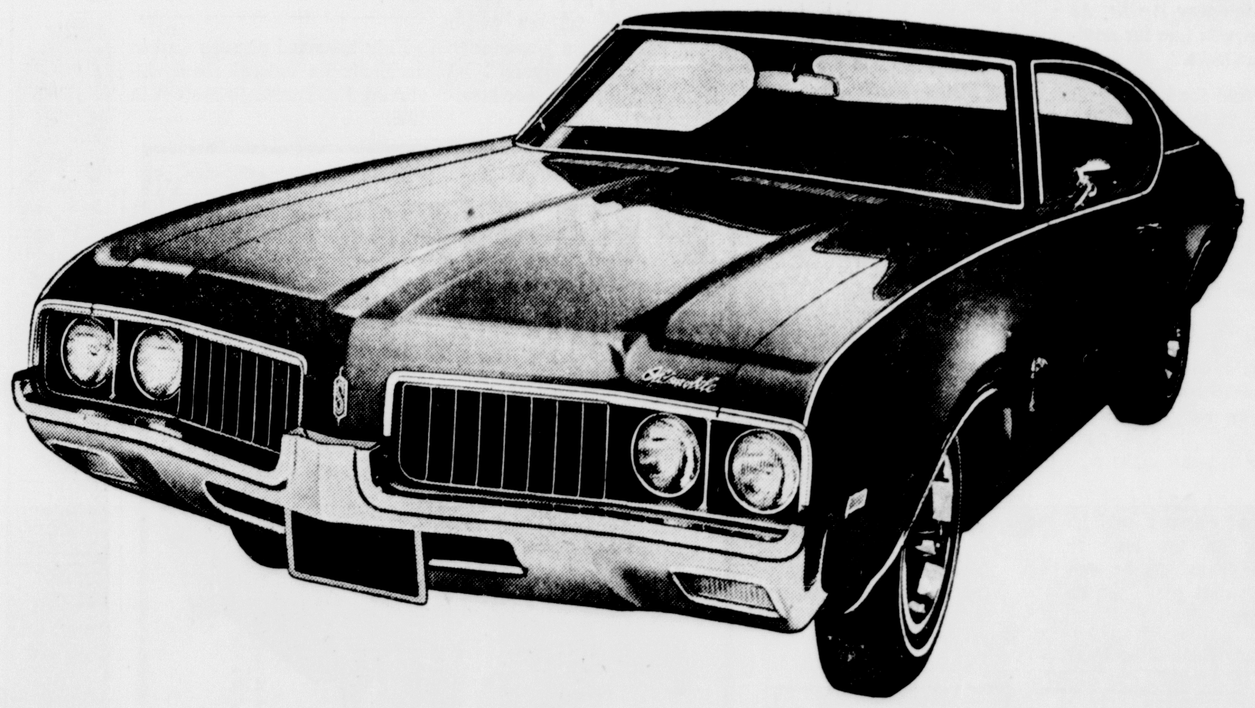
GM MARK OF EXCELLENCE
No. 10 in a quiet series of timely announcements published on behalf of the Bay Area Olds dealers.

(Quietly we remind you...)

the Bay Area Olds dealers' Quiet Clean-Up Sale can't last too much longer.



Calmly and quietly, we'll just state the simple facts:
Your Bay Area Olds dealers have a lot of nice new 1969 Oldsmobiles to sell. All kinds—Delta 88s, Cutlasses, Ninety-Eights and Toronados.
And there's not much selling time left.
So—they're having a sale. Quietly. No hoopla. No hysterics.
Just healthy savings on all cars, to help move the merchandise quick.
When you're selling a fine car like Oldsmobile, to Bay Area people who know good values when they see them, that's enough said.
The Quiet Clean-Up sale is on. Now it's your move.

(Pssst: Someone's going to win a Toronado—it could be you, if you're 18 or older and have a valid California driver's license. Come in, get the details, and register at your Bay Area Olds dealer's on or before August 17.)

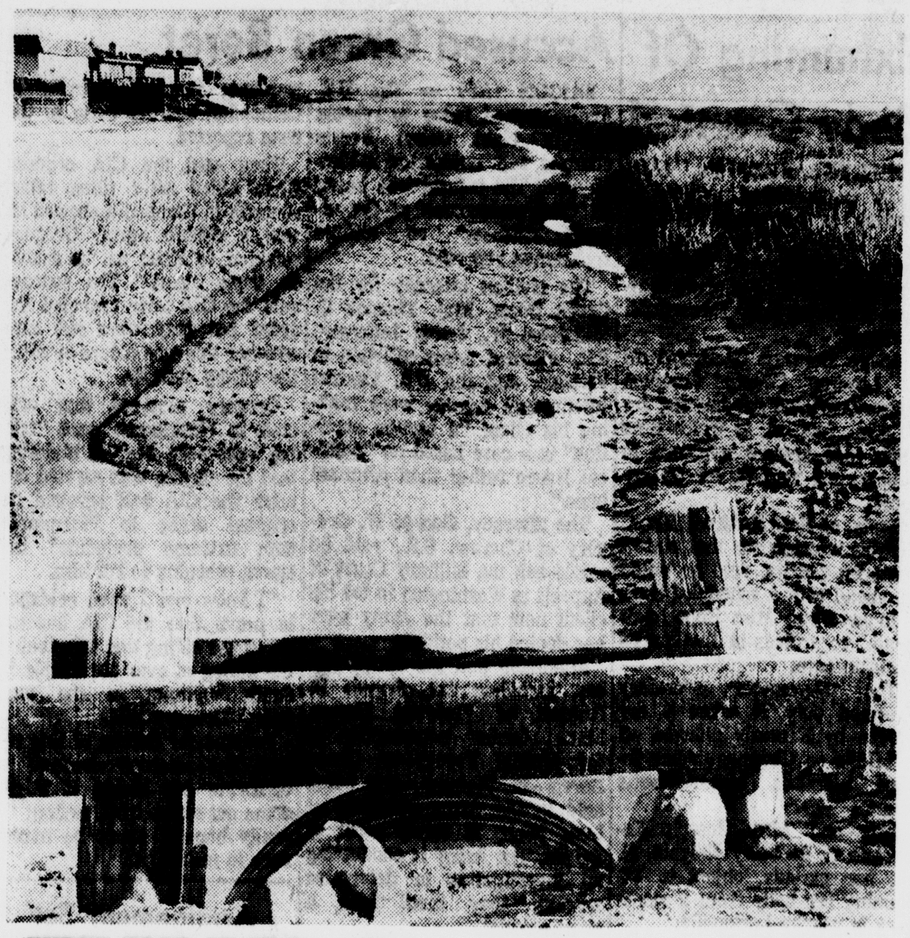
WATERLESS BERTH — Ralph M. Finley (left) with a friend, Donald J. Wallace, points to the spot where he used to berth his cabin cruiser prior to silting of the man-made canal behind his hoe.



'THREE FOOT OF SILT' — Water stands in a hole at the mouth of this storm drain, the hole having been dug to catch the silt from winter rains. Residents of the Mariner Cove district say the hole catches the silt so well that the canal is closed to boat traffic. (Independent-Journal photos by Bob Hax)

James Earl Ray Claims Duping By Federal Agents

ST. LOUIS (AP) — James Earl Ray says federal agents who recruited him ostensibly to help overthrow Fidel Castro's Cuban regime killed Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and "used me to be the fall guy."

Ray made the assertion in a statement dictated to his brother Jerry at the Tennessee State Prison in Nashville, where he is serving 99 years as the assassin of the civil rights leader. The statement was read by Jerry Ray in a televised program on station KMOX-TV.

In the statement, the convicted killer said the federal agents employed him during the spring of 1968.

"They told me I was helping them to supply arms and guns to Cuba refugees to overthrow Castro and the Communists in Cuba," Ray declared. "I knew nothing about King being in Memphis until after King had been killed."

SILT CONGESTION

Corte Madera Canal Residents Rally Around Fading Waterway

By BRUCE COLEMAN

A Corte Madera canal resident claims that town crews have "fixed" the breezy waterway on which he lives so that — whereas he once could steam his 24-foot cabin cruiser to his back dock — now it's impossible to bring in a rowboat.

Last winter the crews brought in a backhoe to clean out the canal, said Ralph M. Finley of 6 Cay Passage.

"They dug a hole at the end of the storm pipe causing a sluice box action. The water came down off the hills, hit the hole and the creek has filled up with silt," he said yesterday.

Bail bondsman Finley, a former civil engineer, said that even the ducks and egrets, which used to teach their young how to jump into the water, have disappeared for lack of water.

By contrast, said Finley, a similar man-made canal which runs along Paradise Drive in the Mariner Cove development has been properly cleaned and is navigable.

Finley said that his boat, which draws two feet of water, now must be tied up at Paradise Cay Yacht Harbor in Tiburon about two miles away.

Another resident, Dorothy Elzey of 279 Golden Hind Passage, told the Independent-Journal that she sold her boat in March because she could no longer ford the canal.

"It's just terrible," said Mrs. Elzey. "When we bought this property in 1961 we were told the city would maintain the waterway the way it was. At that time it was fine for navigational purposes."

We were told the canal would not be allowed to fill up but it has filled over three feet, Mrs. Elzey continued.

She said that she had an 18-foot sport coupe with an 18-inch draft. "Last year, I could only go out on a six-foot tide," she said. "When we bought, I could take it on a 3.5-foot tide."

Mrs. Elzey told how neighbors went to the Town Hall about two years ago to see if something could be done to clear the canal but nothing was done, she said.

Frank Toscanini of 315 Golden Hind Passage said he is fighting for the town to dredge the canal so he can put in a small pier and do some fishing.

Town Mgr. Ronald L. Usher told the Independent-Journal that the town is required only to maintain the channels for drainage purposes — and not for navigation.

The hole dug next to the storm pipe near Finley's back yard gate is standard procedure in maintaining drainage facilities, the manager explained. He called it a silting basin.

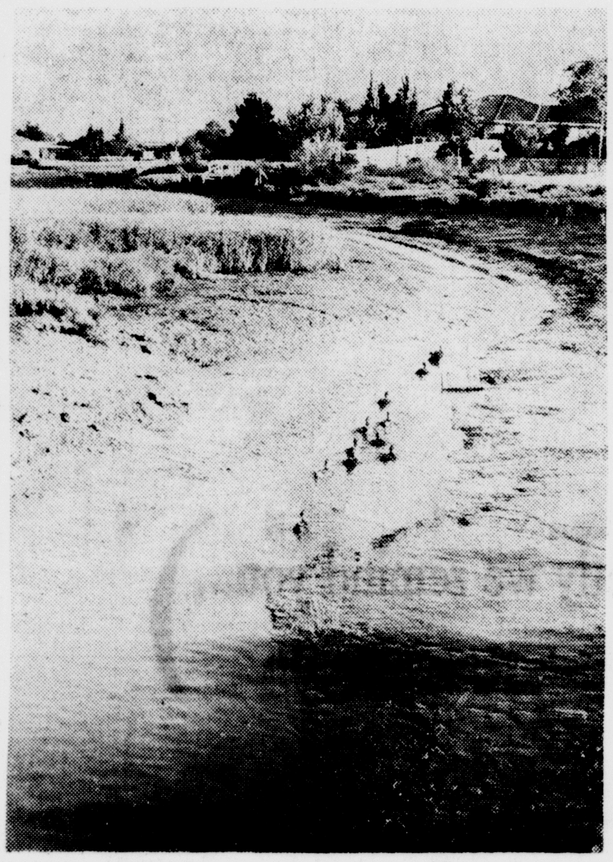
When the water comes off the hill in the winter the silt is deposited in the hole and then does not clog up the channel, Usher said.

"Neither I nor Art Morrison (town public works director) can see that the digging of the hole caused any problem with regard to drainage or navigation," he added.

Usher said the people living along the canal, about 6 families, benefited from the fact that the Marin County Mosquito Abatement District bailed silt out of the channel in 1966. However, he said, there is no evidence of a present mosquito problem that might warrant repeat bailing.

The proposed formation of an assessment district in April 1968 to make nearby San Clemente Creek navigable was dropped when the high cost of dredging was determined.

The minimum project would cost $410,500 and the maximum project $453,200 which would have cost a homeowner with a typically assessed lot $275 a year for a 15-year bonding period.



FREE PASSAGE — Mariner Cove resident Ralph M. Finley claims that this canal near Paradise Drive was cleaned properly and thus leaves free passage for boats at plus tides. A band of ducks heads for sea at a low, low tide.

'PRETTY PLEASE?'

An Unusual Tax 'Return' Brings Young Girl A Pony

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — A 10-year-old girl wrote to the Internal Revenue Service and asked them to stop deducting money from her father's paycheck for a week so he could buy her a pony.

They didn't do that, but they did the next best thing. They took up a collection and bought her the pony. It will be delivered today to Marcia Kessler of suburban Meadowbrook.

A few weeks ago Marcia dashed off a note to the "Director of Interneial Revnuy (sic)" in Washington and stated her case.

The letter read:

"Please do not make my Father pay income tax just for one week so he can buy me a pony. Please? Just for one week because I really want a pony!

"Please? Just one week that's all.

"I am 10 year old and I would give any thing for a pony.

"Please????"

The letter was printed neatly on three by five index cards and sent off to begin a trip through governmental red tape which ended at the local IRS headquarters.

The letter came up at a staff meeting of local Director Seymour Friedman, the assistant director and four division chiefs. The men discussed the letter and then dipped into their own pockets for $100 to purchase a white, 8-year-old pony.

"She's thrilled," said Mrs. George R. Kessler, the girl's mother. "I don't think she's slept for two nights. She'll probably be up at dawn sitting on the front doorstep waiting for it.

"She's just nuts about horses. She has horse posters around her room and a little horse and stable that she had gotten for Christmas, and models of horses and pictures of horses on her walls," she said.

Mrs. Kessler explained that her daughter read an ad for ponies in the paper and asked her father to buy her one.

"He said no, he couldn't, he had to pay too many taxes." Kessler is a manager for a Philadelphia moving and storage firm.

"So she decided to write a letter to Internal Revenue and ask them if he could not pay taxes for just one week to buy her a pony," Mrs. Kessler said.

No one's more surprised than Marcia that she is getting her pony.

"I never dreamed it would happen," she said.

Fifty thousand persons died in accidents on federal roads, including the interstate system in 1968.

FEATURED THIS SATURDAY
You may not recognize the name — Paul Frees — although you certainly would if you were in show business. And whether in the field or not, you most surely would recognize his voice. For Frees is an immensely successful voice mimic who you hear every day in television commercials and cartoons. For tomorrow's I-J Marin Magazine, writer-photographer Gil Pearson tells the story of this Marinite who has risen to the top in his most lucrative chosen field.
The idea for swimming competition among boys and girls within their own age groups originated with Marin's Beth Kaufman. It is now an accepted and successful practice in Amateur Athletic Union programs across the country, and a major contributing factor to this country's domination of the sport. Nowhere is AAU age-group swimming flourishing more than here in Marin where it all began. And the I-J's weekend supplement tomorrow will tell you all about this popular program.

ART SUPPLIES ANYONE?

Tires, fenders, grills, hot water heaters — you name it — all come under sculpture material for creative arts students at San Rafael High School, but complaining neighbors have another name — junk. John A. Thomson, director of maintenance and operations, said today that disposition of the big heap depends on whether or not the course is offered again this fall. (Independent-Joural photo)

Marina, Storage Area At Black Point Win Support

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — The Sonoma County Board of Zoning Adjustments yesterday approved a use permit application for a marina and contractor's storage yard on the Petaluma River at Black Point.

The request by Shellmaker Inc. had previously included a mobile home park and apartments which brought protests from groups in Marin and Southern Sonoma counties.

The unclassified district at 250 Sears Point Road will permit a marina and storage yard and need not be rezoned as would have been necessary in the original request.

Representatives of the Black Point Improvement Club spoke against the request yesterday, saying it would ruin the beauty of the river bank.

The Sonoma County Board of Zoning Adjustments also:

MOBILE HOME — Approved the use permit application of Dean B. Dunn to place a mobile home at 2439 Petaluma Boulevard North, Petaluma.

AUTO YARD — Denied the request of Vincent Bella to locate an automobile storage yard at 12900 Petaluma-Valley Ford Road, saying the yard would detract from the beauty of the scenic highway.

TRAILER — Denied the request of James E. Michaelsen to locate a mobile home at 820 Cleveland Avenue, Petaluma. The board said the use would not be appropriate in the growing residential area.

TV Professor Now Emeritus

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI)— The first professor to teach nationally via network television received emeritus status at the end of the academic year at the University of California.

Harvey E. White, who taught at Berkeley for 39 years, became the favorite physics teacher of the nation and the professor with the largest class in the world in 1958.

It was then he offered the first college course for credit on NBC-TV's "Continental Classroom." For this and other television efforts, White has received many awards including the Peabody Award.

MARIN CITY POST SEEKERS BLASTED

Audience Suggests Job To Be Filled By A Resident Of The Community

By ALAN JONES

In a sometimes clamorous meeting, the Marin City Council last night presented two finalists for a $13,500 community coordinator post — and was promptly told by some of the audience that the candidates wouldn't do.

Controversy ultimately lead to postponement of appointment and the calling of a special community meeting at 8 p.m. Tuesday to explain the council planning program and its budget under the federal 701 planning grant.

Protesters in the audience said the coordinator should come from the community itself, and applauded a suggestion by council member Daniel Hayden Sr. that the post be split between one professional coordinator and someone from the community who, would learn coordinating skills.

The local person would have knowledge of the community which an outsider could never get, Hayden said. Several others voicing agreement.

The two candidates were Jack Williams of Oakland and Albert Boswell of San Francisco. Council chairman Samuel L. Banks Jr. said there is a third finalist, who was not present and whom he did not name.

The three were screened by a committee from 40 applicants, Banks said. Only one Marin City resident applied although the job opening was widely advertised, he said.

Lacking a quorum for nearly an hour after the scheduled 8 p.m. meeting time, Banks took two other councilmen as an ad hoc committee into another room at the Manzanita Center to interview Boswell, but the group returned to the open meeting in a few minutes after protests from the audience about the closed meeting.

Williams said his expereince includes welfare and probation work, public school teaching, working for real estate firms and working for a criminal lawyer. He is now personnel director for a San Leandro heating firm.

"Do you know Marin City?" asked Black Panther Brian V. Beard.

"I've just passed through Marin City . . . I don't know anything about Marin City," Williams said.

"It would be better to get someone from the community who knows the people," Thelma McKinney said.

Banks explained the coordinator would be less in contact with the people than with outside investors and government bodies on the track of funds to develop Marin City.

The council has a $76,500 grant from federal and county governments for a community planning program. First step in the program will be a community survey, which will guide the coordinator as to community needs and wants. The survey will be done by local residents, Banks said.

Beard and Mrs. McKinney objected most strongly to hiring an outsider, but Beard changed his mind when Banks said the coordinator will be "at the disposition of the community."

"As long as the coordinator is responsible to the council, and the council is responsible to the community . . . you can't ask any more than that," Beard said.

Mrs. McKinney objected that in the community's experience with California Development Corporation (which is now backing out of Marin City redevelopment), the developer "exploited us and walked out." She suggested the people themselves handle development through a nonprofit group.

Banks said the proposals for such development will be presented at an Aug. 28 meeting.

Boswell outlined his background of six years in welfare work and three years in sociological research, all with "poverty populaions." The question for Marin City, he said, is whether a small community can govern its own redevelopment.

He admitted he would not move to Marin City if he got the job, and said "it's a dilemma to find qualified persons" who both knew the community and had the technical skills required.

"No, no, no," interrupted Mrs. McKinney. "If we're in a dilemma there's no use your even coming over here . . . you'll have to come here and live with us."

A moment later Otis Gaines, who had just arrived, asked why all 40 applicants had not been invited to the meeting instead of only two men. Banks explained the screening process again.

"That's why we have representative government," Mrs. McKinney said. That led to an extended three-way argument between her, Beard and Gaines over local control, with Banks able to guide the discussion only sporadically.

As the argument raged on, Councilwoman Collie B. Gaines asked "Why don't we take the $50,000 and send it back?"

"Right on," Gaines agreed, "You might as well send it back and break up this board . . . these people don't know our needs, and we don't know them. The only thing brings them here is the money."

Hayden, proposing splitting the job to develop local skills, said "Until we build in this community a self-sufficiency, we will always have to go outside."

"The next step then, Banks said, will be to return to the Marin County supervisors and propose the change. Without their approval, he said, "We don't have a dime."

Williams said he would move to Marin City if he got the coordinator job, but added "you also need someone with a lot of outside contacts."

Banks, after trying several times to let Boswell finish outlining his qualifications for the job, finally adjourned the meeting shortly before 11 p.m., and announced a special community meeting at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the Manzanita Center to explain the council planning program and its budget under the 701 planning grant.

Approval Of Flood Work Still Pending

The Ross Town Council indicated general approval last night of the first portion of the Corte Madera Flood Control Project to be constructed in Ross, but delayed action for one week to await advice of the town's flood control advisory board.

"It's a matter of protocol," said Councilman W. James Dawson.

Philip B. Lygren, town engineer, explained that the flood control segment runs from the southern town limits upstream to about 700 feet south of the Lagunitas Road bridge.

He recommended that the concrete channel be 33 feet wide with a five-foot walkway along each side wall and a fence atop each wall.

The fence, as suggested by the Army Corps of Engineers is to be a six-foot green vinyl-clad chain link type but Lygren said the council might prefer to use a patio pool fence which has redwood strips inserted in the links.

Approval of this section of the project, part of which is in Kentfield, is being sought by the Marin County Board of Supervisors so that work may be started next spring. The town council said in 1967 that construction could not commence in the Town of Ross until the council approved the design in writing.

Plans for the remainder of the project through Ross have been postponed to give time to study plans other than the engineers' proposed concrete ditch.

The council voted that $500 be budgeted as the town's share of a county study of the second portion of Phase III of the flood control project.

Dawson, chairman of the town's flood control advisory board said that a meeting date of the board, prior to the council meeting next Thursday, will be announced. The council also set a meeting at 6 p.m. Sept. 10 for the advisory board.

Three Indicted In Vote Buying

CHICAGO (AP) — Three persons have been charged in a federal indictment with buying votes in last year's presidential election campaign and primary.

The indictments returned yesterday were the first under the Voting Rights Act of 1965, a federal prosecutor said.

Indicted were Chicago policewoman Wilma K. Burns and Democratic precinct workers Thomas Connon, 50, of suburban Elmwood Park, and John J. Janow, 48, of Chicago.

Thomas A. Foran, U.S. district attorney, said Connon and Janow were accused of soliciting "hustlers" to bring Skid Row residents to a vote registration booth. The U.S. attorney said the hustlers were paid $2 for each person they brought to register, but the person who registered was often paid 50 cents or a dollar, and sometimes given a bottle of wine.

Soviet Plane Passes Sound Barrier Tests

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet supersonic airliner has been flying beyond the sound barrier "for extended periods of time" recently with no difficulty, a newspaper reported today.

The plane, the TU144, is ahead of the British-French Concorde in its testing schedule and is expected to be in service in less than two years. The Concorde has not yet broken the sound barrier.

Ross Undecided On Hitchhiking Policy

Hitchhikers passing through the Town of Ross may be required only to be careful where they thumb on busy Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, the town council indicated last night. (Another Ross Town Council story, page 1.)

The council asked to approve an emergency ordinance prohibiting hitchhiking on or about roadways except in areas within a bus stop, received objections from Councilmen Ralph C. Walker and Natalie C. Lewis.

Walker said that if the traffic problem is on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, "why prohibit a kid hitchhiking from Upper Road to stick out his hand in front of a passing neighbor?" Mrs. Lewis said she would only vote for the ordinance if it limited itself to the main boulevard, Sir Francis Drake.

The main reason for the ordinance is a safety factor to keep people off the roadway and keep cars from stopping, said Police Chief John Harris.

The subject was continued to the council's next meeting at which time the council will also discuss a proposed sign at the town's edges reading: "Hitchhiking Prohibited Except Within Bus Stops."

The Ross Town Council Also:

ANIMAL CONTROL — Adopted an ordinance in which it is agreed the town will pay $404 to the County of Marin to participate in the countywide animal control program.

DEED — Accepted a deed granting the town easement on Marin Art and Garden Center land so that the street corner may be rounded at Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and Laurel Grove Avenue.

AIR POLLUTION — Agreed to ask that a discussion of what Marin County towns and cities may do when the January 1970 burning ban becomes effective be placed on the agenda of the Sept. 24 meeting of Marin Council of Mayors and Councilmen.

TENT FAMILY — Heard that there is a family living in a tent in Ross because their house isn't big enough, Councilman Roy Farrington Jones asking that the building inspector take a look at the tent.

WILLING WATER—Proclaimed this week Willing Water Week.

HOUSING CONFERENCE — Agreed not to cosponsor, at cost of $25, the League of Women Voters of Southern and Central Marin housing conference Oct. 25 at Dominican College.

NEXT MEETING — Adjourned to 8 p.m. Thursday.

Cultural Arts Commission Considers Incorporation

The possibility of changing the Rohnert Park Cultural Arts Commission into a nonprofit corporation was reviewed last night by the commission.

Reba Roberts, acting in place of vacationing chairman Dr. William O. Cord, said the group was considering making the change so that cultural and beautification projects can be carried out without expense to the taxpayer.

The commission now receives an annual allotment of $2,000 from the city council. Mrs. Roberts suggested that if the group incorporated it could find donors to sponsor projects such as the proposed fountain in front of the new community and recreation center.

City Mgr. Peter M. Callinan and City Atty. Robert B. Maxwell are assisting the commission in investigating the change.

The Rohnert Park Cultural Arts Commission also:

EMBLEM SIGN — Heard a report that the welcome sign to include club organization emblems may be ready for dedication during the Founders Day celebration, Sept. 12, 13 and 14. The sign will be located at the city entrance at the Rohnert Park expressway.

UNDERGROUNDING — Heard a suggestion from developer Paul Gois that the commission look into the undergrounding of utility lines as a means of beautification. The commission said it would offer its assistance to the city council in setting undergrounding priorities, but only if the council should request recommendations.

RECORDS — Discussed a program to accumulate records and photographs of the ten-year-old city for reference by future historians.

PG&E Gas Rate Hike Hearing Postponed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Hearings on a Pacific Gas & Electric Co. request for a $26.4 million increase in gas rates were suspended yesterday, but were scheduled to be resumed Sept. 2.

The last witness was Marty Nicholas, who identified himself as a member of the Students for a Democratic Society and protested the rate raise "would work a hardship on poor people."

Lack Of Quorum

The Marin County Human Rights Commission canceled its scheduled meeting last night at the Marin Civic Center for lack of a quorum, and a new meeting date hasn't been set yet, reported Joyce Bailey, field representative for the commission.

Sewer Pipe Corrections To Be Asked

About 100 Terra Linda homeowners will be asked to correct defects in sewer connections to their homes, directors of the Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District announced last night

The defects were uncovered in tests conducted in June in an area generally bounded by Las Gallinas Avenue, Manuel Freitas Parkway and Las Colindas Road. The area contains about 600 homes.

District workers placed smoke bombs in sewer mains to determine where storm water was entering the system. Smoke drifted through the lawns of about 100 homes and these residents will be asked to make repairs before winter rains, according to Mrs. Lelia Sayers, district secretary.

In other business last night, directors called for bids at their next meeting at 7:30 p.m. Sept. 11 to make permanent repairs to a section of the sewer main serving Lucas Valley that was washed out in last winter's rains.

11:29 a.m., Novato — Child playing with matches caused a grass fire in four square feet which burned telephone wires and paint on the side of the home of Richard Melendi at 805 Eucalyptus Avenue; no damage estimated.

Noon, Terra Linda—Two acres of grass burned behind Bernard Hoffman School on Las Gallinas Avenue; cause undetermined.

3:23 p.m., San Rafael — Children with matches burned half an acre of grass behind 60 Driftwood Court.

3:23 p.m., San Rafael — Report of smoke at 1825 Fourth Street; nothing found.

3:45 p.m., Lagunitas — Quarter-acre of grass burned near Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and Centurea Street; cause unknown.

4:51 p.m., Marin City — Deliberately set fire in a small pile of grass and debris at Drake Avenue and Eureka Avenue.

6:46 p.m., San Anselmo — Faulty switch caused a $10 fire in an air conditioner at Jo Del's Hairstyling, 642 San Anselmo Avenue.

Los Angeles Selects New Chief Of Police

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Deputy Chief Edward M. Davis, 52, was named as Los Angeles' new police chief today by the board of commissioners.

Davis, who has headed the department's planning and control section, placed second on a civil service examination, behind deputy chief James G. Fisk, 54, who heads the department's community relations division.

Davis joined the force in 1940. He will command more than 6,000 officers and nearly 2,000 civilians. He replaces Thomas Reddin, who resigned earlier this year to become a local television newscaster.

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

Out-Of-The-Way Italian Bar And Restaurant Found In San Rafael

There used to be — and I guess there still is — a great liking in San Francisco for the little out-of-the-way Italian restaurant with the bar on one side and booths on the other, or the bar in front and the booths in the back.

Either way it was sure to be popular and usually to be found on Columbus Avenue or one of the cross streets in North Beach. More often than not the wine was included in the price of the meal. And the entire check for two was scarcely more than the price of a couple of loge seats for a downtown movie.

My days of seeking out such places in the byways are behind me, but one reminiscent of their existence has come to my notice in downtown San Rafael. I must admit to not giving it as close a going-over as it deserves after completion of its recent remodeling.

This is Anjo's at 535 Fourth Street, San Rafael. The bar is at one side and the booths are on the other, but a wall separates them as befits a restaurant catering to the family trade.

The decor is wine-ish and cellarish, with ends of casks protruding from brick-faced walls and pseudo vines and grapes growing overhead. Wood paneling is wormy cedar and while all this new work cannot match the aged look of those North Beach haunts, a certain categorical similarity does exist.

The bar itself already has its own history and doesn't need any special props. It is almost a century old and has changed hands from one tavern owner to another through the years. In what was probably its most colorful location it can easily be identified in an old photograph taken shortly after the turn of the century as the focal point of Billy Shannon's famous old bar and training quarters on Fourth Street in the West End district at the opposite side of the city. I understand that between bouts one-time lightweight boxing champion Joe Gans stood in front of it many times with his foot on the rail.

Its possibilities as a conversation piece are numerous and I daresay Joe Scotto at Anjo's, who installed it here 10 years ago, can fill in most of the details on its subsequent journey across town.

The other side of the center wall — the meal side — and the kitchen is the domain of Angelo and Vera Camporeale. And a recent addition is an attractive party room at the rear, which can handle groups up to about 35. This might be a good place for some of the service clubs to hold their lunches.

Restaurant prices are higher everywhere than they used to be so don't expect to be fed for the price of a couple of theater ducats at Anjo's — although some a la carte items are in that range. Bargains must now be judged by close present-day comparisons.

Anjo's full dinners are from $2.95 to $4.50. I had one of Angelo's specials, the great test item, veal scallopini, and it was superb. Along with soup, salad and trimmings it goes for $3.50. He changes these specials nightly. Included in the meal is an excellent house wine from the Valley of the Moon.

MORE ABOUT GIFT CERTIFICATES — It seems that Ondine in Sausalito had such good response from its gift certificates started years ago that these have evolved into a permanent thing, though not much publicized.

There are four types here: A $10 certificate to be used in paying a food or beverage bill; a $12.50 per person certificate featuring a medium priced dinner, with substitutions, and including California wines and gratuities — but not cocktails.

Also there is an $18.50 per person certificate covering several gourmet selections. European wines and gratuities, but not cocktails. And there is the "unlimited certificate" in which the guests order whatever they wish — and the donor is billed for everything including tips.

THE MARSHALL HOUSE in Santa Rosa is now serving dinners on Sundays. A complete dinner at $4 is featured. Otherwise the restaurant is open only for lunches Mondays through Saturdays from 11 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

GREGORY SEUBERT, owner of Gregory's restaurant on Paradise Drive, Corte Madera, is involved in another restaurant project in Fort Bragg.

This place is not yet built, but construction may start soon. The planned restaurant is at the south end of the Noyo River and overlooking the harbor. Depending on the fall and early winter weather, it may be ready to open by Christmas.

It will be called the Noyo River Inn and have a seating capacity of 300 — quite a project.

Gregory and his wife Mary Alyce own a home on the Mendocino coast at Albion, 20 miles south of Fort Bragg so this is a very practical venture for him. He is teamed with a group of other investors in the new restaurant and will be the manager.

IN THE PLANNING — Permission has been granted for a new Taco Bell quick-service restaurant at 497 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley.

An application has been filed for another Kentucky Fried Chicken take-home establishment at Esmeralda and Bolinas Streets in Mill Valley. Work is already under way on a similar store at 555 Second Street, San Rafael.

THINK YOU'D LIKE to own a restaurant? Unless you're experienced in the food field (and even if you are) give this a second thought before you get too involved.

For every dollar spent at the average eating place, about 70 cents is paid out in food costs and salaries. This is known as the "prime cost" factor and depending on the type of restaurant it is variable — usually from 67 to 71 cents. If it is much higher than that you are paying out too much and headed for trouble right from the start.

The remaining 30 cents has to apply on operating expenses (amortizing equipment), employees' benefits, utilities, repairs and maintenance, advertising, music and entertainment if it is that type of place and a myriad of small items that can only be grouped under the indeterminate heading of "general expense."

After all this and the work you put in, if you collect say $5 for a dinner, the best you can hope to make out of it is about 60 cents — and the government is sure to take some of that.

Grant Smoothes Bills For Lung Patients

Marin Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association has received a $3,750 grant from the Babcock Endowment to help defray the fees of persons unable to pay for treatment at the association's disease outpatient clinic at Marin General Hospital, association president Edward W. Bullard has announced.

The grant, to be spread over two years, will cover fees for 50 patients suffering from emphysema, chronic bronchitis and asthma. Cost of treatment is $75 for 36 hours of services of a physician, an inhalation therapist and a physiotherapist.

Firemen Battle State Park Blaze

WALNUT CREEK (AP) — More than 300 men and 30 pieces of equipment controlled two fires in the Mount Diablo State Park, about 10 miles southeast of here, the California Division of Forestry reported yesterday.

About 290 acres of brush, grass and trees were destroyed, forestry officials said.

Contra Costa County sheriff's deputies are investigating reports that an arsonist set one fire, which spread over 140 acres before being contained.

It took nearly 12 hours to contain the fires.

Black Militant Released On Bail

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A leading figure in last winter's strike at San Francisco State may remain free on bond pending appeal of a six-month jail sentence, a judge ruled.

George Murray, Negro militant who was a part-time instructor at the college, had pleaded guilty July 15 to disturbing the peace and unlawful assembly last December.

He had been in jail until Monday, when he was freed on $5,000 bond. The bail was continued yesterday by Superior Court Judge Edmund Moor.

Conservationists Meet An Unexpected Friend

Conservationists pop up in unexpected places. And sometimes the "enemies of conservation" turn out to be its friends, and vice versa.

A case in point was provided this week, in a dispute over the development of the Snake River in the Idaho Panhandle as a hydroelectric power source.

SECRETARY OF INTERIOR Walter J. Hickel sent to the Federal Power Commission a statement urging that a moratorium on construction of dams in the middle Snake "would be in the best interests of the nation." He went even farther, noting the possibility of including that part of the Snake River in the Wild Rivers System, an extension of the national parks concept, which would permanently ban its development.

The secretary thus lined himself up with the conservationists in one of their longest and most bitter fights. And who among them would have thought Wally Hickel was their man?

THE SNAKE RIVER controversy runs clear back to the administration of President Harry Truman. Near the end of Truman's second term, the Idaho Power Co. applied for permission to build a huge dam and hydroelectric plant in Hell's Canyon of the Snake.

The Bureau of Reclamation, under Interior Secretary Oscar L. Chapman, had other plans. It wanted to put a series of smaller dams where the Snake runs along the Idaho-Oregon border, designed for irrigation benefits as well as power production. Secretary Chapman filed with the Federal Power Commission a petition against the Hell's Canyon proposal.

When Dwight D. Eisenhower succeeded to the presidency, his interior secretary, Douglas McKay, withdrew the opposition to the Idaho Power project, noting that construction of a government dam system on the Snake appeared to be precluded by budget difficulties. But by then, whether or how to dam Hell's Canyon had become an extremely hot political issue.

SENATE OPPOSITION killed the Idaho Power Co. plan. But the Hell's Canyon issue neither died nor faded away. It appeared again in recent years with application by Pacific Northwest Power Co. and Washington Public Power Supply System to build High Mountain Sheep Dam just below Hell's Canyon.

Again, the Bureau of Reclamation had a different plan. This time, under Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall, it proposed a hydroelectric dam just upstream from the High Mountain Sheep site, to be built by the government and its electricity sold to private utilities.

Udall, friend of conservationists, opposed the High Mountain Sheep Dam, not to prevent dam building in the deep and narrow gorge of the Snake, nor even (like Chapman) to substitute a multipurpose project. He just wanted to keep the government in control of the river.

BUT NOW COMES Secretary Hickel with new opposition to the Hell's Canyon project which is based on a strictly conservationist approach. He would put a moratorium on construction in the river while it is decided whether to reserve it forever from such development.

Your white hat, Mr. Hickel!

Changing Our Environment

Sometimes little things can make a big difference. Take a fence, for an example. Last summer, after all else failed to deter them, we built a six-foot fence around our place to keep out the flower-loving Marin deer.

As expected, the flowers flourished. But other things happened too. The large neighborhood dog population was also excluded. This was quite agreeable, except it created a sanctuary for cats and skunks. We viewed this with mixed feelings — because while it pleased us to have our rats and mice controlled, it displeased us to see the cats stalking the birds and to be awakened in the night by the powerful odor of skunk.

A raccoon has sought refuge in the Canary Island date palm in our garden and we are attempting to cultivate his friendship. We had had raccoon visitors before, but none has ever chosen our garden as its abode till now.

Yes, by erecting a fence we have altered our environment in unforeseen ways.

Restoration Of School Tax Limits Seen As Significant

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Only one more step remains as this is written to assure the people of California that their right to vote on school tax rate increases remains intact.

This is the signature of Gov. Ronald Reagan on AB 5, by Assemblyman Robert H. Burke, R-Huntington Beach, which repeals a section of the education code providing for removal of tax rate limitations in 1971, allowing free rein to school boards to set tax rates from then on.

If Governor Reagan signs the bill — and there appears to be no indication that he will not — residents will continue to vote on school limit increases as they do at present.

PASSAGE of the bill by the legislature culminated a two-year battle with the powerful education lobby, which slipped an amendment into the school finance bill of 1967 during the closing hours of the session, designed to deprive the public of its right to vote on school taxes after July 1, 1971.

The amendment was spotted by Sen. John G. Schmitz, R-Tustin, shortly afterward, and the senator waged a campaign both in 1968 and 1969 to wipe it out.

Schmitz was unsuccessful in 1968, when he met the full power of the lobby. He was almost unsuccessful in 1969 when his SB 35 was defeated in the Assembly Education Committee. This measure was a companion bill to AB 5.

After some maneuvering, AB 5 got through the Assembly and Senate, and when it reached the Assembly floor in final form, it was right back where it started, and the house passed it by a vote of 58-7.

BURKE SAID after passage:

"The significance of this legislation extends beyond the mere repeal of an unwanted law. This act of the legislature signals a return to the philosophy that 'the people know best' rather than that 'government should decide.' "

While the battle was under way in the legislature, a move to place an initiative on the 1970 ballot to accomplish the same objective was started by a citizen, Ranold J. Kennedy of Penryn, Placer County. Kennedy obtained a title for the initiative, and also the support of some senators and assemblymen. However, the initiative will not be necessary when AB 5 is signed.

The issue, Burke said, generated more mail to legislators from all over the state than any other issue during the session, as voters expressed displeasure over the law that robbed them of their rights.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Feeling In India On Moon Landing

This inspiring letter was sent to me by a teacher of Hindi at a junior college in Ajaigarh, M.P. India. He has been receiving my used copies of a weekly news magazine for about two years and eagerly follows the American and international news events. He is so enthusiastic about the Apollo flight that I would like to share his letter with your readers.

Ajaigarh
21 July 1969

Dear Mrs. Orth,

On this historic day I am sending my hearty congratulations to American nation. No doubt 21st July will be remembered as a day of greatest achievement in the history of mankind. It is not only a day of pleasure for American people, but today whole of the humanity is rejoicing. Today man has made a new history. He has set his foot on the moon. This is the greatest leap of man. He has sent the message of peace and love for whole of the universe. It is according to the worthy tradition of American nation, which stands for world peace. Today the soul of late President John F. Kennedy would be feeling everlasting peace, as his dream has taken real shape.

I can only imagine the joy of the American people . . . who enjoy today great credit being an American. Here we Indians — whether he is old or a child — all are talking day and night about this achievement. Every news-bulletin collects so many hearers. We people are awake the whole night to listen to running comments. The names of Neil Armstrong, Edwin Aldrin, and Michael Collins are on the tongue of everyone. We are praying for their safe landing on earth. Moreover we are waiting anxiously for the coming visit of your President Mr. Richard Nixon on our land on 31 July.

Word In Defense Of Fairfax Chief

I think it is time that the citizenry of Marin County speak up in defense of Police Chief Jim Orr of Fairfax. The enrages would posture him as a tough cop and a maverick when in fact he is anything but that. I have worked with Jim Orr as a deputy on several occasions and have found him an intelligent human being. He is much the academized type of young policemen we are so desperately in need of.

Wisconsin Ruling Upholds People's Right To Know

(Reprinted from Milwaukee Journal)

The unending cause of prying open public records for public information has come to a great new landmark in Wisconsin. The state supreme court has ruled that century-old state law allows no exception or restriction whatsoever on public access to records "required to be kept" by clerks of court, registers of deeds and probate, sheriffs, county clerks and treasurers.

This clarification, involving most particularly the records of judicial proceedings, is important because old common law sanctions of official discretion "in the public interest" had been cited in favor of secrecy. No such discretion exists, says the new ruling, under a statute giving absolute right of access to all official files in custody of these officers.

CIRCUIT JUDGE Leander Foley of Milwaukee, presiding in Racine, had ordered the clerk to "impound" his decision — keep it secret from the general public — in an international child custody case that had stirred public emotions. He felt that the impoundment was needed to protect the small son of a Wisconsin father and German mother, and also to await any decisions of German courts.

The Milwaukee Journal sued for release of the Foley decision. This was not to reflect personally on him; his handling of a difficult, complicated case and his motives, as Justice Heffernan wrote, were "exemplary." The lawsuit performed the role of the press as agent for the public in obtaining public information for it. All judges may welcome the resulting guidance.

WRITING for an unanimous supreme court, Heffernan cited with approval a declaration by New York's highest court that "no other rule (except disclosure) is conceivable in a society nurtured on freedom of discussion of matters of public interest." Promptly making decisions available to the public, said the Wisconsin justices, is "an inherent obligation of a court," for this reason:

"The courts have been the great repositories of personal liberty, and their obligation is not only to see that the conduct and performance of executive and legislative officials is open to public scrutiny, but to maintain for themselves the high standards that they prescribe for others. It would ill behoove a court of this state to conclude that it has the inherent right to impose its mandate on the parties to an action, but to conceal those mandates from the examination of the public."

Sanction for holding court decisions secret, Heffernan concluded, would be the greatest invitation to "abuse, star chamber judgments and judicial caprice."

New Role For Richard Nixon: Republican FDR Of '70's

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — Whatever happened to conservative Richard Nixon?

Here he is in the lead for the most far-ranging, groundbreaking, daring social-welfare reform since the early years of the New Deal.

Richard the Cautious has become Richard the Bold.

The President has seized the initiative on the most crucially needed domestic reform and has stolen the best clothes of the Democratic liberals.

Strange to contemplate, but the time may come when people will think of Richard M. Nixon as the Republican Franklin D. Roosevelt of the 1970s!

THE COMPARISON has validity. F.D.R. was not primarily a liberal theorist; he was primarily a pragmatic problem-solver. When he was elected in 1932 at the depth of the depression — a depression Mr. Nixon has never forgotten — President Roosevelt acted to save private enterprise, not take it over as some leading industrialists were urging him to do. His major social reforms, including Social Security and welfare assistance, though first opposed by the Republicans, were embraced by every GOP presidential candidate from 1940.

Now President Nixon is proposing to tear up the very roots of the New Deal social welfare system because it has shown itself "frozen in failure," destructive and disastrous, but he isn't proposing to leave a gaping hole in its place. He is proposing to replace it by something bigger and, he is convinced, far better.

THERE ARE significant conservative ingredients in the new Nixon antipoverty welfare program, like these:

It ties welfare assistance to job training and employment. Nearly everyone, women and men alike, must take such training and accept suitable jobs if they are continuing to get aid.

The program provides the most vital ingredient missing in the present welfare system. It offers the most inviting incentive to work by making certain that the working poor will get more than those wholly on relief. It enables the working poor to earn as high as $4,000 a year before wage supplements are cut off.

Finally, the Nixon program starts a decentralization of Big Government by providing some federal revenue sharing with the states and cities so that both resources and authority can begin to flow out of Washington to local government.

These are major conservative principles and major conservative goals, and it should be fully recognized that Mr. Nixon is acting on them.

BUT NONE OF THIS alters the fact that conservative Richard Nixon is acting to carry out an immensely liberal concept and liberal program.

How liberal? If you define modern liberalism as a willingness to use the federal government to achieve major social ends, the President's new program is very liberal — for these reasons:

It does not diminish one bit — indeed, it accepts unreservedly — federal responsibility for the most ambitious antipoverty and welfare system in American history.

It adds 12 million individuals as beneficiaries of the new system.

It increases the federal cost of welfare and wage supplements by some $4 billion a year, bringing the total federal welfare expenditures to $9 billion.

THE PRESIDENT made his decision against the wishes of fully two-thirds of his substantially conservative cabinet.

President Nixon isn't saying you can wave poverty out of existence overnight, but he is acting boldly on his conviction that widespread poverty in the midst of widespread prosperity is intolerable.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

Changing Fiscal Year Could Help Budgeting

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — Top officials, in Congress and the Nixon administration, are discussing a rather simple change in accounting which could pave the way for substantive government reforms.

Under consideration is a shift in the federal government's fiscal year. Presently, the fiscal, or business, year runs from July 1 through June 30. It is proposed to change it and perhaps even make the fiscal year coincide with the calendar.

As an accounting revision such a change would be scarcely worth the telling here. The discussions are important, however, because the arbitrary fiscal year, as it now exists, has been casing real problems in Congress and in the executive departments.

THE TROUBLE is that Congress, in recent years, has not been able to budget — to approve appropriations — for a fiscal year before that year is well under way. (As of this July 1, when the present fiscal year began, not a single regular appropriation bill had been finally approved by Congress.)

Under such circumstances, the House and Senate must pass a series of "continuing resolutions allowing the various federal agencies to spend at substantially their present rates until their new appropriations are approved.

Administrators are uncertain about their spending authority. Old programs drag along. Newly authorized programs are not started until funds are finally appropriated.

States, local governments, federal employees and other taxpayers are affected when old programs are not expanded or new ones are delayed and federal aid is not forthcoming.

SOME GOVERNMENT budget experts think those problems would be solved if the fiscal year began Oct. 1 or, better, Jan. 1. They think such a shift would help solve other federal funding problems too.

For example, local school districts cannot know, under the present appropriations process, how much federal help they will collect when they sit down to approve their annual school budgets. Other federally assisted programs have similar problems.

Some of the experts believe that those programs could be brought into phase if an orderly shift could be made in the fiscal year. Some states might have to take similar action, however, since more than half of them are on a July 1-June 30 basis.

REP. GEORGE MAHON, D-Tex., chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, noting the problems posed by the continuing resolutions, has urged a "very careful study" of a change in the fiscal year. Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., Mahon's Senate counterpart, favors a change to the calendar year.

In the past the Budget Bureau, the accounting arm for the White House, has taken a dim view of changing the fiscal year. That is apparently no longer true, and Budget Director Robert P. Mayo is now said to favor such a shift.

I see plenty of good in the world, working itself out as fast as the idealists will allow it. — George Bernard Shaw.

Dangerous Nut Spoils Rural Charm Of San Geronimo Valley

There is some kind of nut running around loose in Forest Knolls. It makes living in our rural settlement something like being a rear-echelon soldier in Saigon — it's not supposed to be a combat area but you can't be sure.

This nut, or maybe a collection of nuts, has set fire to a warehouse, tried to burn a restaurant, and peppered bullets into the restaurant and a real estate building, all in a few months.

The existing mistrust between long-time residents and more recent arrivals, many fitting the lay definition of hippie, has been considerably heightened by this nonsense, each side suspecting the other is responsible.

The nut theory seems more likely to us. Knowing both straights and heads in considerable numbers, we believe few of either group are unbalanced enough to commit arson or promiscuous gunning. And if it were a group thing, someone would have spilled the beans by now.

Life is good in the San Geronimo Valley. It gets blazing hot by day, but is pleasantly cool at nights. It is blessedly free of tourists, campers and commercial hucksterism, and most of its people believe in letting others be.

But until someone finds out who the nut is and turns him (or them) in to the nut squad, we are all going to be sitting on the edge of our seats waiting for the fire siren or for a bullet to come zipping through the walls.

LARKSPUR'S troubles with PG&E brought back memories. Larkspur City Hall is mad because PG&E dug up part of a brand-new street to put in an underground utility vault.

Back in the Kansas town where I grew up, the city finally decided to repave the main street after about 10 years of busted axles, potholes and bitter complaints. Took all summer to finish the job (it rained a lot).

The day after they finished the project, another crew came out and started digging up all the intersections again. Seems the first crew had paved over every manhole on the street.

Last time I was back, there were still little residual bumps and ripples around the exhumed manholes.

CHRIS ROBERTS, the sculptor of Richardson Bay, is progressing nicely with his giant statue of a woman, built around an old piledriver and barge. Roberts said county legal actions against the project have been settled, the work has been declared a sculpture rather than a structure, and he has arrangements to buy the four big drydocks in the bay and create an art center on the Sausalito waterfront.

Anything to get the drydocks out of the middle of the bay will have the whole-hearted support of nearly everyone in southern Marin.

Inspiration On TV Screen, Spider And Fly At Brasilia

Fusselman

As it happened there, we saw it here and was it inspiring! We have become so accustomed to getting news events over television by way of videotape or moving picture footage, that the New York City and Chicago enthusiastic tributes to the three moon-men and their families, coming to us live, were treats to remember.

The innovation of presenting, live, President Nixon's state dinner in honor of Neil Armstrong, "Buzz" Aldrin, "Mike" Collins and their wives was so well planned and carried out that I imagine you did just about what we did, when it was over —sat in happy wonderment that we could feel like we had been there, too, as part of the celebration.

That dinner was so well organized, from the ruffles and flourishes announcing the President's appearance to the surprise drawing of the heavy curtain back of the head table and the fine voices singing "The Star Spangled Banner," followed by the departure of the President and his guests, that we could feel nothing but warm pride over an evening of such carefully arranged detail. Really "well done." Thus we spent the day.

"SUPERVISORS GET Lessons In Computers. Chalk in hand, pacing like an anxious professor, Marin County's data processing director Joseph B. Leach gave his bosses a lesson in the operation of a computer today." So went a story in the Tuesday issue of the I-J.

"It is my own feeling that if you can get the feel of what we're talking about, in the future, if you hear me mention these things you won't be lost," he said. "We hope it will stimulate your imagination a little, too," he added.

"Later," the story went on, "the board toured the county's data processing facilities." Supervisor Peter Arrigoni is reported to have asked Leach, "Can I get three units towards my master's degree for this course?"

Last week I said this board is being quietly ushered into a spot that they are bound to regret. I repeat it.

IT IS EVIDENT to observers out at Brasilia that the administrator and his first assistant are working on the theory that, because there are three new supervisors this year, they can step by step move into greater positions of authority and stronger opportunity for policy making.

Gentlemen of the board, you were elected to be the supervisors. It is expected of you that you will personally become familiar with the operation of the departments first hand. Don't make the mistake of abdicating. There is a difference between city government and county government.

LAST WEEK Marin folks who listen to the six o'clock news on channel 4 were startled and somewhat dismayed to suddenly see close up the administrator filling the screen as an authority on a Marin County matter that the station was running a series on. He was rigid as if scared and with the voice coming from the depths of an automaton. It was a poor representation for the county.

Question: Was the appearance authorized by board action? Where was the chairman of the board?

Five Marin Men Get Draft Call

Five men were inducted into the armed forces in August by the Marin County Selective Service Board, executive secretary Joy M. Kinzer reported today.

They are Perry F. Fry, living in San Francisco but registered with the Marin board, William D. Perry of San Anselmo, Scott K. Appel of Kentfield, Patrick F. Perry of Novato and Craig R. Turner of Kentfield. All will serve with the Army.

The county draft quota for August was 30, but the quota is seldom filled, Mrs. Kinzer said. The quota for September is 34.

Today is Friday, Aug. 15, the 227th day of 1969 with 138 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter. The morning stars are Venus and Saturn. The evening stars are Mercury, Mars and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1914 the American vessel Ancon, passed from the Atlantic to the Pacific Ocean and the Panama Canal was officially opened.

In 1935 comedian Will Rogers and aviator Wiley Post were killed when their plane crashed in Alaska.

A thought for the day: Anatole France said, "He flattered himself on being a man without prejudices: and this pretension itself is a very great prejudice."

Closer Watch On Danish Wines

COPENHAGEN (UPI) — The Winedealers Association has decided to make spot checks in stores and wine shops to nip a little racket in the bud. The Association learned of numerous cases where shopkeepers had poured wine of poor quality into bottles with expensive looking Chateau "this" and Grand Cru "that" labels. Wine drinking is considered a luxury in most Danish homes, prices varying from 12 to 30 kroner $1.60-$4 a bottle for an ordinary table wine.

Prices are doubled in restaurants because of high taxes.

South Takes A Great Chance In Three-Spade Opening Bid

Most American experts would disagree with South's opening bid of three spades. A typical shutout bid is based on a very long suit with no outside strength. In this case South had bits and pieces in all suits, so that a pass would have been more orthodox. South landed on his feet because he was a good swindler.

MEANT PENALTIES

East and West were using "cheaper minor" for takeout over an opening bid of three. West would have bid four clubs over three spades if he had wanted his partner to bid, and his actual double was meant for penalties.

West took the top diamonds, continued with the ace of clubs and then led the eight of clubs. South played the jack of clubs from dummy, East naturally covered with the queen, and South just as naturally won with the king.

The effect of this apparently pointless maneuver was to give West the impression that South still held a losing club. South next cashed the king of hearts and led the six of spades.

TRAPS WEST

This series of plays made it seem that South had started with the singleton king of hearts and three clubs to the king. Apparently South was trying to get to the dummy with the king of spades to discard his last club on the ace of hearts.

If West did not have the jack of spades he would surely step up with the ace of spades in the hope of getting a club trick while the getting was still good. But West actually played a low spade on South's six, showing that he hoped to defeat the contract even if South did get rid of a club loser.

SHORT OF WAVING

In short, West did everything but take the jack of spades out of his hand and wave it in the air.

This was just what South needed to know. He let the six of spades ride for a finesse, winning the trick. Then South led another spade to force out the ace, and his contract was safe.

TV Man Says Hallinan Called Police Names

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A television newsman has testified he heard attorney Terence Hallinan accuse a San Francisco police officer of racism and call him unprintable names.

Hallinan is charged with assaulting a tactical squad officer during a demonstration at San Francisco State College in May 1968. He is being tried by a Superior Court jury of 10 women and two men.

GIRL FALLEN

Steven Huss, reporter for a San Francisco television station (KGO), testified yesterday he heard Hallinan shout epithets at Patroman Norbert Gutierrez, who was standing over a fallen girl with a billy club in his hand.

The officer said he was assaulted by Hallinan who came to the aid of the girl. The patrolman claimed the girl fell to the pavement after tripping over a flower box on the curb.

CLUBBING

Attorney Vincent Hallinan, of Belvedere, who is defending his son, charged that Gutierrez clubbed the girl to the ground. The attorney introduced a photograph which he said shows the girl was at least six feet from the curb at the time with Gutierrez standing directly in front of her.

The younger Hallinan said he believed the patrolman was committing unlawful assault on the girl and "I intervened to prevent a violent assault."

The elder Hallinan said he had been unsuccessful in subpoenaing a patrolman who witnessed the incident and an assistant district attorney.

ON VACATION

The two men, both of whom testified at Hallinan's first trial which ended in a hung jury, were reported on vacation abroad.

Visiting Superior Court Judge Edmund Moore of Alpine County is presiding at the trial. Movies made of the incident were expected the be shown to the jury today.

The John Pennekamp Coral Reef State Park on Key Largo Fla. is the only U.S. underwater preserve.

ATOM WAR LIKELY?

Moscow, Peking Step Up Frenzy

LONDON (UPI)—The Soviet Union and communist China are ready to use nuclear weapons in the event of actual war, diplomatic sources said today.

Moscow has hinted pointedly at its nuclear superiority over China in recent references to the sharpening Sino-Soviet conflict. The Chinese have said publicly they are prepared for nuclear war.

Diplomatic sources said the conflict has taken a serious turn for the worse, but believed war is still unlikely, at least for the time being.

But they no longer rule out a major "border war," in one or two key frontier areas, that could mushroom eventually into nuclear warfare.

Reports reaching London from the Far East said developments have become unpredictable, with both sides having worked themselves into a political and ideological "frenzy."

Both the Soviet Union and Communist China today launched campaigns to arouse public indignation among their citizens over the latest border fighting btween the two Communist nations.

The Soviets broadcast a vivid description of the deaths of Soviet troops during Wednesday's fighting in Kazakhstan. The Chinese broadcast fiery anti-Soviet rallies held near the scene of the clash.

Each side has accused the other of starting the battle along an arid stretch of border between the Soviet Republic of Kazakhstan and China's Sinkiang province. It brought an exchange of angry protest notes between Moscow and Peking.

A senior political officer went on Moscow Radio late yesterday to describe how two Soviet soldiers died as they charged headlong into a pocket of Chinese "provocateurs." The Soviets threw hand grenades and "spread panic and death" among the Chinese, he said.

The officer, not identified, praised the bravery and "high political consciousness" of the troops involved in the fight. He described several actions by individual soldiers and said those that showed particular bravery were rewarded with membership in the Young Communist League (Komsomol) or in the Communist Party.

Neither side has said how many soldiers were involved in the battle or how many casualties had been sustained. The political officer's statements indicated at least two Soviets had been killed and informed Moscow sources said seven others had been wounded.

The sources said more than 25 Chinese were killed and about an equal number wounded.

In a commentary, Peking Radio said Soviet leaders were preparing for a "blitzkrieg war" against China. It did not make mention of any further fighting along the border of the Sinkiang region, a sensitive area for the Chinese because it includes the nation's main nuclear and missile testing sites.

Scientist Urges Easy Life For American Males

Dr. Henry Sobel told a news conferencey esterday that the life expectancy of American males went down four months this year — the first such decline since statistics on the subject have been tabulated. He said the average man in this country now lives 68 years, the average woman 73.

Sobel, currently chief of aging research at the Sepulveda Veterans Hospital, says scientists should concentrate on finding ways to relieve males of some of the physical and psychological burdens of living in crowded civilizations.

Garage Burglary

A burglar who entered the garage of Joseph J. Sussani, of 2541 Las Gallinas Avenue, Marinwood, on Wednesday took two motorcyclists' helmets, hand tools and a radio receiver valued at a total of $130, sheriff's deputies reported today.

Mosquito Station Site Hunt

Marin County Mosquito Abatement District is currently negotiating for a site north of Petaluma for its first substation outside Marin.

The substation would house two trucks, a ditch opening dragline tractor and other equipment now housed in a rented garage in Petaluma.

Paul R. Stanley, district board president, and Allan Telford, district manager, said that the district is looking at several pieces of property but they would not reveal how much is earmarked for the purchase.

Telford said that property in the commercially zoned area north of Petaluma averages $6,000 to $20,000 per acre, depending upon the amount purchased. He said that it is difficult to buy just one acre here.

One hundred square miles of southern Sonoma County and all of Marin County except a small section on the Pacific are included in the district.

Student Loans Urged By Nixon

SAN CLEMENTE (AP) — President Richard M. Nixon has appealed to banks and other lending institutions to go ahead with loans to college students despite a delay in Congress in acting on a measure to continue federal guarantees with a higher interest rate.

The President said yesterday he had been assured that Congress would pass the bill, permitting an interest increase from 7 to 10 per cent, retroactive to Aug. 15.

It is estimated that 920,000 students will borrow about $800 in the federally guaranteed loans.

Whale Meat Poisons Villagers In Alaska

TANUNAK, Alaska (AP) — Natives in the Bering Sea village became sick this week after feasting on the meat of a whale that washed ashore Monday.

Thirty-one persons were hospitalized, while others who were stricken were treated in the village.

LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

Home Is Much Like The Car

McPherson bought a mass produced car, with its thousands of parts. Soon after he left the show room he turned a corner and a wheel broke in two. McPherson lost control, and got hurt.

He sued the car maker, who offered evidence that his company had taken the utmost care to assemble the car and check each part.

Still, the court held the maker "strictly liable." If a maker sells something which people buy without mechanical inspection, the buyer can legally rely on its fitness for its intended use.

If it hurts somebody when the buyer uses it as the seller intended, the seller becomes liable. The buyer need not prove in court any negligence on the part of the seller. Legally, the seller had "warranted" his product.

This rule applies to the sale of such things as foods, drugs, mechanical devices, and the like where an "implied" warranty protects the user.

Recently Kringle looked at a modern home, liked the floor plan and location, and bought it. A year afterwards, the heating system leaked and ruined his home and furnishings.

In the suit that followed, the court said, "In terms of today's society, there is no meaningful distinction between the mass production and sale of autos, and the mass production and sales of homes.

"When a buyer buys a tract home from an advertised model, he relies on the developer's skill and on his representation that the house is built in a workmanlike manner, that it is fit for habitation. The buyer has no architect or professional adviser of his own. If the house is unfit, the builder is "strictly liable."

On the other hand, the buyer of an individually designed or individually constructed home would have to prove negligence if he is to hold his builder liable for harmful defects.

Strict liability does not apply to such "services" as those of the doctor, engineer, or accountant who may make mistakes in their products. Claims against such people must still be proven in court. There may be liability, but not "strict" liability. Note: California lawyers offer this column so you may know about our laws.

Murray Allowed Freedom On Bail

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Ex-Black Panther George Mason Murray can remain free on $5,000 bail pending the outcome of his request for a new trial.

Superior Court Judge Edmund M. Moor issued a writ of habeas corpus yesterday to release Murray from jail after his attorneys complained his detention was "excessive and unconstitutional."

Murray, who says he has undergone a religious experience in jail and is no longer a member of the Black Panthers, had been sentenced to six months in prison last month for disturbing the peace and unlawful assembly. He was arrested last December during a campus demonstration.

ONE TREEFALL FATAL

Park Area Closed As Giant Sequoias Tumble Down

SEQUOIA NATIONAL PARK (UPI) — Giant sequoia are falling in unprecedented numbers this summer in Sequoia National Park, and have caused one death and forced the closure of a campground.

Park officials today said 10 of the trees have fallen since winter, four in the past week. They said no one remembers that many falling in a single season.

Richard Hartesveldt and Tom Harvey, San Jose State College professors who have been studying the giant redwoods for a decade, said excessive soil moisture may be the cause of the topplings.

They said moisture from a record winter snowfall could have weakened the trees' roots. Soil moisture was 200 to 300 per cent above normal.

Mrs. Stella St. Johns, 60, North Hollywood, was killed last Saturday while picnicking in Hazlewood campground with friends. One of the big trees toppled, striking a second sequoia. Debris from the top of the second tree struck Mrs. St. Johns.

The Hazelwood area was temporarily closed to park visitors when two more Sequoias crashed down early this week.

'Pot Puppies' Check

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Charles Dunn, director of the state bureau of investigation, said Thursday that "pot puppies," dogs trained to sniff out marijuana and other drugs, will be added to the arsenal of the bureau.

Live below your means.

If you'd like to get around the high cost of living, we have a suggestion:

Cut down on the high cost of getting around.

And buy a Volkswagen.

It takes pints, not quarts, of oil.

Not one iota of antifreeze.

And it gets about 27 miles to the gallon. The average car (thirsty devil that it is) only gets 14.

So the more you drive a Volkswagen, the more you save.

And chances are, you'll drive it for years and years. (Since we never change the style, a VW never goes out of style.)

Of course, a VW's not much to look at. So a lot of people buy a big flashy car just to save face.

Try putting that in the bank.

Debutante Twins To Be Feted Wednesday In Petaluma

By MOLLY MARIN

A tea honoring her daughters, Deborah and Donna, with the other Marin debutantes and their mothers as guests will be given by Mrs. Dolph Hill Jr. at her home in Petaluma on Wednesday afternoon.

The guest list also includes a number of friends from Marin and Sonoma, relatives from Southern California and Sonoma and close family members. The debutante ball committee members and officers of the Marin Charitable Foundation have also been invited.

Mrs. Hill has asked two of the girls' aunts to pour tea, Mmes. William Hill and Lewis Hill, both Petaluma residents. Others who will pour are Mmes. Richard Hay and Sam Brown of Petaluma, Raymond Hill Jr. of Novato, William P. Murray Jr. of San Rafael and John Manwaring and James McNab, both of Ross.

The debutante twins are fifth generation Petalumans and their grandmother, Mrs. Dolph Hill Sr. of Petaluma will also attend the tea. Both of the girls are graduates of Marin schools. Donna received her diploma from San Domenico School and Deborah from the Katharine Branson School.

LEAVING FOR A September vacation in Europe are Mr. and Mrs. Stanley R. Kennedy of Belvedere. They will arrive in Amsterdam and cruise the Rhine, then rent a car and drive across Switzerland and Austria. They plan to end their month stay with a visit to Paris.

FRIENDS ARE saying goodbye to Mr. and Mrs. Michael Durrie of Mill Valley and their four children, Robin, Nicholas, Jennifer and Jessica, who will be leaving this month to live in Rome.

Mr. Durrie will go first to New York for a training period in connection with his new position as assistant branch manager of the General Motors Acceptance Corporation in Rome.

A farewell luncheon was given for Belinda last week at the Durries' home by Mmes. David Ainsworth of San Anselmo and Paul Hughes, Robin Hill, Robert Stone, all of Mill Valley.

Sunday a family party for the Durries will be given at the Belvedere home of Michael's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Durrie, and on Aug. 20 the Mill Valley Cooperative School will have a luncheon for Belinda at Sabella's restaurant. She was membership chairman for the school last year.

THE TWO daughters of Maj. (ret.) and Mrs. Kermit D. Anderson of Novato, Bonnie and Linda, are in their final weeks of Girl Scout camp counseling and will begin studies at Sonoma State College in mid-September. Bonnie is an assistant leader at a Scout camp in the Lake Tahoe area and her sister is an apprentice counselor at a camp in Calaveras. Bonnie is a junior at Sonoma State and Linda will enter as a freshman.

Bored With Teen Talk? Take Heart —They'll Be Growing Up In '70s

Getting bored with talk about teen-agers, their problems and their way-out fashions?

Then take heart: the 1970s may be a little more adult than the past decade.

According to the Institute of Life Insurance, the 1970s may very well come to be known as the era of the newlyweds, new babies and grandparents.

Viewed another way, teen-agers won't be quite as dominant a group as they are today. Their numbers will not decrease, but they'll be a smaller proportion of the total population. Here's what we mean: At present there are about 22.5 million teen-agers in a population of slightly more than 200 million. In 1980, there'll be about 24 million, but in a total population predicted to be 230 million.

WHAT'S HAPPENING is that today's teen-agers are growing up. And, presumably they'll settle down, join the world of working people, marry and start their own new families. There are now about 2 million marriages a year in the U.S.

At the same time, the low birth rates of the past few years will mean a leveling-off in the teen-age population as the nation enters the 1970s.

The nation's birthrate is expected to remain low.

Still, the experts are predicting a new baby boom.

This isn't as paradoxical as it seems. The number of babies expected to be born will be high. But the number of births — in relation to the total population — will be low.

In reality, it's a question of family size. In the 1950's — when the birthrate was considered high — families were relatively large. There were three or four or more children in many households.

In other words, the last population boom came because of large families. The next boom will be because there will be more families.

In fact, the forecasters say that by 1980 there will be about 35 million households with at least one child. Currently, that's true of only 28 million households.

AND WHAT ABOUT today's adults? Many will be part of a new generation of grandparents — a big generation. The number of people in the age group 55 years old or older is expected to increase by 20 per cent over the coming decade.

This new turn in the life cycle of most families will, in all probability, be reflected in popular culture and fashion, as well as in the more basic areas of the economy.

In other words, the newlyweds will be concerning themselves with the challenges of family life — everything from solving housing problems to building their standards of living and making plans for secure futures. And many of today's adults will be concentrating on plans and financial programs for retirement.

And, of course, with a whole new generational cycle beginning, different issues will evolve to be aired by leaders of community volunteer organizations and government officials.

THAT UNCERTAIN AGE

Weathering Crisis Of 40s Is Roughest

(Last of a five-part series on that "uncertain age" for women.)

By ALISON GODDARD

(MW) Our romantic folklore often ends with a wedding and the line: "And they lived happily ever after." Well, "ever after" today, happily or otherwise, is a much longer period than it used to be.

Only a half century ago, when the last child married, one parent was usually deceased. Today, with earlier marriages, fewer children, better health and increased longevity, a woman of 40 can look forward to almost another 40 years of life. For the married couple these bonus years mean that they will have almost as many years together without children in the home as they had with them.

Families have changed, too, in this century. Before, families lived close together, united by common customs and a mutual regard for the family's position in the community. Urbanization, technology and, later, the post-World War II trek to suburbia scattered families, except where the old pattern still survives in parts of large cities.

ACCORDING TO Dr. Esther Westervelt, director of the New York State Guidance Center for Women, this change has increased loneliness and greatly influenced women's entry and re-entry into the labor market.

"With the mobility of our society, many wives have moved a number of times and have not put down roots, really don't know many people very well and are lonely. . . . So many of our suburbs have grown without any planning for real neighborhood patterns. It is not easy for many women to make friends and establish themselves in a neighborhood," she says.

THESE CHANGES have also triggered other problems as this generation of mature women move from what one authority called "the security of the known past to an uncertain future." These changes have led to paradoxes: more marriages and more divorces; more resources and greater debts; more freedom and greater insecurity.

Studies have shown that when the last child is grown and leaves home, the chances for maladjustment rise. This is particularly true for the mother who has devoted herself to the children and is now left with a feeling of abandonment because of the "empty nest."

Dr. Paul Popenoe, director of the American Institute of Family Relations, states that this can often lead to the mother-in-law problem.

"The woman has for years given up everything, she claims, to give her daughter a chance. She has focused on getting her daughter married, and when that happens and the daughter moves away, she sometimes feels that the nest is not only empty but there isn't any nest after all. . . . So she takes it very hard, and we

The French Room of the Fairmont Hotel was the setting for the evening wedding of Toni Diane Harris and Norman Stanley Roby at 8 o'clock Tuesday.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irving F. Harris of Belvedere. Mr. and Mrs. Albert Roby of New York City and Moosup, Conn., are the bridegroom's parents.

Pamela Sue Robinson of Hermosa Beach was Toni's maid of honor. John Ruden of Sacramento was best man.

Toni is a graduate of Redwood High School and the University of California at Davis. She is a graduate fellowship student in English at the University of California at Davis.

The bridegroom did his preparatory work at Wilbraham Academy in Wilbraham, Mass., and is a graduate of Bowdoin College in Brunswick, Maine. He is studying for the Ph.D. degree in English at the University of California at Davis where he is a teaching assistant in the English department. He is the brother of Mrs. John O'Brien, Ronald and Thomas Roby, all of Connecticut.

After a wedding trip to England and France, the couple will live in Davis.

June Covington Recites Vows With Mark Halsey Stephens

Mrs. Gary Giannini of Sausalito was her sister's matron of honor, and the bridegroom's sister, Leslie Stephens of San Rafael, was the bridesmaid.

Best man was Bill Stephens, and the bride's brother, Dirk Correnti, ushered.

June, as the bride is known, is a graduate of San Rafael High School. She is also the sister of Joe T. Covington, who is with the Army in Vietnam; Linda Correnti of Rohnert Park; and Kim and Bret Correnti of San Rafael.

Mark is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David G. Stephens of San Rafael. He is also a graduate of San Rafael High School, and he attended College of Marin. The bride and bridegroom are both sophomores at the College of Southern Utah in Cedar City, Utah, where they will live following a wedding trip to Honolulu.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Go Ahead And Have Your Quota, Then Work For Birth Control

DEAR HELEN:

My husband and I have been married six years, and are still trying to justify having a baby. We want one of our own, but feel it would be wiser to adopt. If everyone would stop having babies for just five years — that is, every responsible couple — and after that limit themselves to no more than two per family — with no repeats on second or third marriages — we might be saved.

As it is now, if we continue reproducing as we have in the past in less than 300 years there will be 11,000 people for every square mile of the earth's surface. This is a scientific estimate based on population growth up to the present. We're liable to stomp ourself to death!

Yet certain groups continue to fight birth control, especially among the unmarried — who need it most. If unwanted babies weren't produced, we happily married people might not feel guilty planning families.—STILL BARREN

DEAR S. B.:

I have a counter plan for you: Have your quota of two babies, and then fight actively for more and better birth control clinics, world wide. In many such clinics, contraceptive information is given to anyone who asks for it, from age 16 up, whether she is married or not — and in certain instances even this age limitation is lifted. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

If I were built like certain busty movie stars, I guess I wouldn't mind, but my size 42 is not even D-cup — it's mug. I actually need a harness to keep myself under control, and my bra straps dig into my shoulders until they are all raw and permanently grooved. I can't wear sweaters, or low cut dresses, and I'm afraid to appear in a bathing suit. My shoulders are getting stooped. I have a permanent backache from carrying my front weight around.

I once loved horseback riding, but no more. If I were galloping and my strap broke, I'd end up with a black eye. And that's not exaggerating, Helen!

In cases like mine, where large pendulous breasts are really a deformity, would it be wrong to think of getting them reduced by a surgeon? And is it much of an operation. Would I feel guilty about it? — 42-24-34.

DEAR 42:

Surgical reduction and uplift of your breasts would, in my opinion and that of most doctors, be as right as correcting any other deformity which makes you uncomfortable and might threaten your health. The operation is expensive, but in your case, well worth it. Guilt feelings? No more so than if you had a club foot straightened.

Consult your family physician who will refer you to a cosmetic surgeon. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Can remorse kill a man? And should I speak up and shatter an image, or let him die slowly?

My friends was weekending with another woman when his wife was killed in an accident. He somehow believes that he caused it, for they had a fight before he left. He mourns her as a faithful loving wife whom he wronged. His idea of himself is very low, though this was his first lapse.

Reality is a little different. His wife had several affairs, was on her way to meet a man when she died. Should I keep my mouth shut? — T. W.

DEAR T:

I'd say — "No!" Why shield the dead when the truth may save the living? — H.

Patricia Jones Is Wed In Lutheran Ceremony

Trinity Lutheran Church in San Rafael was the setting Sunday for the ceremony uniting in marriage Patricia Eileen Jones of Kentfield and Michael Dehnert of Rohnert Park.

Patricia is the daughter of Mrs. Lucille Deckman of Kentfield and Edward Jones of Ballywalter, Ireland. Mrs. Raymond Hataway of Rohnert Park and O. E. Dehnert of San Rafael are the bridegroom's parents.

Barbara Ann Jones was her sister's maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Wendy Wurtz of Kentfield, Chris Hart of Belvedere and Cindy O'Connor of Thousand Oaks.

O. E. Dehnert was his son's best man, and the reception was held at his home. Monty and Mark Dehnert, the bridegroom's brothers, ushered.

A graduate of Redwood High School, Patricia attended College of Marin. She is also the sister of Brian and Jennifer Jones of Kentfield.

Denny, as the bridegroom is known, is a graduate of Petaluma High School. He is employed by Denny's House of Plumbing in Corte Madera. Rose Marie Dehnert of Rohnert Park and Naomi Dehnert of San Rafael are his sisters.

The couple will live in San Anselmo following a wedding trip to Clear Lake and Disneyland.

THE AGE OF CRISIS

have the mother-in-law problem." He adds that such mothers-in-law are usually motivated by the best of intentions or loneliness, because they have become too dependent on their offspring.

ANOTHER PROBLEM in mature years is divorce, which is on the rise among this group. Dr. Alfred A. Messer, a psychiatrist of Emory University, Atlanta, calls this trend "the 20-year fracture" because it occurs after the last child has left home. He attributes this to our child-oriented society, where the focus is predominantly on the children.

Other problems also arise after the last child has left home. Sometimes wives and husbands are shocked to discover that they don't really know their mates. Dr. Charles Kramer, director of the Family Institute of Chicago, said such people sometimes discover that "they are strangers at this point and, instead of turning to each other and building a better — or in some cases even a new life together, they frequently seek unhealthy ways of doing things: alcoholism, extramarital affairs or other neurotic behavior of various kinds."

If mature couples adjust to the crises of these years, the outlook is bright, according to another authority.

"I think it is rather encouraging to note that as women and men move into the 50s," she said, "studies show that if they managed to weather the crises of the 40s things tend to get better. You have higher rates of marriage happiness; in fact, you can have a second honeymoon."

Food Cost Rise Is Worldwide

WASHINGTON (AP) — Families are expected to spend about 16.5 cents of their take-home dollar on food this year, compared with the 1968 record low of 16.8 cents, says the Agriculture Department.

This has occurred because incomes have risen generally more rapidly than food costs, despite their record-high levels, say the experts. Last year retail food prices jumped about 3.5 per cent and are expected to gain around four per cent in 1969.

Department officials say the United States is not unique in the food-price spiral, that many countries last year experienced even sharper gains in costs and required much larger shares of the family dollar.

Food price increases last year ranged from 7 to 13 per cent in Denmark, Finland, Yugoslavia, Ghana, Cambodia, Taiwan, Ceylon and Japan, a new department report said.

Only West Germany and the Philippines out of 50 countries studied had food price decreases in 1968, the report said.

The largest gain in food prices last year—34 per cent—was reported for South Vietnam. Other large gains were reported for Chile 26 per cent; Brazil 21 per cent; Argentina 16 per cent; and Peru 16 per cent.

Food expenditures related to family take-home for the foreign consumer were not available for 1968, but the report said that in 1966 when U. S. families spent 19.7 cents of their spending dollar for food expenditures included:

West Germany 34 cents; United Kingdom 25.1; Yugoslavia 44.1; Poland 47.6; Bulgaria 56.2; Taiwan 47.4; Japan 37.8; Korea 52; Thailand 46.2; South Vietnam (1965) 51; Panama 39.4; Italy 37.9; Denmark 22.2; and France 29.

Except for Greece, Italy and Malta, the report said, most European consumers spent from 25 to 30 cents of their take-home dollar for food last year.

PERMANENT PRESS

Proper Laundering Vital To Garments

Although permanent press clothes (sometimes called durable press) have cut down on our ironing, these processed garments call for special care at home to be at their best.

"Many consumers we have surveyed report uncertainties about proper laundering of durable press clothes," says Dr. George S. Wham, technical director of Good Housekeeping Institute. "We have developed instructions that can eliminate this problem."

Experts have laundered and dried hundreds of durable press garments of many kinds in different machines at varying settings to arrive at these directions. Samples of each permanent press garment under investigation must perform satisfactorily according to American Association of Textile Chemists and Colorists performance requirements.

The investigation covers the level of performance concerning fabric smoothness, crease retention, colorfastness, strength, shrinkage, and discoloration.

Before a permanent press garment can be shown on the fashion pages of the magazine, a sample exactly like the one illustrated will have been laundered and dryer dried five times under "in home" conditions to make sure it maintains its good appearance.

The institute advises that you read garment labels and appliance instruction books for specific details on handling, in addition to these general rules for permanent press care.

1. Wash frequently. Durable press garments stay fresh looking during wear, so there's a tendency to postpone laundering. Don't! Once fabrics become heavily soiled and stained, they won't clean easily. Pre-treat stains and collars and cuffs with soap or detergent. Sponge greasy stains with spot remover, or use one of the new pre-treater products.

3. Do small loads. Crowding the washer causes wrinkling.

4. Choose correct water temperature. Cold or warm water produces the least wrinkling. Heavily soiled clothes, however, will need hot water to come thoroughly clean. This may mean more wrinkling and touch-up ironing — especially if garment is not dryer-dried. Use your regular laundry detergent. Don't use chlorine bleach if a label warns against it.

5. Use a short agitation. It shouldn't be necessary to wash more than five minutes. If slower spin is provided on washer, use it to reduce wrinkling. If you don't have a dryer, a slower final spin will minimize wrinkles.

6. Rinse in cold water. A fabric softener can be used in the final rinse to help reduce wrinkling and static cling.

7. Don't over-dry. Use the medium (140°-to-160°F.) or "Wash and Wear" setting. If it's a one-heat dryer and runs quite hot, remove garments while they are slightly damp. Otherwise, remove garments immediately when the dryer stops in order to prevent re-wrinkling.

8. Don't overcrowd dryer. Overcrowding will cause wrinkles. But don't dry one garment alone. If you have a very small load, add a few clean towels to help tumbling action.

9. Hang clothes after laundering. If air-drying, do not throw over a line or drying rack. Place garments on a hanger (a non-rusting one) and hang pants by cuffs on a spring-clip hanger. Do this promptly after dryer-drying too.

10. Touch-up when necessary. Use a steam iron or a regular iron on "low" for synthetics and blends, "medium" for cotton; a press cloth, when needed, to prevent shine.

TO PUBLISH ENGAGEMENT AND WEDDING STORIES IN THE I-J

Forms for engagement and wedding story information to be printed in the Independent-Journal are available from the I-J offices in San Rafael, Novato, Mill Valley and Southern Sonoma.

Wedding forms should be returned promptly to the I-J office in your area and information will be printed immediately after the wedding. Photographers should be urged to submit a print of the wedding picture promptly. Color photographs cannot be used.

The Independent-Journal does not print wedding stories or photographs received more than seven days after the wedding.

An engagement form may be accompanied by a professional black and white photograph, which may be picked up at the I-J office after publication. Snapshots, polaroid or color pictures are not suitable.

Pre-Painting

Planning to hire a painting contractor? Save him some time and yourself some money by making basic preparations before he arrives. First, take down curtains, blinds, and other wall decorations. Dust the walls and windows. If there are accumulations of grease or grime, wash the walls with a mild detergent solution. Then rinse with clear water. Move all furnishings to the center of the room where they can be covered with protective dropcloths.

Thousands gripped by Shakespeare fever!

Symptoms of the fever, known as Shakespearilis Delitis, appear to be an inability to control the facial "smiling" muscles, a heightened sense of awareness — and a desire to come back again and again to Forest Meadows Theatre.

Authorities report the disease is infecting men, women and children, along with a noticeable rise in pressure at the box office. While the exhilarating performances of the players are partly to blame, theatre buffs place most of the responsibility upon William Shakespeare himself.

They charge the Bard with using his devilish knowledge of the human race to capture, enrapture and completely subdue audiences to the point where they are helpless to do anything but enjoy themselves. "This is mesmerism, or maybe magic," said one newspaper critic. "He's supposed to be the greatest dramatist, yet he tickles you to death with comedy. And when you're laughing, gives you the knife. There's no known defense!"

PUT A GARDEN on the buffet table to prolong the sommer feeling indoors or out with greenery and fruit arrangements that are carried out in the china or napkins. Here the tureen is the focal point for main course coq au vin or even a delicious stew. Breadsticks go in the teapot. Imaginative use of what you have brightens any table setting.

Be Adventurous When Having Guests

Entertaining can be boring if you don't watch out. Hostess and guests alike will miss all the excitement if things are always predictable—same menus, same table setting, same decorations.

Today there is no excuse for not trying more adventurous menus with the recipes to be found in the multitude of great cookbooks and newspaper and magazine recipes available. No need any more to have the same party tablecloth and napkins, brought out with boring regularity and laundered with toil and tears. Table linens have never been gayer, more unusual or easier to care for.

A table setting is a sight you create to please the eye, and imagination is its chief ingrediednt, not splendid equipment. Keep in mind that there are few rules for setting today's tables. Not everything must match, for instance. You can even use dress or upholstery fabrics instead of conventional linens. And don't be afraid to interchange everyday and formal sets. Earthenware is fine with simple sterling and crystal, and anything but the very elaborate patterns in fine china can be used with stainless steel.

When it comes to centerpieces imagination is your only limitation. If you have the idea that it should always be flowers, remember that they are not very original unless you are an expert arranger or combine them with unusual containers.

One successful hostess, for instance, put garden daisies in a large blue and white Spode teapot for an immediate conversation piece at a summer luncheon. Vegetables and fresh fruits can be much more appealing than a bunch of hothouse flowers, too.

With a more intimate group at a smaller table, where there is no room for a centerpiece that is merely decorative, you can center the table with part of the menu. A colorful salad in a solid wooden bowl, a slab of marble with a variety of different cheeses or a decorative cake flanked by very tall candles in unobtrusive candlesticks are all different ways to bring colorful interest to your table.

Tables become routine when we don't make the effort, and it is often surprising how much fun this type of effort can be.

Bennett-Harris Vows Are Exchanged

The First Baptist Church in Belle Glade, Fla., was the setting for the wedding of Evelyn Marie Harris of Belle Glade to Leon Dale Bennett of San Rafael on Saturday.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Junius Harris of Belle Glade, Evelyn was attended by her sister, Karen Harris, as maid of honor. The bridesmaids were another sister, Mrs. Carlos Valella of Belle Glade, and Marilyn Rabin of Cape Canaveral, Margie Townsend of Belle Glade and Jeannie Kleinhammer of Lawrence, Kan.

Terry Bennet, the bridegroom's brother, served as his best man. Ushers were Ed and Joe Hall of Orlando, Fla., Claude Smith of Atlanta, and Alan Jones of Clewiston, Fla.

The couple will drive to San Francisco on their wedding trip and they plan to live in San Rafael. The bridegroom will then go on to South Korea, where he is stationed with the U. S. Army.

Evelyn is a graduate of Belle Glade High School and her husband was graduated from Briarcliff High School in Atlanta, Ga. Both were graduated last year from Carson-Newman College in Jefferson City, Tenn.

Leon is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl M. Bennett of San Rafael.

World War I Meeting, Now Golden Wedding

An anniversary mass celebrated at their home in San Anselmo last Saturday marked 50 years of marriage for Mr. and Mrs. George Kroncke who were married Aug. 10, 1919. The Rev. John J. Hayes of St. Anselm's Church said the mass.

A reception following was given by their children, Mrs. Elvus Regelia of San Rafael, Mrs. Edwin Bullian of San Rafael and George A. Kroncke of San Rafael.

The Kronckes, who have 12 grandchildren, came to San Anselmo in 1924 from Long Island, N.Y., to run the San Anselmo Furniture Store, which Mr. Kroncke inherited from his uncle, also named George Kroncke.

They soon sold the business and Mr. Kroncke worked in marketing for the Standard Oil Co. in San Francisco for 40 years before retiring in 1960. Mrs. Kroncke originally from Naugatuck, Conn., where the couple met during World War I, worked at Kaufman's store in San Anselmo for 25 years before retiring.

Caro Louise Tanner Wed In San Rafael Ceremony

The bride, who is the daughter of Lt. Col. and Mrs. George D. Tanner of the Canal Zone and formerly of Hamilton Air Force Base, was attended by her sister, Mrs. Robert W. Schultz of Michigan. Another sister, Janine Tanner of the Canal Zone, and Virginia Hammond of Los Angeles were the bridesmaids.

A reception was given afterward at the Hamilton Air Force Base Officers Club. The couple will live in Berkeley.

The bride was graduated from high school at Mouasseur Air Force Base in Morocco and from the University of California. She is a teacher with the Oakland Public School district.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald MacPherson of Santa Monica. He was graduated from Palisades High School and the University of California.

A Recipe For Dieting

WEST LAFAYETTE, Ind. (UPI)—Nutritionists at Purdue University, alarmed at the nation's penchant for fad diets, offers a sensible and sure-fire method of losing weight. But you may not like their four point route to taking off pounds sensibly.

Here is the recipe:

—Take a giant size portion of motivation.

—Add knowledge about good nutrition and diet.

—Mix well with self-discipline.

—Add several dashes of physical activity.

The nutritionists point out that carbohydrates, proteins, fats, vitamins, minerals and water all are important to one's daily diet.

Taking these needs into consideration, then ask yourself, "What makes me grow sideways?"

General rule: Eat a fine breakfast, a light lunch and a good dinner. But please, you pudgy ones, don't eat so much.

New Tomales High School Ready, Awaits Students

NEW SCHOOL — Shoreline Unified School District's new $995,400 Tomales High School, constructed one mile east of the present high school, will be dedicated at ceremonies at 1:30 p.m., Aug. 24. Howard Day, president of the state Board of Education will be the keynote speaker. There will also be remarks by school trustees and administrators. The superintendents of both Marin and Sonoma counties have been invited. Following the dedication ceremonies, there will be tours of the building, a new landmark in West Marin.
(I-J photos by Theron A. Newell)

GYMNASIUM AND STAGE — Students Linda Tremari and Joan Damazio (from left), shorthand teacher Ann Rock and Neal Fenton, vice principal, look over the sprawling room which will serve as a gymnasium and assembly room complete with a "portable" stage. The room will also be used as a luncheon center. The cafeteria is to the right.

Calendar For Music, Air, Adobe Fetes

The calendar of activities for three major events this weekend in Marin County and Petaluma — The Inverness Music Festival, Gnoss Field air show, and Petaluma's Old Adobe Days — is:

Gov. Reagan Orders Judd Extradition

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan has ordered the extradition to Arizona of Winnie Ruth Judd, notorious trunk murderess of the 1930s, on a charge of being a fugitive from a mental hospital.

Mrs. Judd, now 64, escaped in 1962. She was arrested last month in Danville where she was working as a housekeeper.

BAY AREA REFUSE CRISIS IS CRITICAL

Report Urges Counties To Find Ways To Ship Garbage Out — Or Suffocate

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

SAN FRANCISCO — All Bay Area counties, including Marin, must take immediate steps to ship their garbage and refuse to northeastern California or Nevada — or to the entire region will become one vast dump.

This was the finding reported yesterday after an 18-month study of the problem by Commonwealth Club members.

The Bay Area will run out of places to dump its trash by 1977, warned the report by the club's section on pollution and waste disposal problems. By the year 2000, the region will have a deficit of areas to dump totaling 48 square miles — 20 feet deep, the report said.

RAILROAD RUNS

It envisioned a series of transfer stations along railroad tracks on both sides of the bay. Collection trucks would bring refuse to the stations for loading onto railroad cars, which would make daily runs to the remote disposal sites.

The proposal, never before tried anywhere, has been under consideration by the City of San Francisco, but negotiations with the Western Pacific Railroad have broken down temporarily.

Such a system could be in operation in 18 months, the report estimated.

Disadvantages to the proposal, the report conceded, include objections by residents of areas through which the trains would pass. Also, "the system is vulnerable to wrecks, derailments, slides, floods, snows, freezing conditions, strikes, etc.," the report added.

COMPRESSION

Exotic methods of compressing and reducing the volume of wastes "are only intermediate steps," which do not answer the need to dispose of the wastes, it said.

The only alternative to remote land disposal is burial at sea, but the mechanics and economics of getting large volumes of refuse down deep enough so it will not float back to shore "have not been established," the report said.

"Experts generally agree that a major technological breakthrough in solid waste disposal is not likely," it concluded.

Peter A. Rogers, senior sanitary engineer in the state Department of Health, warned that San Francisco's garbage crisis "will be faced by every city in the Bay Area in a few years — it's a matter of timing." San Francisco will fill up all its dump sites in less than two years.

GARBAGE INCREASE

Rogers, commenting on the report at the section's meeting in the Sheraton-Palace Hotel, noted that the Bay Area produced 2.8 million tons of refuse in 1963, and nine million in 1967.

But "working in the opposite direction from the needed regional cooperation" are laws like one in Marin County barring importation into the county of any refuse. Marin, however, exports more than one-third of its refuse to Contra Costa County, he said.

Sonoma County is the only one in the Bay Area that neither exports or imports refuse, Rogers said.

AIR POLLUTION

Burning refuse, even in costly incinerators, runs into stiff air pollution regulations, he said.

Leonard Stefanelli, president of the Sunset Scavenger Corp., which handles San Francisco's refuse, complained that the problem is "a political football" in the Bay Area, and endorsed the proposal to haul refuse to remote sites by train. This would take care of the problem for 600 years, he declared.

Stefanelli noted that San Francisco's refuse had been used to fill in 460 acres of the bay as a "reclamation project," but acknowledged that the bay no longer could be used as a dump.

The U. S. government employs more than 3,000 librarians and 1,700 assistants.

MOTION PICTURE GUIDE

The Marin Motion Picture and Television Councils provides these ratings of movies currently being shown in Marin County. The council's findings are from the California and National Parent-Teacher Association magazines and the film report of the Film Estimate Board. More complete reviews may be obtained by calling the San Rafael Library.

FAMILY

"Around the World in 80 Days" — Jules Verne's Victorian classic proves to be as fresh and full of delights as ever. Opulent travelogue of the world of 1872 by various means of transportation.

"Chitty Chitty, Bang Bang" — Delightful musical fantasy about an impoverished crackpot inventor who enriches the life of his two motherless children with zany inventions. Imaginative dances and songs interwoven. Children should take their parents and grandparents to see.

"High, Wild and Free" — Filmed in northern British Columbia. Photographer Gordon Eastman gives us a tribute of some of the last unspoiled country left in the northern hemisphere. Excellent.

"Love Bug" — Disney presents a whimsical story about a car that not only has a heart and mind of its own, but ability to drive itself. Highly imaginative fantasy.

"Peter Pan" — Welcome reissue of longtime favorite. A Disney feature length cartoon.

"Sound of Music" — Joyous, happy film filled with breathtaking beauty of majestic Alps, music and song. Superb entertainment.

"Winnie the Pooh" — Film imparts a gentle lesson in sharing with and scarificing for one's friends.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"April Fools" — Satire of New York jet setters. Married man meets boss's wife at a party and they run off to live in Paris. Good cast wasted on a stupid story.

"Dro Zhivago" — Russian revolution brilliantly recreated. Well worth seeing for magnificent spectacle.

"If It's Tuesday, This Must Be Belgium" — Comic spoof of American tourists on a group tour of Europe. Number of unnecessary bedroom scenes thrown in.

"Lion in Winter" — Rich, explosive drama that makes brilliant reality out of distant history. King Henry II must choose one of his three sons as his successor. Intrigues and maneuverings makes for high drama. Flawless production.

"Popi" — Tender, enlightening, remarkably well-acted comedy about a Puerto Rican widower's scheme to lift his boys out of poverty. Authentic ghetto scenes provide frightening realism so young children should be accompanied by parents.

BORDERLINE

(Most sources say Adults Only)

"A Fine Park" — Thievery is made exciting and glamorous. Police captain eager to get a beautiful girl out of trouble helps her to return stolen jewels. He then is convinced that a life of crime is more fun and decides to make it his new career.

ADULTS ONLY

"Goodbye Columbus" — Picture of a Jewish family is real and humorous. The warmth of the people comes through all the surface vulgarity. Explicit sex and nudity.

"If" — Harrowing British study of violently rebellious youth. Unattractive world of a boys school. A highly disturbing film, a fantasy, perhaps, but lasting in its impact.

Lingerie Valued At $120 Stolen

Police said Carol Bain of 146 Tamalpais Road, reported the items were taken between 7:30 p.m. yesterday and 12:15 a.m. today. There were no signs of forced entry, police said.

Radio equipment and a stereo receiver worth $319 were taken. Police said entry was gained by removing an unlocked screen.

Legislature Passes Mixed Bag Of Criminal Statutes

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The 1969 Legislature voted to make life tougher for the Mafia, drunken drivers, smut merchants and topless dancers.

The lawmakers also rejected Gov. Ronald Reagan's "Merit Plan" for appointment of judges, made it easier to get a divorce and passed a bill striking down gun control laws of San Francisco and Beverly Hills.

In short, legislative efforts dealing with crime and justice produced a mixed bag.

REPUBLICAN BENT

The Legislature, controlled by the Republicans for the first time in more than a decade, handed the GOP governor two major elements of his legislative program—new controls on the sale of pornography and new limits on how much a driver can drink and remain legally sober.

The anti-pornography bill by Sen. Robert J. Lagomarsino, R-Ojai, and the drunken driving limits measure by Assemblyman W. Craig Biddle, R-Riverside, had been blocked during previous sessions when Democrats outnumbered Republicans.

OBSCENITY STANDARDS

The anti-filth legislation is aimed at keeping smut out of the hands of children. One bill creates a separate standard for judging what is obscene for youths under 18. The other writes into law a pandering concept so that advertising methods can be used to decide if a publication is legally obscene.

The tipsy driver bill writes into the law books at what limit a motorist is presumed to be too intoxicated to operate a motor vehicle legally in California.

If .10 per cent of a driver's blood is alcohol, he will be presumed in court to have been drunk. If the level is between .05 and .10 no presumption will be made. At .05 and below, he'll be presumed sober enough to drive.

The average 150-pound man would reach the presumptive limit at seven and a half drinks of 80 proof liquor during an hour and a half. A 120-pounder would normally reach the limit at slightly more than six drinks.

Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch convinced the legislators his special "Mob Squad" organized crime investigators needed new tools to prosecute underworld syndicates such as the Mafia.

The Legislature, over some protests of some libertarians, agreed and approved a bill granting immunity from prosecution to "little fish" hoodlums who inform on their gangster bosses.

Under the bill, a judge at the Attorney General's urging, could direct an informer to testify. In return, he would be granted immunity from prosecution in both state and federal courts.

DIVORCE LAWS

California's nearly century-old divorce laws were overhauled in an attempt to eliminate agonizing courtroom fights.

It scrapped the traditional grounds for divorce and created two reasons—"irreconcilable differences" and "incurable insanity."

Major provisions also reduce the residency requirement for a divorce from one year to six months and eliminate the requirement that fault be established in the division of community property.

AUTHORS

In one of its final acts, the Legislature sent to Reagan a measure by Sen. H. L. Richardson, R-Arcadia, declaring that the state had preempted the field of gun control in California. The bill would have nullified local gun regulation ordinances of San Francisco and Beverly Hills adopted in the wake of the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto appealed to Reagan to veto the proposal.

He said if the bill became law the lawmakers would "play into the hands of Black Panthers and other urban groups that want to shoot their way to revolution."

Another preemption measure, informally known as the "topless-bottomless act," authorizes local governments to enact their own ordinances regulating nude or nearly nude entertainment. For years, courts and the Legislature had been unable to decide whether state law took precedence over local statutes.

The measure by Assemblyman John Quimby, D-Rialto, and Sen. Lawrence Walsh, D-Huntington Park, is designed to give cities and counties authorization to pass ordinances banning such entertainment.

Youth Denies Drug Accusation

Edward Thomas Vrable, 19, of Lucas Valley pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a charge of offering to transport and sell marijuana June 16 to a narcotics agent.

A preliminary hearing was set for Sept. 11.

Also named as a co-defendant in the case is Eric Lee Prescott, who has never appeared in court to answer the charge. A bench warrant is out for his arrest. Prescott is also charged with selling LSD on two occasions to an agent.

Vrable was arrested July 23 in a narcotics raid in San Rafael.

Holiday For Crime In Police Day Off

HELSINKI, Finland (UPI)—Police have adopted as their slogan for their annual national day: "A Day Without Police?"

"We aren't going on strike," said the police commandant. "But we want to make people think what life would be like if nobody chased the criminals."

SAVED BY RESIGNATION

Former Japanese Admiral Discloses Tojo Death Plot

TOKYO (AP) — A group of Japanese Navy officers planned to assassinate Premier Hideki Tojo in 1944 after he refused to replace his navy minister to help end World War II, a man who claims he was the leader of the plot has disclosed.

Sokichi Takagi, a former rear admiral, said in a telephone interview that Tojo unknowingly saved himself when he resigned 48 hours before the officers planned to ambush his car in Tokyo.

Tojo, an army general, was considered Japan's No. 1 war criminal. He tried to commit suicide when Japan surrendered in 1945 but was saved, only to be executed three years later for war crimes.

Takagi, now 75, said that the assassination was to take place on July 20.

"All prepared secretly," he added. "We were dead sure of killing Tojo with the first round of fire."

Takagi was elaborating on an article he wrote for the current issue of the magazine Bungei Shunju commemorating the 24th anniversary of Japan's surrender.

Takagi claims he instigated the plot after Tojo repeatedly ignored demands from a group of navy officers that he name Adm. Mitsumasa Yonai to replace Adm. Shigetaro Shimada as navy minister. Yonai was considered more inclined toward coexisting with the West and more able to end the war "the way most of the nation desired," Takagi said.

He said three of his best men had been chosen to help him kill Tojo.

"If it had been carried out as scheduled, it might have coincided with the unsuccessful attempt in Germany (on July 20) to kill Adolf Hitler with a time bomb in his underground bunker in East Prussia."

However, he said the Japanese had no knowledge in advance of the German plot, and "neither did the Germans have any means to know of ours."

The three men who were to help him kill Tojo "are alive in Japan today," Takagi said, but he refused to disclose their names.

New Directive On Revolution: 'Learn How To Survive First'

Establishment). Unhuh, wow, they're forced out."

"It used to be comfortable to drop out . . . a peace-and-love type thing," said John. Now, "to do your own thing you have to learn how to survive first."

He continued, "There's no culture except among oppressed peoples. America has attempted to rip off culture and graft it onto themselves," the bearded youth maintained.

That's what happened to the Wild West Festival, he indicated. "They (the San Francisco Music Council) are trying to pervert, synthesize, plasticize the hip culture and sell it back to them."

The Haight Commune, a gathering of representatives from smaller communes, went to the music council and protested, he said.

Promoters, he said, stood to make at least $120,000 from the project, but had not included all ethnic groups, had made no provision for feeding and sleeping the expected crowds, and no provision for medical and legal facilities. Worse, he said, none of the money was for the people.

The Haight Commune, also worried there would be a riot, started trying to make plans for the crowds and asked that the council be expanded to include them. It wasn't.

Pressure, a strike meeting, finally canceled the festival with promoters claiming their lives had been threatened, a fact John vehemently denied from his perch atop a desk. "We don't care about their lives. They're not important people," he said.

"To stop a negative thing is a positive act," he told the class. "To create you must destroy the bull — and bad vibes." Destroying the festival got rid of some of the garbage. "We can start building," he said.

"The music council just got hit upside the head with a big chunk of peace and love," he maintained and told the group: "Long hair is not enough. Is your soul shaggy too?"

As he spoke, a car door slammed and Dennis Marnell, leader of the class, and a member of the Students for a Democratic Society, announced, "Oh God, it's the president of the board of trustees." (Actually, it was the immediate past president, Theodore C. Wellman.)

Wellman, looking out of place in his neat gray pinstripe suit, did not seem to inhibit the class. Shortly after his arrival, Marnell offered copies of Dock of the Bay, the sheet which publishes names of narcotics agents in the Bay Area.

The second half of the class was to be devoted to a lecture on Marixism by Marty Nicholas, a former teacher from Canada, now writing for a radical education publication.

"What we just heard (John's talk) was about as close to a Marxist analysis as you could probably get," he said. "Someone who is a Marxist will talk right away about survival."

He began discussing Marx, multisyllable technical words streaming forth. Within minutes half the group, mostly teenagers, left and Marnell who had earlier suggested Nicholas use less intricate language said they were gone because they didn't understand.

The Marxist theory discussion sort of fell apart then as the class started discussing education.

"We have to tailor the education to these people," said John of the young people who left. "The system is here and we have to fit it to them."

"How are you going to get together with the hippies when they're on drugs?" asked Lillian Holter, Kentfield mother of four who had earlier criticized one of the young people for being stoned.

Marnell reported he goes into the schools and tries to turn them off dope and turn them on to politics.

A tousle-haired youth in a bright yellow tee shirt said education is trying to "take people and fit them into certain niches. We should have a two-way thing," he said. He also argued that most education doesn't relate to him because there is no way to apply it to his life.

A short speech by Jerry Coleman who identified himself as a Young Patriot, a group out to help poor whites as the Black Panthers are doing for the blacks, ended the formal class and there followed a short discussion with Wellman.

"You are Standard Oil executive. How can you relate to me?" Marnell asked, giving some of his background which began on New York's lower east side and is now a struggle to eat and go to school.

Marnell told Wellman the next class, next Thursday, would be at the board meeting and urged a little less talk from some of the right wingers and more listening. "They might learn something," he said.

The class was the target of several individuals and organizations at last week's board meeting.

Marnell, who says he is an anarchist, said last night the class would continue indefinitely and perhaps expand to include a theory course on Monday nights and speakers on Thursday nights "unless they put me in jail."

San Rafael Budget Cut May Mean Bond Issue

By FRANK FARRARA

San Rafael voters can expect a bond measure, possibly this fall, to finance a recreation center, fire department headquarters and land for both adjacent to Albert Park. (See other San Rafael City Council story page 1)

San Rafael City Council last night budgeted $1,264,601 in capital improvements for 1969-70, but blue-pnciled funds for the proposed recreation center and fire house.

Mayor C. Paul Bettini said the two projects should be offered to the voters "hopefully in November," and other councilmen agreed.

They didn't discuss the details or amount of the potential bond measure, but the cost of the recreation center has been estimated at $350,000 and a new fire station at $316,000.

The city also would need to buy land along B street, west of the park, for the proposed buildings, and Bettini mentioned acquiring the stretch from Albert Park Lane to Safeway Market.

One of the major items in the capital improvements budget was $216,000 to begin upgrading the sanitary sewer system.

City Engineer Ely Caillouette Jr. explained that $139,000 would be for new lines in the area of Bayview and D streets, and $77,000 for lines at Third and Irwin streets, Park Street, Mary Street and Mission Avenue.

Cut from the proposed sewer improvement program was $100,000 for inspection, testing and sealing of lines.

Another major project, estimated to most more than originally expected, will be the creation of a new corpoartion yard at Lincoln Avenue, south of Second Street.

Councilmen allocated $235,000 for a new yard, with Bettini commenting that the cost estimate had gone up $80,000 "since the last time I saw the plan."

At the last council session, when Bettini was absent, the plans were revised because the state Division of Highways intends to construct highway ramps over the south portion of the city-owned lot.

Caillouette explained that the ramps wouldn't interfere with the north section of the lot where the yard will be located, and Councilman Frederick C. Robbins Jr. said it would be a permanent yard.

The city needs a new corportation yard because it sold the major portion of its lot along Francisco Boulevard to two automobile dealers. At one time, it had been proposed that the city swap its old corporation yard property to the county for the courthouse square.

McCown reported that the city would receive $334,176 during fiscal 1970 as revenue from sale of its corporation yard property.

The capital improvements budget includes $363,318 for the San Pedro Road widening project, including $113,318 in carryover funds, part of a long-range, city-county program.

Left out were any funds to implement a series of traffic flow changes, including making Fourth Street and Fifth Avenue one-way streets, recommended by D. Jackson Faustman, Sacramento traffic consultant.

Under parks and recreation, the council allocated $40,000 for development of Freitas Park near Don Timoteo School, and $24,900 for lighting at Albert Park.

Under public works there was $107,989 for resurfacing streets, $48,000 for traffic signals at Las Gallinas Avenue and Northgate Drive and at Northgate Drive and Manuel T. Freitas Parkway, and $14,000 for repair of damage from last winter's storms.

The additions boosted the city's combined operating and capital improvements budget, to $5,058,439, up $889,835 from last year's total budget, but the tax rate is expected to hold at 86 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

The tentative operating budget of $3,793,838 is up $528,487 from the past year ,and the capital improvements budget up $361,348.

McCown estimated revenue at $4,460,218, and said there would be carryover funds from the 1969-70 budget, $725,000 in undistributed reserve and $365,458 in the capital improvement budget.

The council will meet at 8 p.m. Monday at city hall to set the tax rate.

Patrick Sues Illinois Official Over Charges

I-J Special Report

CHICAGO — San Rafael cosmetics magnate William Penn Patrick today ordered a $30 million lawsuit against Illinois Atty. Gen. William J. Scott, who yesterday charged Patrick's firm with violating state antilottery laws, deceptive practices and price fixing.

Patrick also hired a Chicago law firm to have the Illinois and Chicago bar associations "review the tactics" of Scott, and to immediately institute disbarment proceedings against two assistant attorney generals.

CHICAGO CRIME

"Chicago is one of the leading crime areas in the country," Patrick declared in a press statement, "and it is appalling to me that Mr. Scott (Assistant Atty. Gen. Robert Atkins) has nothing better to do than harass innocent businessmen in their pursuit to make an honest livlion lawsuit against Illinois Ating, while murderers, gangsters, rapists, muggers, etc.

ILLEGAL LOTTERY

The state's suit claimed that the firm's system of initial investment fees for distributors, bonuses for recruting new distributors and commissions constituted an illegal lottery.

The state's suit also charged false advertising, and said salesmen were told falsely that average sales volumes were $300 a month. The suit also charged that claims by the firm that a distributor could earn $25,000 a year and a housewife $9,000 a year part time were false.

Belvedere Gets Approval For Offshore Annexation

The Local Agency Formation Commission last night gave the City of Belvedere permission to annex offshore waters to the center of Richardson Bay.

Although it has not said so publicly, the city reportedly wanted control over the body of water in order to prevent houseboats from springing up as they did at Waldo Point.

In other matters, the commisson approved annexation of property at Virginia Avenue and Simmons Lane and a section of the Pinherio property on Further Street to the Novato Sanitary District. The latter property is the site of a future senior citizens housing development.

Hearing On Conduct

After a preliminary hearing yesterday in Marin Municipal Court Charles E. Lawder, 43, of Houston, was held to answer Monday in Marin Superior Court to charges of lewd conduct and committing an unnatural sex act with a 7-year-old Novato boy Aug. 5.

Novato Service Alliance Meeting

More than 50 people representing 22 organizations last night weighed formation of a Novato service alliance, according to publicity chairman Robert Anderson.

After representatives at the meeting in Novato Community House discuss it with their organziations, another meeting will be called in September, he said.

The Novato Jaycees had called the meeting on formation of a service alliance to coordinate service projects.

Worried Youth Talked Out Of Leap From Span

A 19-year-old San Francisco youth, despondent over a personal problem, hung from the main support cable of the Golden Gate Bridge for a half-hour yesterday before he was talked into returning to safety by three bridge steel workers.

Robert Kendall McNie, 19, was taken to San Francisco General Hospital by California Highway Patrol officers for observation.

Officers said bridge workers saw McNie at 3:30 p.m. hanging over the east side of the bridge from the support cable half way between midspan and the north tower.

The steel workers, Richard Seward, Eugene Peil and Marin Siem, talked to McNie for about 15 minutes before convincing him to return to the bridge sidewalk where he was taken into custody.

Station Wagon Gone

A locked 1961 Chevrolet station wagon, belonging to Karen D. Harmon, 151 Jordan Avenue, San Anselmo, was stolen from the Safeway parking lot at Red Hill Shopping Center, 900 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, between 5 and 10 p.m. yesterday, Miss Harmon told police.

INSURANCE CAREER
Expanding insurance and mutual fund firm has current opening for a young man with minimum of 4 years experience in the life insurance field. Position is that of line-management which reports to our regional vice president. You must have heavy knowledge of the life insurance product, but feel that your future is not in life insurance sales. This is not a replacement job, but a new position at the regional level. Position requires some travel in Northern California, but not enough to make your wife unhappy. Duties include training, directing and motivating men to sell life insurance and mutual funds. We offer an outstanding starting salary with attractive fringe benefits. If you feel you have enough life insurance background to step in and take command as a successful executive in this well-managed, growing insurance company made brighter with mutual funds, please submit a resume outlining your education, job experience and major interests in the life insurance field. We will definitely acknowledge your inquiry. Submit resume to box 672 I-J.

★ ABOUT MARIN ★

MILL VALLEY

Mill Valley has a feeling of the European Alps. . . . Its village is safe for children day or night. . . . And we who live in Mill Valley boast about evening walks in the redwoods or on Mount Tamalpais along streams that are still running with cool refreshing water. And yet we're only minutes from downtown San Francisco. We have a large real estate office in Mill Valley where we keep up-to-the-minute lists of Mill Valley's homes and lots that are for sale. Our office is on the right just beyond the high school (and next to Crocker-Citizens Bank). Come by — we have lists of used homes, and in fact we're building new homes here too! See Mill Valley real estate with

KENT WOODLANDS

Offers spectacular views, prime climate and commute and is one of Marin's four finest addresses. Kent Woodlands was planned for privacy and protection . . . with only one entrance for 450 homes affording maximum security. All building and subdivision restrictions are carefully enforced. It is a beautiful place to live. We have a real estate office opposite the Kent Woodlands gates. There we post every home and lot that is for sale (with their prices) on a wall map. We invite you to come in and see what is now for sale in Kent Woodlands.

SAN RAFAEL

With all of Marin to choose from, the Mission Fathers selected San Rafael for the site of their Mission . . . they had an eye for property. Here is Marin's greatest complex of communities in our warmest climate . . . and in San Rafael we have every choice of price and amenity . . . from budget homes in Santa Venetia to English Tudor mansions in the Dominican. Our office in San Rafael is just off the freeway, and our exclusive San Rafael home listings range all the way from $25,950 to $197,500! FRANK HOWARD ALLEN is known in Marin for their courtesy, so stop by and see us, please. Take San Rafael's first exit and on 4th turn rifht one block to Grand. We've been on this corner for ten years.

"TIBURON"

. . . means shark in Spanish but to the home buyer it means Marin's most spectacular views and commuter convenience. Tiburon has Marin's only ferry service affording a small group of executives a real kick out of morning and evening bay rides. Tiburon offers fine schools and a surprising variety of prices in new and used homes and still a wide choice of building sites. Our office in Tiburon is on the non-business side of town, right on the water, looking at the Golden Gate Bridge. (You go thru town and past the old ferry slip to find us.) We keep a wall map up-to-date there with every property for sale in Tiburon (we also keep a coffee pot going) and while you're looking at our real estate map, your children can walk over to Elephant Rock where Tiburon asks "no adults, please." So plan to stop by this weekend at FRANK HOWARD ALLEN's Tiburon office . . .

DISPATCHER IS MIDDLEMAN

A Busy Swing Shift With County Sheriff's Crew

By FRANK FARRARA

Even an air traffic controller at a busy airport would have second thoughts before taking a job as a dispatcher at the Marin County sheriff's office.

Seated in an aging basement room at the soon-to-be-abandoned county courthouse, he is surrounded by two typewriters, three telephones and a radio.

The events of a shift flow through this one-man communications center with the precision of a smooth double-play, complaining resident-to-dispatcher-to patroling deputy.

Deputy Billy M. Wallace was in the dispatcher's seat this week during the swing shift, 4 p.m. to midnight, an acknowledged quiet shift with only one person booked Wednesday night.

Yet, when the shift was over he had typed about 130 entries in the dispatch log, answered 77 telephone calls and filled out 15 assignment sheets listing incidents that require full reports from deputies.

When the swing shift crew started, the 46 prisoners, 44 males and two females, were digging into a fried chicken dinner topped off with watermelon.

One man short because of vacations, Sgt. George J. Reuss, watch commander, was working with two patrol deputies, Joseph G. Kelly and Richard A. Keaton, covering three beats, extending from the Alto area to beyond Novato.

The calls began coming in, 4:17 p.m., an attempted burglary at 370 Ferndale Avenue, Homestead Valley, 4:28, report of arson at the Point Reyes National Seashore, 4:38, report of dog bite in Forest Knolls.

Juvenile Officer Charles Prandi arrived at 4:50 p.m. with a silent, slim 18-year-old youth, who was picked up while hitchhiking along Highway 101 and a check revealed that he was a runaway from Tacoma, Wash.

The youth, dressed in blue denims with bell bottom trousers, was booked to be held overnight.

"He had amnesia, was in a car accident, and his mother is going to come down and pick him up," explained Jailer James Hickey.

Sgt. Robert Scheiner of the jail division and Hickey didn't know it then, but that was to be the last booking of the shift.

Some nights, particularly when there's a full moon, the line of those to be booked extends almost to the end of the entrance hallway, deputies asserted.

"When there's a full moon, we get all the nutty calls," said Wallace.

The calls continue . . . a burglary in Marin City reported, 4:58, a burglary alarm accidentally set off at 5:03.

Deputy Keaton is on his way at 5:30 to take a report from a Marinwood resident about two pet rabbits taken from their caged area and killed, their heads cut off.

The day staff, inspectors, administrators and clerical help, are gone, but there is a slight hum of activity . . . a bail bondsman arrives to confer with a prisoner in a side room, a middle-aged woman seeks advice from Reuss about how she can help her alcoholic husband.

The calls resume . . . an attempted burglary at 419 Montford Avenue in Homestead Valley, 6:12 p.m.; a lewd telephone call in Terra Linda, 6:51 p.m.

Twilight time and the calls resume, malicious mischief at Manzanita School in Marin City at 7:43, theft of a diesel tank at Smith Ranch Road, 8:13; indecent exposure in the Miller Creek area of Marinwood, 8:23.

After checking out the Smith Ranch incident, he takes a swing past a recent trouble spot, Oleander Park in Terra Linda, and makes a traffic stop at 9:37.

It's a 15-year-old girl driver, who made a U-turn without car headlights on. He fills out an information card on her, and gives her a reprimand, but no citation.

A cruise by the Marinwood Community Center and "Hippie Hill," and then a pickup of two stripped bicycles spotted in a center divider of Miller Creek Road by a passing resident on a walk. It's 9:59.

As soon as he's back in his car he gets the message from Wallace that the burglar alarm is ringing at the Indian Valley Golf Club restaurant and pro shop.

It's a fast ride up Highway 101 to the Novato area, a check of the golf club, 10:20 p.m., no cars in sight, no apparent entry attempts, and the probability the alarm went off accidentally.

"Those things are sensitive," Keaton said. "If you shut the door hard they go off."

He returns to Terra Linda and a call comes in, 11:07, burglary reported in progress at 1080 Las Ovejos Avenue, Terra Linda. A 16-year-old said two acquaintances broke into his home and stole 53 record albums.

Keaton arrives, 11:11, and calls for backup support, not knowing how many youths involved. He takes the complaint, which has more the air of a neighborhood dispute than a professional burglary.

It's nearing midnight, so Keaton heads in, with reports that will take him an hour-and-half to write before he can go home, overtime.

He and the rest of the shift went to work on a sunny summer afternoon, and when they quit it was a dark cool morning.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Wart Victims Also Plagued By Rash Of Old Wives' Tales

VAN DELLEN

T. C. writes: I am 14 years old and "blessed" with 14 warts. Someone told me that vitamin A might be helpful. Even though I would like these removed, this person said that if I didn't take vitamin A, they would return.

Warts come from a virus infection. As for vitamin A, it has nothing to do with warts. This is a good example of a well-meaning friend giving advice on a subject about which he knows nothing. Furthermore, too much vitamin A may lead to a condition far more serious than warts. Injections of the vitamin beneath the wart represent an old treatment that is seldom used because it is very painful.

THE FAMILIAR raised warts are more common in children and teen-agers than in adults. Occasionally, a hundred or more exist. These are usually seen on the hands but may develop any place on the body, including the tongue, scalp, and under a fingernail.

Some warts respond to simple treatment and even disappear spontaneously; others are stubborn and tend to recur. Electrodesiccation is a popular remedy. The wart is anesthetized and destroyed via an electric needle. Freezing, utilizing a pencil of solid carbon dioxide, also has resulted in a cure. A better method is to apply liquid nitrogen after the wart has been shaved down.

THE LATEST in freezing also utilizes liquid nitrogen except that it is contained in a rod and is handled like a pen. The temperature at the tip of the device (-320.8 degrees Fahrenheit) is capable of fast-freezing the wart and inactivating the viruses. An anesthetic is not required. Sulfuric, nitric, and diacetic acids also have been used. A toothpick dipped into the acid is rotated and worked deeply into the root.

Suggestion therapy is the most interesting remedy. The person is told that the wart will disappear if he rubs the lesion with a kernel of corn, potato peeling, or perhaps vitamin A. If he believes it, the wart drops off within a few weeks.

CORONARY

G. G. writes: Can a person who had coronary thrombosis two years ago and is now in good health safely undergo a hernia operation?

REPLY

Yes.

COLORED EGGS?

A reader writes: I always thought that brown eggs were more nutritious than white eggs. However, a friend of mine who used to live on a farm tells me that it is the other way around. Who is correct?

REPLY

Neither one of you is correct. The breed of the hen determines egg color and the egg's nutritive value has nothing to do with the color of its shell.

OOZING ECZEMA

REPLY

Eczema frequently is due to an irritant or to allergy. Best results are obtained when the cause is detected and eliminated. There are remedies galore that afford temporary relief and help keep the surface dry.

WALKING

W. T. writes: Why do you recommend walking as a good exercise, since only the legs benefit?

REPLY

Did you every try to walk without moving your arms, shoulders, and trunk? It would prove awkward and tiresome.

SLOW PULSE

G. W. writes: Does a person with a low metabolism usually have a slow pulse?

REPLY

Yes. Other signs of low metabolism include fatigue, mental sluggishness, dryness of the skin and hair, intolerance to cold, and a tendency to gain weight.

SKIN CANCER

H. H. writes: According to the doctor, I have a malignant lesion on my skin due to overexposure to the ultraviolet rays of the sun. He said it can be cured by radium or surgery. Is this the way to handle it?

REPLY

Yes.

KERATOSIS OF SKIN

B. G. writes: My doctor wants to remove a brownish spot from my forehead. He called it a keratosis. Is this cancer?

REPLY

No, but keratoses are skin lesions that often turn into cancer. It is for this reason that treatment must be thorough.

Portable Classrooms Date Lagging

The Tamalpais High School District board at a special meeting yesterday learned that Speedcraft Corp. of Santa Rosa is behind schedule in providing portable classrooms for the district's three high schools and some may not be ready for occuation when school opens Sept. 10.

Trustee David D. Ring asked acting Supt. Robert D. Torrey if the portable for Redwood High would be ready and Torrey replied that the most experienced people involved in getting the buildings are "very pessimistic" about it.

Ring then asked jokingly if the board could get an injunction against the company using the name "Speedspace."

The board also awarded an $18,125 contract to the Outdoor Products Co., San Jose, the only bidder, for fixed and portable bleachers at Redwood High and a $5,840 contract to low bidder, Bresnan-Dalecio Inc. of San Rafael for asphalt topping for outdoor playgrounds at Tamalpais High.

Pickup Truck Purchase Backed

The Marinwood Fire Commission last night recommended purchase of a new pickup truck, hose and other equipment.

The truck would be bought through the state to cut costs, Fire Chief Gaylord E. Bonfield said.

The commission also asked permisson to hire two more youths for summer work with the fire department. This would bring the youth work force to four.

Man Arrested On Drug Count

A 20-year-old San Rafael youth was booked on suspicion of possession of dangerous drugs and narcotics paraphernalia yesterday after he was picked up on another drug warrant, San Rafael police said today.

Arrested was Monte Leon Miller, of 75 Woodland Avenue. Police said he was picked up on a $500 warrant for possession of paraphernalia and when he was booked, it was found he was in possession of eight capsules, a hypodermic and a syringe.

He was held in lieu of $2,500 bail for a court appearance today.

Injuries Minor In Crash Near Bridge

Marianne Thompson, 34, of San Francisco received minor injuries when her car skidded into another car at 7:40 a.m. yesterday on Highway 101 a few feet north of the Golden Gate bridge, according to the California Highway Patrol, and did not require hospitalization.

Officers said the driver of the second car, James Girard Ewer, 46, of 10 Gardner Street, Mill Valley, was not hurt.

Murphy Claims Grape Strikers Misleading

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. George Murphy charged in a statement on the Senate floor yesterday that a representative of the United Farm Workers Organization Committee deliberately tried to mislead the Senate Migratory Labor Subcommittee with false information.

The California Republican said Jerry Cohen, general counsel for the UFWOC testified before the subcommittee that two bunches of Thompson seedless grapes contain 180 times the established level of chemical aldrin for human beings.

Cohen, the senator said, submitted a laboratory report showing aldrin content of 18 parts per million, compared to the legal tolerance of .1 part per million. Cohne quoted C. W. England Laboratories of Washington, Murphy said.

The laboratory later told a reporter the grapes tested had been presented by a UFWOC representative, and were not obtained or purchased from any market, the senator said. He also quoted a Food and Drug Administration report showing no aldrin residue on any grapes.

Murphy quoted Cohen as saying the grapes were produced by "Bianco" and identified the producer as Anthony A. Bianco Jr. and Bianco Fruit Corp. of Delano, Arvin and Thermal. Bianco, the Senator said, has used no aldrin in any form on his properties in the last six years.

He said the conclusion then was clear: The Senate subcommittee had been victim of duplicity.

"If this be the cause, this tactic on the part of UFWOC is a vicious type of deceit and makes clear the witness has raised the pesticide question as part of UFWOC's — rule or ruin — message," Murphy said.

He said he would maintain a close watch on the union.

"I intend from now on to check all witnesses for credibility, character, and purpose, so that the subcommittee may make proper and productive pronouncements as a result of these hearings," he said.

Creek Dredging Delay Is Learned

Dredging of the Novato Creek from Highway 37 to the entrance to Bel Marin Keys Lagoon will not be done until next year the Bel Marin Keys Community Services District Board learned last night, according to secretary Betty Zoeller.

The $50,000 cost has been budgeted by the Marin County Flood Control District, but work has been postponed because of other problems, she reported.

The board authorized the installation of a pole and street light at the community center parking lot and repair of the stone entrances to the development.

Drunken Driving

COMMANDER INSISTS

Mentally Disturbed Guards Kept On Duty

V. Carrow of Novato, hammered yesterday at Tidwell's judgment in clearing Ballou for duty in the first place, then keeping him on duty after the psychiatrist's report.

The psychiatrist, Maj. Emilio A. Massa of Letterman General Hospital, yesterday repeated testimony he had given on Aug. 5 — before Carrow entered the case — in which he expressed surprise Tidwell had not followed his recommendation that Ballou at least be taken off security duties.

Testimony in the day-long hearing brought out that Ballou also had had violent rages while serving in Thailand and had consulted a psychiatrist there.

Tidwell repeatedly defended his action, saying "other factors" outweighed the psychiatric evaluation. These factors included Ballou's past record (Tidwell was unaware of the Thailand incidents), his ability to tell right from wrong and the fact that he had caused no trouble after the psychiatric report until the incident with Sgt. Moore.

The defense attorneys also put heavy emphasis on the nuclear security at the base.

Tidwell told them that to prevent deliberate sabotage at the nuclear arsenal, two guards are always on duty and they must maintain visual contact.

"Do you think that visual contact is all the civilian population in this part of the country needs to keep some kook from detonizing a nuclear explosion?" Carrow asked.

Earlier, he had testified during his five-hour grilling, "Let me reiterate, if he is qualified to serve duty as a security policeman, he is qualified to serve anywhere in the organization."

He later admitted that he had some doubts about keeping Ballou on duty but felt other factors outweighed the risk.

In explaining his decision, Tidwell said he was trying both to protect the individual as well as the interests of the Air Force. That comment sparked this exchange (partly paraphrased):

Graham: "Which is paramount?"

Tidwell: "The Air Force."

Graham: "This time?"

Tidewell: "Yes."

Graham: "How would you explain that to Sgt. Moore's wife (if Ballou had shot him)?"

Tidwell: "It would be very difficult."

Graham: "How would you explain to the people of Marin County after a nuclear accident?"

Graham: "Major, isn't the real overriding (factor in keeping Ballou on duty) your need for bodies . . . any kind of bodies?"

Tidwell said the manpower situation was one factor and moments later, when Graham asked him to concede he had been wrong, said, "Perhaps."

At another point, Tidwell said he "would much rather have a man like Sgt. Ballou than nobody" guarding the nuclear equipment. He said if there were no guards, "kooks from Haight-Ashbury" would descend on the munitions area. He said non-nuclear weapons have been stolen from other military bases.

He and Graham then returned to the psychiatric report and Ballou's fitness for duty, particularly when he would be guarding nuclear weapons and dealing with the public while carrying a loaded weapon.

Graham said the mental evaluation was a "red light," but Tidwell termed it a "cautionary light."

Tidwell later admitted he was not completely familiar with some parts of the Air Force manual setting fitness levels for the human reliability program and that he might have made a different decision.

The hearing was due to resume and probably conclude this afternoon after which McQuaid will decide whether formal charges will be made. Ballou's status, if he does not face a court-martial, was uncertain.

Morale Of 'Watchdogs' Big Concern

The critically undermanned security force responsible for policing Hamilton Air Force Base — including its nuclear storage area — apparently faces a serious morale problem as well, testimony by the base security chief indicated yesterday.

In explaining his decision not to grant the airman's request for a transfer to duty where he would not have to handle a gun, Tidwell said: "I'm concerned about a rolling stone effect in my own squadron and security police throughout the Air Force."

He said if he granted the request, 75 per cent of his 91 men also would seek transfers.

He was asked if 75 per cent of his men were "unstable" (which defense attorneys claimed their client is) by Air Force Attorney Frederick Graham.

"No," Tidwell replied, "I'm saying 75 per cent of the men in my squadron don't want to be security police."

Later, he said his estimate was based on conclusions reached from talking to supervisors and his men and was not based on hard fact.

Kentfield Schools Give Contract

The Kentfield School District board last night awarded a contract to Patchett's Bus and Transportation Co., San Rafael, to furnish transportation for junior high students from Greenbrae to Adaline E. Kent School at $36.50 per day or a total of $6,391 for the 1969-70 school year.

The daily cost compares with $30.75 for last year, Supt. Anthony G. Bacich reported.

The board hired Emma Wright as bookkeeper, effective retroactively to Aug. 1, at $575 per month.

Hops used in making beer, must be propagated by root cuttings because those planted from seed are not always true to type.

Bagley To 'Computer' Committee

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Assembly Speaker Robert T. Monagan, R-Stockton, has appointed two between-session study committees including one panel to decide if some computer memory banks are invading anyone's privacy.

Monagan said yesterday Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, would be chairman of the statewide Information Policy Committee.

"The five man committee was established to study centralized computer installations used by public agencies to assure that these information banks are not infringing on individual privacy," he said.

An 11-member technical panel will advise the committee, which will report back its findings to the 1970 legislature. Other members include Assemblymen Harvey Johnson, D-El Monte, Jerry Lewis, R-Highland, John Quimby, D-Rialto, Robert G. Wood, R-Greenfield.

Monagan also appointed a select committee on mentally ill and handicapped children to "appraise our present system of care for mentally ill youngsters . . ."

Bagley yesterday announced the locations, dates and subjects for hearings by the Assembly Revenue and Taxation Committee, of which he is chairman. They are San Diego Oct. 13-14, assessment and tax appeals; Sacramento Nov. 13-14 and 17-18, tax reform and the utility tax; Los Angeles Dec. 4-5, tax reform; Los Angeles Dec. 16-17, school tax limits, Assessments and Land Conservation Act.

Heart Transplant Pair Identified

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The donor and recipient in a human heart transplant operation were identified yesterday.

The operation Wednesday was the first of its kind at the University of California Medical Center.

William E. Paul, 53, a San Francisco bookbinder, received the heart of Roger Wolfe, 35, a Walnut Creek salesman.

Dr. Benson Roe, who headed the surgical team, said their well-matched tissues narrowed the danger of rejection.

The donor's widow said her husband, who died of a massive brain hemorrhage, had stated he wanted his vital organs donated when he died.

Paul, who had suffered five heart attacks in seven years, was reported in very good condition.

Fight Looms Over Envoy Appointment

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — President Nixon faces a fight if he appoints Robert M. Sayre as ambassador to Panama.

Rep. Daniel Flood, D-Pa., House Appropriations Subcommittee chairman, has served notice of this in a letter to the President. A 25-year congressional veteran, Flood has long been closely interested in Panamanian affairs.

Basis of his emphatic opposition to Sayre is that he was an active participant in the drafting of the 1967 proposed Panama Canal treaties.

These treaties evoked such a storm of disapproval in Congress that they were never signed. Some 150 House members sponsored denunciatory resolutions They made three charges: That the agreements ceded sovereignty over the canal to Panama, made that country a "partner" in canal management and would share its defense with Panama, and authorized the U. S. to construct a new canal in Panama.

Sayre, 45, a career foreign service officer, is now ambassador to Uruguay. Authoritative reports have been current for some time that he was to be shifted to the U. S. Embassy in Panama.

One of the State Department's leading experts on Latin America, Sayre has served in several countries there — including Mexico, Peru and Cuba. For several years, he was deputy assistant secretary of state with the Bureau of Inter-American Affairs. In formulating the discarded Panamanian treaties, he worked with Walt W. Rostow, special assistant on foreign affairs to Presidents Kennedy and Johnson.

Ross School Trustees To Consider Claims

The participation of Ross School District in litigation involving the county and book publishing companies will be discussed by the board of trustees Monday at 7:30 p.m. at the school library on Lagunitas Road. The litigation involves claims for allegedly overpriced children's books.

The board will also discuss forwarding information about the district's accident program to parents.

South All-Star Gridders In Role Of Favorites

By GARY TISCHLER

This could, and should, be the year that the South cashes in some long overdue chips in the fourth annual Ross Valley Kiwanis All-Star Football game next Thursday on San Rafael High School's field.

On paper, the South, which has not won in three stabs at the North, looks formidable, but looks aren't everything in this game, as the North has proved in the past.

The South has a wealth of fine backs, two great quarterbacks, tremendous beef on the line, and a flock of sure-handed receivers. With the exception of some fine receivers, the North is not too well-stocked in any of those commodities.

The North received a rather heavy blow when it lost all-Marin County Athletic League quarterback Russ Dillon of Novato. Dillon, who has a baseball scholarship to Santa Clara, opted not to play in the game, continuing instead with the San Rafael Braves, a semi-professional baseball team which won't wind up play until the end of this month.

That leaves North coaches Al Scott and Jess Payan with just one quarterback, and he's not a regular quarterback. That would be Novato's Greg Davenport, a running back and backup quarterback for Dillon during the regular season.

"He's done a heck of a job for us so far," Scott said. "He's been throwing well, and he's taken over as a leader."

But on the bench is exactly no one, so Davenport will be stepping around very gingerly. The South has a pair of quarterbacks, both of them excellent.

On the line, the South looks massive.

"Our smallest man on the defensive line weighs 220 pounds," Redwood's Al Endriss, who coaches the South team along with Willie Hector, formerly of Tamalpais, said.

That is bigger than any North lineman. And that's not even talking about the likes of Marin Catholic's Barre Lando (240), Tamalpais' Verdean Herbold (250), Redwood's Gary Kasprzak (235) and Redwood's Rich Simpson (225).

The South has some blue ribbon runners in fullbacks Pete Richter and Dave Hector, swifties Luther Brown of Tamalpais, Jim O'Brien of Marin Catholic, Clark Jamison of Drake and Pete Carroll of Redwood.

"It could be a very high-scoring game," Endriss said.

Scott agrees.

"They (the South) can score from anywhere on the field," he said. "We make a mistake and boom. But we've got some pretty good boys too, maybe not as spectacular, but they can run."

Boys like Steve McClain of Terra Linda, fullbacks Tom Zechlin of Novato and Clark Derrick of San Rafael and Bulldog halfback Dave Bariski. All of them can go, and hard.

Scott is by no means singing the underdog blues, although he knows that the South has an edge. After all, his squad is primarily composed of members of last year's co-champions, Terra Linda and Novato.

"Everybody's very enthusiastic," he said. "They've really been hitting. Jess had done a great job with the defense. We're awfully quick on the line."

Officials for the game have been announced. They are Dick Hart, referee; Mike Convis, umpire; Dick Curry, head linesman; Bob Fitzhenry, field judge; Rusty Ghilloti, timer, and Arnold Nutting, physician.

Tickets for the game cost $2.50 for adults and $2 for students. They can be obtained at Cal Marin Title, Western Sport Shop, Stan's for Sport, Taveggia and Brusati, Marin Real Estate Board and the Marin YMCA in San Rafael; the Novato Advance, Stan's for Sports, Chapman's Shoes, Jim's Sport Shop, Crocker Citizens Bank and the Carousel Drive-in in Novato; Drake Market in San Anselmo; Bill's Barber Shop, Keane's Quality Meats and Lawson-Dyer Drug Store in Mill Valley, and Stan's for Sports in Strawberry.

Australian Birdman Takes Off On Kite

It's a bird! No, it's a plane! No, it must be some kind of a nut!

There we were yesterday morning, setting in a houseboat on the fog-shrouded bay, when the Birdman of Australia dropped in for a visit. Literally. Like, splash, man.

The occasion was a promotional stunt on behalf of next weekend's National Water Ski Championships at Berkeley, the sponsors bringing in the Birdman, Australian Bill Bennett, to do his thing for an assemblage of press and television photographers.

Bennett's thing, you see, is flying a kite. With him in it.

Towed on water skis by a speedboat, the audacious Aussie zooms his delta-wing kite into the wild blue, releases the tow line and then free flies hither and yon, like a big boid. He has attained heights in excess of 2,000 feet, can control his aircraft like a skilled parachutist and land it on the proverbial dime.

A Trip Over Alcatraz

Yesterday's publicity stunt, arranged by water ski enthusist Shirley Perkins of Novato, was for Birdman of Australia to emulate what the Birdman of Alcatraz would like to have done — that is, fly over the walls of the former federal pen in mid-bay. But, due to unfavorable elements, he did not exactly dazzle the press, through no fault of his own, however.

First, Bennett was tardy for his rendezvous with the press boat in mid bay. Said Mrs. Perkins: "He decided to fly rather than drive over from Berkeley because it would be easier during the commute hours." We thought he may have been detained in a holding pattern, but the affable Aussie later explained he got lost in the fog.

His take-off for the press was marred by a spill, then a shaky start and finally a flight that reached only about 200 feet and lasted a minute. He beat the Wright Brothers but still fell short of expectations due to the gusty winds and a malfunctioning tow-boat. "Spry from the by shorted out the electrical system," he apologized. "It was a terrible demonstration."

Hopes For Better Results

At Berkeley Aug. 21-24 he hopes for much better results in exhibition flights at the water ski nationals. He has flown his kite over the Statue of Liberty and the Potomac and, in the near future, plans to soar over the Grand Canyon and Niagra Falls. He had hoped to go over the Golden Gate Bridge yesterday morning but scratched the idea because commuters just aren't quite ready yet for birdmen so early in the morning.

"I've only 'ad a couple of minor falls," he said yesterday upon return to mission control, "but from low elevations. My only injury in seven years of doing this was when I landed in a palm tree in Melbourne and broke my wrist climbing down."

He said his delta-wing kite, which has 175 square feet of sail area, has a rate of climb greater than a 707 jet. (Coffee, tea or barf bag?)

"It's actually quite easy to fly," he said. "We hope to manufacture these kites in this country. They'll sell for about $450 and the beauty of them is you can take off behind cars, boats or snowmobiles and almost anyone can fly them. We've sold 50 in Australia and the average age of the buyers is over 40." (Bunch of old soar heads in Australia, what?)

Bennett, 35, a sales manager for a marine center, is touring the U.S. with a friend, Ron Callaghan, who drives the boat and occasionally flies the kite. "We're on a 'olidye," 'e said. "You people tike vicitions; we tike 'olidyes."

Provided Some Cheesecake

Bennett's Bay Area visit is sponsored by the Pepsi-Cola Co. which thoughtfully and quite tastefully provided some photogenic cheesecake in the eye-popping form of Inger Young, a Pan-Am stewardess from Mill Valley. I'm not saying she stole the show, but when Inger appeared in an itsy-bitsy, teensie-weensie, red, white and blue Pepsikini, the captain saluted and three photographers got knocked down in the rush, going down to the she in slips. One small step for man; one giant leap for Inger.

Being an intrepid reporter, and with the interest of readers in mind, I asked Inger her . . . uh . . . vital statistics. She replied: "I'm originally from Norway, am 26 years old and have been married one year and four months to my husband, Tim."

That's not what I meant. I had something like 38-24-36-hike in mind, but no matter.

Anyway, it was a lovely day that accomplished a great deal. I recommend you patronize the National Water Ski Championships, Pepsi and Pan-Am.

And, oh, yes. Go fly a kite.

DI MAGGIO TOURNEY

Novato Nine Loses, 10-3

The Northern Marin champions from Novato are in danger of being knocked out of the Regional Joe DiMaggio baseball tournament after losing their opening game in a genuine fiasco at Albert Field last night, bowing to Myers Safety Switch of San Francisco 10-3, before about 650 fans.

In the only other game last night, El Molino, of Forestville, whipped Best Products, of San Francisco, 4-2, on a three-run first inning.

Annex meets the winner of this afternoon's El Molino-Eureka game at 6 o'clock tonight and it's win or pack up the bags in the double-elimination tournament. Toby's Truckers, the Southern Marin champion, will get a crack at Myer's Safety Switch of S.F. at 3:45 p.m. while Best Products plays the loser of the 3:45 game at 8:15 tonight. Eureka and El-Molino met at 1 o'clock this afternoon.

Myers ran the bases like road runners while Annex Motors' fielding resembled the work of Little League dropouts. Myers runners stole nine bases and Annex fielders committed eight errors and that combination spelled disaster, along with 10 timely Myers hits.

Myers scored steadily and often, getting two runs in the first inning, one in the second, three each in the fifth and sixth innings and one lone tally in the seventh.

By the time Annex scored, it was already 9-0 and too late.

Bud Fielder stole four bases and scored two runs for the winners, and Tad Tassone stole three bases and scored three runs. Lloyd Robinson had three hits, including a two-run homer in the fifth inning, and drove in three runs.

Big Len Yamoto lashed a bases-loaded, two-out double off the 385-foot sign in dead centerfield in the first inning to spark El Molino over Best Products.

Yamoto drove in three runs and had two hits while pitcher Charley Leoni went the distance with a six-hitter.

A's To Open Home Stand With Tigers

OAKLAND AP) — The Oakland Athletics may be in fine shape in the standings but their appearance at the plate has them nervous as they open a home stand tonight against the Detroit Tigers.

Oakland trails front-running Minnesota by only two games in the American League West. The Athletics will send John "Blue Moon" Odom, 14-5, or Lew Krausse, 6-5, against Detroit's Mickey Lolich, 15-5. Both clubs were idle yesterday.

A no-hit performance by Baltimore Orioles right-hander Jim Palmer beat the A's 8-0 Wednesday night.

And center fielder Rick Monday will be out for a month with a broken hand. He was hit Sunday with a fast ball by New York's Fritz Peterson.

On top of that, the A's have only squeezed 28 hits out of the last six games.

Arnie Quits; Flies Home

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Arnold Palmer withdrew today from the PGA championship and said he would not return to the tournament tour until he gets rid of a chronic hip ailment.

He indicated he might remain out of golf competition for the rest of this season and try a comeback next year.

END OF CAREER?

However, many observers believe that this may mark the end of a career that made him the all-time leading money winner with earnings of more than a million dollars, and the most popular figure in the game.

The 39-year-old Palmer, credited with building golf into its present multimillion dollar business, shot an 11-over-par 82 in the first round of the PGA Thursday—the worst round he's ever shot as a pro.

He came off the course, pale and in pain, saying a hip injury first suffered in 1966 had recurred at the start of his round.

It is a form of bursitis for which doctors say the only cure is an operation. Palmer insists he will never go under the knife for this ailment.

PACKS BAGS

Arnie reported at the NCR Country Club at 9:48 a.m., 30 minutes before his scheduled tee-off time for the second round, cleaned out his locker and prepared to fly to his Latrobe, Pa., home in his $800,000 jet.

"I figured I must get started on this thing sometime and it might as well be now," he said. "I will go home, see a doctor, rest and then make my decisions as they become necessary."

He said he definitely would not play in the tournament at Sutton, Mass., next week in which he is entered but is indefinite about other tournaments later this season.

"I just don't know," he said. "As for my future in golf, I will cross the bridges as I come to them. I hope to play again. As for retiring, I don't even like to think about it."

Palmer said the pain is in his right hip and affects his entire swing.

Almost lost in the shadow of Palmer's dilemma was the battle for the first round lead that ended with nine players deadlocked at two-under par 69s.

They were a nondescript group that included ex-champion Al Geiberger, Ray Floyd, Larry Ziegler, Tom Shaw, Johnny Pott, Bob Lynn, Charles Coody, Bunky Henry and Larry Bowry.

Ten years ago in Minneapolis, nine players tied for the first day lead in the PGA with identical scores of 69.

COLLAPSE

Almost lost in the excitement was the collapse of Tom Weiskopf, the Ohio slugger who came into the 17th hole three under par. Weiskopf, who hasn't won this year, missed a three-foot putt for a bird, then staggered to a double bogey six on the final hole for a finishing 70.

The blond belter put his second shot in a trap and couldn't get out. Obviously upset by his poor finish, Weiskopf refused to come to the press room for his post round interview.

"I don't want to say anything I'd regret," he said. "I'm just going to put my shoes on and get out of here. I'll be back tomorrow."

Lunn lost a solid chance for the lead on the demanding 6,915-yard NCR Country Club layout when he missed a three-foot putt for a bogey on 18. Geiberger, the PGA titlist in 1966,

BASEBALL ROUNDUP

Niekro's Knuckler Is 'Too' Active

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Phil Niekro's knuckleball was dancing all over the place—and that's always a good sign for Atlanta.

But rarely was it dancing into catcher Bob Didier's glove—and that's always a bad sign for Atlanta.

Niekro had a little too much on his bread and butter pitch last night and it led to four wild pitches, two passed balls by Didier and a 6-0 victory for Philadelphia over the Braves

Niekro had the knuckler to blame but what was Jim Maloney's excuse? Maloney, who isn't noted for the flutterball, uncorked three wild pitches and Montreal went on to beat Cincinnati 6-3.

YANKEES WIN

In the only other major league game played yesterday, the New York Yankees nipped the Chicago White Sox 3-2 with the winning run scoring, predictably, on a passed ball.

Most of Niekro's troubles came in a nightmarish fifth inning against the Phillies. Philadelphia had pushed across a run without a hit in the second with Niekro's wild pickoff throw at first base setting it up and his wild pitch allowing it to score.

In the fifth, singles by Woodie Fryman, Cookie Rojas and Deron Johnson, two wild pitches by Niekro and two passed balls by Didier brought in three more runs.

FIRST HOMER

Fryman pitched a five-hitter and rapped his first major league homer to even his record at 9-9. Rich Allen also homered for the Phils.

Two of Maloney's wild pitches helped Montreal to a run in the first, but the Expos were trailing 3-1 when they rallied for three in the sixth. Ron Brand's two-out, two-run double was the big blow after Ty Cline had knocked in a run with a pinch single.

Three Expo errors had helped the Reds to a pair of runs in the fifth. It was Montreal's third victory in four games against Cincinnati and trimmed the Reds' National League West lead to 2½ games over idle Houston which took over second place.

DECIDING RUN

Jake Gibbs drove in the Yankees' first two runs with a single and a sacrifice fly but Chicago and New York were tied in the ninth when Horace Clarke tagged a two-out triple. Then a passed ball by Ed Herrmann allowed Clarke to score the deciding run.

The Yankees used three pitchers to stem a White Sox rally in the last of the ninth with Steve Hamilton and Lindy McDaniel coming out of the bullpen to get the last two outs.

Miss Crump Fast With First Win

The 21-year-old won an easy seven-length victory aboard Flying Shuttle, paying $21 in the first race.

PRO FOOTBALL ROUNDUP

O.J. To Make His Debut

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Will O. J. Simpson be a $300,000 flop in his pro football debut with the Buffalo Bills against the Detroit Lions at Tiger Stadium tonight?

The debut of the most prized rookie since Joe Namath in the play-for-pay gridiron sport headlines a two-game schedule that kicks off another busy weekend of 12 exhibitions.

The Baltimore Colts play the Houston Oilers in the Astrodome in tonight's other game. Seven games are scheduled for tomorrow night and three more Sunday afternoon.

O. J., vaunted All-American running back and the Heisman Trophy winner for Southern California, signed with the Bills only last weekend and hence may not play the entire game against the Lions.

The performance of the famed 6-foot-1, 207-pounder from San Francisco will be watched closely. There have been cases of college stars who did not make it with the pros, notably John Huarte, All-American quarterback from Notre Dame who also won the Heisman Trophy.

The Bills go against the Lions fresh from an upset 21-17 victory over the Washington Redskins last week, paced by the passing of Tom Flores and the running of Max Anderson. the Lions hope to rebound after a 38-13 drubbing from the Kansas City Chiefs.

Johnny Unitas, apparently recovered from his ailing throwing arm, will lead the Colts against the Oilers in the Astrodome. The veteran quarterback completed 12 of 19 passes for 147 yards and one TD in pacing the unbeaten Colts to a 34-30 victory over the Oakland Raiders last week.

The Oilers, who beat Buffalo 24-7 on Aug. 2, were idle last week and are ready with quarterback Pete Beathard reported "100 per cent improved" by Coach Wally Lemm.

The Chicago Bears and Green Bay Packers renew their rivalry tomorrow night at Milwaukee in a game that will be nationally televised by CBS.

Cleveland is at Los Angeles, New Orleans is at Denver, Philadelphia is at Miami, Oakland is at San Diego to help round out the Saturday night schedule that also lists Pittsburgh vs. St. Louis at Norfolk, Va. and Cincinnati vs. Kansas City at Jackson, Miss.

It is the first meeting between the New York City rivals and the AFL Jets are reported determined to down the NFL Giants for the so-called NYC championship.

Cubs In S.F. For 4-Game Series

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Normally, the San Francisco Giants' pitchers would hate to see Ernie Banks, Billy Williams and Ron Santo come to town—but not this time.

After Roberto Clemente of Pittsburgh blasted three homers as the Pirates won 10-5 Wednesday, the Giant hurlers don't feel too badly about throwing to the Chicago threesome.

The Cubs, National League East leaders by 8½ games, open a four-game series tonight against the Giants, sending Ken Holtzman, 13-6, against San Francisco's Juan Marichal, 13-8.

The Giants, tied for fourth with Los Angeles, are three games behind Cincinnati in the National League West. They took yesterday off.

Clemente destroyed the Giants' almost singlehandedly. He scored four times and drove in four runs, taking over the league batting lead with a .357 average.

Gaylord Perry, 15-8, of the Giants will oppose the Cubs' Ferguson Jenkins, 16-10, tomorrow.

SPORTS SHORTS

An Even Split In Davis Cup Play

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Mark Cox and Peter Curtis, Britain's unpredictable tennis duo, faced another vital doubles match today, knowing that victory would send their team nearer to the Challenge Round against the United States in the Davis Cup.

Cox and Curtis played Romania's Ion Tiriac and Ilie Nastase, rated one of the best doubles pairs in Europe.

Britain and Romania were tied 1-1 after yesterday's two opening singles of the inter-zone final.

Tiriac downed Cox 6-4, 6-4, 6-3, but Graham Stilwell hit back for Britain, defeating Nastase 6-4, 4-6, 6-1, 6-2.

HERB MICHELSON

Guy Named Johnson Handy In A Pinch

OAKLAND—Whenever the man at the press box microphone sees the A's number 32 coming to the plate, he announces: "The pinch hitter is Dave Johnson. (Pause.) Make that Bob Johnson."

The continuing mistake in identification would not surprise Robert Wallace Johnson, also known, for some forgotten reason, as Oscar or, because there's a slight resemblance to a guy named Colavito, Rocky.

BOB JOHNSON is not only one of the lesser known 11-year major league baseball players; he is one of the most unrecognized of the nine Johnsons who were on major league rosters at the beginning of the 1969 season. (There were Alex, Dave, Deron, Frank of the Giants, Jerry, Ken, Sweet Lous and Elijah.)

AT THIS point it is important to note the big leagues also have a John (Tommy) and Johnstone (Jay), definite sub-groups of the Johnsonian Baseball Empire. After all, there are only three Smiths (Reggie, Charlie, Willie); five Joneses (Cleon, Dalton, Johnny, Mack, Steve); four Browns (Jophrey (Jophrey?), Larry, Ollie, Gates); five Mays (Carlos, Dave, Jerry, Lee, Rudy) plus one Maye (Lee) and, lest we forget, one Mays. Everybody knows that in addition to No Neck there are five more Williamses (Billy, Bernie, Jimmy A. Jimmy F., Stan); three Wilsons (Don, Earl, Billy), and two Whites (Roy, Bill).

THEN THERE'S Bob Johnson . Not Dave. Bob.

When the A's "bought" him from the Cardinals in early July, no one in the press box was quite certain of his past (The "purchase" involved St. Louis getting outfielder Joe Nossek from the A's Iowa farm.)

BUT OVERNIGHT it was learned that Bob had begun his major league career with the As' in Kansas City in 1960; had a .273 lifetime batting average, and was a pinch hitter extraordinaire. In fact, he holds an American League record for consecutive pinch hits (six), set when he played for Hank Bauer in Baltimore in 1964. That season, in fact, Bob Johnson was 15 for 45 as an Oriole pinch swinger.

SINCE THEN he's toiled for tht Mets, Reds, Braves and Cards. In pre-Baltimore days, the 33-year-old Johnson (now the senior citizen of the A's) had the distinction of being one of the original members of the expansion Washington Senators. It's amazing that would be forgotten.

Bob is billed as a utility infielder. But one man who's followed his career suggests that Johnson is more of a utility than a fielder. "He carries four gloves with him — one for each position," the man said. Also, he is not powerful or speedy.

JOHNSON SIMPLY comes to hit — and quickly, usually the first pitch. He firmly believes a pitcher will try and get a fast ball past a pinch hitter right away. So Bob Johnson swings right away. He hit safely four of the first six times he pinch hit for the A's — winning one game and setting up another winning run.

Three Marinites In Golf Finals

Three Marin County golfers are still alive and playing in the finals of their respective flights today at the annual Northern California Golf Association's Junior Championships at Lake Merced Country Club in Daly City.

Jim Wilhelm of Kentfield downed Wayne Smith of Mill Valley, five and four, yesterday and played Bob Miller in the finals of the second flight today.

Elliot Powers of San Rafael met John Sapper in the finals of the sixth flight today and George Carewe of Ross, who won his semifinal match on the 19th hole yesterday, took on Brian Anderson in the fifth flight finals.

AAU Swimmers Crack Records

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The divers take a break today but the swimmers hope to continue their attack on world records at the third day of the 1969 National AAU Swimming and Diving Championships.

Three world marks fell on yesterday's opening day.

Vicki Bitgood of the Tamalpais Swim Club, Cookie Arrighi of the Marin Swim Club and Robin Bachrach of the Dolphins of Marin, the three Marin County entries in the meet, failed to place in their respective events.

Hans Fassnacht, 18, a student at California State College and a native of Germany, set a world mark of 4:04.0 in the men's 400-meter freestyle.

Mike Burton, 22-year-old senior at UCLA, finished second in 4:04.4 and also broke the old world mark and the American citizens mark in the process. The old mark was 4:06.5 by Ralph Hutton of Los Altos last year. Hutton finished fourth in this year's event. All three will compete again tonight in the men's 200 freestyle.

The other world records Thursday were set in the women's and men's 200-meter backstroke events.

Susie Atwood, 16, an Olympic swimmer from Long Beach, knocked 2.3 seconds off the existing mark with a clocking of 2:21.5. The old record was held by Karen Muir of the South Africa ASU.

Gary Hall, 18, a freshman-to-be at Indiana University, swam his event in 2:06.6 to topple the world mark of 2:07.5 set last year by Roland Matthes in a meet in Leipzig, East Germany.

In other finals yesterday, Doug Russell of Arlington, Tex., set an AAU record in winning the men's 100-meter butterfly in :56.0 and Jose Fiolo of the Phillips 66 team broke existing American and AAU records in the men's 100-meter breaststroke with 1:06.9.

Debbie Meyer, 16, Sacramento, defended her women's 400-meter freestyle title and set a new AAU mark of 4:26.4.

PALMER

finished strong with three straight birds.

AT 70

Canadian George Knudson and big Jack Nicklaus both bogeyed the final hole and finished at 70, along with leading money-winner Frank Beard, Jacky Cupit, Bruce Crampton, U.S. Open champ Orville Moody, Phil Rodgers, Bruce Devlin, Canadian Open winner Tommy Aaron and Weiskopf.

South African Gary Player, one of the favorites, was in a group of five at even par 71. Defending champion Julius Boros shot a 72 while Masters king George Archer scored a 75, as did Kermit Zarley, despite a fat 10 on the par five, 536-yard hole.

Winner of one U.S. Open, two British Opens and four Masters titles in an illustratious career that has earned him more than $1 million in official winnings, Palmer's torment started early when he bogeyed his first four holes.

Then came consecutive bogeys on Nos. 12, 13, 14 and 15 and a fantastic triple bogey seven on the 451-yard 16th hole.

Rookies To Start For 49ers

SANTA BARBARA (AP) — Rookies and two-year men will be in the spotlight, San Francisco coach Dick Nolan said today, when his 49ers host the Dallas Cowboys in Sunday's National Football League exhibition game.

Second-year men Bill Belk and Tom Hart will be the defensive ends, taxi squad graduate Leo Johnson will start at split end, and Canadian transfer Earl Edwards will be one of the guards.

One of two rookies, Gene Washington or Bill Wondolowski will start at flanker.

The other defensive starters are tackles Charlie Krueger and Roland Lakes, linebackers Dave Wilcox, Ed Beard and Harold Hays, and defensive backs Kermit Alexander, Jim Johnson, Mel Phillips and Al Randolph.

The rest of the offensive lineup will feature tight end Bob Windsor, tackles Cas Banaszek and Len Rhode, guard Woody Peoples, quarterback John Brodie and running backs Ken Willard and Bill Tucker.

May Expects To 'Return'

CAMP PENDLETON (AP) — Chicago White Sox outfielder Carlos May said yesterday "I think I can play baseball" despite an accident that tore his thumb in half. A Navy doctor agreed.

May, a leading candidate for rookie of the year, will undergo more surgery, probably tomorrow, but is expected to return to baseball next spring.

FOUR WEEKS

The 21-year-old athlete will be hospitalized four weeks, the doctor, Cmdr. Morris Skinner, told a news conference. But May added:

"Yes, I think I can still play. I know the biggest problem will be throwing, trying to protect the ball. But I live this game and I'm going to play it. I may have to cut down on my stroke a little bit, that's all."

Skinner said May was in satisfactory condition and progessing well after the injury "involving skin, bone and muscle of the distal portion of his thumb."

The possibility is being considered, Skinner said, that bone grafts and nerve transplanting would help restore more use to May's throwing hand.

His left thumb was ripped by the blast, and May's face was burned.

AT BEDSIDE

By his bedside were his wife, Margaret, and his mother, Mildred. Both live in Birmingham, Ala.

May said the accident came as his 81-milimeter mortar failed to fire during a six-gun volley. He started to swab the weapon, and the round went off.

His immediate thought was to protect his face, he said, but it was hit by powder burns.

Ed Short, general manager of the White Sox, visited May in the base hospital Thursday and said the team's orthopedic surgeon, Dr. Gerald Loftus, was flying in to help with the treatment.

FISH AND GAME

By AL GIDDINGS

Angling Action Slow; Try To Locate Bass

Things are not going great guns in the fishing department. Joe Mello and his wife, Molly, tried it Tuesday at the mouth of Tomales, the Bird Rock area, and the Elephant Rock area just outside from the mouth. Nothing doing in the salmon line except two shakers. It was fairly rough, but they lasted until noon. On a couple of passes close to Bird Rock, they picked up a couple of lings. Eight or nine other boats fished the same area, but fared no better.

I PASSED by Buck's Landing and China Camp in the upper San Pablo Bay and it was difficult to locate a boat out. This time of year can be tough up this way as the lack of fresh water in the salt water seems to make the environmental conditions better for sharks, rays and skates. It gets really tiresome hooking one shark after another when using bait, and it can be expensive, too. For every 20 pickups or so, one might get a good fish. If you've got the time and the bait, it could pay off. Some sturgeon have been taken, but more so up toward Carquinez.

THERE IS a large school of bass working between the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge and the Golden Gate Bridge, (sometimes even these go outside), and down to Pacifica or over around Bolinas. If you can find this school, and the tide is right, and they are in a biting mood, you can come up with an exceptional limit. On low or minus tides, they seem to be down the Golden Gate Bridge way. On highs from Racoon Strait and as far up as The Brothers Islands is a good bet. Outgoing tides have been best at the Richmond Bridge and the fish seem to hit best in the early mornings or late evenings. Max Chadwick and two friends from Woodacre took eight Wednesday evening. Trolling pet spoons and bugeyes or drifting live bait are the best methods used.

SALMON FISHING out of Sausalito on the party boats has been fair. Down south at Mussel Rock generally limits are taken though the fish are just keepers with an average of one keeper to three shakers being the case.

THE FARALLON Islands and areas outside have had problems with winds and rough waters. It has bten a windy season so far.

UP AT the Point Reyes Justice Court a few days ago, State Fish and Game Warden Russ Ild had two fellows in court for spotlighting. The fellows were new to the area, and were using a car with a girl driving while they walked ahead in the car lights, looking for deer, while carrying a gun and a flashlite. They were just off the highway below Nicasio Dam, and could be plainly seen from the highway. It was before midnight and, of course, they stood out like a sore thumb.

Russ, driving along the highway, watched the action with unbelieving eyes. They even took a couple of shots at a doe. Warden Ild put in a call for assistance and before long the trio was surrounded by law officers. The men were cited, and a dead deer was later found, though they thought they had missed the deer at the time.

In court, the two men showed up, along with a full crew of about 10 friends, including girls. The attire of these people was something to see. All colors, very sparse in some regions, with hats, hairdos flowing ribbons, etc. Unbelievable! I think they were putting us on! They didn't even slightly resemble the old pro spotlighter.

Domingo Grossi, the west Marin rancher was there, watching the proceedings, keeping up with the times, I suppose, and shaking his head at times. The men entered "guilty" pleas, and were fined $100 each or 10 days in jail each. They took the 10 days. As they were all leaving, a "straight" made the mistake of pulling out a pack of smokes he was immediately besieged by the group for cigarettes, with one saying, "We just don't have any bread." And if you don't know what "bread" is, then you're not very "hip!"

I RECEIVED a picture of Neil Grant of San Rafael with a fine looking four-point buck taken at the Packet Ranch up in Geyserville, but couldn't see the tag on the horns. Come on, Neil, let's make it legal! Maybe he's puting me on too!

Moderate Tempo At World Games

BELGRADE (AP) — The fifth day of the World Games of the Deaf took a more moderate tempo yesterday—and for once, no world records for deaf sports were set.

A reason is that mostly group games were held, where no world records are tabulated anyway.

Over 1,500 competitors from 34 countries assembled here last week, along with a reported over 10,000 deaf tourists, to attend the deaf olympics, in 13 sports events—an all time record.

Belvedere Netter In Boys 18 Finals

McDonald knocked off Brian Hahn in yesterday's semifinals, 6-2, 6-1, while Webb upset fourth-seeded Steve Lucchesi, 4-6 2-6, 6-3.

Flag Grid Sign-Ups To Begin

Terra Linda Park and Recreation District announces sign-ups for the T.L. Flag Footbal Conference will open tomorrow at 4 p.m. at the eight Dixie School District elementary schools.

Registration will be open until Sept. 6, either at the schools or at the Terra Linda Community Center. The senior division will consist of junior high students, and the junior division for boys in fourth through sixth grades. Fee is $5.50 per player.

Don Lucas, Terra Linda High School varsity football coach, announced his staff will conduct a flag football coaches clinic Saturday, Aug. 23, starting at 9:30 a.m., at Terra Linda High Bob Fitzhenry of Drake High, secretary of the North Bay Officials Association, will be one of the clinic speakers.

Larry Husband, park and recreation director, said 500 youngsters in the Marinwood - Lucas Valley area are expected to sign up.

Raiders Lose Two Veterans By Injuries

SANTA ROSA (UPI)—Veterans Billy Cannon and Roger Hagberg will miss tomorrow night's exhibition encounter against the San Diego Chargers because of injuries.

Cannon, a tight end, and Hagberg, running back, suffered hyper-extended knees in the 34-30 loss to Baltimore last week. Both went through light drills during the week and are expected to be ready for the Aug. 25th game against the New York Jets.

Lloyd Edwards, a 255-pound rookie from San Diego State, is coach John Madden's choice for the tight end spot with newcomer Gene Thomas in reserve.

Rugged running Marv Hubbard, who ran well in the all-rookie Oakland-Dallas game three weeks ago, will fill in at Hagberg's running back position.

Hunter Safety Course

Registration for a hunter safety course will be held at the San Rafael Police Pistol Range Monday at 2 p.m. for youngsters 12 to 18. The fee is $5. The course is a requirement for obtaining a California hunting license.

MARIN-SONOMA GOLF NOTES

'Last Annual' Tourney On Tap

By RALPH CHATOIAN

Southern Marin Boys Club stands to gain a little in the financial department, thanks to Lou Hurley of KGO and San Geronimo National golf course.

The traffic man for KGO is putting on the "Last Annual Hurley's Hackers" tournament at the San Geronimo course on Friday, Aug. 22. And if that name puzzles you, wait 'til next year when it will be called the "Next to Last Annual" tourney.

With a $25 entrance fee to include golf and dinner, the benefit tournament should come up with quite a sum for the Southern Marin Boys Club.

Tee off time is 9:30 a.m. If you want to enter, send your $25 check to KGO Golf, Post Office Box 1000, San Geronimo. It's for a good cause.

PETE RODDY of Petaluma has lowered the course record at Petaluma Golf and Country Club to 63. Roddy, a coffee salesman by trade and golfer by hobby, is also the club champ at the course, in addition to being tourney director.

It was a double record day for Roddy, scoring 29 on the front nine (old record 30) and finishing with his 63 (old record 64) on the par 70 course.

Although Roddy has been playing golf 23 years, he's only 31, getting an early start at 8. A two handicapper, his previous best on the Petaluma course was 65.

BOWLING TIPS

By DON CARTER

By letting your right shoulder dip too much as you bring the ball through, you may cause serious problems. The best solution, I've found, is to have a firm determination to reach out as you release the ball. You will then be inclined to keep your right shoulder nearly level with your left.

SCHOOL TEACHER Glen Whitney powered a hole-in-one at the Petaluma G. and C.C. course on the long, uphill, 205-yard 13th hole. He took a mighty swing with his driver and rolled it right in.

ROHNERT PARK Golf Club is hosting its first Tournament of Champions Invitational Sunday, with 53 invites out in the mail. Among those expected to compete is Marin County's Tournament of Champions winner, Orv Suttles of Marin Country Club.

The field covers the Marin and Sonoma areas and up to Sacramento. The first 18 holes will be held Sunday, starting at 11 a.m., with the final 18 the following Sunday, Aug. 24. It will be scratch play, medal.

JAMES E. CREIGHTON of Hamilton Air Force Base just missed out in qualifications for the Air Force-Wide Golf Tournament this week at Langley AFB, Va. With the top three winners of the qualifying tourney at Robbins AFB, Ga. making the field, Creighton was fourth.

A member of the Indian Valley Golf Club, Creighton scored a total of 326 for the 72 holes. Eldredge G. Shelton Jr. of Hamilton was also in the tourney but failed to make the top 10.

Growth Rates Are Subject To Change

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. What do you think of American Home Products and Bristol-Myers to enhance my capital until 1976? Share prices are now lower than my cost a year and a half ago. — G. B.

A. I think well of them both as consumer-oriented companies.

It could be, however, that Bristol-Myers is losing the zip which carried it to an historic peak of 83½ in 1968. Analysts are tending toward the opinion that BMY's former annual earnings growth rate of 18 per cent will not be restored and that 10 per cent is a reasonable expectation. Hold what you have, but averaging down is not advised. Put new funds into one of the column's newer growth selections.

While American Home Products could drop lower as it did in 1962 and 1966, your shares should be retained and more could be purchased on the current weakness. Here the annual earnings growth rate of 9 per cent seems likely to continue.

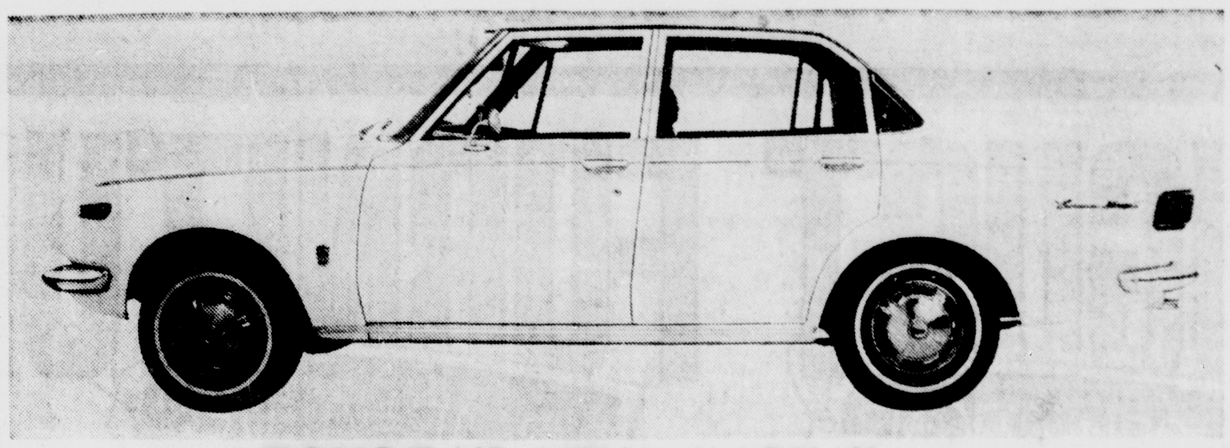
Q. My monthly brokerage statement lists Omnitec as well as Nytronics. My broker said it was a dividend from the latter company. What is your opinion of Nytronics? — F. H.

A. Your broker was correct; one share was distributed for each five held in the parent company. Nytronics, the subject of an unfavorable review in a national financial weekly, dropped sharply in ensuing market sessions to 70 per cent below its earlier high for 1969. Acquisitions have been frequent in the past several years resulting in substantial dilution of earnings. A nine-month report showed sales of $40 million and earnings of 77 cents a share on a fully diluted basis. Both figures included 95 per cent of Radio Engineering Products which was then 70 per cent owned. A tender offer for the remaining shares was expected to result in at least 95 per cent ownership. The currently depressed share price of Nytronics appears to have discounted the long-term potential of the company.

Off-Shore Oil Drilling Protected By Judge

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — An attempt to halt off-shore oil drilling in the Santa Barbara Channel, the scene of a disastrous oil leak last January, has been rejected by a federal judge.

The American Civil Liberties Union sought the injunction on the grounds that beach property owners suffered a decline in the value of their property because of damage caused by the leaking Union Oil Co. well.



TOYOTA'S NEW MARK II

This four-door sport sedan is one of three models of Toyota's new Mark II line to be introduced this month. Other models are a two-door hardtop coupe and a four-door station wagon. Featured is a 108-horsepower four-cylinder engine that delivers a maximum speed of 105 miles per hour and a cruising speed of 85 miles per hour. Standard is a four-speed synchromesh transmission, with an optional three-speed transmission available. Cars will be on display in Marin at Dexter Toyota, Larkspur, and Novato Chrysler-Plymouth-Toyota in Novato.

Slackened Inflation Boosts Activity On Stock Market

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks finishtd strong today. Trading was moderately active.

A major market prop was a statement by William McChesney Martin Jr., chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, that there is "less inflation momentum in the economy than there was three months ago." He made the comment at a meeting of security analyists in Atlanta, Ga., late yesterday.

Turnover exceeding 10 million shares was slightly ahead of yesterday's volume.

Among the most active issues were Texas Gulf Sulphur, Great Western Financial, Texaco, Roan Selection Trust, American Cyanamid and Natomas. Natomas gained more than 1 near the close.

A Texas Gulf Sulphur subsidiary reportedly will start work next year on developing a mineral deposit in Australia. TG has ytt to put a dollar value on the deposit.

Steels generally edged forward. The industry is expecting a "good" fourth quarter. U.S. Steel closed up 5-8 at 39 3-8, and Republic also was up 5-8, closing at 38 5-8.
